SENATE ORDERS CRUISERS BY OVERWHELMING VOTE

Coolidge's Plea Disregarded as It Specifies Work Must Start on Sixteen Ships Before 1931

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—An increase in the Navy by fifteen cruisers and an airplane carrier was voted today by the Senate, 68 to 12, with the stipulation that the ships be laid down before July 1, 1931. The airplane carrier must be begun before July 1, 1930.

The bill is almost the same as that approved by the House a year ago. It must be returned, however, for the consideration of the two amendments made by the Senate. Approval of these is expected without the necessity of a conference and if this is done the measure then will go to President Coolidge.

Disregarding the wishes of the President the Senate, like the House, voted overwhelmingly to specify when construction of the ships shall be started, and if Mr. Coolidge accepts the bill it will be incumbent on him to recommend at this session a budget estimate for five of the cruisers.

LARGE OUTLAY

The program involves a total appropriation of $274,000,000, including $17,000,000 for each of the 10,000-ton cruisers, and $19,000,000 for the airplane carrier. Mr. Coolidge has had his doubts of the government's ability to meet this financial outlay and he obviously is very much displeased at the refusal of Congress to listen to his plea for control over the naval program. But he has not decided to veto the measure.

Mr. Coolidge believes that there was some confusion in the minds of Senators over the proposal to take out the time limit. He feels this was regarded as a proposal to postpone construction of the vessels. The Coolidge plan, however, was to eliminate the time restriction, while making appropriations for starting work on a substantial number of the vessels at once.

Foes of the measure shot amendment after amendment at it today but only one, by Senators Borah, Republican, of Idaho, and Reed, Democrat, of Missouri, declaring Congress in favor of the negotiation of treaties regulating the conduct of belligerents and neutrals at sea, was added to the bill. Only Senator Bruce, Democrat, of Maryland, voted against this amendment.

OTHERS REJECTED

An effort by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, to add a provision requesting the President to call a naval conference with Great Britain for consideration of cruiser strength was swept aside as advocates of the measure pointed to the clause already in the bill requesting the President to "encourage" another naval arms parley and authorizing him to suspend the naval program in whole or in part if an agreement were reached. The Norris proposal to build only nine cruisers also was rejected.

Republicans and Democrats were equally divided in support of the bill, thirty-four of each party lining up for it behind the two party leaders, Curtis, Republican, of Kansas, and Robinson, Democrat, of Arkansas. Opposition to the measure included seven Republicans, four Democrats and the Farmer-Labor Senator, Shipstead, of Minnesota.

HOW THEY VOTED

Those who voted for the bill are: Republicans: Capper, Couzens,

LINDBERGH GREETED IN NICARAGUA

Crowds Cheer Flyer on Arrival from Honduras En Route to Canal Zone

MANAGUA (Nicaragua) Feb. 5. (AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today tied two more Central American countries into the rapidly extending air-mail service. He landed his amphibian plane here at 3:45 p.m., eastern standard time, after a flight which began at Belize, British Honduras, at 9:10 a.m. The first 125 miles to Tela, Honduras, were flown in one hour and a half and after refueling he covered nearly 500 more miles.

In two days the aviator, who first demonstrated the time saving of air travel in countries adjacent to the Caribbean, has put in operation two-thirds of the new route from Miami to Panama which hereafter is to have fortnightly service. Yesterday he visited Cuba before settling down for the night in Belize.

Neither mountains nor rebels presented difficulties to Lindbergh during the overland portion of his flight today. Last year some apprehension was felt when he flew across Northern Nicaragua but that section now is quiet. Despite the colonel's efforts to make the present journey a purely business affair he was greeted by crowds here fully as enthusiastic as those which feted him last night in Belize.

Tomorrow he faces an 800-mile flight to Cristobal, Canal Zone, by way of Costa Rica.

Lindbergh had flown over Tegucigalpa and San Lorenzo, Honduras, and Corinto, Nicaragua, during his four-hour flight from Tela, by this circuitous route, which he took for the purpose of looking over the terrain, he required an hour and a half more than had been expected.

The colonel made a special point of his request that no receptions, entertainments or other functions be prepared in his honor. He plans to hop off for the Canal Zone early tomorrow morning.

QUAKE FELT IN ISLAND OF HAWAII

Disturbance Centers in Kilauea Volcano and May Indicate Eruption

HILO (T. H.) Feb. 5. (AP)—A sharp earthquake was felt at 2:25 p.m. today on the Island of Hawaii. It lasted one minute in the districts of Kohala, Kona and Hilo, but no damage was reported.

Thomas A. Jaggar, volcanologist, said the disturbance had its center in the Halemaumau crater of the Kilauea volcano, and was recorded on the volcano house seismograph for ten minutes. While uncertain of its effect, Prof. Jaggar said the earthquake might be an indication of impending activity of Kilauea.

Will Rogers Remarks:

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Reed Smoot is being "hexed" again with his cheap foreign sugar. To Smoot the Spanish-American War was our greatest blunder, for both countries we freed grow sugar.

Kellogg can make peace or war, the Mississippi States can wash to the sea, liquors from the four corners of the earth can arrive untariffed, hides and T-bone steaks from the Argentine, wheat from Russia, but Reed Smoot prowls the docks at night to see that no "sweetening" is smuggled in. When Smoot gets through raising the tariff on sugar, Lindbergh couldn't fly over it with a box of chocolates. Where Brigham Young's monument was erected from old marriage certificates, Smoot's will be made entirely of sugar beets.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NAVY FOILS SEA PERIL

Experts Escape Submarine

With No Outside Help Pair Makes Way from Sunken Ship to Surface

Test With New Oxygen Masks Off Coast of Florida Twice Successful

ABOARD U.S.S. MALLARD OFF KEY WEST (Fla.) Feb. 5. (AP)—For what is believed by naval experts to be the first time in the history of the sea a man today escaped from a sunken submarine without outside aid by use of a safety device.

In tests being conducted near Smith Shoals, eleven miles off Key West, two men attached to the tender Mallard twice made their way safely from the sunken submarine S-4, lying in forty feet of water, to the surface of the sea.

MASKS USED

Using oxygen-inflated masks, which covered their heads, the men first made their way to the surface from the escape hatch and a few moments later descended into the submarine again and succeeded in escaping from the motor room. In further tests they hope to make their way to safety from the torpedo room and other compartments of the undersea craft in the hope of proving that danger to lives of officers and sailors attached to the submarine branch of the Navy may be overcome in case of accident.

The S-4 is the same craft that was rammed and sunk by a Coast Guard boat off the New England coast some time ago with the loss of a number of lives. It was later raised and repaired and was brought to Key West for the present tests.

SUBMARINE SUNK

After being towed by the tender Mallard from Key West early today, the submarine was sunk in forty feet of water with Lieut. C. B. Monson and E. Koloniski aboard. The Mallard stood by for an emergency.

Taking their positions in the conning tower, where an air pocket had been formed by the inrushing water, the two men donned their masks. Opening the safety hatch, Koloniski made his way to the surface, and a moment later was followed by Lieut. Monson. Elated over their feat, the men again descended into the undersea craft, and this time succeeded in escaping from the motor room.

The men next will attempt to make their way safely from the torpedo room. Lieutenant-Commander P. H. Dunbar, in charge of the work, expressed great satisfaction over the experiments today and declared they had been a "huge success."

INDIANA MAY ORDER LASH FOR WOMEN

State's Senate in Favor of Public Whippings and Including Female Felons

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—The Indiana Senate this afternoon amended the whipping post bill now before it so as to require that the whippings be public and be held on the county Courthouse lawn by the Sheriff after due printed notice, and that women be included among those who are to receive lashes. The measure as amended then passed to third reading.

The bill, introduced by Senator Moorhead, Republican, Indianapolis, provides that persons convicted of carrying firearms while in the act of committing a felony shall be whipped with a cat-o-nine-tails in addition to the regular penalty for the felony.

BARON VON HUENEFELD DIES

One of Trio Who Made First Westward Nonstop Sea Flight Expires in German Hospital

BERLIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther Von Huenefeld, one of the three men in the airplane Bremen which was the first to accomplish without a stop the westward crossing of the North Atlantic, died tonight after an operation in a Berlin sanatorium.

BARON VON HUENEFELD.

The Baron entered the western sanatorium a few days ago to seek relief from the stomach and intestinal trouble from which he long had suffered. He underwent an operation for appendicitis last August, but as long ago as the time of his famous transoceanic flight his physical condition was far from good. Only by his indomitable will to establish the prestige of Germany in the air was he able to carry out his later flight to Tokio, from which he returned last November.

Born in Koenigsberg, the son of a Prussian army officer, Von Huenefeld never was strong. When he offered himself for service during the World War he was rejected because of his weak physique. He persisted, however, and finally was accepted as a motorcycle dispatch carrier.

He was wounded by shrapnel in both legs while serving with a marine division in Flanders. For seven months he lay in a hospital and left it with a limp which marked his walk to the end of his life.

Later the Foreign Office used him for missions in Constantinople and Sofia. He was appointed German Vice-Consul at Maastricht, Holland, where he received the former Kaiser and Crown Prince when they sought refuge on Dutch soil. He spent some years with the Crown Prince in the latter's exile on the Island of Wieringen.

In 1923 he became chief press agent for the North-German Lloyd Steamship Company in Bremen, which granted him special leave to undertake his American flight. He and his companions, Capt. Herman Koehl and Col. Fitzmaurice, were received triumphantly in New York.

Still in Conference!

NEW GLIDER RECORD FOR COAST MADE

Teacher Sails 1250 Feet Over Mountain in Flight of Five Minutes

REEDLEY, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—A new Pacific Coast glider record was established today when Dale Drake, 27-year-old high-school instructor, sailed 1250 feet over Mt. Campbell, east of here, traveling an estimated distance of six and one-half miles in 5m. 58s in his 175-pound motorless plane.

Because of the steep pitch of the mountain from which Drake took off it took ten men two hours to get the glider to the top. Drake carried an altimeter on today's flight, which is his second in the tiny plane, the first having been accomplished Sunday when he sailed for a quarter of a mile, reaching an elevation of more than 200 feet after having been towed behind an automobile for a take-off.

With favorable air currents today Drake said he believes he could have remained in the air for more than ten minutes.

He landed his craft about two miles from where he took off.

Baldwin Says Unemployment Now Declining

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Premier Stanley Baldwin was authority today for the statement that unemployment in England is decreasing.

The statement was made in the House of Commons, sandwiched between government replies to questions ranging from exports of gin to the Gold Coast to repairs to the wailing wall of Jerusalem.

No details were given. Cheers greeted the statement from the Conservative benches but the Laborites wanted to know more, and asked what his authority was. He would not amplify his remark, however.

Influenza Cases Total Shown to Have Decreased

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Public health officials today said influenza reports from eighteen States, the District of Columbia and New York City show a decrease of more than 50 per cent in prevalence during the week ending the 2nd inst.

A total of 11,305 cases was reported from the territory, compared with 25,433 during the preceding week.

Reports from Europe indicate a widespread though not serious outbreak of influenza. Death rates in England, Wales and the Irish Free State, it is said, are increasing. Reports from large cities of Scotland show a marked increase in influenza deaths during the week ending January 19. The prevalence in German cities was said today to be decreasing, but there has been a widespread outbreak of the disease there.

KEYES JURY CAUTIONED

Davis Warns of Solemn Duty

Better to Free Bad Men Than Send Innocent Ones to Prison, He Asserts

Defense Hurls Accusation of Collusion at Witnesses for Prosecution

With rising crescendo of oratory and impassioned pleadings, defense attorneys yesterday, for the third consecutive day, battered at the State's evidence as they argued in the case of former Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Ben Getzoff and E. H. Rosenberg, on trial in Superior Judge Butler's court for criminal conspiracy.

Following each other before the jury of ten women and two men, Attorneys Al McDonald, William Beirne and Le Compte Davis used all of their forensic ability to convince the jury of the innocence of the defendants. Davis was the last defense counsel to speak and he still was talking when court adjourned and is expected to consume a large part of today's session before he finishes.

As did other defense attorneys who spoke before them, the three lawyers yesterday trained their guns on the testimony of Milton Pike, Joseph Sherman, John Rettinger and Jacob Berman, leading State's witnesses.

HEATED ATTACK

Pike and Sherman, employees of Getzoff's tailor shop during the time the asserted conspiracy was taking place, concocted their story to receive money for it, Jacob Berman turned State's evidence and Rettinger's testimony conflicted with the facts, the defense lawyers contended.

Le Compte Davis, representing Rosenberg, was particularly violent in his assault on these witnesses. He is going to prove to the jury before he finishes his argument, he said, that these witnesses had not told all the truth and were inspired by greed and hatred to tell the story they did.

"And the most dangerous lie in the world is one that is half the truth," he shouted at the jury, as he argued.

PIKE STORY HIT

Reading from the transcript of testimony, Davis then asserted that Pike, in an effort to make the jury believe that he had kept a day-by-day record of happenings that took place in the tailor shop, had so erroneously fixed dates that it proved he fabricated part of his story.

Sherman and Pike both testified before the grand jury that Jack Rosenberg once held a conversation with Ben Getzoff in the tailor shop early in 1928 in which Jack Rosenberg was asserted to have said that if Keyes did not keep his promise to dismiss "my case" he would double-cross him, Davis declared, but when they testified at the trial they left out the "my case" because they later learned that there was no case then pending against Jack Rosenberg at the time the asserted conversation took place.

Davis, who began talking shortly after court convened following the noon recess, prefaced his discussion of the evidence with a long and impassioned argument on the law in the case.

WHAT HE EXPECTS

BYRD'S SHIP AGAIN AT BASE

Unloading of Supplies Continues After Sea Jaunt to Escape Danger of Ice in Bay

BY RUSSELL OWEN

BAY OF WHALES, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—After a short jaunt out to sea the night before last to avoid being bumped on the bay ice under our lee in a strong northerly wind, the City of New York is back again being unloaded of the materials left aboard by the Eleanor Bolling. Everything left on the barrier edge after the cliff broke off and fell on us has been hauled to the base safely and it should take only a few days to get ashore the large house, gasoline and food on this ship.

The Ford airplane fuselage which had been taken to safety far back from the barrier edge was hauled in by twenty-seven dogs, a unique load for these husky little toilers. The entire twenty-seven could easily have been put in the cabin of the plane. It was hard pulling but with men pushing up the snow hills it was accomplished in a few hours. The barrier trail was so smooth that even a top-heavy radio transmitter weighing nearly 1000 pounds was taken in easily by one driver and seven dogs.

The old trail over the bay ice is being used again and as the ship is moored to the old bay, ice several feet thick there is no chance of the men going in near the ship. Some of the cracks near the inlet on which our base is situated have opened up recently. This was because of the movement of the bay ice or some unexplained pressure. However, they can be bridged. The weather today is perfect after the storm and the sun shines as warmly as on a spring day at home. But when the sun gets low it grows cold quickly and ice forms near the ship.

BOLLING CARRIES MAIL FLAG FARTHEST SOUTH

ON BOARD S. S. ELEANOR BOLLING, en route from Bay of Whales to Dunedin, (N. Z.) Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—For the first time in history the United States mail flag has been flown south of Latitude 75 South. It flew from the mast of the steamer Eleanor Bolling, the supply ship of the Byrd Antarctic expedition.

On January 27, the Eleanor Bolling delivered mail to the bark City of New York, Commander Byrd's flagship, in the Bay of Whales, and to Little America, his base on the ice barrier of Antarctica fringing the bay, in latitude 78:38 south; longitude 162:30 west.

On Saturday the Eleanor Bolling left the Bay of Whales bearing mail from the members of the Byrd expedition to their families and friends back home and today she is stopping among various whalers in the Ross Sea in latitude 74 south, Longitude 180 west, picking up mail for various parts of the world. The mails will be promptly trans-shipped on the arrival of the Eleanor Bolling at Dunedin.

Defense Counsel Le Compte Davis Demands Absolute Proof of Guilt in Explaining

JURORS URGED TO WEIGH ALL POINTS WITH CARE

It's Better to Free Bad Men Than to Send Innocent Ones to Cells, Attorney Says in Talk

For three hours yesterday afternoon Le Compte Davis, counsel for Ed Rosenberg charged with having paid former Dist.-Atty. Asa Keyes, a huge bribe to obtain dismissals in the Julian crash case, pleaded with the jury which is about to settle the fate of Keyes, Getzoff and Rosenberg after hearing twenty days of testimony.

Davis is the fourth defense attorney to address the jury. Two more are to follow him and then prosecution will swing into its final arguments before the court reads the instructions and the entire matter is placed in the hands of the jury.

During the three hours of argument yesterday Davis hardly got warmed up to his subject. He spent most of the time in pleading with the jury to be fair to the defendants as well as the prosecution and then swung into a discussion of what the court's instructions will be. Davis is expected to close his argument late today.

PORTION OF ADDRESS

Portions of Mr. Davis's address follow:

It is useless for me, ladies and gentlemen, to say to you that this has been a long and arduous case. You all know it just the same as I know it. I am not going to waste any time on that part of it, but I am going to talk to you for a moment about your duties, about my duties, about the court's duties.

I have a duty to perform in representing these defendants. It is just the same duty that I would have to perform if I represented your son, or your husband, or your brother, or your wife. It is a duty that can be honestly performed, and I propose, ladies and gentlemen, to perform it honestly. And my duty is that I shall help you ladies and gentlemen to arrive at a true verdict, to get at the truth of this matter, and to use whatever experience that I have had in correlating testimony of witnesses, and clarifying it and comparing one with the other, and to give you ladies and gentlemen the benefit of my experience therein. If I do this, I am doing my duty honestly. It is not my duty to misconstrue the testimony any more than it is to misquote the testimony. And I shall endeavor in the argument of this case not to misquote the testimony, and I shall further honestly endeavor not to misconstrue the testimony. The conception that finally must be placed upon the testimony by you ladies and gentlemen is a construction that you yourselves will give it in the light of all other testimony that is introduced in this case. I cannot take your place; you cannot take my place.

DUTY OF COURT

I come now, ladies and gentlemen, to discuss the court's duties. The court's duty is to preside over the trial of this case; to see that it is conducted in an orderly fashion and in an orderly manner; to see that only such evidence goes before you as is relevant, competent and material; to see that you ladies and gentlemen, when you come to consider that evidence, consider it in the light of the rules of the law that he will give to you. And, as I say, in presiding over such a case as this, questions arise, just as they arose about the dismissal of Mr. Berman. It is his function and his duty to pass upon that, and he did it, and such is his dismissal of these other three defendants that they may testify. He said it and he did it honestly and he did it fearlessly.

Now I come, ladies and gentlemen of the jury, to a discussion of the duties of a juror. The duties of a juror in a long case like this are arduous. It requires not only that you give thoughtful attention, careful attention every minute of the time that the witnesses are on the stand testifying before you, but it requires that you be alert to hear and that you be careful to remember the testimony that is given before you. It requires that you carry that in your mind, which is a very difficult proposition. Even the attorneys and the court sometimes find it very difficult to carry in the mind what every witness has testified to and they find it very much more difficult to compare the testimony and arrive at what the truth is in the matter.

DUTY TO PERFORM

Now the more alert the juror is, the more he charges his memory with the recollection of things that have occurred before him, the closer he gives his attention, the more that that juror sets himself to analyze and to compare and to correlate the testimony, the better juror he is. And so I say to you, ladies and gentlemen in this case, that you have a duty to perform, that is, to one that occupies a position as you occupy, not having had many years of experience in this, a very difficult situation.

You are not sitting there to guess away the liberty of these men. You are not placed in the box, as the court will instruct you, to convict these people upon suppositions and aspersions, but your absolute purpose and your sole object and the only thing that is before you to do is to seek for the truth in this matter, and then having found the truth, is to make your verdict correspond with what the truth should be. That is your one duty, to seek for the truth, find out what are the facts, and after having found out what the facts are, it is the thing that will lead you in determining whether or not these men or either one of them is guilty of the offense charged in this indictment.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, I am not here to do anything else than to attempt to help you get at the truth in this matter. I asked you at the very beginning and at the outset of this case to lay aside all sympathy. It has no place in your heart. It should not actuate you in any particular in deciding this matter. Likewise lay aside all prejudice. Likewise lay aside whatever you have heard of rumor, that you may have heard against Mr. Keyes, a man who held a high position.

HUMAN NATURE

Oh, ladies and gentlemen, it is one of the most unfortunate traits of human nature that when a man occupies a high position in society and he is charged with the offense, that the human mind in this day and generation is more apt to believe it against the man occupying a high position than otherwise. Why? One reason is because the newspapers take it up and they spread it from one end of the land to the other, and it is put in the worst light that it can be made. It is made in the most sensational manner that it can be, and the jurors that come to try that case afterward, they are extremely fortunate if they can lay out of their mind everything that was said.

I want you also, when I say to you lay out of your consideration sympathy; let it cut no part in this matter. It doesn't make any difference whether you sympathize with Mr. Keyes or whether you sympathize with Mr. Rosenberg or with their wives or with their children. That should not influence you. The question is what is the truth about this?

But there is one more dangerous element in this matter than sympathy, and that is fear. I do not want a single juror in this jury box to be influenced in the slightest degree by fear. Fear as to what your neighbor may say, fear as to what the newspapers may say, fear as to what the whole world may say. It makes no difference to you. You have been seeking the truth, and when you find it, you must pass your verdict in accordance with its dictates.

ANSWER FRAMED

So I say to you, leave that out of it. And if any man or any woman should question you as to your verdict and dare hint as to whether or not they would have done the same thing under the circumstances, your simple, truthful answer should be, "Lady or gentleman, you did not hear the evidence. The evidence I heard convinced me of the truth of certain facts and I acted upon it." Now that is all that you need to say to any man, woman, child or newspaper that might dare criticise your verdict.

And any man, or any juror sitting in a box like this, who would let themselves be influenced by fear of what any man or any newspaper will do is a greater criminal than Asa Keyes is if he were to be guilty of everything that they say he is, because they are guilty, would be guilty of sending a man to the penitentiary because they feared what some other man or some newspaper or some person might say with reference to that matter. And so I plead with you: Leave out of consideration mercy; leave out of consideration sympathy; leave out of consideration all rumor; leave out of consideration above all things any fear as to any criticism that might fall upon you for doing your duty in an honest, manly, womanly, upright manner.

Now, ladies and gentlemen, before I begin the discussion of the testimony in this case, I want to take up a discussion of the law as it is presented or as it will be presented by the court in his instructions. The law of the land, ladies and gentlemen, is crystallised from the thought of about twenty generations or more, forty generations of English-speaking people.

IMPORTANT TRIALS

Throughout many years, the best minds of Great Britain, the best minds of America have thought on the subject of criminal trials. Criminal trials, ladies and gentlemen, are the most important trials that there are in the world. You may have a piece of property and some man may sue you for it. You could lose it. It might hurt you a great deal financially, but if you have got a son and he is charged with an offense, and it takes away from him his honor, takes away from him all incentive thereafter to live, and takes away from him the feeling that he may associate on terms of equality with his fellow-man, and sends him to wear a prison stripe and puts him into the penitentiary, which, I ask you, is of more moment to you, and can there be anything of more moment to you than that the law should be fairly and honestly administered and executed? Why, you won't hesitate to say for a moment, "My child or my father or my son's liberty is worth more to me than all the property that I can own," and therefore I say that that the best thought, as Mr. Rush expresses it, of all the ages of the English-speaking people, have been given to the devising and enacting a system of law that would protect you son, your husband, your brother, my son, my wife and my brother from an unjust conviction at the hands of a jury.

They could not have exercised their minds and their opinion and their thought to a nobler, a more humane, a more proper subject than that, and under that system of laws we are living. No man on earth has a higher respect for it than I have. No man on earth will be more loathe to misquote it or misconstrue it than I am. And therefore at the very beginning of this discussion I want to leave with you certain cardinal principles that I believe the court will lay down to you as the foundation stone of the American criminal law, and likewise of the English criminal law.

WHAT HE WANTS

It will not only be useful to you in this case, but it is a matter that you should carry in your minds throughout your whole lives, and the reason to a certain extent for those, I will go into, because it is in the light of these considerations that you should examine this evidence, and I am now going to refer to them.

We are going to ask the court to instruct you, ladies and gentlemen, as follows: If the court does not so instruct you, why then you will disregard what I read to you. Then you will disregard what I may say upon such an instruction as I will read to you. It may not be in exactly the same words that I am reading it to you now, but I dare say and I place my honor as a practitioner and my reputation as a practitioner here in saying that I am honest and frank in saying that the law is as I will give it to you or that the court will instruct you so. Nevertheless, if I am wrong, and the court does not instruct you as I say he will, then you are to entirely disregard it.

The first thing that I want to read to you, ladies and gentlemen, is what we have asked the court to instruct you and think that he will instruct you as follows:

"That the defendants only are on trial and their plea to the indictment is a plea of not guilty. Upon that plea, the presumption of their innocence arises. That presumption affects them throughout the trial. It goes with you into your retirement to consider your verdict. It will avail to acquit the defendants unless it be overcome by sufficient proof of guilt."

MUST HAVE PROOF

That is that this presumption will avail to acquit these men unless it is overcome by proof of guilt. You must examine the evidence by the light of that presumption, and unless upon examining it, you find it sufficiently strong to overcome the presumption of innocence and to remove it, and moreover to satisfy you of the defendants' or any of the defendants' guilt beyond all reasonable doubt, he or they are entitled to an acquittal at your hands.

Now, it has gotten in the last few years to a point where men criticise this presumption of the law of innocence, but as I say to you, it is one of the foundation stones of the English and the American system of jurisprudence, and it is nothing more than every honest man ought to and every honest woman ought to do without any instruction from the court and I will illustrate it to you in this manner:

Suppose that two weeks from now I should hear that His Honor or should read that His Honor on the bench had committed some crime, whether to kill some man or whether it was some other offense. I would say, because I have been practicing law and I have schooled myself to believe in the honesty of people and believe in the justice of this law, that I know His Honor; I have seen him and I have associated with him and I do not believe that he is guilty and I will presume that he is innocent until the law convinces me that he is guilty.

CASE OF KEYES

Now, that is common sense. That is humanity; that is what ought to be in the heart and in the mind of every American citizen whenever they hear of their neighbor or their son or one of their high political officials being accused of crime As in the case of Mr. Keyes here, a man who has occupied the position of District Attorney for twenty-five years, that is, either as chief or as deputy, when you hear an aspersion cast upon him or a charge filed against him, if you have that humane and that just spirit which dictated those thoughts to the law-making body when they enacted it into law, you will say, "I do not believe that he is guilty. I will give him the benefit of the presumption of innocence until it is proven to me that he is guilty," just the same as you would expect, if one of you ladies were accused of something terrible, it is his duty, and I believe that he would say it and I know that he would so say, "I have known her and I will give her the presumption of innocence until the evidence is produced in the case that eliminates it and wipes it away and convinces me of the guilt of that person or that lady beyond a reasonable doubt."

In following that instruction then, I ask you am I doing anything other than I have a right to do or would have a right to do if the law did not exist? Wouldn't I have a right to appeal to you and wouldn't you say, "You are right, Mr. Davis; I will give that person the benefit of the doubt until I am satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt of his or her guilt."

ANOTHER POINT

So I say that is one of the foundation stones of the American system of jurisprudence, and when we ask you to do that with reference to Mr. Keyes, Mr. Rosenberg and these other men, we are asking nothing but what you should do because it is implanted by God in your heart, if you stop to think about it.

Now, the next one I want to call your attention to, which I believe the court will give, and that we have asked him to give, is this: "It is not sufficient to warrant a conviction in this case for the plaintiff to arouse in your minds a strong suspicion that a defendant did the things charged in the indictment, nor is it sufficient for the plaintiff to satisfy your minds that it is more probable that such defendant did commit the acts charged than that he did not." If, however, after hearing all the evidence in this case you say that it is very probable that he did, the court says it is not sufficient and the law says it is not sufficient that it is merely more probable that he did it than that he did not.

"Before you are justified in finding a verdict against any defendant, the plaintiff must go further and prove every fact necessary to establish such defendant guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

"Mere probabilities are not sufficient to warrant the conviction of a defendant, nor is it sufficient that the greater preponderance of evidence support the contention against him, and not upon the doctrine of chances."

QUOTED AGAIN

It won't do to say that the chances are that he is guilty and therefore I will find him guilty. It says, "nor upon the doctrine of chances it is more probable that he is guilty than innocent, but to warrant a conviction of such a defendant he must be proved guilty so thoroughly and conclusively that there is no reasonable theory under the law and the evidence upon which he can be innocent." Now, that is as I say, one of the cardinal principles of the law and it is the one that, when you soap-box orators talk about reforming the whole law system and the whole system of the world, that has been for ages and ages in evolution down to its present point, and has crystallized to its present condition—every soap-box orator that has some theory of revolutionizing the world, speaks against this doctrine of reasonable doubt. I say that that doctrine of reasonable doubt follows the very dictates of your own heart and follows the dictates of my heart.

Remember, ladies and gentlemen, that the State of California occupies the position of a father toward a son toward every one of these citizens, or the same position that a mother occupies toward her daughter, and the State of California has no desire that any innocent son or any innocent citizen should be punished for a crime they did not commit any more than any mother has any desire that her daughter or any father has a desire that his son shall be punished for an offense that he did not commit, and if your son—if somebody reports that your son did a certain thing, that he committed a certain offense, you are going to take him, before you give him any punishment, and you are going to hear the evidence in that case, and if you are a wise father or a wise mother, or if you are moved and actuated by that spirit which moved and actuated the law enactors when they enacted this law, you will say, "I will not whip John, I will not punish Jane unless I am satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that they are guilty of what they are charged with."

FURTHER PLEA

Oh, I will tell you this law only enacts that sentiment that is in your own heart, that principle that would actuate you in dealing with your own son and your own daughter. It is the State of California that is dealing with one of its own children, that is dealing with one of its own citizens, and it says to every other citizen, you must not punish this one unless you are satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt as to his guilt.

I will tell you, ladies and gentlemen, it is better that many criminals should escape than that one innocent man should be convicted. It does more to bring our system of law into disrepute that one innocent man can be convicted under it and punished than it would be if twenty men escape punishment because, whenever you see an innocent man that has been convicted and hung or that has been convicted and sent to the penitentiary, and afterward it developed that that man was innocent, you say to yourselves at that time, "What system of law am I living under? What jurisprudence have we that overrules us, that an innocent man may be convicted and taken to the penitentiary or convicted and executed?" Would you say that? You would say that to yourselves and you would live with fear and trembling under such a system of government. You would live with the feeling in your heart that if that occurred very often that, "I may be the next one that it falls on. There must be something seriously wrong with a system of government that permits a man to be convicted and go to the penitentiary or be convicted and be punished when he is an innocent man."

FEAR OF RESULT

So I say to you that the law in its beneficence, the law in its humanity says you must not convict a man upon such evidence as would ordinarily actuate you in dealing with the ordinary affairs of life, but you must be satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that he is guilty before you would punish him. Just the same you would say if you were away from home and your wife were to write to you and say that somebody said that John did so and so. You would want her, before she punished John, to be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt of his guilt, because if he did not, if John was punished when he was innocent, it gives birth in his heart of a feeling of hatred against you, of a feeling of hatred against the one that did it, and so, if a citizen of the State of California is convicted of such an offense under such condition and he knows he is innocent, he has the same feeling. He loses all respect for his government; his family loses all respect for their government and thence and henceforth he is Ishmael in the land and his hand is against every other man in the land.

I say to you that there is no one of these foundations of the law that is any more important to you to remember in the decision of this case and in your decision and action toward your fellow-men throughout life, and in your decision and action with reference to your own children.

that when they retire to consider a verdict, Judge Butler, among other instructions, probably will give them the following and he pleaded with them to keep these instructions always in their minds:

That the defendants are presumed to be innocent until proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt; that the State has to present every fact necessary to establish guilt but that it does not devolve on the defendants to prove their innocence; that if there are two interpretations that can be applied to certain evidence, one pointing toward guilt and the other toward innocence, the jury must accept the one of innocence; that the testimony of an accomplice never in itself is enough to establish a crime, but must be corroborated by reliable witnesses.

BERMAN RAPPED

As he outlined these points of law, Davis argued that Jacob Berman, "the bright young man of the Julian case," who turned State's evidence in the present case, was really an accomplice, and testimony of Pike, Sherman and Rettinger, who corroborated Berman, was just as unreliable as Berman's.

"The law will tell you that evidence that only creates a grave suspicion is not sufficient evidence on which to return a verdict of guilty," declared the lawyer.

"This jury's one duty is to seek for the truth and to lay aside all sympathy and prejudice," Davis declared.

Particularly, he said, the jurors should not be influenced by any rumors they may have heard or any fear of what people may say when they bring in their verdict.

"Fear is more dangerous than sympathy," counsel asserted. "Leave out of consideration, I plead of you, mercy, sympathy, rumor and fear."

HOT ARGUMENT

Attorney William Beirne, who preceded Davis, engaged in a hot controversy with Dist.-Atty. Fitts and Special Prosecutor Clark when he (Beirne) mentioned "political enemies" of Keyes as he argued to the jury.

As the political angle was injected into the case Fitts and Clark both leaped to their feet with objections.

"If the counsel has any facts to substantiate remarks that political enemies may have anything to do with this prosecution I wish he would present them to the Bar Association and not insinuate this poisonous suspicion into the minds of the jurors," declared Clark.

Attorney Beirne denied that he had intended any reference to the prosecutors.

ADMONITION GIVEN

"Let's not let our imaginations take wing," said Judge Butler at this point, as he admonished Beirne to confine his arguments to the testimony adduced at the trial.

Beirne also stressed the points of law referred to at more length by Attorney Davis, and he, too, with considerable sarcasm, attacked Jacob Berman.

If one was to believe Berman, Beirne asserted, that witness, a convicted felon, wanted to give his testimony "for his soul's sake," and was not swayed by any hope of pardon or further immunity from further prosecution.

"There was $35,000,000 lost in the Julian case and all the evidence points toward Berman getting a large share of it," declared the defense lawyer. "It was asserted here that Keyes got a few thousand dollars and a few gifts in the way of bribes from Berman and others. With that much money involved, I say to you that Keyes, if he wanted to take a bribe at all should have gotten at least a million, or he should be before the lunacy commission instead of on trial here."

Attorney Paul Schenck, also appearing for Keyes, is scheduled to follow Davis late today in further pleadings to the jury. It is expected that Keyes, who will speak in his own behalf as the last lawyer for the defense, will not get his chance until tomorrow.

BITTER ATTACK

A bitter attack on the testimony of Jacob Berman which he charged was an attempt to barter a fabrication from the "rotten recesses of his dirty heart" for liberty was made by Attorney MacDonald during his plea yesterday.

The defence counsel charged that Berman and the three employees of the Getzoff tailor shop, Pike, Sherman and Rettinger, all of whom were prosecution witnesses, had connived in the story of the asserted conspiracy and "offered their honor, their souls and their conscience for cash—and would give their testimony in an attempt to send innocent men to the penitentiary."

In presenting to the jury his version of the connection of Ben Getzoff with the case, MacDonald said: "Ben Getzoff, poor old Ben. There he sits. Sick and nervous and a mental and physical wreck. Of a nationality not yours and mine, but called by the prosecution the great fixer in this case"

CALLED HONEST

The attorney called attention to the past history of Getzoff, laying special stress on his many years of residence in San Bernardino before coming to Los Angeles, where he declared he had the reputation of being an upright, honest citizen, and "a man whom Honest Sam McNabb, United States District Attorney, didn't hesitate to call his friend."

Getzoff was pictured by his attorney as a man of wealth and not a pauper, and referred to the testimony of Keyes, Davis and Judson concerning the intended organization of a finance company as one instance of showing that he was undoubtedly a man of means.

"All these witnesses," said MacDonald, "tell you that Getzoff always talked in large figures and always had plenty of money and it takes money to organize a finance company."

FIGURES QUOTED

In explaining his theory of the payments of sums of money to Getzoff by Berman the defense attorney reviewed testimony that he declared tended to show that his client had lost $25,000 in the Julian Petroleum collapse and said that he believed that the money was returned to take up these losses. He laid particular stress on the statement that Getzoff always had displayed a hatred for Berman and that he was the first person to complain to McNabb over the Julian fiasco.

"Beyond any reasonable doubt Getzoff was a man of means," the attorney said, "and if you will figure out the payment of the $10,000, the $7500, the $2500 for a Buick, and the other smaller amounts it will look like Bennett was attempting to pay his $25,000 obligation."

"It is not the act of an arch-criminal to accept a check when bribery is intended, and Getzoff is not so dumb as to take a certified check for money which he intended to use as a bribe for Keyes," MacDonald declared in explaining his view of the various checks made payable to Getzoff that were introduced during the trial.

"TRAP" CHARGED

The golf club gift from Berman to Keyes and the lamps and shades as presents were characterized as a "framed trap" for Keyes and Getzoff, planned and executed by the two Berman brothers in an effore to "get the goods on Asa Keyes and use to their advantage," according to the defense attorney. The same construction was placed on the dinner party held in July at the home of Louis Berman, which was attended by Keyes and Getzoff and their wives.

In comparing certain dates on the cards used by Pike in compiling the "little brown diary" and the testimony of Berman the attorney asserted that "if Pike's cards tell the truth then they make Bennett out a wholesome liar."

PRAISE VOICED

MacDonald, in closing, referred to the long years he has known Keyes, the many courtroom battles in which they had been engaged, and declared: "I do not believe that a man who has been the prosecutor that Keyes has for twenty-five years would have his moral fiber torn down so utterly in the last year that he would lapse to the degradation charged in the indictment."

The gifts from Getzoff should not be held against Keyes, the defense attorney declared, as they came from a friend who had the money and could present the radio, the lounge, the lamps and the autos, and there was nothing wrong in the situation.

"Keyes is too smart a man to leave a trail of lounges, radios and autos if he intended to violate the laws, and Getzoff, if he is the briber as charged, is too clever and would never have taken the checks.

"The man who saw twenty-five years of public service never prostituted his soul and did not fall from a position of eminence to a place of degradation and shame," MacDonald said as he concluded his plea.

Noted Lawyer and Leader in Business Passes Away After Serious Operation

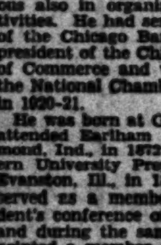
WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Joseph H. Defrees, chairman of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and well-known lawyer and business man of Chicago, died here today after an operation for appendicitis. Pneumonia had set in following the operation.



JOSEPH H. DEFREES.

Mr. Defrees was in his seventy-first year. He leaves his widow, Katherine, and one son, Donald. Funeral services will be conducted at the First Unitarian Church, Chicago, at 2 o'clock Thursday.

Senior member of the law firm of Defrees, Buckingham & Eaton of Chicago, Mr. Defrees was conspicuous also in organized business activities. He had served as president of the Chicago Bar Association, as president of the Chicago Association of Commerce and was president of the National Chamber of Commerce in 1920-21.

He was born at Goshen, Ind., and attended Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., in 1872 and Northwestern University Preparatory School, Evanston, Ill., in 1875. In 1921 he served as a member of the President's conference on unemployment and during the same year was appointed a member of the American section of the inter-American high commission in connection with the first Pan-American financial conference.

Mr. Defrees took an active interest in international affairs, and was one of the Americans directly concerned with the organization and development of the International Chamber of Commerce. He was a chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

HOOVER IN NEW ATTACK ON FISH

Closes Desk for Afternoon and Goes Angling

Politicians Still Guessing Over Cabinet Plans

Several Guests at Dinner, Including Californian

MIAMI BEACH (Fla.) Feb. 5. (AP) While the politicians and others were expending renewed energy today in the process of trying to dope out the next Cabinet, President-elect Hoover closed his desk at his vacation headquarters at Belle Isle and took another try at fishing in Florida waters.

Accompanied by Mark Wood of Lincoln, Neb., who once was prominent in the movement for the nomination of Gen. Pershing for President, and T. T. C. Gregory of Palto Alto, Cal., Mr. Hoover boarded a finely equipped fishing craft and proceeded to a bank off Biscayne Bay, where he spent the afternoon.

THOUGHTS BETWEEN STRIKES

While he may have been thinking about Cabinet appointments as he waited between strikes, he continued to keep his thoughts to himself. Unquestionably he has settled in his own mind who are to fill a number of the ten posts, but some of the places still are open and may remain so for several weeks.

Before going to the fishing grounds, Mr. Hoover spent more than an hour at his executive offices dictating letters and receiving a few callers.

SEVERAL DINNER GUESTS

For dinner tonight at the big white mansion on the man-made island near this place, the President-elect and Mrs. Hoover had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Robbins of Chicago; Gilchrist Stockton of Jacksonville, Fla., who was associated with Mr. Hoover in Belgian relief work; Mr. Gregory and Senator Smoot of Utah, another house guest.

Dinners at what has come to be known in this section as the pre-inaugural White House are wholly informal affairs. Most of the time the President-elect wears dinner clothes, but there is no requirement that the guests do likewise. Dark coats and white trousers suffice for men guests, but the women of course, wear dinner gowns.

WILBUR DROPS BAY CITY ACTIVITIES

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Announcement today of the resignation of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur from the vice-presidency he has held on the Community Chest directorate for the last seven years, is seen as an indication that the president of Stanford University is clearing the decks for acceptance of a Cabinet position under Herbert Hoover when the latter is inaugurated as President.

Dr. Wilbur's name has been mentioned prominently for the portfolio as Secretary of the Interior. Although he has not publicly stated his intentions, nor even publicly admitted the tender has been made, political observers feel assurred he will be the next Secretary of the Interior.

Plans Proceed for Gathering Pending California Reply

SANTA FE (N. M.) Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Gov. Phillips of Arizona tonight accepted the invitation of Gov. Dillon of New Mexico to hold in Santa Fe the Colorado River conference at which California, Arizona and Nevada will attempt to adjust their differences and draw a tri-State pact.

The Arizona executive asked, however, that the date for the opening of the parley be set for the 14th inst. instead of the 11th inst. as originally planned. Gov. Phillips stated in his telegram of acceptance that the Arizona commission has just been appointed and wishes a few more days in which to familiarize itself with the situation. Telegrams were immediately dispatched to governors of other States asking if the opening date proposed by Arizona would be satisfactory.

Plans for holding the conference were well under way tonight, although no definite answer has been received from Gov. Young of California, accepting the invitation.

ACCEPTANCE EXPECTED

Francis C. Wilson, interstate water commissioner for New Mexico, who is handling details of the proposed parley for Gov. Dillon, announced tonight that he has good reason to believe that the California chief executive will reply favorably.

Gov. Balzar of Nevada earlier today accepted the invitation of Gov. Dillon, as did Gov. Emerson of Wyoming, which latter State will send envoys as observers of the negotiations among the three States which have differences to settle.

Two other States which have been asked to send observers to the conference, Utah and Colorado, have not replied, but their acceptance also is deemed virtually certain.

Inasmuch as the State Legislature is in session and most offices in the Capitol are filled to capacity at this time, Judge Neblett has offered the Federal courtroom and adjoining offices for the use of the conferees.

TENTATIVELY ACCEPTED

This offer has been accepted tentatively by Commissioner Wilson on behalf of New Mexico. The Federal court suite offers ample room for general conferences in the main courtroom and for individual and executive meetings in the chambers and offices.

If the invitation of Gov. Dillon brings the parley here, it is probable two important water conferences will be in session in this city simultaneously.

New Mexico, Colorado and Texas delegations have been wrestling with the problem of distribution of the Rio Grande waters for the last three weeks.

Executive sessions have been held for the past week at Bishop's Lodge, a resort hotel near Santa Fe, and indications today were that the conference will continue in session all of next week.

Although the two parleys do not conflict in the subject under consideration, the Colorado and New Mexico commissions, which are already in session, would act as observers in the proposed tri-State confab.

GOV. YOUNG FAVORABLE TO NEW MEXICO'S BID

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—The suggestion of Gov. Dillon of New Mexico that Santa Fe, N. M., be the scene of the attempt to settle differences on the Colorado River problem, which Arizona threw into confusion by refusing to attend a meeting at Reno, met with the approval today of Gov. Young. The Governor, who was a visitor at his local offices, said he left Sacramento before Gov. Dillon's proposal had been delivered, but press reports summarized the New Mexico executive's proposal.

"Santa Fe," said Gov. Young, "is an appropriate place to hold the meeting in view of the fact that it was there the original Colorado River compact was negotiated.

"I am sure the suggestion of Gov. Dillon will be agreeable to the members of the California commission if it is agreeable to the other States concerned."

ARIZONA COMMISSION ACCEPTS INVITATION

PHOENIX, Feb. 5. (AP)—The invitation of Gov. Dillon of New Mexico to hold the proposed tri-State Colorado River conference in Santa Fe was accepted late today by the new Arizona Colorado River Commission. In making its acceptance, however, the commission asked that the 14th inst., instead of the 11th inst. be made the date of the conference.

At the organization meeting of the commission, held late this afternoon, Charles B. Ward of Phoenix was elected as chairman and John Mason Ross of Bisbee, secretary.

HEARINGS SCHEDULED ON RIVER EMBARGO BILL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—The House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce will hold hearings probably early next week on the resolution by Representative Taylor, Democrat, of Colorado, continuing for another year from March 5 the embargo on private water power development on the Colorado River, Representative Parker of New Jersey, committee chairman, said today.

The purpose of the resolution, which is a twin to one already approved by the Senate, is to prevent interference by private interests with the proposed Boulder dam project. The Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill as enacted by Congress last December prohibits private development of power sites after the act becomes effective, which means after the Colorado River compact has been ratified. But six months is allowed for seven State and a year for six-State ratification with the result a considerable period may intervene in which private companies can obtain permits from the Federal Water Power Commission and launch power projects, unless the commission's hands are further tied.

Child left weak by "flu" gaining every day now

THAT'S the trouble with "flu"—it leaves you feeling so weak—it seems forever before you get back your normal pep.

If your child has had even the mildest kind of attack, do watch his progress afterwards, carefully.

For the weakness resulting from "flu" is dangerous too. Don't let the system get clogged at this crucial period. Give your child a teaspoonful of Nujol every day to help regulate his system, eliminate poisons and bring about better health.

Physicians agree that, particularly after illness, purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable. Many doctors are, therefore, prescribing Nujol, as in no case does it cause exhaustion or weakening of the system in any way.

Nujol is as harmless as water. Just a pure natural substance. Contains no drugs or medicine. Nujol is completely safe for any child. Lots of mothers have used it for their babies since birth. It works so naturally and easily that it can't possibly upset or disagree with the child. It is easy to take.

Buy a bottle of Nujol today and use it, faithfully, till you see the roses blooming in your child's cheeks again. That's worth a lot, isn't it? Made by the makers of Mistol.

SENATE VOTES FOR CRUISERS

Overwhelming Vote Given to Warship Measure

Vessels Must be Laid Down Before July 1, 1931

Those voting against:

Farmer-Labor: Shipstead—1. Total 12.

Of the absentees it was announced the following would have voted for the bill:

Republicans: Bingham, McLean and Larrazolo.

Democrats: Barkley, Broussard and Fletcher.

Republicans: Blaine and La Follette.

Democrats: King, Glass and Wheeler.

DEFENSE VOICED

Chairman Hale of the Naval Committee, in charge of the bill, and Senator Swanson, Democrat, Virginia, ranking Democrat of the Naval Committee, rushed to the defense of the measure at every attack. Senator Reed, of Missouri, who with Senator Borah sponsored the amendment for negotiation of treaties regulating rules of sea warfare, also was one of the heartiest supporters of the naval program. Borah, however, voted against the measure.

The Idaho Senator in urging this amendment made reference to inferences from the White House that President Coolidge sees little hope of success for treaty negotiations regarding sea warfare.

"Any man in charge of the affairs of the United States," he said, "utterly fails in his duties should he not undertake this treaty negotiation."

The sponsor of the Kellogg treaty renouncing war added that he had very little confidence in treaties working if war breaks out but I do believe that by these methods we make it more improbable that war will come."

PRIVATE PROPERTY

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, asked that the amendment include the reference reaffirming the inviolability of private property on the seas. He said he did this because word had come to him that the State Department, or some officials of the Department, are ready to sidetrack "this traditional American policy" respecting the rights of merchant ships against seizure.

Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, asked that three aircraft carriers instead of one be provided but this also was swept aside without a record vote. The measure stipulates that the airplane carriers be put under way before July 1, 1930.

There have been rumors that foes of the measure will seek to block the appropriation of funds for starting work immediately on the cruiser program but little stock is placed in this by leaders. It is pointed out that more than enough votes are available to vote the appropriation.

FUND PLANS

It is planned to add the funds for starting work on the first set of five cruisers to a deficiency appropriation bill and to provide the outlay necessary for the second year's program, beginning next July 1, in the Navy Department appropriation bill now before the House.

The cruisers, each to be of 10,000 tons' displacement, are the largest warships with the exception of aircraft carriers permitted under the Washington treaty. As to carriers the treaty set a total tonnage limit for this class of ships but did not restrict the maximum size.

The Navy Department has indicated that the size of the carrier provided for under the bill will be 13,800 tons' displacement, or less than half the size of the Lexington and Saratoga, each of which is 33,000 tons' displacement.

BRITAIN REPORTED CONSIDERING DELAY

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Reports that Great Britain is about to postpone construction of two cruisers this year as a gesture of disarmament in answer to the United States naval program were published here today. No confirmation was obtainable from any official sources, and one report that the postponement decision was arrived at yesterday at a Cabinet council met a semidenial.

It is understood, however, that the official attitude is that Great Britain should refrain from rocking the disarmament boat. The Parliamentary correspondent of the Evening Standard, however, stated that the Admiralty and the Treasury Department are not "seeing eye to eye" on the subject and that other Cabinet ministries may have to umpire the divergent views of the two departments. It is understood that the Treasury favors postponement of the 1929 construction program.

HEFLIN BREAKS OUT AGAIN

Fight on Flying Church Pennant, Bearing Cross, Above Flag on Ships, Brings Stormy Scene

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—A proposal by Senator Heflin, Democrat, Alabama, to prohibit the flying of a church pennant during services at sea above the American flag on United States warships resulted in a heated discussion in the Senate today in which the Roman Catholic Church and the Ku Klux Klan were mentioned.

The Alabaman, who a year ago assailed the flying of church pennants above the American flag, today offered an amendment to the cruiser construction bill to prohibit such action. The proposal was objected to by Senator Bruce, a Maryland Democrat, as one inspired by the Klan.

The discussion gained headway and progressed to such a sharp interchange of words that Senator Moses of New Hampshire, who was presiding, asked a clerk to read a rule to the Senate prohibiting personal references of one Senator to another.

TEN VOTE FOR PROPOSAL

The upshot of the affair is that the Senate was forced to go on record by a roll call vote as to its view on the question.

Only ten Senators voted for the proposal, among them Hale, of Maine, who had accepted the Heflin amendment before the verbal storm began. He announced that for himself he did not consider the vote one on religion as the Navy already had decided to make the change. Numerous other Senators, however, including Borah, of Idaho, Reed of Pennsylvania, Heflin, and Tydings of Maryland called upon the Senators to vote on the religious issue raised.

Just before the roll call was taken, Senator Tydings declared that "under our Constitution every man has the right to make a damn fool of himself whenever he sees fit."

"I hope," he added, "we will settle this question today and now and for all time. I hope we will put our God ahead of our country. If that be unpatriotic, then make the most of it."

BRUCE MAKES RETORT

Among those who objected to the proposal was Senator Gerry, Democrat, Rhode Island, who was defeated for re-election last fall. He spoke after Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, and Senator Heflin demanded to know "why these two Senators object to this measure when the Navy had consented to the change."

The Alabaman declared that the only difference between the "Italian flag" and the church pennant flown by the Navy is "the Pope's crown, which is on the Italian flag."

At this Bruce rose and declared that "you have no right to speak in that manner after being able to speak at my generosity." Heflin had overspoken his time and had just received unanimous consent to continue.

"The true moral quality of the Senator from Alabama now comes out," Bruce shouted.

After reading of the Senate rule, both Heflin and Bruce subsided.

Declaring that he is not a Catholic, Tydings asserted he was "ready, as a Protestant, to stand here and demand that religion be not vilified, be not insulted and that those who inherited the faith at their mother's knee shall have the same right to practice their religion in this country as anyone else."

"I welcome the issue. While I am not fond of casting aspersions on groups of men, if ever the day should come when the men who wear the nightgowns send me my orders and dictate my vote, I hope the people will take me from this body, because I should no longer care to serve as a member of it."

Heflin accused Bruce of injecting the religious element in the debate and described the Marylander as the "mouthpiece of the Knights of Columbus."

ISSUE FORCED TO VOTE

"I trust there are enough red-blooded, upstanding Americans in this chamber to go on record for this amendment," Heflin declared.

"I don't think the color of the blood is involved," interposed Borah.

Heflin described the measure as "one that tests the Americanism of this body."

"You don't have to fly this pennant over the American flag to honor God," he said. "We don't have to fly this cross above it. Let them fly it some place else. When you fly this pennant over our flag you have to pull the American flag down to get the pennant there."

Senator Gerry insisted that the cross of the chaplin's flag is not a Roman cross but is the cross of St. George, and that it is adopted from the flag used in the British navy.

Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, offered a motion to lay the proposal on the table, which, if carried, would have killed the Heflin amendment, but Senator Borah urged that the motion be recalled so that the Senate could vote directly on the Heflin proposal.

The ten Senators who voted for the Heflin amendment were Black and Heflin of Alabama, Harris of Georgia, Mayfield and Sheppard of Texas, Swanson of Virginia, Thomas of Oklahoma, and Trammell of Florida, all Democrats, and Brookhart of Iowa and Hale of Maine, Republicans.

Compensation Rule Awaited

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 5. (AP)—The California Industrial Accident Commission was called upon today to decide whether compensation is due a bank cashier injured in a robbery of the bank after his accustomed hours of employment.

The hearing was called when an insurance company refused to compensate S. H. Sherwood, cashier of a bank at Loyalton, Sierra county, who was shot in the neck and left on the roadside for dead after he had been forced to open the bank vault at the point of a gun.

Attorneys for the insurance company contended that the law provides that injury must "grow out of employment and be suffered in the course of employment," and maintained that Sherwood was not at his home in the evening "in the course of employment." A ruling from the commission is expected within a few days.

Park Highway Debate Revived

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Senator Oddie of Nevada and Representative Colton of Utah, coauthors of the bill appropriating $3,500,000 a year for the next three years for construction of roads through public lands in the Western States, will confer with President Coolidge tomorrow to see if there is not some way the measure can be changed so that it will meet with executive approval.

The bill was passed by Congress last session but vetoed by Coolidge on the ground of economy. The Senate repassed it over the veto but the House upheld the President.

The House Roads Committee has reported the measure favorably again. The Senate committee, however, has declined to act upon it on the theory it still meets with the opposition of the White House.

David Belasco's Brother Dead

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Funeral arrangements were being completed tonight for Henry Belasco, brother of David Belasco, theatrical producer, who died at his home here last night.

Henry Belasco at the time of his death was doorkeeper at the Alcazar Theater. He was given the job twenty-five years ago when his brother was beginning his rise to fame, and had held it ever since.

He leaves a widow and three sons.

Republican Wins Missouri Ballot

ST. JOSEPH (Mo.) Feb. 5. (AP)—David W. Hopkins, Republican, of St. Joseph, was chosen Representative in Congress from the Fourth Missouri District by a majority of about 2780 votes over his Democratic opponent, Mayor Stigall of this city, at today's special election.

MEXICAN TROOPS FOIL REBEL TRAIN AMBUSH

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—A band of insurgents yesterday ambushed a train from Laredo between San Luis Potosi and Mexico City. They fired at the cars, but a crew of guards in an armored car returned the shots while the engineer speeded up and rushed past the ambush. Later troops gave battle to the insurgents and dispersed them.

BOMBAY RIOTS BECOME WORSE

New Attacks on Pathans by Hindus Reported

Troops Called Out to Help Restore Quiet

Sacrifice of Children Said to be Fight Basis

BOMBAY (India) Feb. 5. (AP)—Troops were called out today to maintain order in the mill district here where reports of kidnaping of children for sacrificial purposes by Pathans, or Indian Mohammedans, have led to disorders.

The stories current said that the Pathans had kidnaped a number of Indian children, intending to sacrifice them in connection with the construction of a new bridge.

STRIKE CALLED

A general strike was declared yesterday, but work was resumed today at some railway workshops and some of the mills.

There is a feeling that the kidnaping scare is only a pretext for attacks on the Pathans who have taken frequent employment as strikebreakers recently.

There was renewed rioting this afternoon during which five policemen were injured and the city was still in turmoil at midnight.

TWELVE KILLED

A deputation of 500 Pathans, who asked police protection, expressed dissatisfaction with the commissioner's promised measures and attacked two Hindus. A panic resulted and when the police attempted to restore order they too were attacked.

The situation this afternoon was quieter, but business was at a standstill and mills which had reopened were closed again. Troops are ready to co-operate in the maintenance of order.

The total casualties for the past two days have been nineteen killed and 104 injured, most of them Pathans.

EMPLOYEES GET GONG RESPITE

Interior Department Still to Do Without Clocks, But Bells Banned, Also

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP) The practice of ringing Interior Department employees to and from work by electric fire-alarm gongs — initiated six years ago by former Secretary Work because he objected to the employees' watching clocks — has been abolished by Secretary West, and the responsibility of keeping tab on the department's personnel has been placed in human hands.

Secretary West's order, it is explained, resulted from a warning by the Bureau of Public Buildings and Grounds that use of the gongs as signals was wearing out the department's fire-alarm system.

The several hundred clocks thrown out by Secretary Work will not be replaced.

CAMEL RIDING SQUAD BOMBED

British Air Force Kills Eighty-five Natives

Punishment Inflicted for Slaying of Pastor

Three Tribes of Irak Linked to Desert Tragedy

JERUSALEM, Feb. 5. (AP)—Advices reaching here today stated that tribesmen responsible for the recent raid in Koweit territory during which Rev. Henry A. Bilkert, American missionary was murdered, have been severely bombed by the British air force.

Eighty-five camel riders of the Mutair tribes were killed by bombs thrown in punishment from the planes, it having been established, it was stated, that the Mutair tribe together with the Ateeleh and Harab tribes were the murderers of Mr. Bilkert and the aggressors against the Irak tribesmen in the Koweit territory.

Mr. Bilkert was a native of Kalamazoo, Mich., and went to Irak four years ago. He was shot and killed by raiders while motoring in Koweit near the Irak border. In the car with him was Charles R. Crane, former American Minister to China, who escaped unscathed as a chauffeur drove off under a hail of bullets. The same raiders also attacked a party of Irak herdsmen, killing twenty of them, wounding many and then decamping with 4000 sheep and numerous horses and cattle.

All three of the tribes are reported to have evaded the control of Ibn Saud, King of the Hedjaz.

Reports in the hands of Emir Abdullah say that the Wahabites have been gathering against Trans-Jordania in addition to Irak. The Emir, visiting the eastern frontier, has asked the Trans-Jordan tribesmen to move to other places because of the threatened attack.

Uniform Change Decided On When Colonel Is Taken For Chauffeur

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—Bus companies who have been dolling up their chauffeurs and conductors in khaki, ornamented with stars, bars and other doodads, must select another uniform. The climax came when a dignified United States Army colonel was halted by a woman in front of the Auditorium Hotel.

"When does your next bus leave for Ravenswood?" she demanded, with some asperity.

Other officers have undergone similar experiences. Army officials went into conference with the bus companies on the matter of uniforms with the result that they are to be changed.

RADIO BILL BACKED BY COMMITTEE

Early Action by House to be Sought on Measure Extending Board's Life

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—By an unanimous vote, the House Merchant Marine Committee today approved the White bill to extend the life of the Federal Radio Commission as an administrative body for another year.

The committee acted after four weeks of inquiry into the administration of the Radio Act of 1927, which created the commission.

If the measure is passed, it will provide for the second extension of the commission's life as an administrative body. If this extension is not authorized the commission under existing law will become an appellant body to review radio allocations made by the Department of Commerce's radio division.

Chairman White announced an effort will be made to bring the bill before the House under a special rule in the near future in order to expedite action in view of the fact that the terms of the commissioners expire the 23rd inst., and the authority of the commission ends March 16.

MILLS MILLION GIVEN CHARITY

Will of Philanthropist Admitted to Probate

Son Gets Life Interest in $50,000,000 Estate

California Institutions on Bequest List

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Ogden Mills, financier and philanthropist, left $1,050,000 to charities and public institutions by the terms of his will admitted to probate here today.

Life interest in the residue of his estate, estimated at close to $50,000,000, passes to his son, Ogden L. Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, and his two daughters, Beatrice, Countess Granard of London, and Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps of Palm Beach, Fla.

FURTHER BEQUESTS DUE

Mr. Mills's children will make further public bequests of $1,300,000, it was learned from attorneys for the estate following directions which Mr. Mills desired, but was unable to incorporate in his will previous to his death on January 29.

The Metropolitan Museum of Art, which receives $150,000 by the will, will receive an additional $100,000, according to his bequest. The museum also receives two paintings by Vandyke and other widely known paintings and a collection of bronzes in Mr. Mills's Paris residence.

The Home of Incurables will receive a total of $1,000,000 in the final distribution of the estate; the American Museum of Natural History, $500,000; the Mills Memorial Hospital at San Mateo, Cal., $200,000; the Grace Cathedral Corporation of San Francisco, $250,000, less gifts made during Mr. Mills's life, and the New York Zoological Society and Phillips Exeter Academy, $50,000 each.

SON GIVEN PROPERTY

To his son, Ogden L. Mills, Mr. Mills left his city residence at Fifth avenue and Sixty-ninth street, property immediately adjoining the residence at 4 East Sixty-ninth street and the property at 109-111 West Fifty-second street. Ogden L. Mills also receives the estate at Staatsburg under the terms of the will of his mother, the late Ruth Livingston Mills, who held a life interest in the estate. To his daughter, Beatrice, Mr. Mills left all his shares in the company which owns his Paris residence.

To the many men and women in his employ Mr. Mills left a total of $175,000. To his secretary, Hobart O. Gambee, Mr. Mills bequeathed $20,000 and a similar amount passes to another employee, Arthur A. Hartman. Three other employees of Mr. Mills's office at 15 Broad street received $5000 each. Bequests of $5000 each also go to all employees of the Mills Estate, Inc., of California.

Former Mission Board Treasurer Pleads Guilty to Embezzling Church Funds

ATLANTA, Feb. 5. (AP)—Clinton S. Carnes, who rose from ex-convict to a position of prominence as treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board and decamped after nine years, leaving a shortage estimated at nearly a million dollars, pleaded guilty to embezzlement here today and was sentenced to from five to seven years imprisonment.

His plea was accepted on recommendation of board officials, who said Carnes has turned over all his resources for restitution, that it would save the State a long, expensive trial and that justice will be served by the sentence because of his age. It was added that Carnes has agreed to aid in untangling the board's accounts, on which auditors have been working since he disappeared last summer.

ONE CHARGE USED

Only one of the twenty indictments returned against him—that charging misappropriation of $80,000—figured in the proceedings. The State announced that the others will be dismissed if Carnes does not seek a pardon or parole before the expiration of his minimum sentence.

Carnes, who had been confined to the County Jail since his arrest last September in Winnipeg, Man., appeared in court in custody of deputy sheriffs, accompanied by his attorneys and younger son Robert. His only participation in the brief formalities was to sign the indictment.

Judge Moore passed sentence with the statement that it seemed "inadequate," but that he assented to the solicitor-general's recommendations.

It was as an obscure auditor that Carnes first became affiliated with the Home Mission Board. A year later, in 1919, his business ability won for him the post of treasurer.

HE JOINS CLUBS

Then he joined the Capital-avenue Baptist Church, became chairman of the finance and buildings committee, was invited to membership in several clubs and established a home in the fashionable Druid Hills section. He became the head of several private business enterprises here.

On August 15, last, he disappeared and ten days later a search was started in the belief he had met with foul play. Auditors soon were set to work on his books.

Coincident with the discovery of a shortage placed by the examiners at $953,000, it developed Carnes has served two prison sentences.

Receivers for his personal properties later reported Carnes had been the financial benefactor of two girls seeking careers in the motion pictures.

Russia Renounces All Claim to Bessarabia

Yields in Return for Signing of Kellogg Pact

Baltic Protocol to Assure in Effect Soon

[Copyright, 1929, by the Chicago Tribune]

BUCHAREST, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) Soviet Russia today solemnly promised Rumania that in the interests of world peace it renounces all rights to Bessarabia, and in return Rumania agreed to sign the special Kellogg protocol next Tuesday outlawing war between the two nations.

Moscow agreed to give up its claims to the rich granary which Rumania grabbed from it after the Red revolution of 1917 as the price of the Rumania signature putting the Kellogg peace pact immediately in force in Eastern Europe.

Backed by France, Poland had rejected the soviet proposal unless it included a treaty with Rumania and the Baltic states with which Moscow previously refused to sign treaties of nonaggression.

REPARATION TALK LINKED TO WAR DEBT

President Sees No Method to Prevent Discussion of Obligations at Meeting

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—President Coolidge sees no way by which the coming expert conference on reparations can be prevented from discussing the debts of European nations to the United States, but he is emphatically of the opinion that such a discussion will have no binding effect on the Washington government.

The President believes that the subjects to come up at the conference properly should be chosen by the delegates themselves. He feels, too, that the principal question to be settled is the total to be paid by the German government. He can see no relation between this and amounts owed to the United States by nations of Europe.

Mr. Coolidge prefers that one of the European nations furnish the chairman of the conference. This is a question on which the United States can have nothing to say, however. J. P. Morgan and Owen D. Young, who will represent the United States, will be present at the conference in an unofficial capacity.

MORTGAGES GO INTO DISCARD

New Realty Financing Plan Announced

Stocks to Displace Bonds as Security

Construction to be Put on Equity Basis

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) A radical departure in real estate financing, which does away with first and second mortgages, substitutes calculations based on [illegible] for the present system of appraised valuations, and involves the sale of stock, rather than bonds, to the public, was announced today by the National City Company and the United States Realty and Improvement Company. It is intended to supply $100,000,000 to the building construction industry in the course of the next year through the new plan.

The plan will place real estate financing on a strictly equity basis and it is intended to put the construction industry in a position to compete with the stock market and with general business for funds. The recent slowing up of construction has been attributed to tightening of credit conditions.

HAWKS FLIGHT THRILL FILLED

Motor Stops at Height of 15,000 Feet

Way Lost in West Virginia Snowstorm

Almost Entire Trip Made Over Cloud Bank

BY CAPT. FRANK M. HAWKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) If I were a man given to worrying I would have worried considerably on this flight. I flew practically all the way across the continent with clouds so thick below me that I couldn't tell for sure where I was. I depended on the instruments.

Twice I thought it was all over. Once, at midnight last night, when we were riding above the clouds at an altitude of 15,000 feet, the motor went blup! blup! blup! and stopped.

It certainly was a sickening silence.

I knew what was wrong instantly, and switched on the other gasoline tank. The one I was using had gone dry. I thought it was all right then, when suddenly, the motor coughed once more and stopped.

WORKS ON PUMPS

"What's the matter in there?" I yelled to the mechanic.

I was so deaf from the roar of the motor I couldn't tell what he said, but he started to working hard on the pump which raised the gas from the auxiliary tanks into the wing tanks where it would flow to the motor. Then the motor started again.

It sure was a relief. I had thought, "Oh, Lord, now I will have to jump."

I was going to tell the mechanic to go over first and then I was going over.

I didn't know what was below those cloud banks and I didn't want to land any fast plane in the dark with 400 gallons of gas. It would have burned us all up too quick to think about it, if I had tried to land it and ran into anything in the dark.

All of this probably took less than thirty seconds, but it seemed like a long time to us.

FLIES BY COMPASS

I kept on flying by the compass, though, never looking at the map on which I had carefully laid out a beautiful course. I did not use it during the whole eighteen hours and twenty-one minutes of my flight.

The second time I thought it was about over was when I dropped down this morning, somewhere in West Virginia, I think, to try and locate myself. There were 6000 feet of clouds below me and I had to fly that fast little ship down through them blind. It averaged 150 miles an hour all the way but at times we went up to 180.

When I came out of the bottom of the clouds I was in a snowstorm. The ground was all white below and the trees were heavy with snow. It was a beautiful sight, but extremely dangerous for us. With snow in the air all around you and snow covering all the ground and objects below, it is practically impossible to focus your eyes on anything and flying is very dangerous. It was no joke.

CLIMBS OUT OF SNOW

Then, when ice began to form on my wings, it began to be less of a joke than ever. I know how to deal with ice, though. I began to climb up out of the moist atmosphere from which it was formed. Then I flew up and down several canyons trying to locate myself, but I couldn't make sure where I was.

I was pretty down-hearted then. I decided things were about up for us.

There were only two things we could do. The first was to set the plane down somewhere and call it off. But the chances for a safe landing didn't look very good in that country.

The alternative was to stick it out and make good. I decided to try the latter course.

I would have set the plane down under ordinary circumstances, but I realized that people had begun to take considerable interest in this flight. I didn't want them to say, "Well, he started, but he couldn't make it."

DECIDES TO CONTINUE

So I broke a promise I had given my wife to always set the plane down under such conditions, and flew on.

I was pretty downhearted, though. Weather conditions had been so adverse all the way that I didn't believe I would break the record in spite of the great speed of the ship.

A little later I decided to come down through the clouds again. This time I came down somewhere in the mountainous section of Pennsylvania. When I got under the clouds I knew the country well enough not to try to climb out again. I didn't care to push over any mountains. I flew down canyons until I finally came to a big river and flew down its valley until I came into New Jersey.

When I got into New Jersey and looked at the time I felt better. I thought we might still break the record. I yelled down to the mechanic:

"We may make it yet."

I flew over a lot of towns in New Jersey. I don't know now what they were. All towns in New Jersey look alike to me.

I knew the way to Roosevelt Field well and I opened the plane up wide and got there in a hurry. When I reached the field, I circled a couple of times and landed.

DEAFENED BY MOTOR

When the plane stopped rolling, I sat there a few minutes to let the engine idle down and cool off properly. I was pretty stiff after sitting in the cockpit in the same position for more than eighteen hours. My legs were especially tired. It was pretty hard to stand up at first. But I am not tired nor sleepy either as I write this.

The worst thing the matter with me is a terrible buzzing in my ears. I am half deaf from listening to the roar of that motor for all that time.

I wore a parachute on this flight for the first time in years. I learned to fly in the Army in 1917 when parachutes weren't in use for airplanes. I have been flying ever since. Ordinarily, I had rather stick with the plane and bring it down the best I can. But not with 400 gallons of gas and in the dark!

I had it all planned out last night in a second when that motor sputtered. I was going to let Grubb, the mechanic, jump first out of the passenger compartment, and then I was going over myself and forget about it. There wasn't anything below me that I could see but a nice, fleecy bank of clouds.

SEES LITTLE LAND

All I saw of land on the whole flight, except just before the end, was what I saw for two hours just out of Los Angeles. It was a clear and beautiful night and I could see the lights of the various towns shining up toward me. Then we ran into bad weather and it lasted all the way to New York.

I flew at from 14,000 to 15,000 feet altitude practically all the way to avoid the weather and to take advantage of a tail wind which was blowing me along.

If I had been smart I would have flown the last part over New Jersey at the same altitude and got here sooner. But I was afraid that New York would be hidden under clouds and that I might fly on out over the ocean and run out of gas. So I made the last hundred miles or so much lower.

But I saw some beautiful sights on the flight. All last night the clouds lay below me like a great white fleecy blanket. The stars "were bright and beautiful above me," but somehow I didn't enjoy them as I should. The night, at this time of year, lasts for twelve hours.

This morning, the dawn, over the clouds which were banked 6000 feet deep below me, was bright and beautiful, too. But I couldn't help thinking what was down under those clouds because I knew I must be over Pennsylvania somewhere and I also knew to come down in that country without knowing where you were headed would just be bad news.

MECHANIC ILL

Grubb, the mechanic, who is chief assembly mechanic in the Lockheed factory at Los Angeles, was quite ill most of the way from the fumes of the gasoline which he poured from small cans into the auxiliary tank during the flight.

I never did feel bad at all, though back in the open cockpit, where the pilot sits in the Lockheed air express plane.

When I planned this flight I did not intend to break any record. I had to go East on business. I do not like to ride in trains, so I called on my friend Allen Loughead to see if he had a plane he wanted delivered in the East. He said he had and I agreed to deliver it for him.

My mother fixed some sandwiches and coffee for me in Los Angeles and I brought them along. I drank four cups of coffee but I didn't eat any of the sandwiches. Somehow, when you have a problem like I had before me, you can't think much about food.

My official time for the flight, I understand, was 18h. and 21m. This is thirty-six minutes lower than the previous record.

As I am not a professional writer, I hope I have told this story so it is clear. I have just had a warm bath and I am sitting up in bed in my pajamas waiting until they press the suit I wore on the flight. I didn't bring any baggage with me and that suit is all I have until I can get to a store tomorrow.

I wore fur-lined leather flying moccasins to keep my feet warm on the flight and they were o.k. I also wore a big coonskin coat. I was disguised as a college boy! It worked, too, and the only place I suffered from the cold was on my face when I tried to peer over the cockpit to find out if I could see anything.

ONE DEAD, FOUR HURT IN WRECK OF AUTO

CAPE MAY (N. J.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Edward Jones, 23 years of age, of Philadelphia, was killed and four others were injured, including former Lieut. Robert P. Hewitt, aviator in charge of the Philadelphia airport, when their automobile upset early today at Bennett, three miles from here.

FLIGHT RECORD MADE BY HAWKS

something of the difficulties he had encountered on the way.

He struck bad weather first at Roswell, N. M., and it continued through the night. He flew much of the way between 8000 and 10,000 feet to keep out of trouble in the snow and rain and fog that hid the earth from him. For that reason he was not sighted at all today until he suddenly flashed out of the sky above the Long Island flying field.

After his stormy night he first saw the sun as he was passing over Evansville, Ind. As he passed over West Virginia he corrected his bearings and found that he was about seventy-five miles to the south of his course. It was there that he met the worst weather of all, but battled through it successfully at high altitude.

Capt. Hawks started with 475 gallons of gasoline and had seventy-five gallons left when he landed. He said the Wasp engine functioned perfectly all the way. Asked about plans for the future, he said his plans were made only for the most immediate future and that they could be set forth in the one word, "sleep."

GOEBEL GLAD HE HAS "SOMETHING TO SHOOT AT"

BARTLESVILLE (Okla.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Col. Arthur Goebel, holder of the west-east transcontinental record shattered today by Capt. Frank M. Hawks, declared that he was glad to hear his record was broken, because "it will give me something to shoot at next summer."

"I congratulate Hawks," Goebel said. "He has given me something to shoot at and I will be found trying it in a short time."

Goebel, who is recovering from a major operation, said he will go to Los Angeles and make plans "for going after some of the existing records just as soon as I can recover my health and arrange for another plane."

LONG BEACH CONGRATULATES FLYER ON ACHIEVEMENT

LONG BEACH, Feb. 5. (AP)—Congratulations were telegraphed to Capt. Frank M. Hawks on behalf of the city of Long Beach today by order of the City Council. Mayor Hauge initiated the congratulations of the city in council and the felicitations were phrased by City Clerk Brison.

Capt. Hawks attended school in this city, was captain of the Polytechnic High School football team in 1916, member of all student activities and a student in dramatics. He was graduated from Polytechnic High in 1916 and joined the World War aviation service in 1918.

'Kid' Wedge Will be Sent to Napa Insane Asylum

OAKLAND, Feb. 5. (AP)—Frederick R. (Kid) Wedge, Berkeley minister, bridegroom of two weeks, former pugilist and once a lumberjack, today was ordered committed to the Napa State Asylum for the Insane. Superior Judge Spence signed the commitment order following a hearing at a hospital here where Wedge had been under observation since he voluntarily surrendered last week after resisting an urge to throw his bride out of the window of their honeymoon suite in an Oakland hotel.

Wedge is going at his own request, contending that he is insane as the result of blows struck on his head years ago when he was a prize fighter. The only witness at the hearing was Wedge's 17-year-old son by his first marriage. Meanwhile Wedge's wife, Mrs. Jennie Minna Holloway Wedge, former Oakland divorcee, has filed suit here seeking to have her marriage to Wedge annulled.

Committee Also Approves Kellogg's Renunciation of War Pact Ratification

BERLIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—The Foreign Relations Committee of the Reichstag, in passing favorably today on a bill for ratification of Germany's signature to the Kellogg renunciation of war pact, linked with it the question of disarmament.

In submitting its report the committee added the following resolution:

"The Reichstag expects the government, with the date of enforcement of the Kellogg pact, to bring its influence to bear with due emphasis on the governments of the other signatories to the pact and the League of Nations, for fulfillment of the obligation of universal disarmament as well as the augmentation of the possibilities for the peaceful settlement of existing and future conflicting interests and manifest injustices."

City Eighth in Postal Revenue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Los Angeles stood eighth among the leading cities of the country in the volume of postal revenues for January, with receipts totaling $882,350.27, as compared with $806,664.80 for the corresponding month of last year, according to figures issued today by the Postoffice Department. This was an increase of $75,685.47 or 9.38 per cent, for the year, and approximately 25 per cent for a three-year period.

San Francisco was in tenth place for the month with receipts of $723,685.12.

The average gain of fifty selected cities for the month was 3.39 per cent, which brought comment from the White House today to the effect general business conditions throughout the country evidently are good.

Officers Duel Over Prisoner

MAUD (Okla.) Feb. 5. (AP)—An argument over a woman prisoner, culminating in a revolver duel in the City Hall of this oil town today, resulted in the death of Grady Maloy, patrolman, and the probable fatal injury of Melvin Corbin, night Chief of Police.

The woman, known only as Anna, was arrested for drunkenness by Maloy during the night, and the argument was over the advisability of releasing her after bond had been put up for her. Corbin declared the woman was too intoxicated to be released, witnesses said, and Maloy insisted she should be turned out.

Bosnia Woman Torn to Pieces by Wolf Pack

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Feb. 5. (AP)—Famishing wolves continue to terrorize the country districts. It was reported today that a peasant woman carrying milk cans was torn to pieces near the town of Bihac, Province of Bosnia. Only parts of her dress and bones were found.

Several peasants in that district also were reported to have been frozen to death, the temperature having reached about 28 deg. below zero.

SEATTLE, Feb. 5. (AP)—Recognized on the street by a former Los Angeles man, Kirk C. Dennison, 31 years of age, who described himself as a "former newspaper man and magazine fiction writer," is being held in jail here today for Los Angeles police who are said to have grand larceny charges on file against Dennison.

Also behind the bars is a girl companion of Dennison who gave the name of Virginia Leffingwell and said she is 19. She is being held as a material witness.

A police bulletin issued by the Sheriff of Los Angeles county on January 29, 1927, announced that Dennison was wanted on three counts of grand larceny and two of embezzlement. Police said Dennison also is being sought by San Diego and Miami authorities on similar charges.

COMMONS WINKS AT HAT RULE

Women Members May Appear Bareheaded in Spite of Old Requirement

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—The House of Commons has solved a momentous question of decorum. Women members will be free to disobey the rule requiring all members to wear their hats in the course of certain procedure.

It all started last week when Miss Susan Lawrence, Labor member from East Ham North, found herself handicapped because she had no hat and the rules require a member must be covered when speaking after a question has been put.

A fellow-Labor member improvised a bonnet from a piece of paper. Miss Lawrence donned it, but the chair refused to recognize that she had complied with the rule.

SPAIN'S REVOLT SHEDS NO BLOOD

Long Prison Terms Await Rebellion Leaders

Artillery Regiment's Break Quickly Suppressed

Arrests in Madrid Include Several Generals

CINDAD REAL (Spain) Feb. 5. (AP) Long prison terms but no executions are believed to await those convicted of leading the revolt of the first artillery regiment here last week which ended without a shot being fired. Official investigation of the affair is said to have shown that younger elements in the artillery corps induced their chiefs to start the movement which came to an abrupt end when it appeared that the rebellion had no followers in the rest of the country.

Advices from Valencia today said the reported revolt there was only a breach of discipline between two parties of officers over the attitude of Military Governor Girona toward former Premier Guerra. The latter now is on a warship, to which he was transferred from prison to keep visitors from him. Gen. Sanjurjo has succeeded in establishing order in the city.

Many arrests have been made in Madrid, including Generals Aguilera, Cueipo, Llano and Canalejas as well as several civilians.

NO SHOTS FIRED BY EITHER SIDE

MADRID, Feb. 5. (AP)—It was officially announced that Gen. Sanjurjo, his mission of pacification of the city of Valencia accomplished, would arrive back in Madrid tonight.

Gen. Gil Yuste will remain in charge of the southern city.

The government also made public a statement saying "It is not expected that anyone will make an attempt against order or disturb the public peace during the presence of the King and Queen of Denmark (who left Paris today for Madrid) but measures will be taken as a precaution by the police to see that no one carries arms."

Premier Primo de Rivera told the Associated Press today that not a single shot was fired on either side in the disloyal movements at Ciudad Real and Valencia. He said the disorders had failed utterly and the government will proceed energetically against the responsible parties.

GONDOLIERS MAY ADOPT SKIS

Canals of Venice Frozen So That Boating Has Become Difficult

ROME, Feb. 5. (AP)—Ice boats and skis may be necessary to replace Venetian gondolas if the weather in that Italian city does not moderate soon.

Ice has clogged up the canals and lagoons which serve Venice as streets and traffic there by means of gondolas has become most difficult. The temperature has been as low as 15.8 deg. Fahr.

Traffic on the River Po has become virtually impossible since that river froze over. Dante's own Arno is also frozen over.

Coolidge Signs Debt Pact Plan

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—President Coolidge today signed the Austrian debt settlement resolution providing a plan for funding of the loans extended by the United States to that nation during the reconstruction period following the World War.

The amount of the debt, $24,630,-968, will be paid in twenty-five equal annuities beginning in 1943, or, at the option of Austria, in forty annual payments of varying sizes beginning in 1929.

WAY CLEAR FOR WOOL HEARING

Fifty Tariff Witnesses to Testify for Committee

Two-thirds of Rate Fixing Completed in House

Consideration of Jute, Hemp and Flax Completed

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Two-thirds of the task of taking testimony of the advisability of readjusting tariff rates has been completed by the House Ways and Means Committee.

By hearing more than a score of witnesses on the section of the 1922 Tariff Act relating to jute, hemp and flax and their products, the committee today concluded consideration of the tenth of fifteen sections comprising that law and cleared the way for opening a three-day hearing tomorrow on duties on wool and wool products.

MANY WITNESSES DUE

More than fifty witnesses have asked to present their views on the wool schedule, one of the most complicated of all in the law.

Testimony today dealt with a score or more of products of flax, hemp and jute, and the raw material. A. G. Ritchie on behalf of the National Council of Importers and Traders, sought a reduction to 25 per cent in the 35 per cent duty on unfinished linen handkerchiefs. He contended the domestic industry was in a deplorable condition both with regard to manufacturing and marketing.

C. W. Brown, Trenton, N. J., representing the linoleum industry, urged a duty of 40 per cent in place of 35 per cent on inlaid linoleum, to meet British lower labor costs. The industry, which employs 9000 persons and has a pay roll of $20,000,000, he said, is suffering from increased imports of this type of floor covering.

HEMP BOOST ASKED

To assist western hemp millers, George A. Hartman of Juneau, Wis., asked duties of 3 cents a pound on hemp tow, and 5 cents on hackled hemp, now dutiable at 1 and 2 cents, respectively.

Oregon flax growers, through W. B. Bartram of Salem, recommended rates of 3 cents a pound on flax tow, 6 cents on unhackled and 8 cents on hackled flax, compared with existing rates of 3-4 of a cent, 1 cent and 2 cents, respectively.

LESS THAN 3% ADDITIONAL FOR COMMON BRICK

A prominent Los Angeles manufacturer recently decided to build himself a $12,000 home near Pasadena. He would have preferred common brick but he feared it would be too expensive and decided to use less permanent materials.

The plans were drawn. He was just on the point of awarding the contract when he saw one of our announcements calling attention to our free service to home-builders. He sent in a coupon like the one below. He was amazed at the information our literature brought him.

In a few days he brought in his plans. We showed him how the same identical house without change could be built of common brick for only $375 more . . . less than 3% additional. His house is now being built . . . and of common brick, beautiful, everlasting, safe and with the lowest possible depreciation and upkeep.

Perhaps you, too, think that common brick houses are necessarily expensive. The coupon below will bring you the facts without obligation.

ESPEE RENEWS FEDERAL FIGHT

Suit for Return of Fund Used in Imperial Flood Opens

Isadore Dockweiler Pleads Case at Washington

Seeks More Than $1,000,000 Spent in 1906-1907

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Isidore B. Dockweiler, Los Angeles attorney and former Democratic national committeeman from California, appeared before the United States Court of Claims today to present the case of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, which seeks to recover money it spent at the request of President Roosevelt to keep the Colorado River from destroying the Imperial Valley during the winter floods of 1906-1907. More than $1,000,000 is involved in the litigation.

Two major issues are involved in the case. One is whether administrative overhead is a legitimate part of the money expended in the fierce and speedy fight to subjugate the rampaging Colorado, the other is the valuation of certain lands in the valley which bear essentially on the amount of money the railroad should recover.

FLOOD BATTLE RECALLED

Attorney Dockweiler opened the case by presenting its background to the court. He recalled that the Southern Pacific loaned sufficient money to the California Development Company to bring water into the Imperial Valley. Openings of the water canal silted up and had to be recut. The Colorado overflowed at one time and formed the present Salton Sea. Then in 1906 the Colorado threatened to inundate the valley again. The railroad officials felt that they had spent all they could afford on protective measures and refused to act further. The inhabitants of the valley appealed for State aid and for Federal assistance. President Roosevelt asked the Southern Pacific to step into the breach, promising to use his good offices to see that the company was repaid.

Responding, the railroad threw all of its western resources into the fight and closed the river-formed break in time to save Imperial Valley from what might have been complete and permanent inundation.

DIFFERENT VALUATING

From 1907 until 1924 Congressional inaction held up the case. In the latter year a bill was signed by the President turning the case over to the Court of Claims for settlement and providing that the government pay the company the total amount expended, less a reasonable deduction because of the value of lands held by the railroad in the valley and saved by the action of the company. This last proviso made it necessary to value the lands in the valley in 1907 to determine the proportion of the cost to be borne by the Southern Pacific. Inasmuch as the government took the valuation of tax assessors who served at the time of the danger while the road took the valuation figures collected by its own experts from residents in the valley, a difference of some eighty-odd thousand dollars resulted.

The Court of Claims has had its experts take testimony on the claim and is prepared to allow the railroad $923,028.03 if the overhead item is thrown out, and $1,102,685.17 if the item is approved. The railroad claims it should be given $984,162.18 if the overhead is allowed and $1,059,957.52 otherwise.

GANG'S "ENGINEER" CAUGHT

Chicago Bomb Maker Once Honor Student and Army Instructor Describes Dizzy Descent

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—A protege of Hull House leaders, a crack cadet at a military academy, a chemistry student at the University of Chicago, a sergeant-instructor in the Army during the World War, a factory foreman with sixty men under him and now—

Anthony Di Giovanni, seized early today by a bomb squad as he was en route to bomb a real-estate office, sat in a police cell and told how he had wandered into the manufacture of "pineapples."

Di Giovanni broke an underworld rule—"keep your mouth shut and tell 'em nothing"—but Di Giovanni is no ordinary hoodlum. His diction, his personality, even his cell-begrimed clothes bespoke that, as with a shrug he sketched the years that took him from a University of Chicago classroom to a police cell.

CAUGHT WITH BOMB

Di Giovanni is 31 years of age. He was seized in a car driven by Anthony Venutti and the car, police investigation revealed, contained a bomb.

Confronted with the bomb, Di Giovanni broke down and told the police he was en route to bomb the office of Kurt Kroeber, 8144 Blackstone avenue, and he accused Walter E. Kelley, a former partner of Kroeber, of hiring him to throw the bomb for $100.

Di Giovanni's "talk" with the police revealed that in Italy his father bore a title, but was shot to death here in a blackmail plot when Di Giovanni was 2 years of age. He was sponsored by Miss Jane Addams and Miss Jessie Binford of the Hull House. He attended the Allendale Military Academy four years and then was given the Potter Palmer scholarship from the Hull House and went to the University of Chicago, where for more than a year he studied industrial chemistry.

When the war broke out he enlisted in the Army. Because of his chemical and mechanical knowledge he was made an instructor and was given a sergeantcy.

GANG'S "ENGINEER"

When the war ended he married and obtained a job as foreman in a large automobile truck manufacturing plant. Two children were born to the union which finally ended in separation.

"Then, Di Giovanni added, "I got mixed up with a gang on the Northwest side. I can do anything in a mechanical or chemical way. I became an expert still setter. I learned how to make beer, how to test beer and alcohol. I was sort of mechanical engineer and chief chemist for the gang. It paid well—$150 a week, but the police eventually arrested them."

BOMB EXPERT

Di Giovanni was asked where he got the bomb.

"I made it," he said. "This was the first bomb I ever made and I was pretty well scared going out to plant it. Then the police grabbed us."

The police said that the main points in Di Giovanni's story are true, all but his story of the bomb.

Di Giovanni, according to the police, has been making bombs for four or five years. He has been allied with the gang led by "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, "Valley" gambler, and Di Giovanni, according to "Valley" reports, has been chief chemist for the "Valley" pineapple syndicate."

Duchess Balks on Payment of Doctor's Bill

PARIS, Feb. 5. (AP)—Duchess De Talleyrand-Perigord, the former Anna Gould, is contesting a doctor's bill which was presented after her husband's long illness a year ago.

During the illness the Duke called in an old family physician, Dr. Grunberg, who collected 37,000 francs or $1480, but presented a bill for 150,000 francs, or $6000.

Shortly after the Duke's recovery Dr. Grunberg died, and his widow continued the suit, which had been filed against the Duchess. The Duchess is fighting the suit on the ground that Dr. Grunberg was not an illustrious physician and was not entitled to huge fees. She also asserted that in addition to the $1480 she gave him an automobile.

The court, in a quandary as to what action to take, decided that it had better consult medical men and appointed two of them to look into the circumstances and to bring back a report on what Dr. Grunberg's services really were worth.

Rheba Crawford Plans Temple in Hollywood

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Rheba Crawford, former Salvation Army lass, on her arrival here from Los Angeles today by airplane, announced that a twelve-story temple of worship will be constructed soon in Hollywood under her direction.

"I love the theater and I want to work among its people," she said. "The proposed building will have a theater and dormitories in conjunction. It will be particularly adapted to take care of those numerous girls who succumb to the lure of Hollywood only to be disillusioned."

Actress Wins Estate Fight

DALLAS (Tex.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Violet Bowen Jensen, Hollywood motion-picture actress, won her fight for an equal division of the $60,000 estate of her grandmother, Mrs. Violet Rebecca Bowen, when a jury today found that Mrs. Bowen did not have testamentary capacity at the time the will was executed. Mrs. Carrie Bowen Knott, daughter of the late Mrs. Bowen and wife of John F. Knott, Dallas cartoonist, had been given all of the estate except $10,000 for Mrs. Jensen and a few minor bequests in the will.

BEEF INDUSTRY NEEDS EATERS

Cattle Get New Start in Prosperity Race

Increased Consumption Now Chief Concern

National Association Meets at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—After a long period of depression, the cattle-raising industry is getting its hoofs back onto solid financial ground and now needs to pay some attention to the business of having people eat meat.

In brief, such was the thought impressed today upon 300 or more cattlemen of nine western States who gathered for the thirty-second annual convention of the American National Live-Stock Association. One of the most important things before the industry in connection with its rebuilding to major caliber is legislation, the delegates were told, and particularly tariff protection similar to that in other lines of industry.

Those in attendance were welcomed to California by Gov. Young; to San Francisco by Frederick William Meyer of the Board of Public Works, and to the Pacific Coast by F. H. Bixby of Long Beach, past national president of the organization.

PRICES AND TARIFF

Higher prices for beef, the delegates were told by L. C. Brite, national president, have resulted favorably for cattle raisers but have brought a misconception in the public mind which must be eradicated.

"The public," he declared, "has been prone to get into the habit of thinking the low prices they paid were stable, not realizing that we were selling our product at a loss. However, the failure of the beef boycott in Boston indicates the people are willing to pay a fair price for meat.

"The tariff is a question that is now uppermost in our minds. At last there appears to be promise of obtaining at the hands of Congress the same consideration for live stock and its products in the matter of tariff protection that has been bestowed upon the output of manufacturing industries. The administration, which has the majority in the present and newly elected Congress, is committed to a policy of protection and Mr. Hoover has declared that tariff revision is one of the first things he will undertake."

ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

R. C. Pollock of the National Live Stock and Meat Board of Chicago, declaring that meat and the eating of it are not keeping pace with other food commodities in advertising, announced a national advertising campaign to educate the people to the benefits of meat eating. Producers, he said, will cooperate by closer attention to merchandising methods.

F. Edson White of Armour & Co., Chicago, averred one of the greatest needs of the industry is reorganizing, but was unable to deliver his paper personally, so it was read by his brother, Willard White, vice-president of the same organization.

The convention will continue in session two more days, mingling business with pleasure and sightseeing trips. The business session will discuss tariff protection, grazing laws, stock yard regulations, prices, embargoes, the foot-and-mouth disease, hides, marketing associations and immigration restrictions.

DIET FIGHT ON TANAKA RULE BEGINS

Motion of Nonconfidence Due for Vote on Saturday; Regime Called Failure

TOKIO, Feb. 5. (AP)—The Minseito, or opposition party, today presented a motion of nonconfidence in the Tanaka government, the motion being introduced at a plenary session of the lower house.

A vote probably will be taken on the 9th inst., but it is generally believed that the government will be able to muster sufficient votes to defeat it.

The text of the motion enumerates asserted diplomatic, domestic and administrative failures. It declares that the government ought to resign, holding it responsible for "this unpardonable and vexatious state of administration."

After the motion had been presented the question of granting the rights of citizenship to women was put forward. To this the government replied briefly that it considered "the proposition right and proper but a little premature to enforce at present."

Toral's Plea to Be Heard Today

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—The Supreme Court announced today that tomorrow it will hear the appeal for a writ of amparo filed by Jose De Leon Toral, slayer of President-elect Obregon. If the writ is granted it will operate to prevent Toral's execution. If this appeal is lost, his only recourse will be a grant of executive clemency by President Portes Gil.

CREW OF EIGHT SAVED AS VESSEL HITS BAR

NORFOLK (Va.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Their lumber-laden craft stuck on a bar and buffeted by a heavy sea more than 200 yards off shore, the crew of the American schooner Bainbridge was rescued today in a surf boat of the Nags Head Coast Guard station. Five men were brought ashore on the first trip and the remaining three on the second. The Bainbridge was stranded before daybreak, and is full of water. An effort will be made by Coast Guard cutters to salvage.

MONKEY'S LEGAL STATUS CITED

Court Rules Orang-outang Has No Special Privileges and Can Be Attached for Debt, But Ape Goes Free as Judge Holds Obligation Already Paid

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5. (AP)—A monkey is just a monkey and has no human or legal status, Justice Moore held in an opinion here today

The opinion concerned Napoleon, a man-sized orang-outang, leon," a man-sized Orang-Outang, whose custody was at stake in an attachment suit brought by George T. Bishop, Inc., of Shreveport, La., against the animal's owner, A. Anderson, St. Louis showman, to satisfy a debt. The court held that the defense argument, that the Darwin theory of evolution gave the ape a legal status is not sound, and that an ape is property and can be attached.

However, the justice decided that the debt involved in the litigation had been paid and he freed Napoleon from the writ of attachment.

Many Fables as to Camp Where Party Died

[illegible] beginning of his story [illegible] missing explorer [illegible] tale of how he [illegible] probable [illegible] and his

BY G. M. DYOTT

[illegible] North American [illegible]

[illegible] Feb. 5. (Exclusive) [illegible] by the Kalapalos Indians [illegible] for presents I hadn't [illegible] I was in an embarrassing [illegible] until I remembered some [illegible] jewelry which my wife had [illegible] for this purpose before leaving New York. I had slipped it into my bag, thinking it might prove handy. I lost no time in getting it out and making a display of it in public.

Nothing could have proved more acceptable. Earrings and pins were quickly grabbed up by the men, who promised without further argument to join us on the morrow. In trying to explain to them the reason for our not having a larger store of presents we went through a pantomime of carrying heavy loads and how sore and tired we felt from packing even the few things we had with us.

This was interpreted by the Indians to mean that we were tired and wanted to rest for a few days. The moment we understood this we had to correct the wrong impression. It was not easy, and demonstrates how hard it is to convey ideas purely by means of signs.

LINGUISTIC DIFFICULTIES

It might well be asked how we managed to convey a single thought to such savage people as these. On the face of it it was not as simple as it might appear. The Indians have no universal sign language to fall back upon, like the North American redskins, and it requires a nimble wit to piece fragmentary ideas together which are being suggested by movement of the hands and head, etc., into an intelligible whole.

When the morrow came enthusiasm for going with us was obviously on the wane. Better start another day, they said; that will give the women a chance to bake farina cakes for the men to take with them. We, in turn argued against delay. According to Indian reckoning it was only three hours' walk to the Kuluene, so they told us, and we wanted to get there before nightfall that very day.

We heard many interesting rumors about Indian tribes to the east of the Xingu who gather once a year and celebrate intertribal dances on the high ground toward the Araguaya River. The object of these meetings I could not discover.

"THEY WERE KILLED"

Col. Fawcett remained one night with the Kalapalos and continued the next morning to the Kuluene River. I asked the chief what he knew about the three tall men. Through the medium of gestures I gathered that they had been killed. He said that the Anauqua Indians were bad people. He also told me that one of the trio had been lame and could not walk very fast. This accords with the last news from Fawcett that Raleigh Rimmell had a bad foot from insect bite.

I asked how he knew Fawcett had been killed by Indians.

"Kalapalos follow," he said. "One day we see smoke from camp fire. Two day we see smoke from camp fire. Three day we see smoke. Four day we see smoke. Five day no smoke. Caraibas killed by Indian. Anauqua Indians bad people."

From this it was obvious that if the story was true the Fawcett party had been murdered at their first camp beyond the dry zone where grew the piqui trees of which Aloique had spoken.

On further investigation I learned that the Kalapalo Indians had followed Fawcett's tracks a month or so later when they had gone to collect the crop. There they had found some black and yellow feathers dangling from a string that Indians had tied between two saplings on either side of the trail. This is a recognized warning not to pass beyond for fear of death.

ALOIQUE'S ALIBI

At first opportunity I confronted Aloique with the information.

"Suyas!" he said. "Suya Indians killed Fawcett."

He then intimated that he also had followed and found the signal which he said Fawcett had made.

I suggested that it was the Suyas who had put up the warning but Aloique shook his head and as usual had a glib explanation to offer:

"Caraiba put up signal. String not used by Indians. String belong to Caraibas, and Caraiba shoot yellow and black bird with gun. Sign put up by Caraibas to show the road they had taken."

The story was now getting involved, as Aloique had contradicted himself several times. This was the first time Aloique laid the blame on the Suyas and admitted having been to the place where Fawcett was killed. It will be recalled that originally he said the party died of thirst and that he had only been one day's journey beyond the Kuluene River.

SURE OF STORY

There was no doubt but what I had interpreted his story correctly on each occasion it was told. The signs had to be repeated many times and passed back and forth between each of us before I felt justified in assuming the meaning I have attached to them.

As the evening wore on our fatigued bodies called loudly for rest. To keep track of conversation was a gymnastic feat that almost brought on brain fever. We hoped the cold would send the Indians to their homes and give us a chance to get the rest we needed. To our dismay one of them collected a few sticks lying about the floor of the maloca and started a fire. This induced many to prolong their visit and we settled down for another hour until the last fragment of wood had smoldered into ashes.

The supply of fuel seemed inexhaustible and the fire once more started to blaze. In their efforts to provide warmth for their naked bodies the Indians had started to pull the house to bits.

At eleven the following morning we were on our way to the Kuluene. There was the usual bickering, discussion and hesitation before starting but those ear-rings and other cheap jewelry had turned the trick.

[In his next article Commander Dyott hears Aloique's new story of Col. Fawcett's murder and endeavors to reach the scene of the tragedy.]

TROTZKY'S FATE STILL UNSOLVED

Week of Continuous Rumor Produces Nothing

Moscow Denies Report of Black Sea Drowning

Soviet Continues to Invoke Strict Censorship

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—After almost a week of constantly conflicting reports the exact whereabouts of Leon Trotzky, one-time leader of the Red army, still is a mystery.

Although reports have been received from many quarters that Trotzky was leaving soviet Russia either for Turkey or Germany, there appears great doubt tonight as to whether he actually has left Russian territory.

One of the most sensational of these reports that he was being exiled from Russia was that he was aboard the soviet vessel Krasny Flott which was among numerous vessels forced to take refuge in the Black Sea during a terrific storm which has been raging in that region.

REPORTS UNCONFIRMED

Dispatches from Constantinople said that Turkey was absolutely in the dark whether Trotzky was in Russia or even aboard the Krasny Flott which left her refuge in Heraclea Harbor today and is due at Constantinople tomorrow.

Turkish and soviet officials are silent on the matter and the belief is prevalent tonight that Trotzky is not even en route to Turkey. The sole statement ever made by the Turkish government on the question was that it had expressed its willingness to permit him to enter Turkey. All other reports such as that he would entrain for Angora under escort of Turkish police and would be required to remain a virtual prisoner at the soviet Embassy were of foreign origin and were not confirmed in Constantinople.

DROWNING DENIED

Among reports in circulation yesterday was one that Trotzky had been drowned while crossing the Black Sea, but Berlin newspapers printed dispatches from Moscow stating that this was not true and that he has not even left Russia.

While Trotzky has long been a thorn in the side of the present soviet government at Moscow because of his opposition to the Stalin policies, nothing definite has come from Russia regarding any decision to end his exile at Alma Alta, Russian Turkestan. A strict censorship concerning Trotzky has been in force in Moscow.

IN MOSCOW REPORTED TROTZKY'S ARRIVAL

BERLIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—Kovno, (Lithuania) dispatches to the Telegraphen Union today relayed a report that Leon Trotzky, former commander of the Fed army, who has been banished, arrived in Moscow today.

The former war commissar was said to have arrived in a saloon car under strong escort and to be held in a suburb of Moscow until arrangements are completed for his leaving Russia.

The Moken Zeitung reiterated today its statement that the soviet government had asked German authorities for permission for Trotzky to enter Germany.

COLLEEN NOT BORN YESTERDAY

Her Remote Ancestors Also Rouged Cheeks and Finger Tips, Scientist Reveals to Dublin Women, But They Also Knew How to Fight in War Time

DUBLIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—The colleen has been criticised freely of late for her ready adoption of modern beauty accessories, but archeologists have discovered that her remote female ancestors also were fond of artificial adornments.

Centuries ago, Seamus McCall, scientist, has told Dublin women, the women of Erin knew how to redden their cheeks with berry juices and to pink their finger tips to add to their natural charms.

But these ancestors were not mere triflers or clinging vines, historical records disclose. Many of them won recognition as musicians and even as physicians and in warfare they often were found fighting by the side of their men. This martial trait endured even down to the Sinn Fein movement; there were many women fighters and dispatch carriers in the bloody revolution of Easter week, 1916.

Evelyn Nesbit Plans to Marry Russian Prince

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Evelyn Nesbit, night club hostess and former wife of Harry K. Thaw, today announced her engagement to Alexlevitch Romanoff, 27 years of age, who says he is a prince in the Russian royal family. He is now singing as a basso in a Broadway operetta.

"I am still the wife of Jack Clifford," said Miss Nesbit referring to her former dancing partner, "but I expect my divorce very soon, and when I get it I am going to become Princess Evelyn."

Miss Nesbit said they met three weeks ago in the Harlem night club where she entertains, and fell in love forthwith.

COUNCIL CALLS BOOTH TO PLEAD

Salvation Army Head Must Answer by Friday

Court Injunction Complied With, Officials Hold

Commander's Delay Exhausts Colleagues' Patience

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—It was stated on high Salvation Army authority late today that the high council has sent Gen. Bramwell Booth an ultimatum to the effect that Friday is the latest day to which it is prepared to wait to hear his representatives' arguments against his deposition.

During the day an intimation had been received that Gen. Booth's advocates might not be prepared to present his case as early as Friday but in some Army circles it was stated that the general was ready a month ago to submit his case and therefore it was difficult to see any reason for further delay.

Should the general plead that he is not ready the council intends to ask the court to lift the injunction restraining it from deposing the general and electing his successor until after the general had an opportunity to be heard.

Several councilors already have reserved accommodations on liners sailing next week.

NEW BILL AIMS AT NEIGHBORS

Texan Frames Measure to Bar Border Immigration

Terms Exclude Workers Who Cross Line Daily

Rigid Deportation Statute Reported in House

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Facing almost certain defeat in his efforts to obtain enactment by the present Congress of a bill excluding Mexican immigration Representativ Box, Dmocrat, of Texas, today introduced a bill designed to go far toward accomplishing the same results through putting up bars against persons coming across the Mexican and Canadian borders to labor in this country.

His bill is declared to have the support of the Department of Labor, which has split with the State Department, Agricultural Department and other executive branches of the government in going to the support of drastic Mexican restriction legislation at this time. The bill will be considered by the House Immigration Committee in the series of closed sessions, it now is devoting to Mexican and other problems.

AIMS AT EXCLUSION

The new Box bill provides flatly that the border entry exemption which permits an individual to enter freely "temporarily as a tourist or temporarily for business" shall not apply to any alien coming to the United States "to engage in existing employment or to engage in employment under an agreement already made, express or implied, unless specifically exempted from the contract labor provisions of the immigration laws, or unless such employment is in the course of international trade."

The latter provision would apply chiefly to contract or group Mexican labor imported for work in the Southwest.

Representative Box said he anticipates the bill may be amended in committee to clarify and perfect its language but that he would insist its purpose remain the same, so that indiscriminate Canadian border crossing may be stopped and exclusion clamped on undesirables from Mexico, in so far as this is possible.

AUTHOR UNCERTAIN

Mr. Box himself was not prepared to say just what the exact effect of his bill on immigration from Mexico would be. He said he hoped it would practically wipe it out, although he granted that this would depend largely upon the absence of flaws in the wording and the degree of enforcement given the proposed legislation by agents of the government in direct charge of immigrants crossing the borders.

Those following immigration matters in Congress, however, were of the opinion the bill would reduce Mexican entries materially—probably to near the vanishing point—if the officials in charge of its administration were desirous of really accomplishing this objective.

Although the measure from Representative Box's standpoint is aimed mainly at Mexico, it would have its most far-reaching and most immediate effect on the Canadian border. It would nullify a recent court decision under which Canadians are being admitted for employment purposes—a decision which applies with equal force to Mexico—but with the possibility that another of the several courts now considering the Canadian border tangle might in turn nullify the effect of the proposed legislation.

JAY TREATY UNDER FIRE

Among the several court actions in which the Canadian border crossing is now an issue is one to test the present validity of the Jay treaty with Great Britain. Under this treaty, signed in 1794, guarantee is given to free entry into this country of all British subjects, including, of course, citizens of Canada. The Labor Department has declared that this treaty was abrogated when the United States and England went to war in 1812. If the courts hold the Jay treaty still to be in effect, the border crossing ban provided by the new Box bill could not apply to any British subjects, and its effect on the Canadian line would be eliminated. However, this would not interfere with its application to the Mexican boundary.

The House committee today again reported its drastic deportation bill—a measure aimed at breaking up the crime wave in the United States by expelling alien criminals taking part in it. The bill, introduced by Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the committee, provides that the following aliens shall be deported:

DEPORTATION CAUSES

Those who violate or conspire to violate the White Slave Act; violators of the opium and narcotic laws; those harboring and concealing other aliens liable to deportation under the foregoing; those entering illegally; those convicted of any offense for which they are sentenced to one year or more of imprisonment and any alien convicted of an offense within ten years of his entry for which he is sentenced to imprisonment for a term which, added to the terms to which sentenced under two or more previous convictions, amounts to two years or more.

A bill by Senator Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina, which would make persons re-entering the United States after deportation guilty of a felony, has been passed by the Senate and is now on the House calendar. It is possible the Johnson bill will be appended as an amendment or substitute.

COOLIDGE'S CHUCKLES MINGLE WITH MUSIC OF NIGHTINGALES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—President Coolidge was chuckling today over the discomfiture of learned ornithologists who criticised his speech last Saturday dedicating the bird sanctuary and singing tower established by Edward W. Bok at Mountain Lake, Fla.

In the course of his address the President spoke of the setting "surrounded by green foliage and reflected in sparkling waters over which the song of the nightingale will mingle with the music of the bells."

"Nightingales, indeed!" jeered the ornithologists, "Does the President know there are no nightingales in Florida or for that matter anywhere in America?"

Some more caustic critics rushed into print in Rooseveltian vernacular and went so far as to intimate that Mr. Coolidge was trying to indulge in a species of "nature faking."

But the President knew what he was talking about all the time.

He knew that Mr. Bok had specially imported nightingales "to mingle their songs with the music of the bells" of the singing tower.

That's why he laughed so heartily today when he read how his speech was being criticised.

DON'T be discouraged if teeth are not white and sparkling. You have 9 chances in 10 that they are merely coated with a dingy film. This is what has been found in thousands upon thousands of cases.

You can quickly see by trying the special dentifrice called Pepsodent that removes film where ordinary methods fail to act successfully.

What film is

Film is the great enemy of teeth and gums—a chief cause, according to world's dental authorities, of most tooth and gum disorders. Film absorbs the stains from food and smoking and gives that cloudy look. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays.

Film hardens into tartar. Germs by the millions breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. To remove film, use the special film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. It acts to curdle film and easily remove it in gentle safety to enamel.

Don't expect the same results from old-time dentifrices. See for once and all how white and bright teeth really are. Get Pepsodent at any drug counter, or write for free 10-day supply to The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago.

WIFE OF INDIAN LOCKS HER LIPS

Mrs. Barnett Again Balks at Senator's Queries

Refusal to Waive Immunity Delays Inquiry

Newspaper Reporter Ready to Tell of Chase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Mrs. Jackson Barnett, "pale face" wife of the wealthy Creek Indian who came into a fortune when oil gushed from his Oklahoma farm, stood on her constitutional rights again today and declined a second time to waive immunity before a Senate committee investigating her marriage.

While her bronzed and smiling husband loitered in an anteroom within earshot of the proceedings, Mrs. Barnett heard her attorney read a statement in which he asserted that right and announced that while she was willing to testify without oath she refused to tell anything about the marriage that might incriminate her.

LAWYER TO BE HEARD

"That's all there is to it, then," Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, declared, and the hearing was adjourned for the day as the woman's attorney, Charles B. Rogers of Tulsa, Okla., was reminded that he has promised to give the committee his version of the wedding and the events that followed it. He is expected to testify probably sometime next week.

"You will be asked to waive immunity also," Wheeler told Rogers, and the attorney replied that he would "answer that when he appeared" although he later changed his mind and said he will waive immunity.

The committee wanted to hear from Mrs. Barnett, a fashionably dressed brunette, an account of the marriage which has been described as a "kidnaping" and the subsequent disposal of the Indian's estate estimated at more than $1,000,000. The money was divided between the American Baptist Home Missionary Society and the wife under a "donation" approved by the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The division later was set aside by the courts.

READY TO TESTIFY

Wheeler read into the record a telegram from John Fitzgerald, Omaha newspaperman, in which he said he would appear to testify if subpoenaed.

"As staff correspondent of the Daily Oklahoman," the telegram said, "I chased Jackson Barnett when his present wife first kidnaped him. Spent five hours with them in a hotel at Coffeyville, Kan., the day after the yhad been married at Parsons. The Indian was then being guarded by two Sheriff's deputies hired by attorneys for the woman. He had no conception of what had taken place, was a very childish old fellow and worried only about some fishing which had been promised him. It was obvious his new wife had trapped him. Will appear before your committee if subpoenaed. I have never been questioned in this matter and have never testified in any of the proceedings."

Wheeler said that Fitzgerald will be summoned to testify.

Pierce Butler, Jr., St. Paul (Minn.) attorney, has been appointed a special assistant Attorney-General to prepare a report on the Barnett case and report his findings to determine whether criminal proceedings, started at Okmulgee, Okla., last summer and then dropped, would be justified.

The case involved attorneys for Mrs. Barnett and Charles H. Burke, commissioner of the Bureau of Indians Affairs. It was halted on order of Atty.-Gen. Sargent, who since has explained that the department had not time in which to study the case.

Coolidge Tells Congress About Bills Incurred

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—President Coolidge today recommended to Congress that $6,360,415 be made available to cover supplemental estimates for miscellaneous items for the War Department for the past and current fiscal year.

Among the recommended appropriations were: For the payment of obligations incurred by the Army Air Corps for the purchase of new airplanes and equipment, $3,250,000; for undesignated ammunition storage facilities, $1,402,344; for armory drill pay for the National Guard, $675,000, and for the disposition of the remains of American soldiers buried in Russia and Alaska and expenses incident to their removal to this country, $82,235.

For the Pacific branch of the National Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle, Cal., $1000 was asked for current expenses; $75,000 for subsistence; $8000 for household; $25,000 for hospital expenses and $10,000 for repairs.

Review of Day in Congress

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS]

The Senate passed the cruiser-construction bill.

Hearings on the tenth of the fifteen schedules of the Tariff Act were completed by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Senate and House conferees failed to agree on the $24,000,000 prohibition increase in the deficiency appropriation bill.

The House Merchant Marine Committee approved the bill to extend the life of the Radio Commission for another year.

Mrs. Jackson Barnett, the white wife of the Creek Indian millionaire, refused to testify before a Senate committee investigating their marriage.

HUGE DRY FUND SEEMS DOOMED

Deficiency Bill Conferees Badly Deadlocked

Problem May be on Doorstep as Hoover Steps In

Leaders Seek Way to Rescue Other Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—It became apparent today that the first deficiency supply bill, with its $24,000,000 prohibition enforcement rider and $250,000 for an investigation of prohibition, probably will die in conference between the House and Senate, with the chance that the whole prohibition controversy which has raged for weeks in Congress will be tossed on the doorstep of the incoming Hoover administration.

Even so, supporters of President-elect Hoover contend it is more satisfactory from the standpoint of the next President to have such matters deferred, for there is reason to believe he joins with the view of the Coolidge regime that the proposed $24,000,000 fund could not be used wisely at this time and there is little doubt that he would like to be consulted about the funds needed for carrying out the prohibition survey he has promised.

DEADLOCK HOLDS

The conferees considering the deficiency bill held their second meeting today and wound up hopelessly deadlocked over the prohibition items. As the result administration leaders put their heads together on a plan for saving the other appropriations in the bill, including $75,000,000 for carrying out the Treasury's tax refund program, by the simple expedient of including them in the general deficiency measure on which the House Appropriations Committee starts work tomorrow. Whether this plan will work, time alone will tell.

Meanwhile Senator Harris, Democrat of Georgia, and other supporters of the $24,000,000 enforcement and $250,000 investigation funds also were busy figuring out possible ways of resurrecting the items. Senator Harris announced that if necessary he will offer the enforcement amendment anew as every new appropriation bill, including the general deficiency measure, is taken up by the Senate. "We will make every effort," he declared, "to have the $24,000,000 fund passed by this Congress. If need be, the amendment will be offered to the next deficiency bill and any other supply bill to come before the Senate. The country believes in prohibition and is demanding sufficient appropriations to make the law effective."

HANDS SEEM TIED

It is doubted, however, that the Georgia Senator will have any opportunity for carrying out his threat. So long as a chance remains that the enforcement item may be agreed to in conference or some action taken bringing it back before the Senate or House, his hands apparently are tied. Moreover, the Senate cannot institute appropriations and unless some future measure sent to the Senate from the lower branch contains an appropriation for prohibition any effort by Harris to attach his enforcement fund probably will be ruled out of order. House leaders are expected to see to it that no further prohibition legislation goes to the Senate.

Dollar Liner's Captain Says He Fell Overboard

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Testimony that Capt. William C. Morris of the Dollar liner President Adams lost his balance and fell overboard just after his ship went aground near the Atlantic end of the Panama Canal January 11 was offered today at the inquiry into the accident by United States steamboat inspectors here.

Capt. Morris said that after the ship struck he ran aft with a signal halyard to take the soundings. The line caught his thumb, he said, and he lost his balance and went over the side. He said he swam ashore and telephoned for towboats. The hearing was continued.

Police Fire on Ceylon Rioters

COLOMBO (Ceylon) Feb. 5. (AP)—Three or four persons were killed tonight and several wounded when a volley was fired by police in repelling the attempt of a mob to rush police headquarters. Among the dead is a well-known lawyer, who was a spectator.

Ten policemen and several civilians were injured when police broke up another demonstration in front of the headquarters by three charges in which their clubs were used freely. The headquarters was stoned by the rioters.

The trouble originated in a strike of street railway workers, which brought out 15,000 harbor and railroad workers in sympathy today.

Episcopalians Open Sessions

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP)—With two visiting bishops present, the seventy-ninth convention of the Episcopal Diocese of California opened here today simultaneously with the convention of the House of Churchwomen.

Bishop Edward Lambe Parsons, head of the diocese, devoted much of his annual address to a plea for elimination of war, which he called "the scourge of humanity."

"Passing of the cruiser bill will be only another way of saying that America really only considers the Kellogg pact a pious gesture," said the bishop.

GREENLAND AND EUROPE SWAP

Latter Has Summer Clime As Former Shivers Under Ice and Snow

COPENHAGEN (Denmark) Feb. 5. (AP)—While snow lies thick on ice-bound Europe, Greenland, the proverbial ice box of the world, is basking in sunshine and tonight boasted that the temperature reached 50 deg. Fahrenheit during the day.

The same wireless report to the colonial office said that there is virtually no snow or ice and that seal hunting and fishing are going on as in summer time.

Emperor Francis Joseph. Since her son, King Alfonso XIII, ascended the throne she had lived virtually in retirement, except for interest taken in charitable and religious institutions. She also superintended much of the education of her grandchildren. The Dowager Queen always was noted for the plainness and simplicity of her life, although on state occasions she insisted on maintaining the strict Austrian court etiquette in which she was reared.

RASKOB MAY BE HEAD OF GREAT BANK

Institution With Capital of $55,000,000 Said to be Formed in New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—The New York Times tomorrow will say that a new Wall-street bank to be known as the National Union Bank and Trust Company with an initial paid-in capital and surplus of $55,000,000 will open for business in the near future probably in the Wall-street district.

Archibald Fiske, vice-president of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, is chairman of the organized committee, which has been meeting almost daily for some time with a view to making public announcement of the new bank shortly. It was said that the new bank will be capitalized at 500,000 shares, virtually all of this has been placed privately at $111 a share, subject to allotments after the bank is chartered.

It is understood, The Times will say, that John J. Raskob, chairman of the National Democratic Committee, is being considered for the post of chairman of the board of directors. Among the probable directors are Col. Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana; W. C. Proctor, president of Proctor & Gamble; H. H. Timken, president of Timken Roller Bearing Company; David S. Houston, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company and a former Cabinet member in the Wilson administration; Eugene L. Norton, of Norton & Co., investment bankers and vice-chairman of Baltimore Trust Company; H. J. Cullman of Cullman Brothers, Inc., and a member of the Port of New York Authority; William F. Kenny, of the William F. Kenny Company, builders.

She also took the examination for an engine and aircraft mechanic's license and said she was told she had passed that, too.

STATE RULING HITS "MORAL" INQUISITORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP)—Atty.-Gen. Webb, in an opinion here today, declared that investigators for Bradstreet's and other financial organizations, must be provided with private detectives' licenses when they are called to investigate anything but the financial status of individuals. Webb delivered the opinion to Walter H. Killam, secretary of the State Board of Prison Directors, who contended that financial operatives are investigating the morals of individuals as well as their financial status.

JEWEL SAFE FOUND IN RUINS OF MARX HOME

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—A small safe containing jewels valued at $150,000 and the family silver were recovered today from the ruins of the home of Otto Marx, international banker. The home, containing many art treasures, was destroyed by fire last night while the members of the family, with the exception of a 15-year-old daughter, Audrey, were attending the theater. The loss was estimated at $1,000,000.

SENDS INVITATIONS TO ATTEND HANGING

FRESNO, Feb. 5.—Harrison H. Randolph, 24-year-old slayer of Mrs. Pearl Hunnicut of Bakersfield, is issuing invitations to his own execution, and one of them at least will be accepted.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Collins of Fresno, who arrested Randolph here following the crime, received Randolph's invitation today and announced that he will attend the execution, which is scheduled for 10 a.m. next Friday at San Quentin prison.

MOTHERS STAND BY BOYS

Parents Protest Against Police Raid of Juvenile Club at Bakersfield

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 5.—Mothers of boys and girls who were taken in a police raid in a place at the outskirts of the city near Union avenue and Butte street, protested today at the Courthouse that they knew of no untoward circumstances in connection with the club of a group of boys in the city. One mother in a statement to the press said that the group comprising the club was made up of boys who had grown up together and that originally the club had been a baseball organization but had had a continued existence as the children grew older. In many instances children were only guests of the club, it was asserted.

Another mother stated that she had two daughters. She had a daughter taken in the raid, she said, but she denied that there had been anything wrong with the organization.

"My daughter was perfectly innocent in attending the club, and knew of nothing wrong in the club," she said. "I believe that the club has been all right, or else I would not have let my daughter go there."

One matron stated that there had been no confusion when the officers of the Sheriff's office and traffic department made the raid.

"The boys and girls simply stood there and did nothing. They thought the officers were examining the place," she asserted.

Another mother said that her girl had been at the club as a guest of a boy. She explained that the girls did not organize the club nor were they members.

The lady who donated an equity in the Frazier Mountain Park lot for a camp site for the club, said that Al Coe had always given the boys "good counsel and assistance."

Al Coe, the man designated by one parent as the "chaperone" of the place, was held at the county jail today charged with vagrancy under section 647 of the Penal Code on the allegation of leading an idle, lewd, and dissolute life, according to the District Attorney's office.

Judge Erwin W. Owen of the Juvenile Court and and C. M. Johnson, probation officer, both have characterized the rendezvous as a place not fit for children or young men and women.

The grand jury also has the case under consideration.

HUGE AFRICA ELAND SHOT

Oakland Man's Party Also Bags Nineteen Lions and Thirteen Leopards in German East Area

NAIROBI (Kenya Colony, Africa) Feb. 5. (AP)—Artemus F. Lieurance, Oakland, Cal., has shot what is believed to be the largest eland patersonianus ever bagged. It was described as having a spread of 33¼ inches, beating the previous largest one by an inch.

The eland is a species of antelope. Some varieties of the animal attain a height of six feet and a weight of 1500 pounds.

Mr. Lieurance's hunting party includes his son, two brothers and a hunter named MacDonneld. They have been shooting over the Serengetti plains in German East Africa and have bagged nineteen lions and thirteen leopards.

They now are shooting on the northern frontier of the colony and declare the country the best they have seen.

ADOPT NEW PLAN OF SECRET PAY

FRESNO, Feb. 5.—As a result of the refusal of Commissioner of Finance Glass to deliver salary warrants of police stool pigeons to any but those to whom the checks are made payable, a new plan has been evolved whereby the identity of the operatives will be revealed to none other than the police with whom they work.

Buckley Ends Impeachment by Resigning

COLUMBUS (O.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Impeachment proceedings against State Treasurer Buckley, under conviction in Federal Court for attempted bribery and conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law, were halted tonight when Buckley submitted an unconditional resignation to Gov. Cooper.

The Governor announced he will accept the resignation and that State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy, will take charge of the Treasury pending the appointment of a successor.

Meanwhile a disbarment action was ordered instituted at Cincinnati against two attorneys, John L. Schrimuer and Adolph Gruber, with whom Buckley was found guilty of conspiring to arrange a system of "tipping" Cincinnati breweries when Federal raids were to be made.

THE BATTLE OF THE MARNE (SEPTEMBER 6TH TO 10TH, 1914), SHATTERED THE CAREFULLY-LAID PLANS OF THE GERMAN HIGH COMMAND FOR THE SPEEDY CONQUEST OF FRANCE.

THIS PLAN, WHICH ALLOWED SIX WEEKS FOR THE CRUSHING OF FRANCE, HAD FAILED IN FORTY DAYS.

FOR THE MOMENT FRANCE WAS SAVED. PARIS, WITH THE INVADER WITHIN FIFTEEN MILES OF HER GATES, HAD ESCAPED CAPTURE BY A MIRACLE—THE MIRACLE OF THE MARNE.

THE RED TIDE OF BATTLE ROLLED BACK TO THE NORTH, LEAVING IN ITS WAKE A BROAD STRIPE OF RUIN AND DEVASTATION. BAFFLED BUT NOT CRUSHED, THE GERMANS RETRACED THEIR STEPS OVER THE WIDE SWATHE THEY HAD CUT THROUGH FRANCE.

THE ALLIES PRESSED THE ADVANTAGE THEY HAD WON, AND VIGOROUSLY PURSUED THE RETREATING ENEMY. BUT THE GERMAN RETREAT FROM THE MARNE DID NOT LAST LONG. REACHING THE RIVER AISNE (SEPTEMBER 13), THE INVADERS HALTED AND FACED ABOUT.

record this afternoon when Sheriff Sweeters took the stand and testified Northcott again promised to lead him to the bodies of the Winslow boys and then retracted.

"Last Sunday night I was called to Northcott's cell. 'Can I have a meeting with my mother now?' he asked. I told him I didn't think so and then asked him to tell me where the Winslow boys are buried so that they can be given a decent burial. He told me he would do so and then changed his mind," the official testified.

Early this morning Northcott announced that he had completed examination of his mother, Mrs. Louise Northcott, now serving a life sentence in San Quentin for her confessed part in the murders, and the haggard, gray-haired woman was started back to prison in custody of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Petersen tonight.

REPUDIATES CONFESSIONS

Northcott's first out and out court repudiation of his confessions came shortly after he again resumed the witness stand near the close of the morning session.

"Did you kill the headless Mexican?" the defendant attorney asked himself.

"I did not," he answered.

"Did you kill Walter Collins?"

"I did not."

"Did you kill the Winslow boys?"

"Again my answer is, I did not."

The accused slayer, showing more confidence than at any time since his trial began, looked squarely at the jury as he asked and answered the three questions.

A few minutes before Northcott related a weird and fantastic story of having heard two persons conversing during the dead of night last Sunday just outside his cell door during which he asserted they were plotting for his conviction.

"One of these men sounded like Sheriff Sweeters and I heard him say:

"'We have to do something in a hurry or we will not get a conviction. We will have to get the newspaper men together and work through them because it doesn't look now like we will get anywhere with this case and we certainly can't afford to lose it,'" Northcott quoted the asserted midnight "plot" as he smiled benignly upon the jury.

Northcott previously testified that Sheriff Sweeters paid him a visit to his cell early last Sunday evening and attempted to induce him to plead guilty to "save your mother from the severe cross-examination she must undergo."

PLOT DENIED

"He told me that the reason the prosecution did not cross-examine me was because they knew they could not break my story," the witness said.

Before Northcott took the stand he called a Los Angeles newspaper reporter in an effort to show that Sheriff Sweeters's "plot" had been carried out. The reporter denied the charge after many of the accused youth's questions had been halted by Judge Freeman, who told Northcott to "sit down."

Northcott throughout the morning session attempted to force over to the jury a charge that he is not receiving a "square deal."

"Many important papers bearing materially upon my case have been stolen from my cell," the erratic youth charged.

When Northcott requested that Sanford Clark be recalled to the stand, he said:

"I got mad and went out of my head and forgot to ask Sanford several important questions. Your Honor, I wish you would prolong this session and have Sanford brought here right now before officers and other officials can talk to him and coach him," the youth stated.

"Your charge that witnesses are being influenced is immaterial," the court responded.

MRS. NORTHCOTT REITERATES DENIAL EN ROUTE TO PRISON

Reiteration of statements that no small boys were killed by herself or her son was made last night by Mrs. Louise Northcott as she boarded a train bound for San Quentin prison where she will resume her sentence of life imprisonment for confessing to the murder of Walter Collins. She was in Los Angeles a few minutes en route from Riverside where she testified in Gordon Stewart Northcott's trial.

"There never was a drop of blood shed on Gordon's Wineville ranch," Mrs. Northcott declared.

"I plead guilty because I was ill and couldn't stand the strain any longer. And I was told that it would help straighten things out for both Gordon and myself. But maybe I can get a new trial."

Asked how she believes her son is progressing with his self-conducted fight for life in a Riverside court on charges that he slew four boys, Mrs. Northcott said she holds little hopes for his success.

With tears on her cheeks Mrs. Northcott quavered that "He's all alone in this battle and the testimony of Sanford Clark has been framed by him (Sanford) to trap Gordon for revenge."

That she is not the mother of Northcott but is his grandmother was admitted by Mrs. Northcott. She expressed a desire to know why her daughter, Mrs. Winifred Clark, said by Mrs. Northcott to be Gordon's mother, did not come to Riverside for Northcott's trial.

The English lord, who Mrs. Northcott previously had said was Gordon's father, is dead and Mrs. Northcott is next in line to receive a large estate left by him, she declared.

"And I'll get to use it, too," she added.

The spirits and health of Mrs. Northcott obviously were better than when she left for San Quentin the first time on New Year's Eve. She laughed and jested before the train pulled out with her and Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. P. H. Peterson, who are escorting her to San Quentin.

"But it won't be so bad," she smiled. "They treated me nice up there and if I knew Gordon would get out of this mess I would be the happiest woman in the world."

JAPAN AND CHINA PATCH QUARREL

Evacuation of Shantung One of Agreements

Mutual Board to Arbitrate Claims of Each

Boycott on Nipponese to be Abandoned at Once

SHANGHAI, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) After an all-night session the Chinese-Japanese delegates early today reached a settlement of major diplomatic problems, especially the Tsinan incident, which involves evacuation of Japanese troops from Shantung. Immediately after the conference Dr. C. T. Wang, Foreign Minister, left for Nanking to present the Japanese proposals to the Nationalist government State Council.

Neither side issued an official statement but it is learned that the Japanese have agreed to remove their troops from Shantung upon China's guarantee of the safety of Japanese lives and property. The two governments are to appoint a joint commission for the purpose of assessing damages to both sides and probably both governments will forego the question of an apology.

The Japanese Minister, Kenkaichi Yoshizawa, refused to make any comment but the local Japanese press confirms the above facts attributed to Dr. Wang and says Japan shortly will announce the date for the withdrawal of troops from Shantung, possibly March 1.

According to the Japanese the joint conference will attempt to facilitate the re-establishment of Chinese administration within the zone which has been controlled by Japanese military authority since May, 1928.

The Japanese also assert the Chinese have agreed to suppress the anti-Japanese boycott and say other questions have been settled.

M. Yoshizawa announced that he has rented a house within the local French concession here and while he does not contemplate the immediate removal of the Japanese legation from Peking he expects to remain here indefinitely in order to take up the negotiation of the new Chinese-Japanese commercial treaty to replace the pact which expired three years ago.

AGREEMENT REACHED ON NANKING CLAIMS

NANKING (China) Feb. 5. (AP)—It was learned today from official sources, although no formal announcement was made, that the Chinese-American commission on claims for damage to American life and property occurring through the Nanking incident of March 24, 1927, has completed its work. The claims grew out of the bombardment of Socony Hill where British and Americans had taken refuge from Chinese revolutionists.

It was stated that the American commissioners had accepted China's offer to pay $450,000 not counting waived missionary claims amounting to $290,000. The Americans originally claimed $537,500.

A Chinese-British mixed commission is seeking a settlement of British claims amounting to about $8,000,000, growing out of the same incident. A settlement of those claims, however, is not even near.

BRICKS FLY IN EAST BAY GAS FIGHT

Independent Who Refused to Increase Price Finds His Station Smashed

BERKELEY, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) First violence in the East Bay District gasoline price cutting war was reported to police today.

G. W. Smith, operator of an independent station, who has refused to return to the 21-cent per gallon price agreed on by station operators and garage men, found, when he reached the station today, that most of the windows had been smashed, furniture wrecked and the interior in disarray. On the floor was a brick with a note attached, reading: "This is to warn you. Now look out. The price of gas is 21 cents to everyone. The brick brigade."

It was said that all except six of the service stations posted a 21-cent price again yesterday. The San Francisco situation remains unchanged, with garage men selling at 17 cents and service stations at 18.

Strike Gaining in Australian Timber Battle

MELBOURNE (Australia) Feb. 5. (AP)—The union-labor dispute in the timber trade today spread until it involved 12,000 workers, of whom 5000 are idle in Victoria alone. The strikers' pickets have turned back many owner-drivers who were conveying timber from the mills.

The trouble arose over the reduction of working hours from forty-eight to forty-four a week with a corresponding decrease in wages.

Plane Defeats Motorcycle in Stirring Race

CURTISS FIELD (N. Y.) Feb. 5. (AP)—An airplane and a motorcycle raced over a two and four-tenths mile course here today and the airplane won by two seconds.

The plane, piloted by Frank T. Courtney, British flyer, covered the short course in 41½ seconds. It flew twelve feet over the speeding motorcycle, ridden by Joe Stern, racing driver. Stern's last mile was clocked in 19 3-5s., a speed of 128 miles an hour. Courtney said his plane, with the throttle wide open, had made 125 miles an hour.

PARDON RECORD HITS GOVERNOR

Oklahoma Governor Most Liberal, Warden Says

Agreed to Let Prisoner Escape, He Avers

Clemency Orders Favored Banker, Witness States

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—The seeming liberality of Henry S. Johnston, suspended Governor, in granting liberty and clemency to convicts in the State penitentiary drew the attention today of the House of Representatives committee which is investigating his administration.

Dr. J. Q. Newell, warden of the penitentiary, was the chief witness of the day. Through his testimony the committee was told how Gov. Johnston is said to have agreed to allow a prisoner to escape from the penitentiary at McAlester, presumably to aid State detectives in running down criminals.

WARDEN REFUSED

Warden Newell said he refused to make Earl Holman a trusty in compliance with a suggestion of A. B. Cooper, former operative of the State Bureau of Investigation, so Holman could escape and aid Cooper in trailing certain bank robbers.

Cooper came to the prison in the spring of 1927, Newell testified, with a letter from Gov. Johnston, asking Newell "to co-operate" with "any plan" which Cooper might suggest, but Newell told the committee he declined "to be a party" to any such deal.

A few weeks later Cooper returned with papers for Holman's first leave of absence, the warden said. Holman, since that time, has been free on extensions.

Clemency granted J. T. Crane, banker, of Marshall county, convicted of embezzlement, was brought to the attention of the committee through testimony of Newell, who told of numerous clemency orders received. The warden then gave the committee a list of what he said was all clemency acts during the Johnston administration.

LISTED AS ESCAPED

Crane, Warden Newell said, had been absent from the penitentiary from 1927 until January 4, 1929, when he was listed as an escaped convict. When the listing as an escaped convict was published, Newell said, he was notified Crane was being held by Amarillo (Tex.) officers, pending the outcome of trial on three charges of swindling.

The warden also went into detail regarding numerous other clemency acts of Johnston.

At one point in Newell's examination, Ed Box, attorney for the committee, asked: "Did Mrs. O. O. Hammonds, confidential secretary to Gov. Johnston, come rushing out of the Governor's office at one time when you were in the secretary's office, and in apparent anger saying the Governor was inefficient, incompetent and a spineless wonder?"

"I never tax my memory with things of that kind," Newell replied.

PEASANTS IN RUMANIA PROTEST AGAINST GREGORIAN CALENDAR

BUCHAREST, Feb. 5. (AP)—Popular demonstrations against adoption of the Gregorian calendar, which would mean observance of Easter on March 31 this year, instead of May 5, took place at several points in Rumania today.

In Bucharest groups of angry churchgoers gathered in front of the patriarch's palace and demanded the return of the old Byzantine calendar. In Bessarabia unlettered but highly religious peasants charged that the government deliberately changed the date of Easter to March 31 because that day coincides with the Jewish Passover. In many Bessarabian towns the peasants threatened to boycott the church if the new calendar is enforced.

There was some concern expressed in Cabinet circles, members of the government fearing that the outbursts might assume a violent form. Juliu Maniu, Prime Minister, who is seeking to bring Rumania into harmony with Western Europe in every possible way, has decided to let the holy synod and the churches fight out the dispute.

The synod today in Bucharest held that it must enforce the new calendar. It took the ground that a decision formally made by it is not revisable.

Some of the ecclesiastical authorities, including the bishop of Bessarabia, fear that the situation may lead to an open schism in the Rumanian national church.

WORDY RUMPUS STIRS COMMONS

Exception Taken to Remark About Miners

Churchill Finally Pacifies Unruly Members

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Cries of "liar" punctuated an uproar which broke out in the House of Commons today and lasted for fifteen minutes. It ended only when Winston Churchill suggested that the question which had raised the rumpus be put over until tomorrow.

Col. Howard Bury, Secretary for Mines, started the uproar when he asserted that 2000 miners are needed in South Wales but cannot be obtained. David Kirkwood and Joseph Westwood, Laborites, challenged the statement. Kirkwood shouted "liar" several times while Westwood said the remark was an insult to the miners and to the Prince of Wales.

Col. Bury disclaimed intention of insulting anyone. Then Mr. Churchill came to the treasury box to ask a question concerning the dispute but the opposition benches shouted to him to "sit down and let the speaker deal with it," but the speaker called on Mr. Churchill, who then made his suggestion of a postponement and the house quieted down.

NEW SHIFT IN REALTY FINANCING

National City Company Sponsoring Stock Issue to Stimulate Building

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) Moving to forestall any further decline of building operations by tightening money conditions and to put the building industry in a position advantageously to compete with general business and the stock market for funds, the National City Company has evolved, in collaboration with the United States Realty and Improvement Company, a plan for enlisting public participation in construction enterprises on a partnership basis through an entirely new type of real estate financing, involving the issuance of stock rather than bonds.

Details of this plan, which places real estate financing on a strictly equity basis, were revealed today in connection with the announcement that the National City Company will offer tomorrow first preferred and common stocks of Beaux-Arts Apartments, Inc., to provide funds for the erection of two apartment houses on East Forty-fourth street, New York City. This particular offering is expected to be the forerunner of a series of operations which, over the next year, may reach an aggregate of upward of $100,000,000.

The plan, as exemplified in the Beaux-Arts offering, departs from precedent in real estate financing in discarding such instruments as first and second mortgages and such established practices as the payment of bond premium, appraisal and other fees. All calculations are based on costs rather than appraised valuations and the public is admitted on this basis to full partnership privileges in the enterprise from the outset.

Italo Official Says Deal Pends

A. G. Wilkes, executive vice-president and general manager of Italo Petroleum Corporation of America, officially confirmed yesterday the report that negotiations are in progress for the formation of a holding company which will consist of Italo, properties of the McKeon brothers and other producing units.

It is understood that John McKeon, who recently resigned as vice-president in charge of production for the Richfield Oil Company, will head the new organization. Rumors linking the names of other companies are entirely without confirmation at this time. Mr. Wilkes stated that an offer had been made for the Republic Petroleum Company but no action has been taken as yet. New York investment bankers are believed to be identified with the forthcoming financing.

Member Loans at New Record

New York Stock Exchange member loans increased $295,423,731 during January to a total as of the close of the month of $6,735,164,242, a new high record. This compares with $4,420,352,000 on January 31, 1928.

During January last year loans increased more than $10,000,000. The January increase this year followed a gain of more than $48,000,000 in December and more than $500,000,000 in November.

Comparative monthly figures follow:

DRUG PROFITS GAIN

DETROIT, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Parke, Davis & Co. announced today net profits of $8,208,874 after all charges, including taxes for the year ended December 31, last, equal to $1.72 a share on 4,749,619 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $7,315,365 or $1.54 a share on 4,747,829 shares in 1927, then outstanding.

Analysis Issued

Because of the number of California properties held by Continental Oil Company, Standard Oil subsidiary, and the recent informal trading of the stock on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange, C. C. Streeter & Co., member of the Los Angeles Stock and Curb exchanges, has just issued an analysis on the company.

STOCKHOLDERS FIND VOICES

Three Revolts Against Managements Testify to Use of Voting Privileges When Need Arises

BY EARLE E. CROWE

In three large corporations there are rebellious movements under way that attest to the fact that stockholders are not backward about using their votes when the occasion arises. The managements of the Childs Company, nation-wide restaurant chain; the Tide Water Associated Oil Company, and the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, are pretty much concerned at this time with large bodies of stockholders who have suddenly become articulate.

Not so many months ago the financial press was considerably disturbed over the growing practice of issuing nonvoting stocks. Prof. W. Z. Ripley of Harvard and others vigorously opposed the trend in this direction as a practice that arbitrarily foreclosed investors from protesting against policies detrimental to their interest. Partisans of the nonvoting idea replied it was more essential to protect the management by the right to own all the voting stock, and that stockholders, moreover, were apathetic on the question of voting.

RIGHTS APPRECIATED

Since then the nonvoting holders of stock in one well-known oil company have learned to their cost that the right to vote is sometimes valuable. And now the current revolts plainly show that holders of voting stocks are fully alive to their rights and of their power to compel changes in personnel and policies.

Next month the fight to unseat the Childs brothers from the management of the business they founded will reach its climax at the annual meeting. The chain of restaurants, which includes several in Los Angeles formerly owner by Boos Brothers, numbers 121 different establishments which serve about 60,000,000 people annually.

William Childs recently was successful in having his brother Luther elected as president of the company and himself as chairman. Prior to that time there had been some discussion over the policy of meatless menus in the Childs restaurants, a policy instituted by the Childs family. The opposition to this policy was victorious temporarily, but was unseated by the Childs family at a recent meeting.

In announcing their determination to oppose the Childs ticket at the coming annual meeting, a committee of common stockholders has issued this statement:

MANAGEMENT OPPOSED

"The recent election of his brother Luther Childs as president and the election of two members of the Childs family as directors, made at the instigation of William Childs, were, we believe, contrary to Mr. Childs's written agreement with us that he would endeavor to have Luther Childs resign as a director and that he himself would retire as president and general manager. The reason we insisted upon and still insist upon an arrangement that Mr. Childs and his family retire from control of active management of Childs Company is that we believe his policies of management have not been and are not in the best interests of the stockholders of the company."

Almost as emphatic is the letter sent out a few days ago by a committee of stockholders in the Tidal Osage Oil Company. This committee is protesting against the policies of the controlling interest, the Tide Water Associated Oil Company, and asks for more adequate representation on the board of the Tide Water company.

Leaf Reports Conditions in Eastern Field

With the exception of weakness in the bond market, business and financial conditions throughout the East are excellent, and the prospects for the year 1929 are most encouraging, according to Eric M. Leaf, president of the National Bank of Commerce. Mr. Leaf returned yesterday from a month's business trip, during which he visited the eastern financial centers, where he conferred with leading business men.

Money is plentiful for investment in the eastern financial centers and many investment houses, particularly insurance companies, are looking upon California with increasing favor as an excellent field for their investments, he said.

While in the east, Mr. Leaf attended the annual meeting of the United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation, of which he is a director. This company is affiliated with the California United States Bond & Mortgage Corporation, which is headed by Mr. Leaf.

Edison Utility Income Higher

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Commonwealth Edison Company reports for 1928 net income, after depreciation, interest, taxes and all other charges, of $15,475,109, equal to $12.44 a share on 1,243,924 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with a net income of $13,934,169 in 1927, or $12.59 a share on 1,110,880 shares of stock.

Dividend payments last year totaled $9,671,462, leaving $5,803,647 to be carried to the surplus account compared with $5,190,953 in 1927. Notwithstanding two voluntary rate reductions put into effect last year, the gross operating revenues in 1928 aggregated $77,042,775, an increase of $5,414,215 over those in the preceding year.

ELECTRIC OUTPUT UP

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) Federal Light and Traction Company reported today December output of subsidiaries totaling 20,431,849 kilowatt hours against 17,496,139 in 1927, a gain of nearly 17 per cent. Total output for the full year was 208,341,094 kilowatt hours, as compared with 173,620,681 in 1927, a gain of 20 per cent.

NEW BANK OFFERING OUT TODAY

Corporation Takes Over Old First National of Portland, Or.

Pacific Coast investors today will be offered stock of the First National Corporation of Portland, Or., which has been incorporated under the laws of Delaware to take over the First National Bank of Portland. This is the first time in sixty-three years that the general public has been given an opportunity to participate in the ownership of this bank.

The stock of the bank, known as the oldest national bank in the West has been heretofore closely held and concentrated in the hands of a relatively small list of stockholders, while the stock of the new corporation will be widely distributed and will later be listed on the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

The First National Corporation has an authorized capital of 300,000 shares of Class A stock and 13,333 shares of Class B stock. Upon completion of the present financing there will be 70,000 shares of Class A stock and 13,333 shares of Class B stock outstanding.

Class A stock is being offered to the public at $48 a share through a syndicate headed by Schwabacher and Company of San Francisco, and including Dean Witter and Company, William Cavalier and Company, George H. Burr, Conrad and Broom, Inc., Freeman Smith and Camp Company, Murphy Favre and Company, and Drumheller, Ehrlichman & White.

The new corporation, headed by C. F. Adams, president of the First National Bank of Portland, will commence operations with total assets of about $3,780,000.

Kinner Airplane Sells Interest to G. M. Holly

George M. Holly of Detroit and Pasadena has purchased a substantial interest in the Kinner Airplane and Motor Corporation and has been elected a member of the board, Robert Porter, chairman, announced yesterday following a meeting of directors.

Mr. Holly is president of the Toule Airplane Company of Detroit and the Holly Carburetor Company of that city. He is also a director of the Stinson Aircraft Company, Detroit, and one of the original directors of Western Air Express Corporation.

Stock of the Kinner company, which is listed on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange has been an outstanding feature of the trading in airplane shares throughout the past two weeks. Quotations have risen steadily from $1.65 a share two weeks ago to a high yesterday at $3. A new plant was recently opened at Glendale and it is expected that in a few days a regular schedule of two motors a day will be maintained.

Income Off for Auburn Motor

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Auburn Automobile Company today reported net income for the year ended November 30, last, after all charges, including Federal income taxes, of $1,133,459, against $1,278,533 for the previous year. This report does not include earnings of any of Auburn's subsidiary companies, but does include dividends on Lycoming Motor Company preferred stock owned by Auburn.

The earnings are equal to $8.01 a share on 141,450 shares of common stock outstanding, exceeding by approximately $2 the estimates made by officials. In 1927 the company showed earnings of $10.01 per share on only 127,500 shares outstanding.

Kroger Grocery Earnings Gain

CINCINNATI, Feb. 5. (Exclusive) Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, reported here today net profits of $5,323,585 after all charges including taxes for the year closed December 31, last, as against $4,377,104 in the previous year, an increase of $946,481.

This is equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.46 a share on 1,534,618 no par common shares outstanding at the end of the year and to $4.85 a share on the average number of shares outstanding, compared with $4.29 a share in the previous year based on the average outstanding in 1928.

Return Flow of Gold Continues

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—New York banks and investment houses today purchased $15,700,000 in gold in London for shipment to the United States on the steamers Mauretania and Paris. The Bank of England sold $5,000,000 of the total.

Purchases on the current movement from England now total $28,700,000.

POWER UTILITY EARNINGS GAIN

Pacific Lighting Gives Out Annual Statement

Net Profits Equal $4.23 a Share on Common Stock

Gross Revenues Jump More Than $2,000,000

Consolidated net profits of Pacific Lighting Corporation and subsidiaries for the year closed December 31, last, totaled $4,765,769 after all charges, as against $4,408,039 in 1927, a gain of $161,730, according to the annual report released yesterday.

Net earnings, including undistributed earnings of Ventura Fuel Company accruing to Pacific Lighting for 1928, were equivalent to $4.23 a share on the average amount of common stock outstanding during the year. Had the company sold its Pacific Gas and Electric rights in the spring of 1928, the profits would have amounted to $4.40, it was stated.

Dividends paid in 1928 aggregated $3,389,108 on the common stock, as against $1,640,000 in 1927, and after payment of dividends, surplus was increased to $5,410,345 from $4,618,096 at the end of 1927.

Gross revenues increased more than $2,298,000 to $30,350,631 for the year and net operating revenues amounted to $14,148,377, as compared with $13,559,942 in 1927, a gain of $588,435. Undistributed earnings of the Ventura Fuel Company accruing to Pacific Lighting amount to $95,471 and are not included in the earning statement.

President C. O. G. Miller stated that the increase in gross revenues was very gratifying in face of a general lowering of rates. More than 32,000 consumers were added during the year and the company looks forward to a similar increase in 1929, he said.

Curb Swamped by Orders for Standard Oil

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—The five traders who specialize in the common stock of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana on the New York curb market were buried under such an avalanche of orders in the stock today that an opening price for the day was not agreed upon until after 1 o'clock, when the trading session was more than half over.

The declaration of a 50 per cent stock dividend, which amounts to about $300,000,000, after the close of yesterday's market, brought an accumulation of buying orders totaling about 70,000 shares when the market opened. Practically the only offers to sell were in odd lots, which made the process of arriving at an opening price extremely difficult. Finally the price was set at $100.25, a rise of $4.25 a share. The stock subsequently sold as high as $102, but sold off to $99.12½ at the close. Nearly 130,000 shares changed hands during the session.

Much of the selling was said to have come from small traders who bought the stock when a struggle for control of the company in the open market was expected between representatives of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and Col. Robert W. Stewart, whom Mr. Rockefeller is seeking to oust as chairman of the board at the stockholders' meeting March 7. The last day on which stock could be bought in New York in time to be recorded to be voted at the meeting was yesterday, as the books closed today.

Arizona Mines Advance Wages

BISBEE (Ariz.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Marking the second general wage increase to be declared here within the last five months, the three leading mining companies of the Bisbee district today announced an increase of 5 per cent based on the wage scale in effect prior to October 1, 1928, among all day's pay employees, the increase to be effective the 1st inst. It was stated that the advance will be maintained as long as the price of copper averages 17 cents a pound or over.

An adjustment in the rates of salaried employees also will be made, it was announced. Notices of the wage increase were posted simultaneously on bulletin boards at underground and surface workings by the Copper Queen branch, Phelps Dodge Corporation, Calumet and Arizona Mining Company and the Shattuck-Denn Mining Company this afternoon.

SAVINGS AND LOAN RESOURCES IN GAIN

Resources of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company increased nearly $6,000,000 during the month of January to a total of $32,387,476, Robert S. Odell, president, announced yesterday. Of this gain approximately $2,700,000 was secured through the consolidation with the Anchor Building and Loan Association at Long Beach. The remainder was the result of internal growth attributable to an unprecedented influx of saver's funds, he stated.

FRANKLIN BUILDING AND LOAN GROWING

Resources of the Franklin Building and Loan Association as of December 31, last, reached a total of $452,474.30 as contrasted with $304,891.07 at the close of the previous year, it was reported yesterday by the association. This represents an increase of $147,583 or 49 per cent for the twelve months.

BANK MOVE GAINING FAVOR

National City Reports Six Largest Corporations Keeping Funds Off Call Loan Market

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1929, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The movement of the New York bankers to enlist the help of the larger American corporations to withdraw from the call money market and refrain from lending any of their surplus funds in this way on the ground that it will cripple business ultimately, is reported to be gaining ground.

Six of the largest corporations, "the very aristocracy of American industry," are reported by the National City Bank to have abstained consistently from lending money in the call market. These concerns are: United States Steel, American Telephone and Telegraph, General Electric, General Motors, American Radiator and National Biscuit.

"No doubt there are others," says the bank, "but this list is a host in itself and sets an example of sound business policy considerate of the general interest."

The New York Stock Exchange Monday reported an increase of $295,000,000 in brokers' loans for January, bringing the total to $6,735,000,000, a new all-time record, and $2,315,000,000 more than a year ago.

Member banks still owe the Federal Reserve $400,000,000 in excess of a year ago, the largest amount at this time in eight years.

Of approximately 380,000,000 acres of agricultural crops in the United States, 330,000,000 are planted to crops with an exportable surplus.

This is the fly in the ointment. Protection at best could give only slight relief in such a situation. Some agricultural produce, like perishable articles, can be protected. There is a demand for an increase on sugar of one cent a pound. This means an increase of $100,000,000 a year to the American consumer.

The Department of Agriculture in its researches on tariff protection is much more moderate in its estimate of the helpfulness of the tariff to farmers than many politicians. There is vastly more to the question of farm relief—or better farm readjustment — than changes in the agricultural schedule of the tariff.

The United States Department of Commerce will undertake a scientific analysis of the records of bankrupt firms throughout certain sections of the country, to determine the fundamental cause of business failures.

Certain members of the Yale law faculty, who are specialists in bankruptcy and retail credit, have agreed to co-operate with the department. Louisville, Ky., will be the first city studied.

Of 1200 retail outlets in Louisville, one grocery a day closes. At the same time an average of thirty-two new stores start in business in that city every month.

This survey will be in much greater detail than ever before attempted by the government, and it will concentrate particularly on such factors as the original financial structure and the relations of the investment to the size of the business.

Several cities will be studied. The department wants to find the real causes for retail bankruptcy—not merely the statistical data.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—After selling off early under further liquidation promoted by relatively easy cables, the cotton market steadied today on covering and trade buying, which seemed to become a little more active just below 19.50 for May contracts. Business tapered off on rallies to about or a shade over yesterday's closing quotations, however. The market was quiet around 2 o'clock. Active months showed net declines of 1 to 5 points.

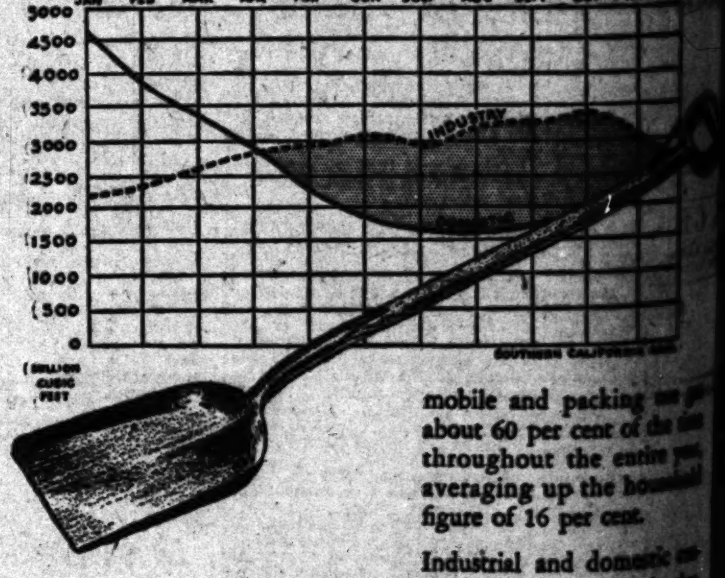
Industry Fills the GAS Valleys



A steady year 'round load now stablizes operating costs

The industrial use of gas is rapidly increasing.. There are 23,000 trade processes now using gas as fuel.

Industries such as steel, ceramic, automobile and packing use gas about 60 per cent of the throughout the entire averaging up the household figure of 16 per cent.

Industrial and domestic consumers supplement each other, affording the gas company a more constant outlet for its product during each day. This eliminates expensive equipment.

The securities of the following companies, in the financing of which we have been directly interested, are attractive investment opportunities in this field:

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Prices slipped downward today in the dull trading in the bond market. A few scattered issues, however, made substantial gains in sympathy with stocks and favorable trade news, but the recent convertible market leaders fell back on profit-taking. Volume of sales declined to $9,616,000, slightly under yesterday's total.

Porto Rican-American Tobacco 6s, which are convertible into Congress Cigar common, were again pushed into new high territory, closing for a net gain of 1¼ points. New Haven convertible 6s were another strong spot, touching a new high at 126, but losing most of their gain under profit-taking in the closing dealings.

Anaconda Copper 7s dropped 1½ points despite an increased dividend rate on the common stock and a further advance in Red Metal. Three other recent leaders in the convertibles—Alleghany Corporation 5s, American International 5½s and International Telephone 4½s lost ground.

Utilities as a group sold off, Public Service of New Jersey 4½s slumping nearly 5 points. Other issues to display weakness included Western Union gold 5s and American Natural Gas 6½s, the latter touching a new 1929 low. Philadelphia Co. gold 5s improved.

St. Paul issues, recent speculative favorites, yielded under selling pressure in the mixed rail list. Reports that appeals by bondholders will hold up the receivers sales of Minneapolis and St. Louis sent the certificates down nearly a point and the convertible 5s 6 points. Wabash 5s B slumped 1½.

Wickwire Steel issues, the convertible 7s rising 2 points, ran contrary to the general trend of the industrial list. Tennessee Copper and Chemical 6s continued their advance under stimulus of approval of a new bond offering and retirement of part of its funded debt. Certainteed 5½s dropped to a new low at 78 for the year, and International Cement 5s turned heavy in the late dealings.

United States government obligations were irregular.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in the order given. To expedite transmission, the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

The rapid growth of commercial aviation in the past two years has been one of the outstanding developments in this country. Holders of aviation securities have already realized substantial profits and they are in a logical position to benefit from the future growth of one of the most important phases of American transportation history.

TWO HIGHLY ATTRACTIVE AVIATION STOCKS

1. Curtiss Flying Service, Inc.

CAPITAL STOCK—The Company is one of the pioneers in commercial aviation in the United States. It will establish agencies for Curtiss planes and motors in all parts of the Country. These planes and motors are recognized as among the best available and are used extensively by both the Army and Navy. Management is vested in an unusually strong executive personnel. These shares are traded in "when issued" on the New York Curb Market.

2. Maddux Air Lines Company

CAPITAL STOCK—The Company operates a complete daily commercial and passenger air service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and San Diego, with special charter flights to other communities in this territory. The Company is one of the pioneers in air travel service on the Pacific Coast and occupies a firmly entrenched position in this essential industry. Application will be made to list this stock on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange and the San Francisco Curb Exchange.

LOS ANGELES-FIRST NATIONAL TRUST & SAVINGS BANK, Trustee

In the opinion of counsel
EXEMPT FROM CALIFORNIA PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

The Company was organized as a California Corporation in 1924, under the name Poinsettia Beach Improvement Company, to purchase and subdivide a tract of 250 acres of valuable ocean front property, known as "Pierpont Bay", in and adjoining Ventura, California. Frank L. Meline, Inc. acquired ownership in 1925, and through its sales agency has to date sold over half of the property at prices totaling in excess of $2,000,000.

This property, with a beach frontage of approximately two miles, is protected on the north and south by promontories and on the west by the Santa Barbara Channel Islands. The beach is a gradually sloping one, free from rocks, and is one of the finest in Southern California. The property is easily accessible over numerous highways from the thickly settled areas of Southern California.

Utilities and other improvements have been installed on a portion of the property at a cost of $375,000. From the proceeds of this financing $250,000 will be impounded with the Trustee for further similar improvements.

Bonds will be secured by a first (closed) mortgage on the greater portion of this property, appraised for you by Mr. R. P. Benton, well known appraiser, at $2,125,050—over 3½ times the amount of the bond issue. Property represented by 52% of this appraisal is held subject to sales contracts with unpaid principal balances totaling $840,000, which are pledged under the bond issue, said contracts representing original sales of $1,324,000.

The TRUST INDENTURE will provide:

That a SINKING FUND be established into which certain principal payments received from sales contracts and from the release of property will be paid and used for retirement of bonds. It is estimated that this fund will retire the issue prior to maturity.

That an INTEREST FUND be established into which interest payments on contracts will be impounded for bond interest requirements and allowed to accumulate until four interest payments on outstanding bonds are provided in advance. Current interest receipts are substantially in excess of bond interest charges.

PROPERTY RELEASE PROVISIONS which are in excess of two times the bond issue.

RESTRICTIONS against improvement tax liens on the property mortgaged.

A bondholders' policy of title insurance, to be issued by Title Insurance and Trust Company of Los Angeles, will guarantee the validity of the lien of the bond issue on the real property covered thereby to the full principal amount of the issue.

Legalities incident to the creation and issuance of these bonds are subject to the approval of Mr. Walter H. Hewicker for the Company and Messrs. O'Melveny, Tuller & Myers for the underwriters.

Bonds are offered "when, as and if issued and received by us", subject to the approval of counsel and to the issuance of permit by the Commissioner of Corporations of the State of California. Definitive bonds will be issued in the first instance.

COPPER MARKET DEMAND ACTIVE

Latest Price Advance Fails to Check Buying

Situation Held as Favoring Further Advance

Sentiment in Zinc and Lead Trade Improves

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
Editor the Mining Journal, Phoenix

The advance in the price of copper did not slow up sales as might be expected, so that copper now stands strong at 18.77 f.o.b. refinery with talk of a further advance. Lead and zinc have been quiet with no change in price, the former remaining at 6.50 f.o.b. New York and the latter at 6.25 f.o.b. St. Louis.

There is a better feeling toward buying ahead in the lead market and it is a good indication when buyers anticipate their needs, as it shows their feeling as to the stability of the market. Generally speaking, the producers are not able to quote on any large tonnage for February delivery and have booked substantial orders for March and April, which indicates possible higher prices.

It is the expectation that the January figures for lead will show an appreciable drawing on the reserve stocks as the output has been lower than was estimated. While there have been hunters for bargain lots of lead, it is reported that they have been unable to get concessions and that the price is firm.

CONFIDENCE GAINS

There is a more confident feeling in the zinc market and a feeling that the European Zinc Cartel will justify its existence during the first six months of the year and make its influence felt. The zinc producers certainly should have learned the lesson of the lack of co-ordination and the results of even a small overproduction. They have been furnished a lesson in the handling of the copper situation and it is believed that zinc can similarly be strengthened.

The market, both here and abroad, is stronger, which indicates that the Zinc Cartel has started to function. Another factor which has improved the domestic situation is that the bulk of the zinc of the Tri-State district is now to be handled by a single selling agency.

It is the feeling that the co-operative ore selling agency will be able to get better zinc prices from the smelters and that, if the margin to the smelters is then not enough, the price must advance. It is stated that neither the mines or the smelters are getting adequate profits and that the zinc situation justifies a higher price level.

UPTURN ANTICIPATED

The advance in copper prices was somewhat anticipated by consumers as a large tonnage was purchased just before the price was marked up. The domestic consumers were largely covering their April requirements while the large volume of metal sold to foreign consumers was for February and March delivery. There is a great deal of copper yet to be purchased by foreign consumers for delivery during the next two months and it is upon this factor that the predictions for a further advance of the metal are predicated.

It had been supposed that the bulk of domestic April metal had been bought during the buying wave of the latter part of December, but apparently the manufacturers had underestimated their requirements, had taken heed of the unusually large volume of brass sales in January, or had become victims of propaganda and decided that they had better cover further. Thus, there is a promise of a continuing active market, which, bolstered up by foreign demand, may force a further price advance to prevent running away.

The strikes in Germany have been settled by arbitration and this country is again in the copper market buying all the metal in sight, as they had deferred purchasing during the several months of labor trouble. It is estimated that the sales for export in January will total 60,000 tons, a record volume for that period in peace times. It is also figured that the domestic purchases of copper for the first quarter of 1929 will show a new record for all time.

PROPAGANDA RIFE

There is an immense amount of propaganda being issued largely by those interested in copper securities relative to the probable high price of the metal, its future, its effect on earnings, etc., which has a certain effect on the consumers and but little effect on the producers.

The copper producers cannot afford to permit the price to go up a point that is unsatisfactory to the consumer or which will cause any burden or lessen the demand and it is evidently their desire to keep it from going higher. It has been the eagerness of the consumer to buy that has caused the whole of the increase since the 16-cent mark was passed.

The fear of shortage and enormously high prices is being fostered by this propaganda, thus causing buying in excess of needs in order to get in at the present prices and to assure themselves of metal. This propaganda is working its way into metal reports from presumably authentic sources and is causing a market that is active beyond the real needs. The reaction might be serious when many agencies find themselves too heavily stocked with metal. This would provide a period of slow buying and permit of the building of surplus stocks so that a moderate reaction would be beneficial.

Security Prices Turn Easier as Volume of Trading Slackens in Local Market

Irregular price fluctuations characterized operations yesterday on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as the volume of trading receded somewhat below the levels of the previous week. Losses in general outnumbered gains but were confined mostly to fractions, indicating a more or less cautious or waiting attitude employed by the trading public. Bank stocks were practically at a standstill.

Occidental Petroleum, which featured the previous session, soaring more than 1.00 on a rapid turnover, reacted 50 cents to end at 3.65. Rio Grande, Barnsdall and Richfield each dropped 1-4 point to close at 29 3-4, 44 and 44 1-4, respectively. Republic Petroleum lost a similar amount to 2⅝. Standard of California recovered 1 3-4 points lost the previous day and ended at 68 1-4. Union of California and Union Associates improved fractionally to 55½ and 49½, respectively. Pacific Western gained ½ to 19½ and Macmillan, 1-8 to 25 5-8.

Piggly Wiggly Western States Company, trading on a cash basis, was a strong spot in the miscellaneous group, advancing 1½ points to 29. Republic Supply, influenced by an optimistic report by the president of the company, added a point to finish at 61. Hydraulic Brake dropped back 1 1-4 points to 53 3-4, and Emsco Derrick, 3-4 to 41 1-4. California Bank slumped 3 points to 122. Pacific National advanced 1 to 50 and Transamerica Corporation eased down 3-8 to 133½.

—Unbroken Dividends for More Than 20 Years

THESE are only two of the many attractive investment features of Crown Zellerbach Corporation $6.00 convertible preference stock, which we are offering at the current price of 95 and accrued dividend, to yield a liberal 6.32% income.

The Corporation, with its subsidiaries, is one of the largest industrial organizations on the Pacific Coast and ranks second in size among the paper manufacturers of the United States. It is the outgrowth of concerns founded more than half a century ago, and total assets are now in excess of $105,000,000.

In view of the fact that the Corporation or predecessor has paid dividends without interruption on its common stock for more than 20 years, the conversion feature entitling the holder of each share of preferred stock to convert into 3 shares of common stock, is of great potential value. The common stock following this issue has a present market value of approximately $45,000,000.

LOS ANGELES CURB

Unlike the general trend of prices on the parent board yesterday's trading on the Los Angeles Curb Exchange strengthened with a well-sustained activity marking the total value of transfers up to the level of that on the older market. Airplane shares continued to hold the spotlight with a rapid turnover and although a number of oil issues eased lower the higher price level scored Monday was, on the whole, maintained.

Lockheed Aircraft, reflecting the successful nonstop flight to New York yesterday, advanced 5-8 to a high and close at 19 1-8. Western Air Express fluctuated erratically between 88 and 82½ and closed off 1 point net at 85. Kinner struck another new high at 3.00 and finished at the top, up 15 cents. Maddux recorded an increased activity and held to 13 5-8. Fokker added another ½ to close at the peak of 27.

Bandini, which has performed sensationally in the past few days, achieved another new top at 11 1-8 and closed at 11, up 7-8. Globe, after touching 13 on Monday, reacted 1½ points to 9½ on severe selling pressure. Italo gained 15 cents to 1.22½. Only fractional changes took place in the balance of the list. Crystalite, among the industrials, spurted suddenly to 30 1-8, up 8 1-8 points.

Sales totaled 634,335 shares valued at $1,425,888.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Curious cross currents of prices ran through today's curb market, but the general price tendency continued to be upward. Growing uneasiness over the credit situation, reflected in the revival of rumors regarding an early increase in the Bank of England or New York Federal Reserve Bank rediscount rates, tended to cast a damper on bullish enthusiasm, which was not entirely offset by the grist of favorable trade news.

Standard Oil of Indiana, directors of which recently authorized a handsome melon, was one of the day's features, opening at 100¼, rising to 102 and then easing to 98½, where it was up about 4 points on the day. The initial transaction, which did not appear on the tape until the early afternoon, was a block of 70,000 shares. Other oils showed a tendency to advance in sympathy, Gulf and Vacuum each closing more than 2 points higher.

Aviation shares derived further stimulus from the Pan-American flight of Col. Lindbergh, Curtiss Air and Express jumping more than 7 points to a new high at 42, and then losing nearly 2 points of its gain. Keystone and Sikorsky also recorded substantial gains.

Kennecott (new stock) responded to the increase of ½ of a cent a pound in copper prices by moving up to a new high at 82¾. A brisk demand also was apparent for the other mining shares, Newmont closing more than 5 points higher.

Gains and losses were about evenly divided in the public utility group. American Super Power issues fell back about 6 points each and Electric Bond and Share, Italian Super Power, Northeastern Power and several others yielded a point or more. Empire Power closed at the year's high in reflection of the recent sharp rise in the stock of Long Island Power, one of its subsidiaries. Associated Gas and Electric warrants soared 46 points to 167 and then dropped back to 150. Federal Water A touched a new high at 61.

New high records in the industrial group were established by such widely diversified issues as Zenith Radio, United States Freight, Crocker-Wheeler, Evans Wallower, C. G. Hormel, Pepperell Manufacturing, Nathan Straus, Richmond Radiator and Bullard Co.

Lane Bryant dropped nearly 8 points to a new low at 75 and further selling developed in the motor shares with Checker Cab and Auburn the hardest hit. Southern Asbestos and Tubize Artificial Silk also turned heavy.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Another Lockheed Victory!

BATTLING terrific storms, snow, ice and sleet, existing during February throughout the East, LOCKHEED'S new Standard Stock Model Air Express Ship yesterday broke by more than 36 minutes the non-stop West to East record established last year by Art Goebel in another Lockheed "Vega." The ship was piloted by Captain Frank Hawks, adviser on aeronautics for Texaco, one of the largest oil companies in the United States. Time: 18 hours, 21 minutes, 54 seconds.

We believe this record to be without parallel, in that no other airplane has ever attempted to make a non-stop flight from Los Angeles to New York at this time of year. The plane making this record was a new stock model combination air express and passenger ship—a 7 place cabin monoplane, designed to carry mail and express or six passengers and pilot.

In this new achievement LOCKHEED was also first in using the long-heralded National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics cowling, reported to give all LOCKHEED models at least 20% greater all around efficiency.

TREND ON STOCK MARKET UNEVEN

Smelting and Howe Sound breaking into new high ground. Webster Eisenlohr, which is reported to have harbored a large short interest, was whirled up more than 17 points. Union Carbide, American Can, American & Foreign Power, Coca Cola, International Business Machine, Chrysler, Timken Roller Bearing, and Vanadium made substantial gains. Simmons sold up about 5 points on reports that the directors will institute stock dividends at the March meeting.

Rails generally yielded to profit-taking, Atchison, Atlantic Coast Line, Canadian Pacific, New York Central, and Nickle Plate sagging 2 to 3 points. Chicago Northwestern shares again touched new highs, however, the preferred advancing 9 points, and Jersey Central added 2 points more to its peak price.

Case Threshing dropped 8 and General Gas & Electric B 10 points. Allied Chemical, DuPont (new), National Biscuit, Mathieson Alkali, Peoples Gas, and Macy lost 2 to 5 points.

The commodity markets were inclined to heaviness. Grains sold off in profit-taking and cotton was dull and moved in a narrow range. Sugar broke sharply on pressure from Cuba and Porto Rico, where the new crops are beginning to move more freely. Crude rubber, however, jumped about ½ a cent a pound in response to strength of the London market.

Foreign exchanges were quiet, with sterling holding around yesterday's levels. The peseta recovered about 1-4 of a cent.

Transcontinental Air

TRANSCONTINENTAL Air Transport, Inc. was organized to operate tri-motored 14-passenger transport planes in combination with the Pennsylvania and Santa Fe Railroads, between New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

It has been announced that a 48-hour coast-to-coast service will be inaugurated between May 1st and May 15th next—a saving of two days.

The Santa Fe and Pennsylvania Railroads and the Wright and Curtis Airplane Companies are said to be the principle stockholders. Numbered among the company's executive personnel is the famous Col. Chas. A Lindbergh.

The unissued shares are to be reserved for future issuance if necessary to provide for contingencies.

Mr. H. S. Black, Chairman of the United States Realty and Improvement Company, and Mr. Lou R. Crandall, President of the George A. Fuller Company, have furnished the following information:

Beaux-Arts Apartments, Inc., has contracted to acquire title to two sites on East 44th Street between First and Second Avenues in New York City, and will erect thereon two apartment buildings of modern fireproof construction, to contain in the aggregate over 800 rooms. There will be deposited with the National City Bank of New York, as depositary, a construction fund which, it is estimated, will be sufficient to complete the construction of the buildings. The United States Realty and Improvement Company and the George A. Fuller Company will enter into a contract guaranteeing completion of the buildings substantially in accordance with the architect's plans and specifications.

The actual investment in the company will amount to approximately $5,250,000, comprising the cost of the land, the estimated cost of the buildings, architect's fees, carrying charges during construction, financing expenses, working capital, etc. Of this total cost, 75% will be represented by the 39,375 shares of First Preferred Stock and 25% will be represented by the 13,125 shares of Second Preferred Stock. The Common Stock will be distributed 39,375 shares with the First Preferred Stock, 39,375 shares with the Second Preferred Stock and 21,250 shares to the U. S. R. Management Corporation for the purpose of insuring continuity in the management of the enterprise.

Upon completion of the buildings, the annual net income of the company, after deducting operating expenses and taxes, including Federal income taxes at the rate of 12%, is estimated at more than $497,000 before depreciation. Until the amount of First Preferred Stock outstanding is reduced to 26,250 shares and until all of the Second Preferred Stock is retired, the net income, before depreciation, after dividends on the First Preferred and Second Preferred stocks, is to be applied to the retirement of First Preferred Stock and Second Preferred Stock through a sinking fund.

On the basis of the estimated earnings, it is calculated that 13,125 shares of First Preferred Stock will have been retired on or before November 1, 1938, and that on or before November 1, 1941, all of the Second Preferred Stock will have been retired. After such retirements, the capitalization would consist of 26,250 shares of First Preferred Stock, representing only 50% of the actual investment in the company, and the Common stock. The estimated net income, before depreciation, after deducting annual dividend requirements on 26,250 shares of First Preferred Stock, is equivalent to $3.40 per share of Common Stock. After deducting depreciation on a basis revised to consider the retirements effected by the sinking fund, such net income is equivalent to approximately $3 per share of Common Stock.

We offer these stocks in units consisting of one share of First Preferred Stock and one share of Common Stock if, as and when issued to and received by us, subject to the approval of all legal proceedings by our counsel, Messrs. Shearman & Sterling, and by Messrs. Davis, Symmes & Schreiber and Richard C. Babbage, Esq. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about February 15, 1929, in the form of allotment certificates, exchangeable for definitive stock certificates when prepared.

The following is quoted from a letter dated February 1, 1929 from Howard L. Wynegar, President of Aviation Credit Corporation who is also President of Commercial Credit Corporation of New York:

"Aviation Credit Corporation, organized under the laws of Delaware, will engage in the business of financing the sales of aircraft, motors and other accessories, sold on a time basis, usually referred to as instalment sales.

"Aviation Credit Corporation will have working agreements with Wright Aeronautical Corporation, Curtiss Flying Service, Inc., Keystone Aircraft Corporation and Travel Air Company. Curtiss Flying Service, Inc. is the exclusive sales agent for Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., Inc., Curtiss Robertson Aeroplane Manufacturing Co., Sikorsky Aviation Corporation and The Ireland Company. Similar arrangements will be made with other prominent aircraft manufacturers.

"The management of Aviation Credit Corporation will be in the hands of men familiar with the manufacture and technical details of aircraft production and distribution together with men familiar with and seasoned in the financing of instalment sales. This corporation has a working arrangement with Commercial Credit Co. (of Baltimore) and affiliated companies, whereby these companies undertake all credit and collection details in connection with the financing of aircraft instalment paper.

"Commercial Credit Corporation will receive for such services a moderate fee based on the volume of business financed, and in addition will have an interest in the profits of Aviation Credit Corporation.

"Of the 250,000 shares not now being sold the Company has granted options on 150,000 shares at $23.50 per share until February 1, 1934, with provisions protecting the options in the event of issuance of additional stock, recapitalization or reorganization. These options are held by the underwriters, who are represented on the board of directors, and others identified with the Management.

"Aviation Credit Corporation will begin business with $5,000,000 in cash."

Grain Futures Ease Lower on Bearish Mart

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Local shorts were on the buying side of the grain markets early today, but the bulge resulted in a weakened technical position, and when selling orders appeared in volume, prices dropped rapidly, with local longs selling out on the way down. The close was at the bottom. Wheat had a range of 2⅜@2¾c and closed at the bottom, with March 1.23@1.23⅛, May 1.26⅝@1.26¾ and July 1.28@1.28⅛. Selling against offers checked the early bulge in corn and later sellers of bids were forced to protect themselves. The close was 1¼@1⅜c lower, March being 95⅛@95¼ and May 98@98¼. Oats lost ⅜@½c, with March 52⅛ and May 52⅝. Rye finished 1@1⅜c lower, with March at 1.1[illegible] or 1c over the May.

The bulk of the trade in wheat was of a local character, and outside interest has fallen off considerably, with the result that the market was easily influenced. There was some buying early on the strength in corn and on the forecast for colder weather over the belt, and the unfavorable weather conditions in Europe. The purchase of 125,000 bushels of cash wheat to come here from outside markets served to attract attention to the slow demand for cash grain, both domestic and export, and the market showed little disposition to rally after May broke through 1.27. Buying against bids was a factor in checking the decline.

There was some improvement in the continental demand for Manitobas, with sales of 400,000 to 500,000 bushels reported in all positions. World's available supplies decreased 5,998,000 bushels for the week, and are 392,401,000 bushels, against 368,054,000 bushels last year. Liverpool closed unchanged to ⅜d lower. Winnipeg showed relative strength and was off only ⅛@1⅛c for the day. Buenos Aires finished ⅝@1⅛c lower.

Local operators were good buyers of corn early and prices advanced around 1c over the finish of Monday. The market became overbought later, and when some of the early buyers started to sell out, they found support lacking and the decline was easily attained, with May selling down to 98c, the lowest figure since January 18, and 5¾c under the recent high.

There were claims of some export business in corn with the United Kingdom, but this was more than offset by increased country offerings to arrive, with purchases of 175,000 bushels to come here, including 125,000 bushels from outside markets, and more grain was in process of being bought at the close. Heavy rains were reported in the province of Santa Fe, Entre Rios and Cordoba, but had little effect on the Argentine markets. Buenos Aires closed ⅛c lower on the May, after being unchanged at midday. Rosario May was unchanged.

Oats reflected the action of corn, advancing early, only to weaken toward the last and finish about the low point. Sales of 100,000 bushels were made to go to store. Trade in rye was not large, but the undertone was relatively firm, and the market failed to fully reflect the decline in wheat. No export business was reported at the seaboard.

Buyers of lard were not so anxious for supplies, while packers and warehouse men had plenty to sell. Hog prices were off 10@20c and closed weak on large receipts, which affected the trade in product. Prices on May lard, the most active future, had a range of 10c, and the entire list closed 2½c lower, a small loss considering the break in grains.

Bellies were in fair demand and May closed 15c higher, while ribs were unchanged to 7½c lower.

DRIED FRUITS

Wright
Creek
(Los Angeles Curb Exchange)

A worthy company with real mines, fully financed, mill running sweet and steady, and preparing to treble mill capacity.

Backed by wealthy men who have pledged us in writing that they would loan their last dollar to the company if needed.

Financed quietly and privately, and never before sponsored by an established financial house.

A moderate amount only of floating stock, which should sell much higher on pure merit, and without manipulation, as the investing public understand these facts.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—There is inquiry on fine territory wool. Sales are slow. Mills are pressing strongly for lower prices, especially on 64s and finer wools. This pressure is being resisted by holders with accounts. Some business is being closed on Ohio 64s and finer delaine wools at 45@46, in the grease, the latter figure having been received for a choice line.

MELBOURNE (Australia) Feb. 5. (AP)—At the wool sales held here today, 9100 bales were offered. Competition was good, but, in the absence of American support, super merinos and fine comebacks failed to realize yesterday's high prices and many lots were withdrawn. Prices for other discriptions were almost unchanged.

SUGAR MARKET

futures closed easy; approximated sales, 37,020 tons. March, 1.98; May, 2.07; July, 2.14; September, 2.16; December, 2.20.

TANK PROFITS UP

CHICAGO, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Fourth quarter net income of General American Tank Car Company totaled $1,488,000 making the entire 1928 income $3,910,754 against $2,921,047 in 1927, a gain of 34 per cent, it was reported here today. This is equal to $7.71 a share after preferred dividends on the average stock outstanding against $7.03 a share in 1927.

MARKET FLASHES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Stocks steady; Anaconda Copper jumps on dividend increase.

Sugar easy; lower spot market.

Coffee declined; commission house selling.

Corn lower; easier cash situation.

Cattle steady to weak.

Hogs lower.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: Accumulated orders for finished steel give promise of a continuance of the present high buying activity into the second quarter in the Chicago district. Actual back logs and tonnage in prospect are sufficient for more than ninety days' capacity operation of the mills. Semifinished steel is growing exceedingly scarce at Youngstown, O., with supplies of sheet bars especially inadequate to meet the demands of the sheet mills. Orders for sheets continue to pour in upon producers, who are faced with a problem in meeting delivery requirements despite the heavy production schedules maintained. The recent advance of $2 a ton in cold rolled strip steel is better recognized at Cleveland.

About 85 per cent of the 12,000 cars on inquiry which will require about 300,000 tons of finished steel, will be placed with western producers at Detroit. The iron and steel scrap market continues weak due to abundance of supplies.

The copper market is strong and today again advanced ⅛c to 17.75c, Connecticut; brass and copper products prices also went up ½c. Zinc is steady at 6.35c, East St. Louis, while lead is strong at 6.50c to 6.52½c, East St. Louis, and 6.65c, New York. Tin is higher at 50.37½c.

METAL PRICES

Iron steady, unchanged.

Tin steady; spot and future, 50.37@50.50.

Lead firm; spot New York, 6.65; East St. Louis, 6.50.

Zinc steady.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (Exclusive)—Despite unfavorable developments of the past few days a rising trend apparent in the London market was conducive to a strong undertone locally and there was little inclination on the part of sellers to press things. Buyers were forced to elevate bids in order to attract any attention and by midday values were up 40 to 60 points. The close on seven active deliveries was 30 to 50 points above previous finals. Sales were light.

The outside market was up ⅛c at 22½c. London closed quiet and steady at 11d. ⅛d higher.

COMMODORE PETROLEUM

We are informed that the General Petroleum Corporation are now preparing to bring in the well No. 204, an offset well to the sensational well No. 225, which came in for 9100 barrels and also is an offset to the wells that the Commodore are now drilling.

The bringing in of the well No. 225 of the General Petroleum started an advance in the price of Bandini Oil shares to today's market of $11.00 per share. It is anticipated that the bringing in of Well No. 204 may cause a decided upswing in the stock of the Commodore Petroleum.

Twin Bell Oil Syndicate
Second Twin Bell Syndicate
Third Twin Bell Syndicate

The second well drilled by the Second Twin Bell Syndicate at Santa Fe Springs was placed on production February 4, 1929, with an initial flow of 3504 bbls. cutting less than 1% water. This well can without doubt be opened within the next few days to 4000 bbls. daily.

The first well being drilled by the Third Twin Bell Syndicate on the Lamb property is now down to a depth of 3500 ft. and casing should be set within the next few days on top of the Meyer sand. The derrick for the second well on this property is in process of erection and machinery should be installed and drilling commenced within the next ten days.

It is the intention of the Trustees to drill both of these wells to the Buckbee sand as rapidly as possible.

NOTICE

The undersigned desires to acknowledge with thanks the response made by the public for the purchase of Third Twin Bell units, and to assure all interested that the same diligent efforts will be directed toward making the Third Twin Bell Syndicate fully as successful as the First and Second Syndicates.

The two wells to be drilled by the Third Twin Bell Syndicate, one of which is now drilling below 3500 ft., will be under the same careful management and field superintendence as the First and Second Twin Bell Syndicates, and there is no reason why the same success should not be obtained —with the tremendous possibilities of a still richer and deeper sand reported discovered as an additional inducement.

A small block of units (including reservations made but not paid for) may still be obtained @ $20.00 per unit. All units available will undoubtedly be sold within the next week or ten days, and while the sale of these units will be withdrawn as soon as reservations and purchases have been completed, orders for the limited number still available will be honored in the order received.

SHIP OPERATING PACT FORECAST

Transmarine Official Makes Statement at Port

Peace in Eastbound Lumber Carrying Sought

An "operating agreement" among intercoastal lines, involving among others the Williams Line and Transmarine Corporation yesterday was foreseen as likely, by Joseph Scott, general manager of the Transmarine Line, here from New York.

This, while not pooling the physical properties and finances of the interested parties, would function to mutual advantage in eliminating strife between them, particularly on eastbound lumber, Scott indicated. He doubted if physical mergers now rumored could be effected, at least to take in either of the lines, although he believed K. D. Dawson would be able to assemble a few more ships around his Quaker Line fleet.

Scott claimed his and other smaller lines held the balance of power intercoastal, despite the representations of Class A lines. Lumber, he said, is the lifeblood of the coast-to-coast service, and it is significant that the Williams and Transmarine were among the heaviest carriers of that commodity last year.

Transmarine Corporation entered the field five years ago, and now maintains twelve freight steamers in the coast-to-coast run and four between the Pacific Coast and ports on the Gulf of Mexico. Scott was accompanied here by C. L. Meek, Puget Sound manager, and W. D. Benson of San Francisco, Pacific Coast manager. He left last night for New Orleans and home.

LASSCO MAY ENTER INTERCOASTAL TRADE

If one can believe in signs, the announcement of Lassco's purchase of three steamers for the Arrow Line's intercoastal service means at last that Los Angeles is going to the sea.

Suspicions to that effect came when Lassco formed eight years ago and put the Yale and Harvard on what has proved a highly successful coastwise service. These suspicions were strengthened when Lassco entered fine liners in the Hawaiian run, and then added a freight service.

But in its entry intercoastal, it has cast itself definitely in the briny, in a stormy commercial sea, from which there is no turning back. Lassco's history indicates it doesn't turn back. There are those who envision Lassco, intercoastal, as something for lines in the future to conjure.

It is obvious three ships mean only a beginning. It takes a big fleet intercoastal, if any, and the backers certainly realized that. For the nonce they will sail under the Quaker Line flag, and Sudden & Christensen will continue as operators as with the latter's present fleet.

The 9400-ton Mursa, recently brought from the Shipping Board, will be the first Lassco contribution to the Arrow fleet, and should be picking up cargo on this coast by the end of March. The other two, yet unnamed, are shortly to follow.

All will carry Los Angeles as their home port and help tell the world Los Angeles engaged in shipping, as it is known to do in so many other fields.

"Destination unknown. Return date, when fancy dictates."

Under such care-free plans did the schooner yacht Hispanola slip out of port Sunday, bound for southern seas. Aboard her were her owners, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stearns of Beverly Hills, the crew of four and seven guests, including Julian Harrison, artist. Their first port will be in the Marquisas Islands, and thence no one knows. The Hispanolas is a sixty-five-foot auxiliary schooner, built by Fellows & Stewart especially for the cruise; equipped with a sixty-five horsepower Kermatch Diesel engine, and costing $25,000.

L. B. Gillchrest, vice-president of the W. R. Grace & Co., and Mrs. Gillchrest, arrived on the Panama Mail liner Venezuela yesterday from New York, together with 103 other passengers, from Gotham and Central America. He is on vacation, and not disposed to dilate on his company's great commercial ramifications in South America, and the new fleets building to exploit that trade more. Of the 105 travelers, sixty-three disembarked here and the rest are destined for San Francisco for which the liner sailed at 7 p.m.

Harbor commissioners will meet this morning in the branch City Hall at San Pedro, in accordance with the practice of convening the first Wednesday of each month at the port. Other meetings are at Los Angeles. Selection of an assistant manager is expected to come before the commissioners.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 5. (AP)—The Pacific-South African Line, a new around-the-world passenger and freight shipping service out of San Francisco, was announced today by V. H. Pinckney, vice-president of J. J. Moore & Co.

Pinckney said the United States Shipping Board had designated the route between the Pacific Coast and South and Southeast Africa as an essential route and that three 12,000-ton motorships, the West Cussets, West Homaker and Crown City, were allocated to the company for operation. Service will start in May or June from this port. Others ships are to be added as trade warrants.

The route of the ships will be directly through the Straits of Magellan, to Cape Town, then to Port Elizabeth, Durban, Algoa Bay, Lourenco, Marques, Mombasa, Madagascar, Mauritius, Red Sea, East Indies and to San Francisco by Japan.

The Matson liner Manukai will sail from here tomorrow for Honolulu, taking the place of the steamer Wilhelmina, which is to go into the Portland-Seattle-Honolulu service of the company. The Wilhelmina, which is undergoing extensive repairs here, will sail from Seattle in the new service on the 15th inst. She will leave here for the northern port Saturday.

Several small losses, believed to be thefts, were reported to Pacific Coast Steamship officials here today, when the liner Admiral Schley arrived from Portland. Rev. Jacob Pister, Chicago minister, declared a wallet containing $100 had been stolen from his stateroom, and other passengers also reported losses.

SEATTLE, Feb. 5.—The Pacific Spruce of the Dimon Line was still aground on the sandy beach of Cultus Bay, Whidby Island, north of here tonight, and probably would not be refloated until high tide tomorrow morning, advices received here by the Merchants' Exchange said.

The Pacific Spruce was bound from Aberdeen to Everett to load lumber for the east coast when she went aground in the fog. The tug Roosevelt of the Washington Tug and Barge Company was sent to pull the disabled vessel off the beach, but was unable to do so this afternoon. The Pacific Spruce was reported resting easily and was thought to have suffered no damage. The vessel operates in the intercoastal trade.

TACOMA, Feb. 5.—Three carriers in the intercoastal trade, the steamers Robin Goodfellow, Mystic and Pennsylvanian, arrived here today to load and discharge cargo. All of the carriers call at New York, Baltimore and Boston.

Boy Killed in Traffic Smash

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 5.—Delmar Isbell, 19 years of age, is dead today, victim of a motorcycle-automobile crash at Park Boulevard and Robinson street late last night, police report.

Isbell was injured fatally when his motorcycle collided with an automobile driven by Oscar Williams, colored, 2822 Imperial avenue.

The injured victim, unconscious from a basal fracture of the skull, died in the County Hospital two hours later. Police arrested Williams and placed him in the City Jail pending a further investigation of the crash. Williams told police he was traveling ten miles per hour while he estimated the speed of the youth at sixty-five miles per hour.

When Coroner Schuyler C. Kelly was notified of the death he took charge of the body and said an inquest would be held later in the Benbough funeral establishment.

The boy's death last night marks the fifth traffic fatality of the year within the city limits, police say. The dead boy lived with his parents at 4053 Georgia street.

WATER ROW UNSOLVED

Canada's Supreme Court Can't Decide Vital Case

OTTAWA (Ont.) Feb. 5. (AP)—The conflict between the Dominion and the provinces for control over water power remains undecided.

In a long judgment handed down today, the Supreme Court of Canada found that questions submitted by the Governor in council in an effort toward settling the issue between the contending parties for jurisdiction over water power and navigation were impracticable to answer in the form submitted.

Two courses of action now present themselves to the Dominion Cabinet. The government may present a further reference to the court for adjudication or may decide to have each concrete case decided as occasion may arise.

NOTAS TELEGRAFICAS

TOKIO, Febrero 5.—El "minseito", o partido de la oposición, presentó hoy una moción por la que pide un voto de falta de confianza en el gobierno de Tanaka. Dicha moción fue hecha en sesión plenaria de la cámara inferior.

El 9 del actual se llevará probablemente a votación este asunto; pero se cree en general que el gobierno podrá allegar número suficiente de votos para que la moción sea desechada. En ella se enumeran supuestos fracasos diplomáticos, domésticos y administrativos del gobierno, y se declara que éste debería dimitir, ya que resulta responsable de "este imperdonable y enojoso estado de la administración".

Después de haber sido presentada la referida moción, se puso en el tapete la cuestión de otorgar los derechos de ciudadanía a las mujeres. A esto replicó brevemente el gobierno que "consideraba esa proposición justa y conveniente, pero algo prematura para ponerse en vigor al presente."

Hoy se Oirán los Alegatos en Favor de Toral

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Febrero 5. Hoy ha anunciado la suprema corte que mañana oirá el amparo interpuesto por la defensa de José de León Toral, matador del presidente electo Obregón. Si se le concediere el amparo, quedará suspendida la ejecución de Toral. Si se le denegare, no le quedará más recurso que apelar a la clemencia ejecutiva del presidente Portes Gil.

Las Tropas Mejicanas Burlan una Emboscada de los Rebeldes

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Febrero 5. Ayer emboscó una partida de insurrectos un tren de Laredo, entre San Luis Potosí y la Ciudad de Méjico. Dispararon los rebeldes contra los vagones; pero una escolta de guardias que viajaba en un coche blindado contestó al fuego, y, mientras tanto, el maquinista puso el tren a toda marcha y se alejó de la zalagarda.

ANNAPOLIS (Maryland), Febrero 5.—La cámara de diputados votó hoy en contra del proyecto de ley de apoyar la prohibición en el Estado, proyecto que patrocinaba la liga contra cantinas. Por votación de 64 contra 45, aceptó la cámara un informe desfavorable de dicho proyecto, presentado por la comisión de la Temperancia, después de que los amigos de la observancia de la prohibición hubieron fracasado en sus esfuerzos por demorar la votación.

WASHINGTON, Febrero 5.—La comisión de Inmigración de la cámara ha aprobado hoy el proyecto de ley de Johnson para deportar a los extranjeros perniciosos.

Esta ley en proyecto dispone que sea deportado todo extranjero convicto de haber violado la ley de Mann, la del opio, o las leyes de inmigración. Dispone, asimismo, que cualquier extranjero que haya entrado fraudulentamente en los Estados Unidos sea sentenciado a multa de $1000 y prisión de un año, penas que purgará antes de ser deportado.

Novelista Preso en Seattle

SEATTLE, Febrero 5.—Reconocido en la calle por un ex-residente de Los Angeles, fue aprehendido Kirk C. Dennison, de 31 años, que dice haber sido periodista y escritor de imaginación; y se le tiene en la cárcel de aquí a disposición de la policía de Los Angeles, ante la cual se han formulado cargos de hurto mayor contra Dennison.

Tras de rejas se halla también una compañera de Dennison, que dijo llamarse Virginia Leffingwell y tener 19 años. Se la ha detenido como testigo material.

Un boletín policiaco publicado el 29 de Enero de 1927 por el sheriff de Los Angeles anunciaba que se buscaba a Dennison para que respondiera de tres cargos de hurto mayor y dos de malversación. Por delitos semejantes buscan a Dennison las autoridades de San Diego y de Miami.

Va a Estar Muy Ocupada la Fábrica de Aviones Fokker

Revela la gran producción de aviones que tendrá que realizar la Fokker Aircraft Corporation el anuncio hecho aquí ayer por Harris M. Hanshue, su presidente y gerente general. Dijo este caballero que su compañía había hecho pedidos de motores, con valor total de $2,400,000.

Los contratos, que piden 200 motores de 425 caballos y 140 de 525, han sido distribuídos entre Pratt y Whitney, fabricantes de los motores que usa en sus aviones la Western Air Express, y la Wright Aeronautical Corporation, constructora de los motores del avión Fokker militar "Question Mark".

Fue Detenido un Postulante de Revistas

Fred J. Barnham, de 28 años de edad, que postula suscripciones a la revista "Foursquare Crusader", publicada, según dice la policía, por Aimée Semple McPherson, fue arrestado ayer tarde por el delito de falsificación. Se le detuvo en el Hotel Ritz, que es donde vive.

Dicen los tenientes detectives White y McGee, de la brigada policíaca de Falsos, que Barnham dio en la administración del citado hotel dos cheques, con valor total de $60, suscriptos por Mary Talbot, que se cree sea un nombre supuesto.

CHIEF KLAN COUNSEL SUED FOR DIVORCE

RENO, Feb. 5. (AP)—William Francis Zumbrunn, chief counsel for the Ku Klux Klan of the United States and prominent Washington attorney who has appeared as counsel in several Congressional inquiries, was sued for a divorce here today by Ann Moss Zumbrunn. Mrs. Zumbrunn, Tennessee beauty, charged her husband with mental cruelty.

AMERICA LOSES MARITIME RANK

Nation Slips from Third to Seventh Place

Great Britain Leads World in Launching Vessels

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Lloyd's Register of Shipping today announced that an increase of nearly 20 per cent in the world's production of merchant vessels was established in 1928, but the United States went farther down in the construction rankings by nations.

Great Britain and Ireland had the largest percentage and all maritime countries except the United States shared in a 400,000 gross tons increase over 1927. Merchant tonnage launched in the United States was only slightly more than half the 179,218 tons aggregate for 1927, but Great Britain and Ireland gained 18 per cent and all other countries combined 32 per cent.

Many changes in the construction ranking of the various countries were made during 1928. While Great Britain and Ireland and Germany continue to hold first and second places, nearly all the other maritime nations shifted positions. The British and Irish yards, however, which in 1927 launched 936,000 gross tons more than their nearest competitor, last year widened the gap to 1,069,000 gross tons.

The United States, which in 1927 ranked third, went to seventh place in the ships sent down the ways. Holland now stands third, having moved up from fourth position with an increase of 46,000 tons. Italy, with a reduction of 42,000 tons, has dropped from fifth to ninth position. Denmark has advanced from sixth place to fourth, with a gain of 68,000 tons in launchings, while Sweden has gone from seventh position to fifth, with an increase of 39,000 tons over her figure for 1927. France remains in eighth position, despite an increase of nearly 100 per cent over her 1927 total; and Japan, with an even larger percentage gain, has moved from tenth to sixth.

Covering returns from all countries for vessels of 100 gross tons and upward, the report says that 1928 was the greatest year for construction since 1921.

While the United States was building 91,357 tons in 1928, Great Britain and Ireland turned out 1,445,920 tons and other countries 1,161,962 tons.

JUDGE AT HANFORD OVERRULES DEMURRER

HANFORD, Feb. 5.—Judge K. VanZante has overruled a demurrer and motion to strike out portions of the complaint in a suit by Edward R. Bailey and some forty-eight other plaintiffs against the Empire Water Company, and others. This means that the case will now go to trial on its merits on the water and irrigation issues involved which concern some 200 farmers and 18,000 acres of land on the west side of Kings county.

Plaintiffs charge that the directors of the Empire Water Company bear a trust relation with regard to the Empire Land Company, and are bound to supply water to purchasers of lands of the Empire Ranch which they have failed to do in violation of trust.

MEANEST JOKER WORKS AT BEACH

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 5.—The meanest practical joker of all times, places and nationalities, was being sought by police here today after C. P. La Barre, 113 Broadway, this city, reported someone had poured shellac into the gas tank of his parked automobile. When the car would not start an investigation disclosed the malicious mischief, according to police. Something in the nature of a major operation was required before the sticky substance was removed from clogged pipes, cylinders and carburetor.

BUSINESS CHANGES

HANFORD, Feb. 5.—Louis L. Meier has been transferred from the position of sales agent at Hanford to that of division sales manager at Visalia, of the Southern California Gas Company.

L. C. Barboni, assistant manager of the Bank of America at Visalia has resigned to become an assistant cashier in the First National Bank at Hanford.

FILM PACT TANGLE NOW BEFORE COURT

Sue Carol

SUE CAROL'S SCREEN SUIT BEING TRIED

Actress Asserts Company Failed to Notify Her on Option for Services

Whether Sue Carol, motion-picture actress, was properly notified at the end of six months' optional periods that her services would be continued, agreed to in a five-year contract with the Douglas MacLean Productions, is the issue in a suit brought by the producer which went to trial yesterday before Superior Judge Engs.

Miss Carol declares she never received any notice. The company says she did.

The actress now is engaged by the William Fox studio under an arrangement with the Douglas MacLean Company. At present she is restrained from offering her services to any other producer by a temporary writ signed by Superior Judge Gates.

In the action before Judge Engs the Douglas MacLean Productions is asking that the actress be restrained permanently from employment with other producers while the contract she signed with them is in force.

The contract signed by Miss Carol and the Douglas MacLean Productions was entered into on March 26, 1927, and was to run five years. The salary of Miss Carol under the agreement was to be graduated from $150 per week during the first six months up to $400 a week.

C. M. Schmidt, Pioneer, Expires

Charles M. Schmidt, 74 years of age, a pioneer of Los Angeles and uncle of Superior Judge Reuben Schmidt, died of heart disease at his home, 707 Lillian Way, yesterday. He had been a resident of Los Angeles fifty-five years.

Mr. Schmidt was born in Copenhagen, Denmark. At the age of 19 he came to this country and crossed the western part of the continent in a wagon train. Recently his health had been bad.

Besides his widow Mr. Schmidt leaves a son, John, and two daughters, Mrs. Fred Moore and Mrs. Clarence Pray. The funeral services will be conducted at the mortuary chapel of Pierce & Lowe at 1:30 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in the Hollywood Cemetery.

OLYMPIC GAMES FUND DISCUSSED

Report Given by Community Development Group

Civic Leaders Debate Fitting Coliseum for 1932

Ten More Years Urged for Administration Body

City and county officials, including members of the Board of Supervisors and the City Council, met with civic leaders at the Biltmore yesterday to hear the annual report of the Community Development Association and to consider plans for spending nearly $1,000,000 on the Coliseum to fit it for the Olympic Games in 1932.

The report of the association was read by its executive secretary, Zack Farmer, who was introduced by the presiding officer of the meeting, William May Garland, chairman of the Olympic Games committee. Mr. Farmer told how the City Council and the Board of Supervisors had co-operated with officials of the Sixth Agricultural District, which formerly owned the land on which Exposition Park is located, to erect the Coliseum, one of the largest structures for public games in the country, and pronounced by experts the finest of such structures in America.

CONTRACT EXPIRES

After reviewing the history of the construction of the Coliseum, Andrew M. Chaffey of the California Bank, announced that the concluding payments on the structure, $114,000, will be made jointly by the city and county in May of this year. Incidentally, Mr. Chaffey noted that the contract by which the Community Development Association operates the Coliseum for the benefit of the public expires in November, 1931.

Improvement of the stadium, as contemplated by Community Development Association engineers, was described by Mr. Farmer, who said that building the tiers of seats higher would add 25,000 to the present seating capacity of more than 80,000. Wooden structural framework will be replaced by reinforced concrete, it was pointed out, and greatly improved sanitary arrangements will be installed.

NEW TERM URGED

Expressions of satisfaction with the record of the association were made by Mayor Cryer, Chairman McClellan of the Board of Supervisors and President Bonelli of the City Council. The management of the stadium was congratulated and from remarks by civic leaders and general approbation it was determined that the feeling at the meeting was that the Community Development Association be asked to continue its management of the Coliseum for at least ten years more.

Before the session of the association, City Counsel Stephens, County Counsel Mattoon and William A. Bowen, attorney for the Community Development Association, held a preliminary meeting to consider the legal aspects of raising the money to pay for the proposed alterations to the stadium. It was determined that the city and county could appropriate $450,000 each from general funds, in the same manner that appropriations for construction of the Coliseum and other public buildings at Exposition Park have been made in the past.

Burlingame Will be Buried Today

Final rites for Clarence H. Burlingame, vice-president of the California Bank, in charge of the Hollywood district, who died Sunday, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Beverly Hills. Interment will be in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

Mr. Burlingame resided at 707 North Rexford Drive, Beverly Hills, and was 58 years of age. Coming to California eight years ago from Iowa Falls, Iowa, he joined the staff of the California Bank in 1922. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Iowa Falls.

He leaves his widow, Edith, a son, Carleton, and two daughters, Katherine Ann of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Marjorie Stewart of Portland, Or.

CEMENT MAKER DEFIANT

Portland Company Challenges Senate Committee's Authority to Demand Profit Figures

Authority of the State Senate Cement Price Inquiry Committee was challenged yesterday by the California Portland Cement Company. E. E. Duque, the company's general manager, defied a committee demand for information concerning the company's profits, losses and production costs. He did so on the ground that they are trade secrets. He said the committee has no authority to make such demand.

Chairman Jones of the committee told him that the committee was directed by the State Senate to ascertain whether California cement manufacturers have been taking excessive profits from the public and, if so, whether they have violated the California antitrust law. He said that the inside facts and figures of the company are necessary to the committee in discharge of its obligation.

Asa V. Call, attorney for the company, told the committee that if the company is violating the law it is not a matter for the Legislature to look into but is a matter for the judiciary to take up through a grand jury or district attorney.

SIMILARITY OF BIDS

The committee conferred but did nothing except to pass on to other lines of inquiry. Privately, Chairman Jones said the same situation arose among northern cement companies at the recent San Francisco session of the committee but that nothing would be done in either instance until the committee has completed its inquiry along nonresisting lines. He said the committee may send refractory witnesses to jail for contempt if it wishes to exercise the authority.

Senator Jones told Duque that the committee has evidence showing "quite a remarkable similarity of bids in Southern California" among the four cement manufacturers in this part of the State, but Duque denied that there is the slightest collusion among companies for that purpose. He testified that the four companies have "a statistical association," which meets every two or three weeks, but that it never discusses price fixing. He said it employs an attorney to keep it from discussing matters inhibited by antitrust laws.

PUBLISHED PRICES

Duque said the reason his company's bids for public works cement contracts virtually always are identical with those of the other three companies is because the bids are based on the published prices of the Riverside Portland Cement Company. He said the companies know that the Riverside company will bid its published price and that the other companies bid the same so as not to begin a price war.

Senator Jones asked him how his

National Executives of Utility Concerns Gather for Annual Survey

Gas company executives of the entire country today meet in the annual midwinter conference of the American Gas Association at the Biltmore. Eastern delegates were met yesterday at Barstow by Clifford Johnstone, secretary of the Pacific Coast Gas Association, and Norman B. McKee. A luncheon at the Mission Inn, Riverside, followed, with Addison B. Day, president, Los Angeles Gas and Electric Corporation; A. B. McBeth, president, Southern California Gas Company, and F. S. Wade, president, Southern Counties Gas Company, as hosts.

C. H. Dickey, president of the Pacific Coast Gas Association, and Mr. Wade today will welcome the delegates. Following response by O. H. Fogg of New York, president of the association, the conference will take up its first topic, "A Nationwide Survey of the Gas Industry—Present Conditions and Future Possibilities." Speakers include Guy W. Talbot of Portland, A. F. Hockenbeamer of San Francisco, Samuel Insull, Jr., of Chicago, Henry C. Morris of Dallas, Tex., Floyd Parsons of New York, F. C. Freeman of Providence, R. I., and Arthur Hewitt of Toronto. Clyde H. Potter will speak on "Are Sales Conditions Different?"

R. E. Fisher of San Francisco is to discuss "Dealer Co-operative Relations on the Pacific Coast" at the afternoon session. Other speakers are E. H. Bauer of Worcester, Mass., Alexander Forward and H. B. Abell. The association represents national utilities which daily supply 14,000,000 homes with fuel and light.

Godiva Styles Craved Despite His Bundling

JOHN LANGDON-DAVIES

John Langdon-Davies, who lectured at the Hollywood Woman's Club yesterday, has been somewhat surprised to find that Americans seem to think that he is wearing more clothes than he should. The author of "Lady Godiva, the Future of Nakedness," who brings proof to show that people would be healthier and happier, warmer and better without clothes, appears in public in coat, muffler, hat and rubbers.

"The whole trouble," says Mr. Langdon-Davies, "is due to Americans having no sense of humor. Perhaps this is because I am tired after five lecture tours, of constantly being told by Americans that Englishmen have no sense of humor. I am willing to compromise. Humor is national and Americans have a sense of humor, only it is a different one. And they have taken Godiva just a little too seriously. Anyway, I wear clothes although I write a book to tell people they shouldn't.

After all, if oranges are sunkissed, why shouldn't we be, too?"

Police Board Makes Lyons Deputy Chief

Capt. James P. Lyons, recently promoted to deputy chief by Chief of Police Davis to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Capt. Clyde I. Plummer, who has become chief of the Wright Act enforcement bureau of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's office, was commissioned yesterday by the Police Commission at request of Chief Davis.

Other orders signed at request of Chief Davis were promotion of Raymond H. Schofield, who has been acting captain of the Hollenbeck Heights division, to captain; Ernest F. Gleason, to lieutenant of police; Glen C. Stahr, to sergeant of police; Paul E. Harrison, to sergeant of police, and appointment of La Vern P. Jones as police officer.

W.R.C. LUNCHEON MEET

Two Outstanding Leaders Here

But Each Declines Train Interview

Street Opening Opponents Get Brief Respite

Settlement of the long-continued struggle of property owners against the confirmation of assessments for the widening of One Hundredth street between Vermont avenue and the east city boundary again was postponed by the City Council yesterday to March 6. Damage awards amount to $109,436 and engineering and legal expenses to $9848, making a total burden to the property owners of $119,284.

Councilman Colden made a short address to the protestants in which he warned them that the Council would probably have to deny the protests eventually but added that the Council might allocate the total cost of the paving of the thoroughfare on recommendation of the City Engineer.

Sir Henry Japp to be Greeted in This City Friday

SIR HENRY JAPP

Sir Henry Japp, K.B.E., British engineer who built the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnels under the East River, New York, twenty years ago, will arrive in Los Angeles Friday. Sir Henry, who also is a Christian Science Parent Church lecturer, will deliver a lecture while in this city. He will be at the Biltmore.

Sir Henry was the war representative of the British government in this country, in charge of the organization and shipment of munitions and foodstuffs to the Allies, a service for which he was knighted by King George. After the war he was London news editor of the Christian Science Monitor.

"TWO WEEKS OFF" FOR DIRECTOR AND WIFE

Mrs. William Beaudine, wife of the motion-picture director, yesterday underwent a minor operation in Good Samaritan Hospital. She will be in the hospital two weeks. Mr. Beaudine will divide his time between looking after their four children and directing a picture entitled "Two Weeks Off" for First National.

THREE WEEKS SAVED BY COURT

Judge in Five Minutes Hears Criminal Action Under New Statute When Case Formerly Would Have Taken Up Many Days Before Jurors

A trial that under ordinary procedure would consume approximately three weeks of a court's time yesterday was disposed of in five minutes in Superior Judge Doran's court through provisions of California's new law making it legal to waive a jury trial in a criminal case.

The case is that of B. F. McNaught, Glendale promoter, who is charged with five counts of violating the Corporate Securities Act and three counts of grand theft.

When McNaught appeared before Judge Doran for trial, his attorney, Oliver Clark, and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Crail, in charge of the prosecution, agreed to waive jury trial and McNaughton personally sanctioned the stipulation.

The entire process of taking testimony then was disposed of by defense and prosecution counsel stipulating as to the facts in the case and agreeing to submit the question of the defendant's guilt or innocence to the court for determination.

A written stipulation of the facts was filed and Judge Doran took the case under submission on briefs, to be filed in ten, fifteen and five days. The entire court hearing thus was disposed of and Judge Doran will pass on the statement of facts, the briefs and pass on the case in chambers.

This method of submitting cases on briefs long has been in use in the civil departments of the court, but the McNaught case is said to be the first criminal action ever to be presented thus to the court for adjudication.

McNaught is accused of disposing of interests in a mining project without the consent of the State Corporation Commissioner.

FAREWELL FOR KERSEY TO BE GIVEN

Newly Appointed State School Superintendent to be Honored at Luncheon

VIERLING KERSEY

As a farewell to Vierling Kersey, newly appointed State Superintendent of Public Instruction, 1500 of his friends in the Los Angeles City School District, many of them teachers who worked with him as principal and later as assistant superintendent of schools, have arranged a luncheon in the Sala De Oro of the Biltmore at noon Saturday, the 23rd inst.

Members of civic and fraternal bodies, of which Mr. Kersey long has been a member, join the educational group in making the Kersey farewell luncheon a success.

Among those who will participate as speakers are Dr. Susan M. Dorsey, who has just retired as Superintendent of Schools; Gov. Young, Frank A. Bouelle, Superintendent of Schools; Frank Hadlock, Henry Otto Dyck, Raymond E. Pollich, Ralph Detter and John W. Marbut.

LEG BROKEN IN FALL

PITCHMEN ENTERTAIN

The National Pitchmen's and Salesmen's Protective Association will have its annual entertainment tomorrow night at its new headquarters, 440 South Los Angeles street.

ADOLPH S. OCHS HERE ON VISIT

Henry Morgenthau Arrives on Same Train

New York Publisher Sees Prosperous Year

Former Ambassador Flays Stock Gambling

Two men, internationally known, alighted from the Santa Fe Chief yesterday morning and immediately engaged in an exchange of words as to which is the bigger man of the two.

One was Henry Morgenthau, former Ambassador to Turkey, and the other Adolph Ochs, publisher of the New York Times. The exchange of words was a friendly one, staged for the purpose of shooing off reporters who met them at the train.

"Mr. Ochs—" began a reporter.

"You don't want to talk to me," the publisher replied with a wave of the hand toward Mr. Morganthau. "There is the big man of this party; he is the one with whom you want to talk.

"Mr. Morgenthau—"

"No, no—I am not the one to talk. Mr. Ochs is the big man here—he will have something to say."

BUT BOTH TALK

At the Ambassador, where the men are staying, each had some interesting comments to make on world events as they view them. Both are on their way to the Union of Hebrew Congregations which opens in San Francisco Sunday.

Mr. Ochs is optimistic over the business outlook for 1929. And he is thoroughly convinced that never before were there so many opportunities for young men and that never were the rewards of success as great as today.

"Such extraordinary things are happening," he explained. "The country is in a state of flux and great changes come swiftly.

"Only recently I was talking to President Sloan of General Motors. He told me how eighty executives of General Motors had been induced to invest a total of $2,000,000 in General Motors stock and that stock today is worth $300,000,000. You can hear similar stories on every hand. It is a wonderful age for the young man."

CALL THE TIMES

Mr. Ochs recounted the now famous incident in modern communication systems when his office had to send a radio message to Commander Byrd's party in the Antarctics in order to get a telephone message to an office just two miles away from the Times Building. The incident occurred one night when the Times operator wished to call Radio Manager Meinholz by telephone immediately. Meinholz was only two miles away but he was using his telephone to relay Byrd's story coming in over the wireless.

The New York Times operator simply sent a wireless to the operator in Byrd's camp 12,000 miles away requesting him to interrupt the sending of the story long enough to tell Meinholz to call the Times on the telephone right away. The message traveled 24,000 miles to establish a telephone connection two miles long.

As an economist, Mr. Morgenthau remarked on the tide of stock speculation which he declares "has turned the United States into a nation of gamblers."

"Many brokerage houses throughout the country are now little Monte Carlos," he said. "Peoples are investing in stocks irrespective of their values. It is simply an epidemic of gambling. How long it will take to run its course, I will not pretend to say, but the end will be like the end of all gambling—the sucker will suffer."

TALKS POLITICS

Turning to politics, for Mr. Morgenthau was vice-chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic National Committee, in the last campaign, he expressed the opinion that the party will be stronger than ever, due to the influx of new young blood.

"It is the younger element in the country that seeks progress and

HARDY QUIZ IN CLEAN-UP

Committee Will Meet Today, But All Testimony Considered Available Has Been Heard

The last session of the Assembly committee conducting the inquiry into the acceptance by Superior Judge Hardy of the $2500 "love offering" from Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson of Angelus Temple will be held this morning in the office of Assemblyman Little, chairman, but it is considered doubtful if the sitting will last any length of time. Assemblymen Sewell and Woolwine will meet with Little. The other members of the committee, Assemblymen Hornblower and Clowdsley have returned to the north.

All testimony available to the committee has been presented during the past ten days.

The next move in the investigation will be the submission of a brief by Joseph Ford and Rex Hardy, the judge's attorneys. This is expected to be ready during the latter part of next week.

The Legislature reconvenes the 18th inst., and the committee is required to make a report by the 21st. Should the committee recommend impeachment and the Assembly vote in accordance, plans then will be made for the trial of Judge Hardy before the Senate, sitting as his judges. If convicted he loses office. If the Assembly determines not to impeach the matter ends there.

"MOTHER KNOWS BEST," "MA" KENNEDY'S WORD

PORTLAND (Or.) Feb. 5. (AP)—Parental advice that "mother knows best" was offered Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, today by her mother, Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, in a freely given interview marked by some wrath.

"Dear little Aimee would do better if she did not talk so much, or if she would refrain from making statements until she thought them over, or if she would first consult her mother," Mrs. Kennedy said.

"My memory seems to retain the details of all of our affairs," she pointedly remarked after being told that Mrs. McPherson in Vancouver, B. C., interviews, stated her mother was responsible for the Judge Hardy check case.

ALWAYS TOOK BLAME

"I regret that my daughter makes statements that render necessary an answer from me," she continued. "And yet there is something natural and child-like about it. I always told her when she was a child to put the blame on me. Now she feels sufficient unto herself and does not need the advice of her mother. My feeling toward her never has changed. It would be a poor mother who would change toward a daughter, although she may have pushed her aside and boxed her ears."

Referring to the Judge Hardy case now being investigated by the California Legislature, Mrs. Kennedy said:

"The thing I have never been able to understand is why Mrs. Mc-

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

IT CERTAINLY is odd how we often go through life with our eyes shut.

Now I'll bet I have seen a thousand apples fall from trees; but it never occurred to me to notice that this illustrated the fact that the Euclidean continuum is a special case of the Riemannian.

I'm half ashamed to admit it, but until Einstein came along I had never happened to notice that, inversely, the Riemannian continuum is a metric continuum which is Euclidean in inversely small regions, but not in finite regions. Or that the quantities G subscript 11, G subscript 12, G subscript 22, describe the metrical properties of the surface.

JUST THE SIMPLEST THING!
Having read Dr. Einstein's simple explanation for common or popular minds, I find that I can understand some of it perfectly. I know just what he means by all the words like "at" and "this" and "the."

IT'S CERTAINLY TOUGH
The professor is a little tired of work and is going to hire a boat for next summer. I dare say he will tell the boatman what he wants and the unhappy wretch will spend from now until June trying to find out what he is talking about.

POOR MRS. EINSTEIN!
Can you imagine being Mrs. Professor Einstein? And when you ask him does he want two lumps or one, to have him reply something about DS2-G subscript 11DX2 plus G subscript 12 D X DY. . . .

It would be one of heaven's mercies if the lady were deaf and dumb.

P.S.: On second thought, that wouldn't do, because, then, he would have to write it.

WHAT'S TO BE DONE?
I have carefully considered this matter all up and down and over and over.

This is the conclusion to which I have come: I don't just completely grasp every little detail of the new theory of gravity, but I have a feeling that if I jump down from somewhere I will probably light on the earth—or thereabouts; so I am going to take a chance.

ANY MORE, PROFESSOR?
I think that it is just perfectly wonderful that Prof. Einstein has cleared up all the mysteries about gravity, so that we can all feel more comfortable and secure about it; but I feel a nervous apprehension as to whether he has any more ideas about any more of our old friends.

If there are any more Riemannian continuums lying around I don't want to know about them. They can continue to continuum in their own sweet way. And Mr. Riemannian can like it or not for all I care.

ARMY AIR DEPOT HERE PROSPECT

Brig.-Gen. Gillmore Seeking Site on Coast

Institution Would Utilize Force of 1000 Men

Investment of Millions Will be Made Eventually

Establishment of a large United States Army air depot near Los Angeles loomed with the arrival yesterday of Brig.-Gen. W. E. Gillmore, chief of the Engineering Division of the Army Air Corps. Gen. Gillmore is making a survey of the situation of the Pacific Coast, already having been in the north. After inspecting the Los Angeles and San Diego districts he will return East and make his report to Assistant Secretary of War Davison.

"At present," said Gen. Gillmore, "the air service has only one depot on the Pacific Coast, the Rockwell Field Air Intermediate Depot at San Diego. This depot handles all the repair and overhaul work for the Ninth Corps Area and does it in the temporary buildings which I established at Rockwell Field in [illegible] under the orders of Gen. Menoher, at that time chief of the air service.

MILLIONS INVESTED

"With the five-year program under which the air service is now operating, it is imperative that we should build a permanent air depot on the Coast, similar to the engineer division headquarters at Wright Field, Dayton, O. Such an establishment ultimately will employ more than 1000 high-class workmen and would have buildings and equipment valued at several million dollars.

"We now have considerably greater activity on the Coast than was the case a few years ago. We have reopened March Field and have a large training school for cadets there. At San Francisco we have an observation squadron and Rockwell Field, San Diego, is to have a pursuit group.

NEW SITE SOUGHT

"A bombardment squadron is to be brought here soon and will be based somewhere in California. To take care of these machines and motors we must have a large modern air depot with room to expand and the site for this depot is what I am looking for now."

AVIATION OFFICIAL INSPECTING FIELDS

Brig.-Gen. W. E. Gillmore

Gen. Gillmore yesterday conferred with Municipal Airport Director Cliff Henderson and Councilmen Hall and Albers regarding the situation at Mines Field and also made a tour of several other localities accompanied by Lieut. Victor Bertrandias, west coast representative of the engineering division.

The Long Beach Municipal Airport ad vicinity came in for close scrutiny also.

Gen. Gillmore expects to be here for about three days and then will return to Washington, D. C. and make his report.

WIFE'S ASHES BROUGHT HERE FOR INTERMENT

William Trautmann, assistant District Attorney at Springfield, Ill., arrived here yesterday with the remains of his wife, Evelyn, for interment in Forest Lawn Mausoleum. Mrs. Trautmann was 44 years of age and a prominent member of the Daughters of the American Revolution. In compliance with her request, her remains were cremated in Chicago and brought here for interment in Forest Lawn.

SOUTHLAND GAS RATES INQUIRY ON

Railway Commission Told Local Company's Earnings Exceed "Fair" Profits

An investigation of rates charged by the Southern California Gas Company to consumers in Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino and other near-by towns was begun here yesterday by Commissioner Carr of the State Railroad Commission. the inquiry was started upon the commission's own motion.

Three commission experts called as witnesses yesterday gave testimony purporting to show that the company's revenue exceeds the earnings possible under the commission's definition of fair rates. At the conclusion of the experts' testimony the hearing was adjourned until today upon the request of J. J. Reynolds, representing the gas company.

According to figures submitted by Samuel Bloom, assistant engineer of the commission, the company's earnings have increased from $207,000 in 1923 to $542,000 in 1928 or from 7.16 per cent to 10½ per cent in six years. Charts introduced by C. C. Brown, gas engineer, contained a set-up of prospective earnings for 1929-1930-1931, based upon past revenues.

On the basis of his charts the company would earn $578,000, or 10.21 per cent in 1929; $668,000, or 11.04 per cent in 1930 and $681,000, or 11.58 per cent in 1931. The financial structure of the company was detailed by W. C. Faukhauser, the third witness.

It was anticipated yesterday that the hearing will be completed today.

Board Upholds Discharging of Two Officers

Discharge of Officers J. T. O'Neill and V. T. Ramey by Chief of Police Davis on the charge that they went to an apartment with two women while they were supposed to be on duty was sustained by the Police Commission yesterday as the conclusion of separate hearings for the men.

Identification Sergeant W. F. Chandler of the Wilshire station, discharged by the Chief for using "third degree" methods on a suspect, W. M. Sullivan, by knocking out some of his teeth, was reinstated but must work for two months without pay, according to the ruling of the commission.

Santa Monica Group Hears Rock-Plant Debate

Charge Officials Have Been Misinformed Hurled

With the City Planning Commission scheduled to set a date today for the public hearing on the application of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company to operate a rock quarry and mill in Santa Ynez Canyon, the Exchange Club of Santa Monica appointed a committee to investigate, after hearing the matter debated at its luncheon yesterday.

At the same time Thorwald Siegfried, representing the Pacific Palisades Protective Committee, addressed a letter to the commission urging that when that body goes out to inspect the site of the proposed project the committee be permitted to accompany the commissioners so they can point out the factors which make the project highly detrimental to the district.

Siegfried flatly charges in his letter that sponsors of the project have made a practice of taking public officials and private citizens over the ground in a manner that leaves a false impression of the project and its outlook. He sets forth specific directions as to what trails should be followed if the commission is to get a broad view of the entire proposal and is to see just how the project would be a blight upon the community.

BELL REPRESENTATIVE TALKS

The Queen Victoria Chapter of the Daughters of the British Empire, at Brentwood, adopted resolutions vigorously opposing the project and calling upon public officials to protect a fine residential district from encroachment by heavy industrials, as proposed in the cement-plant project.

H. M. Sheehan, speaking for the Alphonzo E. Bell interests, at the Exchange Club debate, portrayed Mr. Bell as a developer who owns 17,000 acres intact in the district, which has become the center of the cement-plant war. He scouted the possibility that such a man, who, he declared, is so particular about the beauty of his property that he spends large sums saving the trees for the community, would be capable of "putting slime into the ocean" through the process with which he proposes to deliver $280,000,000 worth of cement in solution to tankers, which in turn would transport the product to some manufacturing point, probably San Pedro.

HOME OWNERS' SIDE OF ISSUE

Edward H. Brown, debating the issue on behalf of home and property owners, from Pacific Palisades and Santa Monica to the great residential areas west of downtown Los Angeles, pointed out that, in its present application for an industrial permit in Southern California's most highly developed residential section, the applicants had failed utterly to guarantee that, should their proposed method of handling the mined cement in solution fail, they would cease operations. If they became a public nuisance, as so many fear they will, he asserted, they offer only promises, not guarantees, to those who are fighting in defense of homes they bought under promises that they would never be invaded by heavy industrial plants.

"But what have we to guarantee that when they have mined the cement out of the smaller area they will not seek to go ahead with the rest?" Brown demanded. "They do not guarantee against such tactics in their present application. Once we let down the industrial bars to them, they and others with more deposits will be entitled to conduct mining operations."

"ABSOLUTELY DUSTLESS"

Sheehan declared the new process proposed is "absolutely dustless." He stated the people he represents have offered in a letter to sell the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors cement for the San Gabriel dam at a reduction of 10 per cent below the market price asked by cement companies, entailing a saving of millions of dollars. He stated that granting the permit will mean a pay roll of $600,000 per year added to Los Angeles industries. He declared that the lease from the Bell interests to the interests proposing to mine the deposits is for ninety-nine years and that it specifies no cement manufacturing plant is to be maintained on the Santa Ynez Canyon tract, and no laborers are to live there.

In San Pedro or some other industrial section, he said, 300 men would be employed. He said the piping and water-freighting method would cost 4½ cents per barrel, as compared with 28 cents freight paid by all other local cement companies. He made no answer to Brown's charges that guarantees to cease operating in the event the proposed process prove a failure are lacking in the formal application. He was content, apparently, to assert that the process is practical and would not fail. They would not be investing $3,000,000 in the project, he asserted, if they had not obtained practical engineering authority for their conviction that it would work.

NEW COURSES PLANNED

This week opens the spring term of work at McKinley Evening High School. An increase in the faculty and number of courses was announced yesterday, twenty-six courses and a total of twenty-five instructors being the basis of the term's program. Mrs. McPherson's statement in Portland and Vancouver that she was "a football between two political factions," was branded by her mother "as merely talk."

"They don't know she exists until something of this nature brings her to their attention," Mrs. Kennedy said.

NOT ACCIDENTAL

"When the $2500 check to Judge Hardy was made out under the heading of 'legal expenditure' it was not accidental. The check was made out under the correct heading, just as I ordered it. I do not do business in such a slipshod manner that I would make a mistake in this matter."

Turning to the estrangement between them, Mrs. Kennedy declared that "newspaper men and others to whom Mrs. McPherson had intrusted the conduct of her affairs" are largely responsible.

"Thousands of messages are sent my daughter urging a reconciliation," she said, "but I doubt if any ever reach her.

YOUNG JURY LOCKED UP FOR NIGHT

Verdict Not Reached in Case of Man Tried for Theft from Noah Beery

Unable to reach a verdict in the case of Felix Young, motion-picture actors' representative charged with the theft of $1500 from Noah Beery, the jury was locked up late last night and is expected to report this morning in Superior Judge Wood's court.

Young is asserted to have "held out" the sum he is charged with stealing from $2500 paid him for Beery's services in a picture produced by Lysander Productions.

According to the State's charges, Young obtained the $1500 by representing to Beery that he was to get $1000 and 10 per cent of the sale price of the picture for his work in the production.

Beery was reticent in prosecuting the case when it was called for trial, but Judge Wood ordered the trial to proceed in the absence of sufficient ground for continuance or a dismissal of the charge. Judge Wood also denied a motion for an instructed verdict of acquittal.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Dennison prosecuted the case, while Young was represented by Attorney R. H. Blum.

company manages to get a fair share of the cement business when all bids are identical. Duque said that on private work the company depends on winning the contract by business, social and salesmanship influences. On public work, he said, salesmanship is depended on. Senator Inman of the committee commented that politics have been known to play a part in such matters—but without reference to the witness's company.

John Treanor, president of the Riverside company, was called to the witness stand and it was drawn from him that his company is the only one that publishes a price list and that it circulates the list among the cement companies and dealers, and that anybody may have one on reasonable request. He said his company is larger than any of the others and that when it comes to bidding the other companies cannot bid higher than his company, which bids the published price, without forfeiting hope of getting the business.

DENIES COLLUSION

Treanor said that other companies have complained on occasions that his prices were too low and that he gave consideration to the complaints but never issued price changes on account of them. Price changes, he testified, are made for production and competition reasons. He denied as firmly as Duque that there is the slightest degree of collusive price-fixing among the four companies.

The committee will resume questioning him at 9 a.m. today. It hopes to end its session here today, Chairman Jones said. Sessions began Monday.

From William Young of the San Bernardino county purchasing department the committee learned that the county must pay the same price for its cement regardless of whether it buys from the company sixty miles away, the one twelve miles away or the one four miles away.

"ASSOCIATED KICKS"

Young testified that on one occasion the county had to discontinue buying from a San Bernardino dealer and buy from the plant sixty miles away because, according to the dealer's representatve, "the cement assocation is kicking." Young was unable to explain further, he said. He said the county got the cement at the same price under the change. The deal was with the Southwestern Portland Cement Company, Victorville.

Charles E. Seaman, president of the Security Materials Company, and William Ball, president of the Co-operative Materials Company, both of Los Angeles, testified that they made bids as dealers on the basis of the Riverside published prices but denied any kind of collusion as to price fixing.

The other manufacturer in the group of four under inquiry is the Monolith Portland Cement Company.

Santa Monica Woman Killed

A woman identified as Frances Ott, 68 years of age, was injured fatally last night when struck by a car which Miss Helen Lamb of 2101 Ocean avenue, Ocean Park, was driving on Ocean Park Boulevard at Main street, Santa Monica. The woman died shortly after being admitted to St. Catherine's Hospital. Miss Lamb said she stopped her car to let machines cross on the intersection, and that as she started up the woman stepped in front of her automobile. The woman's injuries included a broken neck, fractured skull and fractured leg.

The body was taken to O. A. Kirkley Company's undertaking rooms.

A Hollywood rumor that Jeanette Loff, motion-picture player, and her husband, Harry Roseboom, jewelry broker, had separated, was verified by Miss Loff last night. "There's just as much chance of a reconciliation as there is that we will seek a divorce," said Miss Loff. She added that although separated as to domiciles, she and her husband are on friendly terms. They have been married three years.

UNION ACID WAR CASE DISMISSED

Dyers' and Cleaners' Official Given Freedom

Companion in Outrage Now Serving Sentence

Victims Stop Prosecution When Paid $500

Charges of acid-throwing against Paul R. Mitchell, recording secretary of the cleaners' and dyers' union, were dismissed Monday by Municipal Judge Sheldon, it was learned yesterday when witnesses appeared for the trial, scheduled for 10 a.m. Mitchell was arrested by police following the acid-bombing of an independent cleaning establishment.

Barry S. Plimler, Mitchell's codefendant, pleaded guilty to the charge on January 7, last, and now is serving a six-months' jail sentence imposed by Municipal Judge Reed. In his confession, he declared that he and Mitchell procured an acid gun and squirted the contents through a transom of the cleaning establishment of Charles Schulman at 163 North Grand avenue, doing considerable damage to the shop and its contents.

TELLS OF CONFESSION

Mitchell, according to Detective-Lieutenant Hynes, who arrested the two men in the course of a campaign against union terrorists, confessed to him that he and Plimler received $85 for the acid outrage. He told Hynes, the latter declares, that he was broke and needed the money, which was given him by a man he named only as Williams. Plimler declared, Hynes said, that they were paid by Charles M. Murphy, president of the union, who is to be tried on the 11th inst. before Judge Sheldon on charges of battery committed on Jeff Goodman, independent cleaner, late last summer during the terrorization campaign. Plimler was to testify against Mitchell yesterday.

PAID $500 FOR DAMAGES

According to the court records, the case was dismissed under Sec. 1378 of the Penal Code, which provides that it may be granted on request of the injured party at the discretion of the judge in cases where a compromise is reached. Schulman and his wife told the court that they had received $500 to cover damages and that they wished to dismiss the charges. Lieut. Hynes, complaining witness, and other police officers and witnesses in the case were not informed that the dismissal had been requested by Thomas White, attorney for Mitchell, until yesterday. The section under which the charges were dismissed bars further prosecution for the same offense.

FALL INTO HOT WATER MAY RESULT IN DEATH

Falling into a vat of boiling water, Joe Rybka, 40 years of age, of North Soto street, received scalding burns yesterday which may prove fatal. He was taken to the Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital. The accident occurred at Brooklyn avenue, where Rybka was employed in koshering meat, police stated.

DR. PROPPE ACCEPTS NEW CALL

He Will Become Pastor of Church in Hollywood as Result of Invitation

Dr. Harold L. Proppe, pastor of First Baptist Church at Ontario, yesterday announced his acceptance of an invitation to become pastor of First Baptist Church at Hollywood. The invitation was extended to Dr. Proppe following a business meeting at the Hollywood church last Sunday.

Dr. Proppe, who will begin his new ministry March 10, is a native son. When a student at Linfield College, McMinneville, Or., from which he was graduated, he won the State oratorical contest for Oregon in competition with nine other universities.

After receiving his postgraduate degree from Northern Baptist Theological Seminary at Chicago, Dr. Proppe entered the Southern Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky., obtaining the doctor-of-theology degree. He received his M.A. degree from Butler University at Indianapolis, Ind. Prior to coming to Ontario Dr. Butler was pastor of churches at Chicago and Indianapolis.

MISSIONARY WILL BECOME CHURCH PASTOR

Rev. V. H. Lucas, who for the last nine years has been home missionary secretary of the Southern California Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists, has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Exposition Park Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 1041 West Thirty-ninth street, and will begin his new pastoral duties next Sunday.

Succeeding Mr. Lucas as home missionary secretary will be Dean A. Lower, who for the last nine years has been secretary of the book and Bible house of the conference. Mr. Lower's successor will be H. M. Burwell, who recently returned to Los Angeles from a mission field in China.

Doris Deane to Ask Alimony on Poverty Basis

Doris Deane, wife of Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, stage and screen comedian, will tell a tale of neglect and poverty in Superior Court Friday, according to her attorney, R. D. Knickerbocker.

Miss Deane will appear to demand alimony pending her divorce trial. In her affidavit requesting court action, she declares she is living off the charity of friends, while her husband, proprietor of the Plantation Cafe, is making $750 a week.

Council Passes Ordinance Prohibiting Use of Devices That Bother Radio at Night

Operation of electrical medical and household appliances which interfere with radio reception is forbidden between the hours of 6 p.m. and 11 p.m. in an ordinance adopted yesterday by the City Council. It was explained before the ordinance was passed that devices can be attached to these electrical appliances which make it possible for them to be operated without interference with radio reception.

The ordinance specifically provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to operate in the city any apparatus generating or causing high - frequency oscillations, which interfere with radio or wireless reception between the hours mentioned. It exempts from this prohibition, however, licensed physicians and dentists who can show that their operation of such apparatus was necessitated by an emergency.

It also exempts licensed commercial and amateur radio stations and public utility corporations under the supervision of the State Railroad Commission. The latter exemption was made necessary by the fact that the operation of trolley cars otherwise would be banned by the ordinance.

Before adopting the ordinance, the Council gave permission to Kenneth G. Ormiston to make an address in which he explained why the Radio Trades Association of Southern California, which he was representing, had asked that such an ordinance be passed. He explained the devices used to eliminate interference and assured the Council that they were not being made by only one manufacturer.

Since, aside from its general prohibition, the ordinance makes specific mention only of violet-ray machines, X-ray machines and diathermy machines. Mr. Ormiston was asked what other forms of apparatus come under the general prohibition. He replied that it would affect the use not only of flashing signs but also of a great many household appliances, including sewing machine and vacuum sweeper motors.

Husband Fails to Return Home

Allen B. Duffy left home on September 10, 1926, telling his wife Esther that he was going to a party. He never returned, according to Mrs. Duffy, testifying at the hearing on her petition for a divorce yesterday before Superior Judge Yankwich.

"It was on the day of our wedding anniversary that he left," Mrs. Duffy declared. "I waited two years and he never returned."

"Perhaps the party is still in progress," Judge Yankwich declared as he signed the decree.

A FISH boat can't go over the top of the Los Angeles breakwater.

So the fifty-foot trawler Two Brothers came to grief early yesterday morning. The steering gear or something went wrong, according to Capt. Marion Joncich, San Pedro owner and master. The next thing he and the crew of three knew the craft was beating itself to pieces against the bulwark that makes still water in the harbor.

Two of the men leaped to safety on the breakwater as a huge swell hurled the Two Brothers high on the rocks. Two others were rescued by the tug Sea Witch of the Red Stack Company, in charge of salvage. So badly battered was the craft, its engines were taken out and the hull pulled off the rocks towed to sea and sunk. The boat was built in 1915 and was valued at $10,000.

Wild Bees Just Sweet Company to This Visitor

He knows the bees' language, or at least their eccentricities, does E. R. Root of Medina, O., who came in from New York yesterday on the Panama Mail liner Venezuela.

E.R. ROOT

Root attacks a swarm of bees with the same delectation an average man attacks corn beef and cabbage. And he can juggle them about with the same dexterity and dispose of them with the same dispatch.

The last time he was here, in 1919, he went out to Eagle Rock and harvested wild bees while film cameras ground away, and the film has gone all over the world.

"Keep 'em confused," he advises. He handles them barehanded.

Police Fail to Identify Suspect in Prowler Case

Unsuccessful in their efforts to identify William R. Wood, 26 years of age, of 2121 West Ninth street, as the Wilshire prowler, Detective Lieutenants Jolin and Drisoll announced yesterday that they will file a complaint today charging him with disturbing the peace.

Wood was taken into custody late Monday night by the two detectives and later was identified by Mrs. Jennie La Point as the man who had been peeping into her windows at 849 South Kenmore avenue.

A second suspect, Arthur R Scullin, 50, arrested early yesterday morning for asserted prowling activities, also is being held in the Wilshire jail. He was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Elderly Seller of Liquor Jailed

Charles Galagan, 65 years of age, and white-haired, caught in a series of raids by Federal dry agents about a year ago at Needles, yesterday stood before United States District Judge James and heard sentence passed on him for illicit liquor traffic.

He was sentenced to one year in the County Jail at Riverside, eight months of which were suspended. He also was placed on probation for two years.

Charles Tooker Cash, She Wails

Charles Tooker Cash lived up to his name in every respect, according to Mrs. Ethel D. Cash who yesterday asked Superior Judge Pope to grant her a divorce.

Mrs. Cash testified she married Cash December 16, 1926, and that immediately after the ceremony he refused to work, and they were forced to live on a little income she had of her own.

A decree was granted.

BOOK REVIEWS PLANNED

Current book review hours will be resumed by Miss Gertrude E. Darlow at the Central Library lecture room on the first and third Thursdays of the month at 3:30 p.m., beginning tomorrow, according to the announcement of the library commissioners.

Cafe Owners Will Convene This Month

The waiter who puts his thumb in the soup and other well known characters identified with the restaurant industry, will came under the scrutiny of the Pacific Coast Regional Convention of the National Restaurant Association, when delegates of that body assemble at the Alexandria the 25th to 27th inst.

"Restaurant owners gather in convention for the betterment of their business, and every condition that can be improved in the conduct of an eating place is discussed," said L. A. King, executive-secretary of the Los Angeles Restaurant Association, describing the program yesterday.

President Crandall of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce has accepted the invitation to welcome the delegates to the convention, which will bring a heavy representation from Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, Arizona and all of California. More than 1400 invitations, have been issued.

Judge Indorses Playgrounds as Curb to Crime

That the Los Angeles municipal playgrounds are proving a decided aid to local officials in curbing juvenile delinquency, is the opinion of Judge Scott of the juvenile department of the Superior Court, as published in the annual report of the Playground and Recreation Department just released.

"A check on cases which come before the Juvenile Court of Los Angeles county shows that gangs of boys who commit depredations are in every case developed in communities where recreation of the right kind is lacking," he says.

"Proper supervision during the hours of play helps boys and girls to develop the essential social virtues which make them good citizens."

FIREMEN TO HONOR ROONEY

Plans to have a dinner in honor of Pat Rooney, head of the Rooney vaudeville family, are being made by the fire fighters of Los Angeles.

Rooney, honorary chief of the Long Island Fire Department, during the thirty-seven years he has been upon the stage has been actively identified with firemen and their work in various cities.

PARALYTIC "HIKES" ALL WAY ACROSS COUNTRY

Although he was paralyzed on his right side, as a result of sleeping sickness suffered ten years ago, Jacob Gelerinter was so desirous of seeing Southern California that he hobbled out of New York City January 10, with Los Angeles as his goal. He arrived yesterday morning, having received "lifts" from motorists as far as Albuquerque. He came the rest of the way by bus. Mr. Gelerinter is a guest at the Young Men's Christian Association.

Government experiments at Sitka show that Alaska can grow commercially hardy flowering bulbs, including narcissus, tulips, English iris, gladiolus and hyacinths.

BANKRUPTCY TRIAL DELAYED BY ILLNESS

Because of the illness of a juror the case of E. B. Goodman, Ernest C. Gridley and John D. Sims, on trial for more than a week in the court of United States District Judge McCormick on charges of concealing assets in a bankruptcy proceeding, was continued yesterday until Tuesday. Goodman, former owner of a clothing store in San Bernardino, with the asserted connivance of the other defendants, is charged with concealing goods of the store during the bankruptcy proceeding.

Today's Bible Text

Though a sinner do evil a hundred times, and his days be prolonged, yet surely I know that it shall be well with them that fear God. Ecclesiastes viii:12.

LIVE WITHOUT WORK

Of course it isn't very easy to live without working, but some of those who try it are not a bit discouraged. They keep up the good old bluff.

NOT MUCH OF A DRIVE

If the Kaiser's seventieth birthday celebration was intended as a drive for a restoration of the monarchy it was a tack-hammer drive and didn't even leave a dent in the machinery. As a back-seat driver William is a little Rollo.

LOTS OF BUSINESS AHEAD

By this time nearly 4,000,000 American cars have been sold abroad. It will be noticed that the industry has got a lot of work ahead before it can establish the American ratio of two cars to the family. No need to worry about the future of our motor magnates.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Chicago Historical Society asserts that Chicago got its name from its river, which in its turn was named from the wild onion growing along its banks—chi-ca-gou. That will do as well as any other reason. The town at least seems to be entitled to all its smells.

WANTED, AN ENGINEER

Usually the Secretary of War is either a soldier or a lawyer. The problems of the department usually belong to these specialists. But the new chief is said to prefer an engineer for the job. The department is responsible for the great constructive tasks of the government and in the future will be building for peace rather than war. Hence the cry for some upstanding engineer. The trouble is that most of these worthies are enlisted with the utilities or private corporations at two or three times the salary of a Cabinet minister. Mr. Hoover might emulate Mussolini and take charge of the department himself.

GOOD SPORTS

When the student body of the University of California at Berkeley turned over the grid cup for the championship of the Coast to the University of Southern California the other day, a fine bit of sportsmanship was displayed. The two football teams had fought to a tie in percentages and the trophy had been awarded a half year to each institution. However, the Trojans had but one tie game chalked up against them and the Bears had two. The edge favored the southern institution and the State students were good enough sports to grant it.

This will go a long way toward cementing the sometimes strained friendship of the two schools. Always close rivals, feeling has sometimes been acute in intersectional games. Occasionally some over-zealous partisans would shame their alma maters.

But there is a finer thing than mere victory as the recent episode shows. There is glory in winning a series. But clean playing and high honor are the twin goal posts of the great American game. Nothing better can come to Pacific Coast athletics than a reputation for fairness.

The coaches of these two institutions have much to do with the attitude of mind among their men. Howard Jones of the Trojans was recently offered a five-year contract at an advanced salary. This was a substantial testimonial of his worth and influence in the Los Angeles university. He has jeopardized more than one game to save its honor.

Coach Price of the Bears is also a man of character and caliber. He is a good type to be idolized by the youth of the State school. He evidently prefers absence of the cup to possession under the slightest shadow.

A new day in intercollegiate contests has come. The old idea of my school right or wrong is passing. There is such a thing as ignominious defeat even in victory, and on the other hand there may be complete victory in overwhelming defeat.

Good sportsmanship along all lines is primary. Athletics are secondary at their best. Even politics and business could copy. At all events the football clashes of these universities will be more popular than ever.

THE CRUISER BILL

Adoption of the bill for fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier with the requirement that five keels must be laid a year during the next three years probably satisfies reasonable requirements of the Navy at present. It is neither a belligerent nor a pacifist move; it cannot be construed in any reasoning circles as preparation for an attack, and it is answer to those who hoped that the United States could be induced to lay aside its defensive bulwark that this country does not propose to be foolish.

Though the President opposed the time limit on construction of these vessels, it is not considered likely that he will refuse to sign on that account, since to do so might deprive the Navy of ships which he considers necessary. There is so little time left for this Congress, and so much remaining for it to do, that the chance of repassing a cruiser bill with construction left to executive discretion would not be very great, and the point seems hardly of major importance. It merely emphasizes the disposition of Congress, frequently manifested in other matters, to make itself believe that it is all three branches of the government. The provision coddles Congressional egotism.

The principal objection to it is that while the practically immediate construction of these sixteen ships seems desirable now, conditions may change and a more elastic program might suit the future better. Both the President and the man who will soon succeed him are on record in favor of naval efficiency and sufficiency, and neither would be inclined to skimp when the real needs of a vital arm of national defense are concerned. The President, both as director of foreign affairs and international relations, and as Commander in Chief of the naval forces, is in a better position to judge of such matters than is Congress, and is charged with more responsibility for them. His discretion should be large; Congress has narrowed it, apparently for no better reason than to feed its vanity.

If all sixteen of these vessels were in commission today, the United States would not have naval parity with Great Britain, nor, in the matter of cruisers, with Japan. Since there are no war clouds on the horizon, it has been contended by opponents of further naval building that this construction is on the one hand an extravagance and on the other a provocation. But war clouds have a way of gathering swiftly, and ship construction is, at best, a slow business. There is little doubt that the cruiser conference at Geneva, which resulted in complete failure of agreement, would have had a different termination but for the virtual suspension of naval construction which followed the Washington treaty of 1921 for limitation of capital ships. Proof that the United States intends to resume construction will not provoke an armament race so much as it will tend to indicate to other nations its futility, and lead them to approach another conference in a more compromising spirit.

As to the cost of the construction, while it is not an inconsiderable item, there is no doubt that in case of war or threatened war each of these vessels would save the nation far more than its cost.

There is one other point to which reference may be made, with regard to the time limit imposed: obsolescence of naval vessels is rapid, and the Congressional requirement means that all of these vessels will go out of service at approximately the same time. It might have been wiser to spread the construction over a longer period and have the advantage of more gradual decline in their usefulness.

It is perhaps worthy of passing mention in this connection that Japan has just laid down the last of the eight 10,000-ton cruisers listed on its present naval program. This new vessel, it is said, will be the most powerful one of its type ever constructed.

Mussolini's council of ministers has voted to begin work in June on thirteen new cruisers and other modern warships of modern design to strengthen Italy's already rather formidable navy.

In France the Chamber of Deputies has enthusiastically voted for the construction of twenty-two new cruisers and a number of submarines and destroyers. Work on these new vessels will be commenced in a short time.

Britain is proceeding with a program including eight destroyers, six submarines, a huge aircraft carrier and three cruisers.

The other day Germany sent down the ways the first of the eight 10,000-ton cruisers allowed it under the treaty of Versailles. Others will follow soon, two being under construction.

These facts do not constitute war clouds or even mean a race for naval supremacy. They do betoken a sensibility to what the future may bring forth. They are insurance against potential need. Under the circumstances, though with no thought of "answering threat with threat," we could scarcely do less than we are doing.

Now that the cruiser bill is out of the way the Senate can and should devote itself to reapportionment, for which there is a demonstrated majority if a vote can be reached. There is no need for extended debate; the Constitutional mandate is plain; and in addition there has been plenty of time for consideration in the nearly eight years that the matter has been hanging fire. Justice to the people disfranchised by the present unconstitutional situation has been too long delayed.

WHEAT FOR RUSSIA

Thomas D. Campbell, the Pasadena man who has gone to Russia for a hasty consultation with soviet leaders over an agricultural program for the Red republic, says the Russians are eager to contract heavily for American farm machinery and the present idea of the government is the establishment of 10,000,000 acres of state farms—virtually all to be planted in wheat. It is about the biggest plunge into farm industry ever indulged by any people and it would take about $100,000,000 of American farm implements and $50,000,000 worth of road machinery to take care of it. The soviet leaders, however, will have to prove that they can and will pay for this equipment before it will be shipped.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.

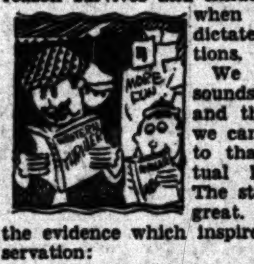
BY Lee Shippey

PERHAPS nowadays the apparel more oft' reveals the woman than proclaims the man. But still we get flashes of evidence, now and then, that guiding though subconscious reason survives and influences, even when it cannot dictate, our actions.



We hope that sounds highbrow and thinky. But we can't hold up to that intellectual level long. The strain is too great. So here's the evidence which inspired the observation:

What Age Wisdom?

Yesterday while we were absorbing all we wanted of the contents of $49 worth of current magazine after a total expenditure of 5 cents for a Saturday Evening Post—bought in hope Don Marquis had a story in it—two cash customers entered the newsstand simultaneously but from opposite sides. One was a man of 45, the other a boy of 10, but small for his age. One wore knickers and the other the conventional long trousers of middle age. One bought a magazine of western thriller stories, the other a copy of Popular Mechanics.

But which did which? Why, of course, it was the small boy who wore the longies, the man of ripened wisdom who bought the stories of the successors of Nick Carter.

We'd Suspected This

Lee: The Southern California Federation of State Societies, which is always telling us how many hundreds of thousands of Iowans, Illinoisies, Kansans, Ohioans and so ons are here, seems to have entirely overlooked the amazing number of Scotchmen. For evidence, I cite this headline from your own paper:

"Thrills Audiences
With Thrift Talk" W. R.

Our Infinite Variety

We've an alligator farm,
And an ostrich farm,
And fox farms past revealing;
We've rabbit farms, a lion farm,
And now we have a monkey farm
To add to California's charm
That gland and glorious feeling.—T. M.

Made Us Rubber

Truly, California is the land of flowers. All kinds, one might say, show their scents by coming here. Even so, we were surprised yesterday to note in a Sunset-Boulevard window the sign:

RUBBER FLOWERS

We've heard of coals to Newcastle. But why rubber coals?

Easy Money

"What are Edison's initials, anyway?"

"Why, everybody knows that. They're S. C."

"S. C.? That doesn't sound just right. Bet you five you're wrong."

"Take ya."

"Well, how'll we prove it?"

"By my checkbook stubs. Look here. For years I've been paying a check out every month to the S. C. Edison Company."

"Darn it! I never thought of that. Here's your fiver, Jim."—C. V. Bailey.

Gifted and Admit It

We have heard other columnists tell of receiving mash notes. We, alas, can make no such romantic boast. Perhaps the frequent rompings of our five youngsters through this colyum have removed us utterly from the pale of glamour. But that (again alas) is necessary. Despite the child labor laws, we frequently have to make those little rascals earn part of the family bread and nucoa.

But we do receive many kindly letters, and now some unknown friend sends us a little shoe. It is not big enough (encore alas) for any of our boys, but it is just the kind they need, being made of iron. It also is a perfect match for some of their other shoes, having a large hole in the toe. We suppose scooters do that, even to iron shoes.

But as it is too small for any of our busters, and we haven't any one-legged boys, anyway, we have been inspired to use the shoe as a match-holder, so that now if any of our other friends drop in and insist on handing us good cigars we will be able to break a record. We will be able to supply our own matches.

Some one also sends us a picture of a cat. And why? We doubt if even Alma Whitaker, the most widely read woman in Southern California, ever received a tribute like that!

BUSINESS MORALITY

Some of the high-brow radicals and captious critics of our civilization are welcoming Chief Justice Taft as a convert to their theory that because America is amassing wealth and is priding itself upon its prosperity we are doomed as a nation. Pessimistic preachments in which the Chief Justice's recent reference to our materialistic tendencies is taken as a text are more numerous than convincing. One hardly can see the amiable Mr. Taft as a pessimist. In fact, he included in his much-quoted and little understood statement the remark, "I am always an optimist."

It is true that, when asked what he considered the most disturbing element in our national life, Mr. Taft answered that it was "the material philosophy which places wealth and worldly success ahead of every other consideration in life." Manifestly this remark is not to be understood as applying exclusively to America. It is perfectly obvious that it might have been made with reference to all nations and all ages. None has lacked critics on the ground of its love of wealth. Two thousand years ago the apostle Paul said that "the love of money is the root of all evil." And Burton in his "Anatomy" said that the rich are 'possessed by their wealth."

It is unfortunate that Mr. Taft did not offer a full explanation of his dictum, for undoubtedly he would have made it appear less general in its terms and less likely to be seized upon by splenetic writers in support of their radical views. For of course none knows better than this great jurist that commercial integrity never has reached a higher point than in the present age.

In a recent New York address Owen Young extolled the high standards of men of affairs. He said that the outcry made over an occasional dereliction, when exposed, was a sure indication that such cases were exceptional. Nearly all the heads of great financial concerns subscribe to the famous dictum of J. P. Morgan that "after all, character is the best security for a loan."

Those who know Chief Justice Taft and his liberal philosophy will not narrow the meaning of his statement nor interpret it to please those who have bewailed the "unmitigated materialism" of American business men. They must realize that he has full confidence in the integrity of those who have brought about our material prosperity. Doubtless he has taken note of the nationwide survey just decided upon by more than a score of leading American capitalists as to the effect upon community welfare of mergers, chain stores, branch plants and holding companies. According to the spokesman of this group, it is hoped that the facts ascertained will lead to the formulation of a fair and progressive policy governing the discharge of moral obligations of big business controlled from remote centers.

Here we witness the spectacle of big business, so frequently attacked by radicals, voluntarily undertaking what it considers an ethical social duty, and its act undoubtedly will be approved by Mr. Taft. To select as evidence of radicalism a single paragraph of his statement, which occupied more than two columns in The Times, is unfair to him. Those who read the entire article found plenty of proof of his faith in American morality. In any case a people who have given billions for philanthropic purposes in the last few years hardly can be classed as rank materialists.

CHANGING THE TURK

The Turks are changing their language to the extent of adopting the alphabet as used by the Latin races. It is the mandate of Kemal Pasha and must be obeyed. Schools have been started up all over the land and it is a bit pitiful to watch some of the old-timers toiling and moiling over their A, B, C's. They never went to school in the ancient days and it is hard for them to apply their rusty noodles to an outside language merely because the big boss happens to think it important. They do say that the maids and matrons of Turkey take more readily to the innovation than do the men. They furnish the heaviest percentage of pupils in the schools and also reach and pass their examinations more quickly. When the Turkish woman came out of the harem she came with a wide dive. Now she is in politics and business to an extent that could not have been dreamt of a few years back.

THE HIGHER CRIME HUNTING

By James J. Montague

Where's Patrolman Roughemup,
Who laid aside his hod,
Pinned on a shield and stepped outside
And gave the gunmen such a ride
That he became the joy and pride
Of all the strong-arm squad?
No more he lugs a pocket Krupp
Or treats the bad men rough,
He's at the station boning up
On psychologic stuff.

Where is Sergeant Eaglebeak,
Who in the days of old,
Had very little use for books
But who, by his malignant looks
Could frighten the most practiced crooks
And scare the gangsters cold?
The sergeant, who had everything
Back in the good old time
Is at headquarters, studying
The literature of crime.

Where is Captain Grabemquick,
Who six short years ago
Knew every evil doer's name
Who, owing to his steady aim
And crafty strategy, became
The grafter's deadliest foe?
Serene and pallid is his brow
And flabby is his fist;
For Captain Grabemquick is now
A criminologist!

LETTERS TO The Times

[Name and address of writer must accompany all letters for this column. Letters of a personal nature or involving contentious religious questions are not acceptable.]

The Wages of Sin

SANTA PAULA, Feb. 2.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is a serious loss to a community when a public servant who has rendered efficient and valuable service to a community seems to lose balance and goes off on a tangent and follows in the footsteps of our national faddists and cheap publicity seekers, who try and win fame on self-concocted ideas that have for their foundation rabid nonsense that dies as quickly as it is born, viz Ben Lindsey and his companionate marriage, etc. Hence your excellent editorial rebuking this woman jurist in our midst for her latest attempt to attract attention to herself by signing an article, "Why Hickman Hung."

Dr. Van Waters has always stood for the pampering and petting of the "Hickmans, Loebs, Leopolds, Northcotts, etc." Let us see. As juvenile delinquents are brought before Dr. Van Waters at Juvenile Hall they are segregated and divided into two classes, A and B. Those that pass a high mental test, regardless of their crimes, and regardless of physical and moral deficiencies, are placed in class A, and sent to such places as the El Retiro Girls' School at San Fernando, where the public is paying college rates for a few mental degenerates to be experimented with by these modern psychiatrists. Class B contain those that are not so far advanced mentally, but whose crimes are not so vicious and vile, yet they stay in crowded Juvenile Hall, like "the little pigs they are," because they have not the mentality to fool these psychiatrists.

When the elements are rampant and playing havoc with our orchards and lives we use all of our ingenuity and skill to combat the forces of nature that are delinquent. We are using every means to blot from our civilization consumption, cancer and disease of all kinds. We have costly fire departments manned with strong, sturdy citizens to combat the fires that threaten our homes and business districts, yet we sit idly by and listen to the ranting of our public servants, who try and defend the human wretches who threaten the lives of our little children.

FREDERIC MEYER.

City Taxes and County Farms

ARTESIA, Feb. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] In this morning's paper Mayor Cryer is reported as advocating the consolidation of city and county governments. Please page Mayor Cryer and ask him what we farmers of Los Angeles county shall plant this coming year or hereafter that will enable us to extract a living from the soil and be able to pay city taxes.

I have just lost one of the most productive farms in existence because of the harmful laws and harmful districts voted upon the land by the electorate who do not understand the limited ability of the farmer to pay taxes. I had paid in $30,000 on this land, which represented the earnings of many years. I have been a successful farmer and made this money in farming. I am over 60 years of age and wish to retire, but cannot rent my remaining land for enough to pay for upkeep and taxes.

We are already taxed to about the rental value of the land. The closing down of the beet industry has caused over-production in other lines of farming. Cuba can still sell sugar at prewar prices while the American sugar farmer must pay for the war, for good roads, fine schools and all of the other exacting expenses of a high standard of living. Yet, the Cuban plantations which pay nothing toward our exacting civilization are still permitted to ship in their cheap sugar produced in a low standard civilization at a rate that is ruining the American sugar planter.

CLARENCE DOUGHERTY.

Gentle Badinage

MONTEREY PARK, Feb. 4.—[To the Editor of The Times:] We must protest against the writer of your editorial note (Times, February 2) who says the London fog is so thick that sometimes a shovel has to be used to clear King George's "sick room."

It is evident that the man who wrote that is unfamiliar with London's "particular" yellow soup, otherwise he would have known that a shovel is as useless for removing it as Asa Keyes appeared to be at the Julian Petroleum trials. As a matter of fact they use a soup tureen, a real antique which Richard the Lion-Hearted is said to have stolen from the French king while on a visit across the Channel. If your writer had only taken the trouble to step into the telephone booth and called up Buckingham Palace I am sure they would have given him the correct information.

And because most official Englishmen are peaceful and polite persons, it is possible though not probable, that your paragrapher would have been informed that no agricultural implement (such as I believe a shovel to be) is ever allowed in a royal bedroom, no matter whether that room is "sick" or well.

H. P. SANDS.

According to a municipal report, the Chicago stork is kept busy delivering 204 babies every day, with 5 per cent more boys than girls. The big months, statistics prove, are March, May, June and August.

THE GIFTIE GIE US

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Oh, but really now, we must not let this news of handsome gifties that is so topically interesting just now, make us cynical. It is just the sweetest thing to read how certain defendants, even in the midst of embarrassing crises, have the nicest little lovey-dovey ideas of making handsome gifts—$2500 checks, wrist watches, automobiles, radios, chaises longues and other trifles, to people who may even find it necessary to be a little unkind in the cause of justice.

It is quite horrid of us to misinterpret these charming innocent little gifties. It just shows our nasty minds. Why shouldn't we believe that the generous, noble, defendants were giving equally precious gifties to their obscure, uninfluential friends during this period? Why shouldn't we believe in the high-minded, innocent attitude of these our lofty public officials, sworn to serve the State when they accepted these tender little tokens of love? They, who know so little of the seamy side of human nature—why wouldn't they accept these gifts in trusting faith? Besides, they were probably exchanging gifts with these dear old defendant friends, not just on the receiving end. We couldn't believe that such high-minded officials would be content to just take and take. Oh, we can be sure, surely, that at least a nice little pot of marmalade, tied with ribbon, formed the recriprocity friendship offering to a defendant from a nice influential official friend.

Squeamish people, of course, might wonder that influential officials should risk accepting expensive loving tokens of pure friendship during such critical periods. They might be expected to wish to avoid even the appearance of evil. But there again their naive innocent faith in the high-minded interpretation we, the public, would put upon such gifties is rather sweet, isn't it? Oh, we mustn't fail them by being horrid and suspicious. Rather should we adore their pure innocence.

Of course, in future, it might be just as well if we elected officials to represent us who are so jealous of their personal honor and ours, that they would beg their dear friends to resist giving them expensive presents until they are out of office. You know, officials who are just suspicious enough themselves to comprehend how horrid suspicion might enter our consciousness, too. Officials who had not quite such a touching, innocent faith in the fond friendship of current defendants. . . . . Officials who prefer to be blessed unimpaired by too much receiving.

Q.: What was the Rosetta Stone? C. T.

A.: Winwood Reade says: "The Rosetta Stone, that remarkable monument which, with its inscriptions in Greek, in the Egyptian vernacular, and in the sacred hieroglyphics, has afforded the means of deciphering the mysterious language of the Nile, was a memorial of gratitude from the Egyptian priests to a Greek king, to whom, in return for favors conferred, they erected an image and a golden shrine."

Q.: What did it cost the Literary Digest to conduct the Presidential poll? A. N.

A.: The total cost of the poll has been estimated at not less than $950,000.

Q.: Who was the first professional architect in America? W. S.

A.: Peter Harrison. He drew the plans for the Redwood Library, King's Chapel, the Jewish Synagogue and Brick Market at Newport.

Q.: Can a child born of Japanese parents in the United States be considered an American citizen? B. G.

A.: A child of any parentage who is born in the United States is a citizen thereof.

Q.: Should such initials as N. Y., D. C., or U. S. N. be divided at the end of a line? S. J.

A.: The Style Book, compiled by the government printing office, says that such abbreviations should be kept on the same line.

Q.: Is wood cut in the wintertime more durable? M. F.

A.: The time of cutting wood has very little effect upon its durability if the timber is properly cared for afterward. Late fall or winter cutting is simplest as the wood seasons more slowly and, with less checking, and by warm weather is seasoned enough to be less susceptible to borers and fungi. There is, however, practically no difference in moisture content of green wood in winter and summer.

Q.: How old is Franklin D. Roosevelt, the new Governor of New York? B. R. S.

A.: He was born January 30, 1882.

MIAMI BEACH (Fla.) Feb. 5.—Jack Dempsey in an interview here today, predicted the next heavyweight champion of the world will be Max Schmeling, native of Germany and comparative newcomer to the pugilistic eminences.

MAX SCHMELING

The tip-off on what the ex-champion thinks of "the man who looks like Dempsey" is an interesting one. Jack is patently impressed by the young Teuton's sensational rise, climaxed Friday by his knockout of John Risko.

Dempsey did not neglect to add that he thought Schmeling would have to get past Sharkey or Stribling, thereby drawing attention to the engagement this pair have here under his auspices for the night of the 27th inst.

WHITTIER BOY ACE OF OUTFIT

Nathaniel George Looms as Best in Circuit

Belman, Ruth of Oxy Team Have Good Marks

(This is the second of a series of articles dealing with the track and field situation in the Southern California Conference.)

BY BRAVEN DYER

There are more good sprinters in the Southern California Conference this season than has been the case for many, many years. The outstanding dash men are divided between three institutions—Whittier, Pomona and Occidental.

HARVEY BEAR

Due to his sensational running in the Olympic Games tryouts here last summer, Nathaniel George, the Whittier colored boy, rates as the best 100 and 220-yard man in the circuit. Despite the fact that he was forced to run trial heats on Friday, while the other starters were not compelled to qualify by running at all, George came back on the next day and placed third in the 100-meter finals, running right on the heels of Charley Paddock. He took fourth in the 220-meter finals.

PLAYED FOOTBALL

It is likely that George will cut under even time in both races this spring, although since his fine showing of last year he has participated in a season of football, which may not help him in his sprinting.

To our way of thinking Harvey Bear of Pomona and Wayne Belman of Occidental stand the best chance of defeating George. All three are sophomores so will meet frequently in the future. Bear trimmed Belman in both races last year, but there was very little to choose between the two.

DEMPSEY SPIKES RUMOR

Here's Jack's answer to the wiseacres who say that the Young Stribling-Jack Sharkey fight will not be held at Miami, Fla., on the 27th inst. The ex-champ is shown driving the first nail that started the construction of the mammoth arena that will accommodate 100,000 fans, cash and otherwise. The gentleman at Dempsey's right is probably telling the embryo promoter to throw away his hammer and get a horn. Anyway, Big Jack will keep hammering away at the forthcoming fight and horn in on the big jack later.

IDOL OF BAY CITY LOSES SCRAP BY CLOSE MARGIN

BY PAUL LOWRY

A hairline decision brought victory to Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight king, in "The Battle of Left Hands" at the Olympic last night. A packed house of 10,328 fans who paid $36,529—a new indoor record in California—alternately cheered and booed Referee Abe Roth's decision.

Roth was alone in the rendering of the verdict, the judges having been abolished at the last minute through mutual consent of both principals and their managers. One-half of the house was for him in his award. The other half was against him. Or so it appeared by the reception given the fighters as they cleared from the ring.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN

The referee called the rounds six for Loughran and four for Emanuel. My own score sheet shows five apiece with each gladiator having one big round apiece.

TERRIFIC PACE

The ninth was all Loughran's and apparently this round with the champion's fast finish in the tenth decided the issue in the referee's mind.

Loughran's pace in the ninth was terrific, and he gained a two-to-one margin with a vicious attack of left and right hands to head and body. A similar play in other rounds would have gained him a more decisive margin.

He opened the tenth in the same manner, and it was only a supreme effort on the part of Emanuel that

Blow-by-Blow Story of Bout

Loughran weighed in at 162¾, while Emanuel scaled 160 pounds when the gladiators weighed in yesterday afternoon.

At the last minute it was decided to have Referee Abe Roth give the decision without the aid of judges, who did not meet with the approval of the rival boxers and their managers.

ROUND ONE

ROUND TWO

ROUND THREE

They exchanged light lefts and Loughran shot in a straight left to Armand's face. Both were short with lefts to the head. Emanuel's nose was beginning to bleed. Armand tore into Loughran and caught Tommy with a hard right to the jaw. Loughran returned with a right to the body and they went into a clinch. The boys were setting a fast pace for heavyweights. Emanuel hooked his left into Loughran and ducked under a vicious right swing from Tommy. Emanuel missed a hard right and took two rights in the body. Emanuel beat Loughran to the punch and scored with a right to the head. Tommy caught Armand with a

WEBB AND CHESLEY SIGN

The signed contracts of Earl Webb, slugging outfielder recently obtained from the Chicago Cubs by the Angels, and Harry Chesley, young pitcher, were received at Wrigley Field yesterday it was announced by Boots Weber, secretary of the Los Angeles club. Weber stated that as far as he knows, the Angels haven't a single holdout this year. All the athletes have received their contracts and so far none have sent in a squawk. "And when they're hurt, they holler," says Weber, "so it looks as though all of the Angels are satisfied with the contracts sent them."

BRUINS TOIL FOR GAME

Works Drills Charges in Preparation for Clash With Trojan Five Saturday Night

Desperately preparing for an attempt Saturday night to end its losing streak of six straight conference games, the University of California at Los Angeles basketball team is practicing daily for the second game of the series with Southern California Saturday night at the Olympic Auditorium for the "city championship."

The Bruins lost a brace of casaba battles last week-end to the visiting Stanford Cardinals, thus maintaining a tail-end position in the basketball standings of the southern division of the Pacific Coast Conference.

CADDY WORKS

The Trojans stand one up on the Bruins so far in the city series, as a result of a 28-to-23 decision gained a week ago last Saturday night on the Olympic floor in a rough-and-tumble battle. However, Bruin fans are certain that the result would have been different if Capt. Sammy Balter, then suspended, had been in the game.

Coach Caddy Works of U.C.L.A. is doing some worrying this week in regard to a line-up that will stand the gaff. In the Stan-

Trojans Play All-Chinese Five Tonight

International basketball will open in America tonight when the China Basketball Team starts its United States continental tour with a game with the University of Southern California varsity at the S.C. gym. Headed by Capt. Choa Itsan, one of the best forwards ever developed in the Orient, the China squad consists of a set of fast, scrappy athletes who are expected to give Coach Leo Calland's Trojans a battle every minute.

Tonight's game will be preceded at 7 p.m. by a contest between the Trojan freshmen and the Rooks, the reserves and ineligible frosh. The main event will start at 8:15 o'clock and it is expected that the international aspect of the game will draw a capacity crowd. Line-ups:

SAGEHEN FIVE INVADES TIGERS' LAIR SATURDAY

Coach Beefy Heath's Pomona Sagehens will invade Eagle Rock, the home of the Occidental Tigers, this Saturday when these two basketball quintets clash in a Southern California Conference tilt.

Though the meet has not the championship flavor of the usual traditional battles between these arch-foes, the game nevertheless is an interesting one, bringing together the league-leading charges of Coach Eddie Kienholz, and the Sagehens, who are tied for third place with Redlands and San Diego State.

La Verne and Redlands play a double bill this Friday and Saturday evenings, while Tech jaunts to San Diego in the remaining conference games. La Verne and Redlands are two of the strongest quintets in the circuit despite defeats at the hands of Oxy by close scores. The Leopard-Bulldog series holds the interest of the group in this week's games.

Oxy is an overwhelming favorite to conquer the Sagehen enemy Saturday. The fast passing attack and shooting abilities of the Tiger basket tossers is expected to prove far superior to the Claremont rivals.

ADOPTION OF NATIONAL LOOP SCHEDULE IS HELD UP UNTIL BOSTON DECIDES SUNDAY BALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—The annual schedule meeting of the National League today failed in its major purpose—adoption of the 1929 schedule.

A series of playing dates had been arranged, calling for a number of Sunday games in Boston. A permit for playing these games has not been granted the Boston Braves, so the schedule, instead of being ratified, was referred to President John A. Heydler for later action.

If the Braves are permitted to play on Sundays in Boston the schedule will stand as drafted. If the authorities decline to permit such games the date will be rearranged by President Heydler.

The National League as a result of today's meeting has a vice-president for the first time in its history. Barney Dreyfuss, president of the Pittsburgh club and senior member of the organization, was elected to the newly created honorary position. Mr. Dreyfuss became associated with the league in 1892 as the head of the Louisville club.

The 1929 season will open Tuesday, April 16, five days later than last year, with New York playing at Philadelphia, Brooklyn at Boston, St. Louis at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Chicago. The season will close Sunday, October 6, one week later than the closing date in 1928.

STANFORD CAGERS UPSET BY ST. IGNATIUS, 30 TO 23

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—Taking a lead in the opening minutes of play, the St. Ignatius College basketball team kept their season record free of defeats here tonight by taking a 30-to-23 game from the Stanford varsity.

Capt. Maloney of the Ignatians played the best floor game of the contest and in addition registered eleven points to be high-point man for his team. Tyler, Stanford forward, was high-point man of the game with twelve digits.

The Ignatians were never headed and at half time held an 18-to-9 advantage.

In the preliminary game the Stanford freshmen defeated the St. Ignatius High School team, 23 to 17.

CALIFORNIA WILL FGHT TO HOLD WINTER OLYMPICS HERE

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—California intends to settle all disputes as to where the winter sports of the 1932 Olympic Games will be held by conducting them herself. Col. William M. Garland, president of the California Tenth Olympiad Association, has advised the American Olympic Association that there are facilities for holding winter sports in the northern part of the State and that the association believes they belong to the State where the main Olympic Games will be held as long as the conditions meet with the approval of the international authorities. His announcement was made to forestall applications by other parts of the country which were understood to be seeking the winter games.

Coach Eddie Leahy Expects to Turn Out Strong Polytechnic Track Squad This

KILFOIL LEADS MECHANIC TEAM

Poly Captain Figured Best of Prep Sprinters

Much Expected of Mack in Hurdle Events

Darby Jones Looms as Sure High Jump Winner

Led by Capt. Frannie Kilfoil, Coach Eddie Leahy's Poly High track team is going out for all the cinder honors possible this year. Coach Leahy has lined up a tough schedule which includes a meet every week until the Southern California meet late in April. Next Friday the Mechanics take on the strong Huntington Park team in a relay meet.

EDDIE LEAHY

Coach Leahy, besides having a fairly good team for dual track battles, has several stars that should shine in the big meets this season. Heading the list is Kilfoil, whom many track fans consider the fastest prep sprinter in the Southland. According to Leahy, Frannie ought to run under 10 flat this season. Warboys and Beurling are the other sprinters on the squad. Both competed last year but failed to make letters.

Glenn Mack will take care of both hurdling events. At present Mack appears to be the best stick jumper in the city. He made a letter in the lows last year. Beurling may change from the sprints to the hurdles later in the season.

The quarter-mile event shows the greatest weak spot of the Mechanic team. There are no returning letter men in this event and no outstanding candidates to date.

Herman (Spud) Curtis will make the rest of the milers in the city step to beat him this year. Spud is a slender, freckle-faced Irishman who says he got his nickname by eating so many Irish potatoes. He may run the half as well as the mile. Bush is the only other outstanding distance man out beside Curtis.

In the pole vault are two returning veterans, Brosnan, who is consistent at twelve feet, and Starkey, who has already cleared twelve feet four inches this season. Yesterday, however, there was some question as to Starkey's eligibility.

Darby Jones, the outstanding high jumper in the city, will take care of that event. Darby has cleared 6ft. on several occasions and figures on raising a few records this year. Dalton and Immel, both good for 5ft. 8in., round out the high jumpers.

Three broad jumpers, Capt. Kilfoil, Beurling and Martin, all good for about 20ft., will take care of the ground-leaping event. This is another weak event for Poly. Kilfoil may make 21ft. or better, but Coach Leahy had a dubious look on his face when he said it.

For the first time in many years the Mechanics look weak in the shot. Last year Morgan and Sorenson cleaned up in practically every meet, but both of them have graduated. Williams, Dalton and Lee Casias are the outstanding men out at present, but none of them has done better than 42ft. Dan Cunningham, a transfer from Oakland Tech, may beat them all this year. Cunningham will toss the discus in all the meets that it is allowed. He cleared 115ft. last season.

Kilfoil, Warboys, Fisher, Beurling and Mack are the best of the sprinters out for the relay. Fisher made a letter in the relay last year.

Charles Petty of Pomona are also working good sprinters. The latter won the frosh 100 in 1926 in 10 1-10s. but stayed out of school the next two years. Ruth is a veteran and, although heavily built for a sprinter, has managed to win a lot of races. He runs right around even time consistently.

George Payne of Whittier will cause the other boys plenty of trouble. He placed third in both sprints at the all-conference meet last year, but will find the going tougher this time with Bear, Petty and Belman in the running.

Kenny Johnson of San Diego and his team-mate, Oliver Worden, should score a lot of points. The former was clocked in 9 4-5s. in one meet last year, but failed to deliver in the conference affair. Worden, who is primarily a quarter-miler, will be used in the furlong by Peterson.

There are rumors to the effect that Cecil Howard, the former Compton boy, is back at Occidental and that he will be eligible to run. If so he will probably cut into the points. Art Elliott is another prospective Tiger sprinter.

At this writing it appears that first in the sprint races belong to George, with Bear and Belman most likely to upset the dope, followed by Petty, Ruth and Payne.

Of course, it's very early in the season to begin judging athletes, but on the basis of past performances that's how they stack up right now. Both Bear and Belman, being youngsters, may improve enough to nose out George.

(Tomorrow—Hurdles and 440.)

"SUNSET BOGEY" IN NEW SURROUNDINGS

"Sunset Bogey," the golfing aristocrat of the dog world, has taken up his domicile at Sunset Fields. On Lincoln's Birthday, the 12th inst., this pedigreed "Scotty" will be given away in a blind bogey tournament. He is a thoroughbred, is two months old and is a regular "golf hound" in every sense of the word. A tiny kennel and yard have been built for him on the first tee of the No. 1 course.

WILD BILL'S ANSWER

IF THERE is anything that makes "Wild Bill" Mehlhorn wilder it is leaving him off a Ryder Cup team. The executive committee of the Professional Golf Association of America recently announced the personnel of this famous team of ten stars which goes to England next April, and Bill's name was not among the select.

Perhaps Bill made a few choice remarks about the matter which failed to carry over the telegraph wires, but he more than made up for this miscarriage of justice by writing his name all over the golf courses of the South.

Since "Wild Bill" left California shores he has annexed the El Paso open, the annual Texas open played at San Antonio and the South-Central open played at Hot Springs, Ark.

Three major victories for "Wild Bill" since the first of the year—271 at El Paso, 277 at San Antonio and a 290 at Hot Springs. More tournaments than any other man on the Ryder Cup team has won since the fall campaign opened, let alone since the first of the year.

"Wild Bill" didn't do much this year in Southern California tournaments, but the whole trouble apparently was because nobody said or did anything to make him mad. A nice hunk of raw meat dripping gore fed to "Wild Bill" might have changed the whole complexion of things.

"MOCKS DEMPSEY" HOGTIED

THE Madison Square Garden Corporation still has some holdover ideas from the regime of the late Tex Rickard, and it means that any wild stories about Max Schmeling, the German Dempsey, fighting on the Coast or any other place but New York are ridiculous.

The Garden has "Mocks" signed to a two-year contract which provides that he not only fights exclusively for the corporation but that if he wins the heavyweight title within that period he will defend it three times for the Garden.

That means Schmeling has tied himself up for five years at least if he comes into possession of the crown.

It is unlikely that the Madison Square people will rush "Mocks" along too vigorously, but if he holds to the form he displayed against Risko he will win the title during the 1930 campaign.

"Mocks" certainly won't be called on to defend the title more than once a year, which will carry him through the 1933 season if he has the stamina and stuff of the ordinary champion.

By that time the Garden will have made so much money off him it can afford to forget all about him, and anyway, he will be passing his peak as a fighter. They're heartless, these corporations, but they've got everything figured out to the gnat's eyebrow. They'll wring a guy like "Mocks" dry and then look around for another victim.

JESS WILLARD BREAKS

THE late Tex Rickard's autobiography, which has been running exclusively in The Times, recently has dealt with the Jack Dempsey-Jess Willard bout at Toledo and its aftermath.

Big Jess never was much interested in the fight racket and is probably less so now. He never shows up at any of the local bouts although he has a realty office in Hollywood and lives in the "fastest growing city," Glendale.

But the man who was chopped to pieces by Dempsey in the sun-baked ring at Toledo certainly came out of his shell the other night when Glendale High School graduated a large bunch of smart-looking youngsters.

A pretty girl named Frances Edith Willard was among those who stepped up to receive diplomas and a man named Jess Willard had the beatific smile of an angel on his rugged face as he watched the ceremony.

Where a world's championship failed, a high-school graduation revealed emotion in this mountain of a man. Which is as it should be.

They had 3500 folks at the first appearance of Gus Sonnenberg, the new heavyweight wrestling champion, in Madison Square Garden the other night.

MISS WRIGHT, MRS. JONES BATTLE IN LINKS FEATURE

rounded the half-way mark 1 up on her opponent. She scored a 39 coming in, however, to win easily. Mrs. Jones defeated Mrs. W. C. Cuppa rather easily, 6 to 4, in her first round match.

Another brilliant match should result when Mrs. Lifur faces Mrs. Grossman, Los Angeles City champion. Mrs. Grossman is one of the most consistent golfers in Southern California and is rapidly coming into her own. Mrs. Lifur was made a favorite in the Calcutta pool held Monday evening at the Los Angeles Country Club, and is expected to have an edge in the match.

MRS. LIFUR WINS

That Mrs. Lifur is playing exceptionally good golf, as was indicated by her medal score of 80, was further verified by a 6 to 4 win over Mrs. H. P. Braddock of the Fox Hills Country Club, San Francisco women's champion. Mrs. Braddock is the ranking left-handed feminine golfer on the Pacific Coast. Mrs. Grossman easily disposed of Mrs. Frank Davis, 5 and 4.

Mrs. Higbie, the star feminine golfer from Detroit, will bear close watching. She not only defeated Mrs. Roy Green of the California Country Club, 6 and 4, but shot an approximate 85 to do it. If any match can be chalked up as a possible upset, Mrs. Higbie's decisive defeat of the California ace comes under that category. Mrs. Higbie faces Mrs. Browne, who yesterday won from Mrs. W. R. Penniston, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Edwards, who staged a magnificent rally to qualify for the championship flight by defeating ten players in a playoff for one place, won a match from Mrs. J. C. Rentch of Oakmont, 3 and 2, and will meet Mrs. Charles Woerner of the Los Angeles Country Club today in the fourth match programmed. Mrs. Woerner won her first round match over Mrs. E. C. Lounsberry, 5 and 4.

WOMEN MAKE FAIRER FIGHT JUDGES; TEX RICKARD GIVES RECIPE FOR MAKING MILLION

This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration with Bozeman Bulger, for publication exclusively for The Times and The North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the twenty-sixth installment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.

BY TEX RICKARD

Written exclusively for The Times and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

In the last few years women have become more and more prominent in the crowds that attend fights. This always has been of interest to me because I have held the belief from the start that there was no reason why women should not attend boxing matches just as they do other forms of amusement.

TEX RICKARD

There used to be a lot of talk about the sport being too brutal for women; that they could not stand the sight of blood, of physical combat. People, somehow, forget that women in many ways have more fortitude than men. They can stand more physical suffering. The war nurses saw more in their daily work than a lot of men could stand. When it comes to fighting patriotism the women can give the men cards and spades.

Now, since they hace been attending fights the women have shown themselves much fairer judges than the average man. They are even more judicial in considering the merits of men in the fight. I have yet to see one of them get unduly excited. They are strong partisans for their favorites, though.

BETTER-CLASS WOMEN

The most noticeable thing about the women spectators is that a large majority of them come from the higher strata of society, rather than the lower.

This I believe due largely to the benefit shows we staged to raise funds for charity. Miss Anne Morgan was the pioneer in that method of raising money to help worthy causes. Che was at the head of the big boxing show we gave at the Garden for the devasted areas of France.

I was struck by her businesslike attitude, common sense and clear understanding of what we were driving at. Miss Morgan is a wonderful woman.

When it was pointed out to her that to raise money the most important thing was to give a show that the public really wanted to see—to arrange it so they could get their money's worth and at the same time be doing something for a just cause—she said:

"That is exactly what we want. We will give them the best we can, we want real boxing matches between real boxers. You go right ahead and our committee will attend to the rest of the work."

That committee headed by Miss Morgan went at the work with such determination that they got a great many women interested in boxing who otherwise would not have thought of it. Boxing got a big boost. The names of the prominent women also added to the prestige of the affair. As a result thousands of women saw the fights. Instead of remaining merely as a cuty they discovered they actually liked the boxing game. Many of they have been coming ever since.

RECIPE FOR MILLION

Not long ago a writing friend of mine dropped in to see me with the request that I give him the recipe for making $1,000,000. He assumed that I had made $1,000,000. In a half-joking way, and half serious, too, I told him:

"Making $1,000,000 is easy if you sit down and think things out right. Folks want amusement, and they've got the money to pay for it. They love fighting. Give them the right kind of fights and they will pay high for them."

Of course, the catch is that few people can think things out right, and sometimes it is impossible to furnish the right kind of fights. At my friend's request, I then wrote down the following recipe which I really think would work in any kind of business:

"(1.) Your have to learn the psychology of folks. You must give them their entertainment their way, not yours.

"(2.) You have to spend money to make money, though you may not always have it to spend. But you can establish credit. Folks can get credit on big ideas—if they're honest ideas and the man is honest.

"(3.) When you put one thing across big the rest is easy—if you don't let down in the class of stuff you give the public.

"(4.) You have to be something of a mindreader, a visionary, but not a dreamer. You have to put your stuff in concrete form and make it stick.

"(5.) If you see that you are going to lose you have to take your loss, that's all. You must never welch. Many a show has cost me big money that could have been saved by calling the show off. That would have made the public peevish and in the end I would have lost a dozen times as much in future confidence as on that one venture.

"(6.) There is no monopoly on brains in the world. Everyone with good common sense, honesty, a will to go through with things, imagination, a sense of humor and the ability to take a rough turn with a smile, can make a lot of money. Maybe not a million. That's a lot of money. But making a million or just making money is all the same."

Luck plays a big part in any venture. To my way of thinking luck about breaks even. I was never afraid of taking a chance, and as long as I was taking one I decided it was just as well to take a big one. Anyway, I always made up my mind I'd make good, and that if I didn't I would be the only one to lose. The thing that hurts most is to have others lose money that they have risked on your efforts. It never hurt me much to lose my own money. That's why I like to take my big chance alone.

after day to copy my style—why I felt pretty good about that," Dempsey continued. "And I want to tell you it takes a good puncher to beat Risko. Schmeling has class. He has youth. And he has the punch."

"Why," laughed Jack, when his mood lightened, "they might in time refer to me as the fellow, who once fought like Schmeling.

"You know, I'm always glad to give a young fighter a plug. But Schmeling don't need any plugs. He'll stir up the heavyweight business plenty."

DRAW TONIGHT FOR MIXED DOUBLES PLAY

With only the men's singles final completed, officials in charge of the fourth annual Los Angeles open tennis championships will meet tonight to make up the mixed doubles drawing and to arrange the definite schedule or date for the finals of the men's doubles and women's singles events yet unfinished.

Several outstanding mixed combinations will open play Sunday at Harvard and Sixty-second streets seeking the championship of the city. Among these Ellsworth Vines and Helen Marlowe, Southern California high school boy's and girl's singles champions, are expected to emerge the winners.

JUNIOR OLYMPIC PROGRAM DISCUSSED BY OFFICIALS

BY BRAVEN DYER

Expecting an even greater Junior Olympic Games program than last year, the Los Angeles municipal playgrounds officials held their first meeting yesterday in preparation for the 1929 program. All men directors of the playgrounds attended the gathering held at Echo Park Playground, and again familiarized themselves with the working plan for this huge athletic event which drew more than 25,000 competitors last year.

BOYD COMSTOCK

The playground and recreation department was officially represented by D. W. Lott, supervisor of municipal sports, and John C. Henderson, supervisor of playground activities.

Boyd Comstock, nationally famous track coach, was the principal speaker. He directed the Junior Olympics for Southern California last year and had a large part in the development of Johnny Falcon, national senior champion. Comstock will again direct the sports program this season.

Emphasizing the purpose of the meeting, which was to organize plans for the holding of the Junior Olympics and to standardize methods of conducting the games, Comstock talked on the latest developments in track and field. He also showed the directors the latest methods of coaching sprints, especially the seventy-five-yard dash, which is one of the Junior Olympics events.

"The Southern California Junior Olympics committee depends upon the playground department for their co-operation in putting across the Junior Olympic program, following the splendid way in which the department developed its young playground athletes in last year's competition," Comstock declared. That the Junior Olympic Games of 1929 would produce a much higher type of competition was the prophesy of the Los Angeles Athletic Club coach.

"This year's work should produce in Southern California not only the junior and senior national champions, as it did last year, but should also raise the general level of athletic ability of all the boys competing," he said. "The Southern California boys showed the best coaching of any in the nation in the final meet at Atlantic City, and this is a tribute to the work of local athletic directors who helped train boys for the various events."

D. W. Lott, who has charge of the playgrounds Olympics, analyzed last year's results and outlined plans for standardizing various events, with emphasis upon chinning the bar, this event showing the greatest need of standardization in 1928.

The meeting at Echo playground will be the first of a series of preparations which will lead up to the holding of the Junior Olympics Games this spring and summer. More boys than ever before are expected to enter the events, and all the present records should be broken when the final meet at Atlantic City has been held, sponsors of the games believe.

GIBBS MEETS LONG IN PASADENA BOUT

Charley Long and Jack Gibbs, middleweights, will be after more than the winner's share of the purse tomorrow night at Pasadena. The winner is to get a later date at the Arena against Jock Malone, it is announced by Manager Morrie Cohan. Each of these boys has fought Malone before. Long, in addition, twice defeated Bert Colima. Jack Haywood, Monrovia negro light heavy, will have Dynamite Dunn for his opponent in the six-round semifinal. Four-round bouts will be: Ewell Paul vs. Mike O'Conner, 150 pounds; Joe Robinson vs. Mike Lampinen, 175 pounds; Carman Smith vs. Ernie Kiltner, 160 pounds.

PORTLAND FIVE WINS TITLE

The basketball team of the Portland chapter of Aleph Zadik Aleph, National Jewish Fraternity, yesterday for the second time won the far-western tournament title by defeating the Stockton chapter quintet, 41 to 25. By its victory the Portland team will go to Memphis, Tenn., for the national title contests the 23rd, 24th and 25th inst.

DE HATE TO TAKE ON CARDOZA TONIGHT

Paul DeHate, rejuvenated Compton scrapper, anticipates little difficulty in defeating Joe Cardoza in tonight's ten-round feature event at Wilmington despite the fact that Cardoza recently scored an impressive victory over Bobby La Salle while the latter technically kayoed DeHate on two occasions several months back.

Frankie Boldt, rugged Long Beach 130-pounder, faces a newcomer, Joey Rivers, in the six-round semifinal while Bud Baker battles Al Smith in the six-round special. They are light-heavies. Two fours round out the supporting bill.

MORTENSON LEADS TROJANS

Jesse Mortensen, University of Southern California center, still holds high scoring honors this week on the Trojan basketball squad. Mortensen has scored an even 100 points in fourteen games. He has accounted for thirty-nine points in the five conference games. John Lehners, guard, is second in conference scoring with 22 points, while Aaron Nibley and Henry Cano, first-string forwards, are tied for third with 21 each.

LOUGHRAN WINNER OVER EMANUEL IN OLYMPIC GO

enabled him to hold his own in the latter part of the round.

The pace was fast from the opening bell—a gait that only heavyweights with the speed and skill of Loughran and Emanuel could follow. Left jabs and left hooks followed in rapid succession, first one boy and then the other taking the play.

They feinted and parried with all the superb skill of two crack duelists. Both landed and both missed. Both stabbed and both bobbed under the stabs. Both cracked resounding wallops and both were wild. Both dazzled and both won glory—in victory and defeat.

SKILLFUL DODGER

Emanuel displayed remarkable skill in ducking and blocking Loughran's best socks, and piled up many points with his clever offensive tactics.

Loughran brought the claret from Emanuel's nose in the third round with a constant stream of left jabs and exhibited a potent right hook to the head.

Loughran walked off with the first two rounds, but Emanuel grabbed the next two with straight lefts to the head and, ducking Loughran's short hooks, came up inside with solid swipes to the body.

The fifth was Loughran's with solid rights to the head, the sixth Emanuel's with left jabs to the face and the Jewish boy grabbed the seventh by virtue of the knockdown he scored.

Emanuel also had a slight shade in the eighth, but Loughran came out in the ninth to make up all lost ground and succeeded with a brilliant rally.

The tenth was savagely fought and brought Loughran the edge.

PIECE DE RESISTANCE

Loughran's hand was hoisted without a second's hesitation by Referee Roth, and then came the best scrap of the evening—just outside the ropes.

Joey Greenberg, one of Emanuel's seconds, reviled Roth and the latter retaliated with a beautiful sock in the eye. It was the only shiner of the evening.

Before the main event started Ace Hudkins was introduced, and after it was over his brother, Art, announced an offer of $75,000 to Loughran for a championship fight with the "Wildcat."

Loughran scaled 182 3-4 pounds and Emanuel 180.

The preliminaries resulted as follows:

Old Joe Lohman outsmarted and outgamed Tom Patrick in six rounds although Patrick several times had him dangerously hurt but appeared afraid to follow up his advantage.

right to the head and followed it with a left to the body. Emanuel's round.

ROUND FOUR

They circled around each other in the center of the ring and went into a clinch. Emanuel blocked Loughran's left to the body and then picked off a right with his elbow. Emanuel was ducking and blocking Loughran's punches cleverly. Emanuel sent in a couple of straight lefts to the head. Loughran hooked a left to the body and then they exchanged left hooks to the head. Coming out of a clinch Emanuel slammed a short right to the head and jabbed Tommy with a straight left. Loughran shot in two rights to the body and took a right to the head from Emanuel. Emanuel blocked another left hook and then side stepped one of Loughran's right swings to the head. Both were short with lefts to the head and just before the bell rang Loughran landed a hard right to the face. Emanuel's round.

ROUND FIVE

ROUND SIX

ROUND SEVEN

Emanuel jabbed Loughran with a left to the face. Both were short with lefts to the head. Loughran jabbed Armand with a left to the head. They exchanged lefts to the head. The gallery gods yelled for murder, and both sent in hard rights to the head. Emanuel shot over a right to the jaw and in a clinch they pummeled each other about the side. Loughran landed what appeared to be a low blow and he was cautioned by Referee Roth. Emanuel hooked a left to the head and ducked one of Loughran's right swings. They went into a clinch and as they came out Emanuel was short with a right to the head. Loughran hooked a right to Emanuel's head, but Armand came back with a hard right to the body. They exchanged lefts. Just before the close of the round Emanuel hooked a left to Loughran's jaw and Tommy sat down abruptly, but got up immediately. Emanuel's round.

ROUND EIGHT

ROUND NINE

ROUND TEN

Referee Roth made the boys shake hands and then Armand sent in two lightning lefts to the face. Loughran came back with four straight lefts to the head without a return. Armand blocked Loughran's right and in a clinch Emanuel sent in a hard right to the body. Tommy came back with a left to the face. Loughran hooked a left to the head and followed with another hook to the same spot. Loughran landed a right to Emanuel's head. Armand shot a right to the body and took one in return. Emanuel hooked a left to the face and Loughran jabbed Armand with a stiff left. Loughran missed a left hook to the head and Armand scored with a hard right to the head. They exchanged lefts and Emanuel blocked Loughran's left and then sent in a right and left to Tommy's head. Emanuel shot in a hard right to Loughran's head. Loughran's round.

Referee Abe Roth raised Loughran's hand.

BRUINS LABOR FOR HOOP TILT

ford series he was forced to use younger men to supplement the work of the veteran quintet, some of the substitutes playing very well. Carl Knowles, sophomore center; Erwin Piper and Carl Shy, junior forwards; Al Sunseri, reserve guard, and Frank Lubin, sophomore guard, all played excellent games defensively but poor offensively.

The Bruin regulars have fallen into a bad slump. Larry Wilde, Bill Woodroof, Capt. Balter and Dick Linthicum played like all-stars during the practice-game period, but none of them can hit it up now.

Hugo Leistner Joins L.A.A.C. Track Team

Hugo Leistner, former Stanford University and Olympic Club hurdler, expects to continue his cinder work this spring as a member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club track and field team.

The "Swede" has a mark of 14 3-5s. in the 120-yard hurdles, and has beaten 24s. for the 220-yard lows. He has been transferred to this territory from San Francisco, and yesterday signified his intention of joining the Mercury club for the national championships to be held at Denver in July. He would prove an ideal team-mate for Leighton Dye, another 14 3-5s. hurdler, in the high hurdles, and would fit in nicely with Ken Grumbles and Bob Maxwell in the lows. Both Grumbles and Maxwell are former national champions, and both have shaved 23s. flat for the furlong distance.

FRANCIS SEEKS KNOCKOUT IN HOLLYWOOD MAIN BOUT

Kid Francis, European bantamweight champion, is ready to show Hollywood Legion fans Friday night that he was stale when he dropped a decision to Earl Mastro a week ago at the Olympic. Word was passed on from the Francis camp that the Italian fighter is out to score a knockout over Clayton Gouyd whe nthey clash at Hollywood. Francis has had four fights here and up until he was nosed out by Mastro was considered unbeatable. Francis's handlers claim that the Kid was far from right in the Mastro fight, but that he has hit his stride again and his work Friday will show it.

Gouyd is a popular boy with Legion fans. His last fight with Speedy Dado had the bugs standing on the chairs. He is tough and willing and he may pull a surprise on the Italian star. They will battle ten rounds or less.

Charley Sullivan and Ray Montoya clash in the semi-wind-up. Some of the wiscacres are tabbing Sullivan already. They claim the Bakersfield Kid belongs in the main-event class. Montoya may change their minds about it Friday. Carmen Tuzzalino the former L.A.A.C. welterweight, goes to the post in the special event against Tony Bevo. Tuzzalino has been a decided success since he turned pro. He is one of the hardest-hitting welterweights on the Coast at the present time.

Run-up or Chip Played by Barnes

BY SOL METZGER

To play good golf that returns scores approximating par the linksman must be sound on all shots, for there is an interdependence between woods, irons and putters without which trouble is bound to come. One of the shots demanding mastery is the chip or run-up from just off the green. It is played for distances up to twenty yards much as a putt by such a master of it as Jim Barnes. Beyond that Jim pitches.

A jigger or light lofted iron is his preference, the loft being just sufficient to make the ball bounce over something like the first third of its journey. That reduces the calculations one has to make as to the stopping effect of the longer grass of the fairway. Most of its roll on turf thus occurs on the green, the speed of which is far more easily determined.

Barnes uses a narrow, square stance and plays this shot with his right hand, stroking the ball at the lowest point of the arc of the swing through. In this way the loft picks it clean. Do not take turf. The stunt is to keep the head down and stroke on through after contact in such a manner that the clubhead will follow on line after the ball. Visualize such a shot, after judging the line, by concentrating upon getting the ball dead to the cup. Keep in mind the picture of just where the cup is as you stroke. Tomorrow—how Roger Wethered changes his grip for a chip shot to play a short pitch over a hazard to the flag.

"LETTUCE" HAVE GOLF PRIZES

A. H. (Ollie) Painter yesterday announced that the qualifying round for the Vegetable and Produce Industries of Imperial Valley golf tournament will be played today and tomorrow at the Del Rio Country Club of Brawley. Match play is scheduled for the 8th, 9th and 10th inst. Elmer M. Sears, tournament chairman, has approximately $2000 in trophies. The money for prizes was raised in a novel way. Two carloads of lettuce, one from Brawley and one from El Centro were donated by lettuce-growing golf enthusiasts, and the proceeds from the sales were used for the purchase of prizes.

Volz Stars in Fremont Meet

The Juniors nosed out the Sophomore class in Fremont's annual novice interclass track and field meet on Richer Field yesterday. Nonletter men only were eligible to compete in this meet.

Carl Volz, erstwhile All-Minor City League fullback, won the 100-yard dash, copped the shot put, and placed fourth in the broad jump, to take the high-point honors with 11 digits.

Due to the slow field the only record broken was the 880-yard run, which was run in 2:12 and won by Simmons, a sophomore.

880-yard run—Won by Simmons (So.) Thomas (Jr.) second, Frost (So.) third, Pickering, fourth. Time, 2m. 12s.

100-yard dash—Won by Volz; Hahn, second; Camaniti, third; Walsh, fourth. Time, 10.6s.

220-yard dash—Won by Hahn; Caminiti, second; Kendall, third; Forbes, fourth. Time, 24s.

440-yard run—Won by Clark; Killeis, second; Magnuson, third; Hays, fourth. Time, 56s.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Proctor; Metz, second; Lockridge, third; Snyder, fourth. Time, 17.6s.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Glines; Stockton, second; Briggs, third; Jones, fourth. Time, 29.6.

Relay—Won by Juniors, time, 1m. 39s.

FIELD EVENTS

Shot put—Won by Volz; Gruwell, second; Dennis, third; O'Dowd, fourth. Distance, 43ft. 1in.

MERCURY FIVE COPS

The Los Angeles Athletic Club basketball team defeated the Pasadena Athletic Club by a 50-to-35 score last night. At half-time, the Mercury five led by a 25-to-20 tally.

TROJAN DIAMOND PLAYERS LAUNCH TRAINING TODAY

With a month of practice before the first game, the Trojan baseball team will get started today in its initial workout of the season. Coach Sam Crawford will find a lot of last season's regulars missing, but he has prospects of another representative club.

All four outfielders—Floyd Welch, Karl Kreiger, Johnny Von Aspe and "Swede" Johnson—will be back, but Ed Caballero, third-sacker, is the only member of last season's infield. Capt. Coney Galindo, Al Welch, Ferd Manlove, "Hoot" Gibson, catcher, and Ted Sahlberg, huge pitcher, have graduated.

"Bud" Gorman, who saw service at first last season, will probably get the call at the initial sack; Kreiger, who did some infield work in the Orient last season, probably will get the call at second; Caballero will be back at third, and Joe Ward, coming up from the frosh, doubtless will take over the backstopping job. Henry Grossman, Larry Diehl and Dick Schulz are the returning moundsmen, and Lowell Dryden is coming up from the freshmen.

The first league game will be with Santa Clara on Bovard Field, March 8.

Schaefer Wins Billiard Match

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. (AP)—Young Jake Schaefer, son of the old Jake, the "wizard of billiards," needed all his amazing ability tonight to defeat Felix Grange, French champion, in the round robin tournament for the world 18.2 balkline billiard title. Schaefer won 400 to 305.

Running up a high string of 158, Welker Cochran of Hollywood, Cal., defeated Eric Hagenlacher of Germany, 400 to 283, in the afternoon match. Cochran's high run in the eighteenth inning brought him within one carom of 400. He ran out in the next frame.

Not, When Daughter's Baby Can Hear

So Orders in Suit for Child's Custody

Mother Advised to Obtain Husband and Home

The practice of grandmothers [illegible] their young grandchildren [illegible] was frowned upon severely [illegible] Judge Gates yesterday [illegible] hearing on an order to show [illegible] why 18-months-old Robert [illegible] should not be removed [illegible] the custody of Mrs. Madenna [illegible]. Mrs. Schwartz lives with [illegible] mother, Mrs. Hattie Alma Sackrider, at 433 West Seventy-third [illegible].

[illegible] Schwartz recently obtained [illegible] divorce from Hans Schwartz, and [illegible] the custody of her infant. [illegible] father, however, was given [illegible] to visit his offspring on [illegible], and this, in effect, is his [illegible] of what took place:

[illegible] was considerably surprised to [illegible] little Robert tell me to go to— [illegible] that place where one isn't [illegible] to want to go. As I had [illegible] heard my mother-in-law em[illegible] that phrase, I naturally con[illegible] that my son, who is a bright [illegible], had picked up the habit of [illegible] from Mrs. Sackrider. I [illegible] think a household where such [illegible] is used is the proper place [illegible] an innocent child."

[illegible] Attorney S. S. Hahn, rep[illegible] Mrs. Schwartz, put Mrs. [illegible] on the stand. Mrs. Sackrider replied about like this:

[illegible] may have got peeved a little [illegible] out a crack or two, but [illegible] used such language as has [illegible] described. The whole trouble [illegible] my divorced daughter-in-law, [illegible] around and spreads ex[illegible] stories of what takes [illegible] at my home."

[illegible] Gates pondered the mat[illegible] and decreed:

[illegible] the order of the court issue [illegible] Mrs. Sackrider shall not use [illegible] language in the presence [illegible] this child, if she ever uses any [illegible] language. It also is the opin[illegible] of this court that the aforesaid [illegible]-in-law should get mar[illegible] again and make a home of [illegible] own instead of interfering with [illegible] home of her relatives. The [illegible] will remain with its mother [illegible] further notice."

[illegible] of riding academies to exist [illegible] North Hollywood was referred [illegible] the City Attorney for an opinion [illegible] the Police Commission yesterday [illegible] the result of the rumpus caused [illegible] application of Cushman and Tag[illegible] to maintain a stable for riding [illegible] at 4101 Whitsett avenue, near [illegible] Boulevard.

Cushman and Taggart claim a 51 [illegible] cent majority of signatures in [illegible] of the stable, already con[illegible], but property owners in the [illegible] object to its presence on the [illegible] it is reducing the value of [illegible] property and that the claim of [illegible] majority of the signatures is not [illegible].

Permits for the other academies [illegible] granted after the City Plan[illegible] Commission and the City [illegible] had exempted the area [illegible] zoning restrictions. Oppo[illegible] of the Cushman-and-Taggart [illegible] contend these permits are in[illegible] under the last "horse ordi[illegible]," passed in 1908.

Deputy Prosecutor Krowl read the [illegible] of the ordinance relating to [illegible] signatures necessary for permits [illegible] though zoning restrictions had [illegible] removed. The Police Commis[illegible] became confused over whether [illegible] ordinance meant a majority of [illegible] or a majority of acreage in [illegible] signatures.

Should the meaning of the ordi[illegible] be construed as signatures [illegible] acreage owners it is contended [illegible] none of the academies has suf[illegible] signatures to be given a po[illegible] permit.

MRS. GIBSON TELLS JUDGE OF BREAK-UP

Actor Declared to Have Deserted Home Without Apparent Reason

When Hoot Gibson, western film actor, galloped out of his wife's life, he had no reason for doing so, Mrs. Helen Gibson deposed in Superior Judge Sproul's court yesterday.

By direction of her attorney, E. A. Adams, Mrs. Gibson testified that her husband's name was Edmund R. Gibson, that they had been married seven years, and that she was always a kind, loving and affectionate wife.

Then, suddenly, came the break-up.

Gibson departed, but left behind a property settlement which left Mrs. Gibson $30,000 in cash, $150 a week, some valuable city property, and an expensive automobile. Mrs. Gibson also has custody of her 5-year-old daughter, Lois, who was made the beneficiary of a $100,000 policy on her father's life, premiums to be paid by Gibson.

One witness testified that she and Mrs. Gibson had asked the defendant to return home after he left, but that he had only hooted at the suggestion and had continued to live alone.

ACTRESS HAS WOES OVER FILM FAINTS

Seven in One Picture Too Much, Says Jetta Goudal, So Number Was Cut

No matter what Cecil B. De Mille, motion-picture producer, or his directors say about Jetta Goudal, film actress, and her artistic temperament, they cannot accuse her of parading a large display of fine gowns, hats and jewelry while in court.

For, during the five days Miss Goudal has been in court before Superior Judge Yankwich with her counsel, W. I. Gilbert, endeavoring to collect $101,000 from the De Mille Pictures Corporation, now Pathe, for back salary she asserts is due her on a contract, she has appeared in the same costume each day.

Miss Goudal's costume is made up of a dark gray cravenette suit, which hangs considerably below her knees, a white vest, a modest black velvet hat, tan stockings and black velvet shoes.

From under the back rim of the actress's hat hangs a small roll of jet black hair, for Miss Goudal has refused to bob her hair. She also refuses to remove her hat during court sessions.

Testifying in rebuttal as to one picture in which she took a prominent role, she declared:

"Theenk of eet, they had me faint seven times in eet. I told Mr. De Mille eet would never do. Once was enough."

Miss Goudal then went on to describe how the picture was changed at her suggestion and she was required to faint only once.

Another picture didn't end right to suit her.

"I believe one cannot end a picture without a laugh or a tear to make eet a good box-office production," the actress declared. "Thees one didn't end with either—eet was—what must I say—flat."

At the close of the session yesterday there were no arguments and Judge Yankwich took his decision under advisement.

Loving Letters Stir Wife's Ire

When Mrs. Odessa Allen saw an item of $50 for a manicure set on her department-store bill she investigated. When she found the order was signed by her husband, C. Edward Allen, she forthwith went through his pockets.

Mrs. Allen swears in her divorce petition filed yesterday that she found a letter signed "lovingly yours, Effie." Another letter closed with the assurance that the writer was "yours till the tulips kiss."

Mrs. Allen asserts further that her husband hit her in the eye and that as a result she may lose her sight.

(Illustration on Picture Page)

Bravery of Officer John M. Brinnegar, killed September 29, 1928, in a gun battle with William F. Beard in Sawtelle, was publicly lauded by President Schweitzer of the Police Commission yesterday, when Mrs. Clara Brinnegar, widow of the officer, of 1248 West Seventy-eighth street, was presented with the medal of valor awarded posthumously to the officer.

The presentation took place in the assembly room of the Police Commission in the City Hall, the other commissioners, Chief Davis, all assistant chiefs, deputy chiefs and captains of divisions being present in uniform.

"It is my duty at this time," said President Schweitzer, in making the presentation to Mrs. Brinnegar, "to cite a few of the facts of the heroic death of Officer John C. Brinnegar, whose duty it was to preserve the law, who lost his life but not until he had killed the criminal after he himself was mortally wounded.

"Such an exhibition of valor is the kind of thing we continually expect of our officers. The men of the department feel his loss keenly and as I pin this on you I ask God to bless and keep you, notwithstanding the loss of one who was your partner in life."

DRUG-STORE BANDIT HELD IN FLORIDA

Crime of Six Years Ago Recalled by Arrest of Long Hunted Fugitive

Police in Miami, Fla., wired Chief Davis yesterday that they had in custody Morris Moll, 28 years of age, one of the four men implicated in the robbery of David Antick, auditor for the Sun Drug Company, on May 21, 1923.

One of the quartet, Elmer Dowdy, known as the Pajama Kid, was captured and convicted. Moll and Abe Frank, both shot by Antick in the gun battle which followed the robbery, and Charles Westerman were never apprehended. The bandits obtained a bag containing $15,000.

Action was taken to start extradition proceedings, which will involve an attempt to prove that Moll has been out of California since the robbery, so he cannot be brought back here to stand trial. Failure to show this will enable Moll to escape under the statute of limitations, it is stated. Detective Lieutenant Carney of the police robbery squad has been detailed to make the investigation.

Federal authorities also may attempt to take Moll into custody for the fatal shooting of Burton Stevens in St. Paul, Minn.

HIGHER REGARD FOR JAPAN SEEN

Kobe College Official Here After Speaking Tour

Dr. MacCausland Finds Finer Spirit in America Now

Fund Being Sought Here to Aid Women's School

DR. ISABELLE MacCAUSLAND

Growing interest and friendly regard among Americans for the Japanese people have been the most marked impressions resulting from a thirteen-months' speaking tour of the United States, said Dr. Isabelle MacCausland, head of the social science department of Kobe College, Kobe, Japan, on her arrival at the Women's Athletic Club yesterday for a two-weeks' stay here.

"Three years ago," said Dr. MacCausland, "I was in this country speaking for the college and on Japanese relations, and since that time the change in the American attitude toward the Japanese is most amazing. On the other hand, Japan looks on America as her big brother and is more than anxious to absorb the best we can give her. Although they are still deeply grieved over the Exclusion Act never in my experience with them have I encountered a revengeful attitude and their efforts to become westernized show that their feelings are friendly."

FUND BEING RAISED

Dr. MacCausland is in this country primarily in the interest of the Kobe College $1,000,000 building fund. Because of the great growth of Kobe it will be necessary for the college to move from its present site in 1932 and already Japan has furnished the organization with a new building site and an endowment of $300,000. She hopes to find a real interest in California for the college, in order that there may be a California building in the new group as an evidence of friendship.

Kobe College, she believes, is a concrete example of international co-operation. Established fifty-three years ago and the oldest school for women in Japan, it was begun with money contributed both by America and Japan, and ever since it has been operating under a joint board of Americans and Japanese. Its faculty, she said, is made up of sixty Japanese teachers and eight Americans, it has a student body of 688 girls and it is the only college in Japan which is training Korean girls to go back to their own country to teach.

GREAT NEED FOUND

Dr. MacCausland went to Japan in 1920 for a visit and was so impressed with the need for social service work there that she has been there ever since, with the exception of some time spent in England studying economic, industrial and governmental conditions, which, she says, so closely parallel those in Japan.

During her stay in Los Angeles she is co-operating with the Southern California expansion campaign committee in its efforts to raise its quota of $35,000 toward the $700,000 fund being sought in the United States. She was greeted at luncheon at the club yesterday by members of the committee and sponsors. While here she will make several radio addresses and talks in many of the cities of Southern California.

SUSPECTED KIDNAPER IN REFUTATION

Man Arrested in Cowan Girl Case Says She Was Not Detained Forcibly

Arrested last night charged with suspicion of kidnaping, Frank H. Brown, 22 years of age, of 5215 South Gramercy street, denied that he used intimidation in holding Leona J. Cowan, 20, of 742 North June street, Hollywood. The girl, who returned to her home Monday night, insisted that Brown intimidated and beat her during the time he kept her in his company Monday afternoon and evening. Her story differed materially from the one related by C. W. Seachrist, another admirer from whose side she was taken.

Miss Cowan said she was marketing in a butcher shop when Brown pushed her into his car and took the wheel. Seachrist ran to get in beside the driver, who drove off. She insisted that Brown slapped her whenever she cried for help. He drove to a fraternity house and went indoors to get an overcoat. First, she asserted, he tied her to the steering wheel with a scarf. Later, she related, he forced her to telephone her mother that she was all right. Later he bound her and went to sleep, she continued. While he was asleep she slipped away.

Brown admits dragging her into his car. After that, he asserted, she accompanied him willingly. He announced he had to sleep, and drove to the Kappa Gamma Sigma Fraternity house, 5212 South Gramercy street. There, he said, the girl sat in the living-room, reading magazines from 8 until 11 p.m., when she awakened him. He went back to sleep and she disappeared, he added. The fraternity house manager corroborated this part of his story.

WATER AND POWER SERIES ........ NUMBER ONE

WATER

AN INDIAN WOMAN with an earthen jar balanced upon her head constituted the original water distributing system in the pueblo of Los Angeles.

The Indian water carrier was the first civic functionary selected by the eleven families who established the tiny settlement in 1781. Her source of supply was an irrigation ditch that diverted a meager stream of water from the Los Angeles River.

In this same ditch the early settlers placed a crude water wheel, and thus secured sufficient power to operate a small flour mill. The mill wheel was the pueblo's first source of mechanical power.

Ever since those distant days, the growth—the very life—of Los Angeles has depended upon the maintenance of adequate supplies of water and power.

It is a far cry from the Indian water carrier and the old mill wheel to the gigantic water and power system now owned and operated by the City of Los Angeles.

Today the Department of Water and Power serves water to the people of Los Angeles through more than 3,300 miles of distributing mains. Today this department, operating the largest municipally-owned electric system in the nation, flashes power and light to Los Angeles homes and factories over ten thousand miles of lines and cables.

....The Department of Water and Power is owned by all of the citizens of Los Angeles and is dedicated to the service of its owners.

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

CROSSED EYES IN CHILDREN

The subject of crossed eyes is receiving more attention today because of the increasing number of such cases. There are so many angles to this type of defect that only one will be discussed in this article, that of crossed eyes in children, because the child's problem is by far the greatest of those suffering from the distressing effect of crossed eyes.

In order to understand the abnormal conditions under which the eyes are forced to work, we must first know something about the normal way eyes function. In brief, let us consider the act of seeing with both eyes at the same time, this being termed single binocular vision. We have two eyes and each eye has a separate "picture" of external objects. Suppose we look at a tree—each eye has its own "picture"—but we only see one tree and not two. It is necessary for some agency to join the two pictures so that we only see one. This agency is called the fusion sense. Without it we could not judge depth or distance (stereoscopic vision.) Without this fusion ability we could not hope to control the movements of our eyes. This fact is readily observed in babies whose eyes wander in any direction. The fusion sense does not usually reach its fullest development until the child is 6 years of age, and it is in this six years' period that most cases of crossed eyes occur. Fortunately, it is just this very type of case that offers the best field for correction.

Before the fusion sense in the brain can join the two pictures (one for each eye) and make one there must be similarity of focus; in other words, both eyes must see with equal clearness. If there is a high optical defect in either or both eyes, this similarity of the two pictures is impossible, and the brain is confused in its desire to "fuse" and see one object clearly. The vision in the most defective eye is then "suppressed mentally," that is, the blurred picture is disregarded and the attention directed to the clearer one. Thus freed of the seeing instinct, the poorer eye is allowed to turn in the direction of the pull of the dominant muscle—usually inward toward the nose. If the optical error is high, and about the same in each eye, the "crossing" is more apt to be alternating, that is, first one eye turns in and then the other.

Sometimes parents do not know of this predisposing cause of "crossed eyes" until the eyes have deviated; this points to the need for an early survey under the competent refractionist of the visual conditions of the eyes of children.

A child whose eyes cross in early life suffers a very heavy handicap. Not only is such a child an object of ridicule by other children, but unless the case is taken in hand early enough, serious damage will be done. No one would desire to go through life crossed-eyed because of the disfigurement, but this is not the greatest hardship inflicted upon anyone whose eyes are allowed to stay crossed from childhood. As a rule the vision in the eye that turns is very much below normal and if the good eye should be injured or the sight destroyed, then the person would be, in some cases, totally blind.

The common idea that crossed eyes in children can only be cured by surgical operation is both dangerous and incorrect. The most "successful operation" can only accomplish one good effect—that of having the eyes straight, but without the ability to see at the same time. In other words, in a case of this kind the person is actually "one-eyed," his vision alternating from one eye to the other, if he is fortunate in having equal vision in the two eyes.

The success in curing crossed eyes without an operation will depend entirely upon getting the child young enough so as to begin education of the brain centers governing vision.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
KIDNEY STONES AND OXALIC ACID

Question: Interested Reader writes: "Please explain the difference, if any, between kidney stones and gravel stones. What is the cause of their formation and what should a person subject to kidney attacks do?"

Answer: Kidney stones and renal gravel are caused by the same condition. There is usually a lowered alkalinity of the blood and possibly an excess of oxalic acid in the diet. Avoid the following foods: Rhubarb, sorrel, tea, coffee, pepper, chocolate, spinach and cranberries. No other foods contain sufficient oxalic acid to be injurious. Oxalic acid can only accumulate when the metabolism of the body is faulty.

STINGING TONGUE

Q.: Reader: "I have been troubled with my tongue for a long time, with a stinging feeling. It is getting on my nerves so I can't stand it. I have tried the best doctors in Montreal and in Buffalo, and they can't help me, so they told me to write to you."

A.: There may be a number of causes for the stinging sensation of your tongue. I appreciate the expression of confidence from your doctors and if you will send me their diagnosis of your case I will be very pleased to give you my advice.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb suckling, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

SOME UNSABLES SUGGESTIONS FROM OUR READERS

Mrs. M. S. writes: "I read your column daily but have never noticed any reference to washing baby's hair. She used to have crying spells whenever I washed her hair. Now I give her water toys to play with and while she is interested pour clean water from a glass over her head and then soap it. I rinse it in a like manner and she hardly notices me doing it. Then I warm two wash rags and rub her head dry while she is still playing in the water. She never cries about this as she used to."

Answer: The chief reason children cry is that they usually draw in their breath when water is poured over their heads and thus draw some of the water up their noses or get soap in their eyes. Now no one enjoys soap in his eyes so one way to avoid making a child irritated by this hair washing is to manage in some way so the water isn't poured over the child's face. Letting the child lean backward and pouring the water carefully so that it touches the forehead and runs backward instead of forward is another way of doing it. Another is to use a celluloid eye shade, made to fit the child's forehead and thus protect the child from getting the soapy water on her face or in her eyes. If mothers are tactful they use every method of making the bath pleasant since it is an everyday event and let the child enjoy instead of fight against it. Tub toys are a real help with children who dislike the bath.

THE EARLY MORNING FEEDING

Mrs. C. C. McF. suggests: "I dreaded the 6 o'clock morning feeding after the baby was weaned because at that time the house was cold, the baby was fretful and it took so long to heat the water and warm the milk. Now before I go to bed, I fill a quart thermos bottle with boiling water. Then in the morning I simply empty the water (and it is still piping hot) into a vessel and stand the bottle of milk in it, and in three minutes everything is ready and baby is happy. Perhaps other mothers have used this method but no one told me, and I found it such a wonderful help that I want to pass it on."

A.: It is a very good idea. Early morning feeding periods are pretty disagreeable and drab events on cold winter mornings. Just be sure to use only water in the thermos bottle, though, for keeping milk hot all night is one way of hurrying it to the point of souring, as all good housewives know.

CLASS OF Y.M.C.A. WILL BE SHIFTED

Other Institutions to Get Various Courses as Men's Agency Plans Social Aid

Announcing the transfer of the classroom activities of the Los Angeles Young Men's Christian Association to other educational agencies in the community, General Secretary Harry F. Henderson yesterday cited plans for increasing social and counseling service for men and boys.

The suspension of formal classwork by the Y.M.C.A. comes after the organization had contributed for thirty-five years to educational service in this city.

To the University of the West are transferred the "Y" classes in all subjects except public speaking, radio and commercial art. The latter groups will continue to be quartered in the central "Y" building, although operated by their respective instructors.

The transfer will add to the curriculum of the University of the West courses in chemistry, assaying, drafting, speedwriting and elevator operating, in addition to increasing the enrollment and faculty in the commercial department of that institution. President A. Guard Hill of the university said yesterday the policies in effect under Y.M.C.A. control of the classes will be retained.

Discussing the future plans of the Y.M.C.A., Henderson outlined an enlarged life-guidance and counseling service to be directed by J. Gustav White.

DR. LeROY CRUMMER TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Dr. LeRoy Crummer, professor of medicine at the University of Nebraska medical school and a national authority on the history of medicine, will be the speaker at the first public assembly to be given under the auspices of the school of medicine of the University of Southern California next Tuesday at Bovard Auditorium. The lecture will be open to the public.

Dr. Crummer is a graduate of the University of Michigan and of the Northwestern University medical school and has carried on graduate studies in Vienna, Zurich and London.

TEXANS MEET FRIDAY

All Texans are included in the call to meet Friday evening in the hall at 1137 South Hope street. President Lyston S. Black will offer a program and dancing.

CHEF WYMAN'S Suggestions For TOMORROW'S MENU

Every Tuesday and Friday at 1:30 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

Breakfast

Apple Sauce With Raisins
Coddled Eggs

Milk Coffee

Luncheon

Ham Timbales With Brussels Sprouts
Sliced Tomatoes, French Dressing
Molded Fig Custard
Tea

Dinner

Vegetable Consomme
Radishes
Sirloin Filet of Beef, Roasted
Browned Potatoes, Spinach and Mushrooms
Beet and Egg Salad
English Pineapple Pie
Coffee

HAM TIMBALES WITH BRUSSELS SPROUTS

Beat two eggs until light and creamy, add one finely chopped cupful of cold cooked ham, one-fourth of a cupful of fine bread crumbs, a seasoning of salt, paprika and thyme. Add one and one-half cupfuls of milk, mix thoroughly; turn into molds that have been well oiled, and garnish with capers and cold sliced hard boiled eggs. Place in a baking pan, surround with boiling water and bake until firm. Unmold on a hot dish, surround with Brussels sprouts that have been cooked, seasoned with butter, salt and pepper and a cream sauce poured over them. Garnish with branches of parsley.

MOLDED FIG CUSTARD

Dissolve one tablespoonful of gelatine in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, place in a sauce pan one cupful of milk, bring to a boil; stir in the gelatine and stir until dissolved; soak one pound of figs in sufficient water to cover until soft. Split each one in two, dip into the dissolved gelatine, and line the sides of a mold with the figs. Make a soft custard of the rest of the milk and three whole eggs and one-half a cupful of sugar; when well thickened, pour this into the fig lined molds, place in the refrigerator and allow to set. Remove from the molds, garnish each one with a red jelly and serve with cream.

ENGLISH PINEAPPLE PIE

Drain the juice from a two-pound can of sliced pineapple, heat, mix with it three-quarters of a cupful of sugar, that has been mixed with three tablespoonfuls of flour, add two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and stir until the mixture thickens, beat the yolks of two eggs and pour slowly into the hot mixture, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and five slices of pineapple that have been cut in small pieces. Pour into a baked pie shell, beat the whites of the eggs stiff, add to them gradually one-fourth of a cupful of sugar, beat stiff and dry, spread on the pie and brown in a very moderate oven.

SIRLOIN FILET OF BEEF, ROASTED

Take a filet of beef, cut strips of fat salt pork one-eighth of an inch thick and tie around it spacing equally; sprinkle the filets with salt and paprika, and dredge well with flour. Place in a baking pan, allow to sear, then cover and roast in a hot oven for one hour.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Tuesday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

J. H. Everett's Funeral Service Will Be Today

Funeral services for Joseph Henry Everett, former New York financier, who died on the 3rd inst. at his home in Van Nuys at 14406 Magnolia Boulevard, will be conducted today at 10 a.m. at the Grand View Mausoleum Chapel in Glendale, with interment following in a crypt of the mausoleum.

Mr. Everett, who was 64 years of age, had been in poor health for the past seven years as a result of an injury sustained in a fall, and during most of those years had spent his time traveling in an effort to regain his health. He formerly had been a prominent figure in the financial world of New York and at one time owned a seat on the Stock Exchange there. He was a personal friend of Vice-President Dawes and of John D. Rockefeller. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Annie Everett.

BADGERS PLAN PICNIC

Wisconsinites will meet in Sycamore Grove Park for the annual winter reunion Saturday. A program will follow the basket dinner hour.

Dentist's Wife Given Divorce

J. Ross Moore, dentist, was accused of acts of cruelty by his wife, Mrs. Rosemarie Moore, testifying at the hearing on her petition for divorce held yesterday before Superior Judge Price. At the close of the hearing she was granted a decree. A property settlement between the couple was approved by the court.

The couple, according to the wife's petition, married at Grand Island, Neb., August 6, 1917.

LIGHT PROTESTS DENIED

Protests against the ordinance of intention for the installation of lighting appliances on Third street between Vermont and Western avenues were denied yesterday by the City Council, thus allowing adoption of the final ordinance. The Council continued the hearing on protests against the installation of lighting appliances on Verdugo Road between Valley Vista Drive and Fletcher Drive to the 19th inst.

LUNCHEON TENDERED TO BRIDE

Seventy-five Invited to Bridge Party

[Boye studios]

Miss Eleanor Donau

ONE of the lovely postnuptial affairs of the week was the luncheon and bridge with which Miss Eleanor Donau and Miss Virginia Donau entertained Monday afternoon at the Women's Athletic Club in honor of Mrs. Nicholas McCarty, Harrison, Jr. (Virginia Seeley,) one of the popular brides of the season.

The affair took place in the garden dining-room and covers were arranged for seventy-five guests, the table being abloom with a profusion of fragrant spring blossoms and ferns, with pink predominating in the color scheme.

Miss Eleanor Donau was one of the members of the bridal party at the Seeley-Harrison wedding last September.

rately celebrated by the woman's committee of the Philharmonic Orchestra with a luncheon in the music room of the Biltmore, large groups of society women and musicians planning to attend. No invitations are issued and anyone interested is invited to be present. A number of hostesses are taking advantage of the occasion to entertain, a partial list including Miss Jean Hill, Mrs. Sloan Orcutt, Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, Mrs. Harvey S. Mudd, Mrs. C. Hunter Miller, Mrs. M. E. Canyon and Mrs. Edward S. Garner.

John L. Dyer, Lawyer, Dies

John Lafayette Dyer, chief counsel of the Globe Milling Company, who lived at 422 South Kenmore avenue, died yesterday at the Queen of Angels Hospital. Pneumonia was the immediate cause of death. Burial services will be conducted Saturday in El Paso, Tex., where for twenty-five years Mr. Dyer was a leader of the bar.

He was born in Waco, Tex., in 1873. After graduating from the law school of Bailey University, he moved to El Paso in 1897. He was chairman of the board of directors of the Texas Bar Association in 1913 and 1914, and was vice-president of the association in 1915. He also was a member of the American Bar Association. In 1925 he moved to Los Angeles.

A short service will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at the home here. Mr. Dyer leaves a wife, three sisters, Mrs. Esther Kayser, El Paso; Mrs. D. E. McGlasson of Waco, Mrs. C. S. Greenwood of Dallas, and a brother, F. H. Dyer, of Waco.

FATHER AND SON HELD FOR ROBBERY TRIAL

Jacob Prettyman, 63 years of age, and his son, Delbert Prettyman, 22, were ordered held for trial by Superior Court on charges of robbery by Municipal Judge Sheldon yesterday. Bail was fixed at $3000 for Delbert Prettyman and $500 for his father. The two men, who reside in Claremont, were identified by W. B. Love, grocery clerk, as those who held him up while making a delivery at Fourth and Oxford streets January 29, last, and robbed him of $24.

SERVANT LEAVES $4000

For twenty years Edith Luedtke was a servant in the home of H. W. Keller, local business man. Then Miss Luedtke died. Yesterday Superior Judge Archbald appointed Keller to perform a last service for the dead woman; that of administering her estate. She left $4000 to her two sisters. The estate was represented by Attorney David H. Paries.

Aerial Traffic Here Increases

Figures made public by Maddux Air Lines Company yesterday show a marked increase in the public demand for air transportation. During 1928, according to the report, the company carried 11,806 paid passengers, of whom 7815, or 67 per cent, were carried during the last six months of the year.

Maddux ships registered 3,145,685 passenger miles, of which 2,788,450, or 88 per cent, were run on scheduled trips and 68 per cent of these passenger miles were made in the last half of the year. A total of 434,814 miles were covered by Maddux ships during the year, of which 290,820, or 67 per cent, were traveled during the last six months, the report states, while revenues from scheduled passenger service in December, 1928, were 2.73 times the revenues from similar service in January, 1928.

MARKER FUND ASKED

Repainting the center line of Beverly Boulevard with a strip of white, requested by the Board of Public Works of the Police Commission, was referred to the City Council for an appropriation yesterday by the commission, at request of Chief Davis, who explained that an appropriation of $3600 is necessary to paint the strip, from the limits of Beverly Hills to the Malibu Road, four times a year.

VENICE PLANS SOUGHT

A request for preparation of tentative plans for a new police station and jail at Venice, on the site of the beach city's old municipal structure, was presented by the Police Commission yesterday to the city's construction department. Following preparation of the plans, transfer of funds for construction of the building will be presented to the Council.

MARCO SOBS DENIALS IN JAIL QUIZ

Police Question So-Called Vice Lord on How Gun Came to Prisoners

Under questioning by Assistant Chief Deputy District Attorney Jordan yesterday, Albert Marco, convicted underworld character, tearfully denied that he knew anything concerning delivery in the County Jail of a gun with which two life-term convicts attempted an escape January 21, last.

Jordan, with Undersheriff Biscailuz conducted the inquiry with Marco on reports that the so-called vice lord had knowledge of the weapon being passed about behind the bars. After yesterday's investigation the authorities were no nearer the solution of the gun mystery, they said.

Today Jordan and Biscailuz propose to talk again to Miss Kay Perry, said to be the fiancee of Robert Hayes, a life-termer, who was manacled to Jack Hawkins, another convict, when the latter began shooting in a jail elevator and was killed by deputy sheriffs.

Co-eds Surprise Australian Boys

Surprised by the appearance of co-eds on a college campus, 159 visiting Australian students were entertained at the University of Southern California yesterday. The Australians, who range in age from 11 to 19 years, represent sixty-five colleges and prep schools, none being co-educational. Their eight-day stay in Los Angeles ended when they left for the Grand Canyon on a special train at 6 p.m. yesterday.

The visitors are members of the Young Australia League and are on a seven months' tour of the United States. Their trips in Los Angeles were sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. They were entertained on the campus and at a buffet luncheon yesterday, at which Bob Behlow, president of the Associated Students of S. C., and Dr. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, president of the university, welcomed them.

CHARGES DISMISSED AGAINST LAW STUDENT

Charges of petty theft against Ernest Clayton Matlock, youthful law student, filed by Mrs. Helen Rogers, were ordered dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Sheldon at the request of the complaining witness. Matlock recently was acquitted by a jury on two counts of petty theft and was to be tried on a third count yesterday. Mrs. Rogers, the mother of Mrs. Frank Borzage, declared she did not intend to appear as a witness against Matlock, whom Nathan O. Freedman, his attorney, maintained she had planned to marry. Freedman said the articles which Matlock was charged with stealing were given him by Mrs. Rogers, who filed the theft charges after the youth had changed his mind and married a classmate, Dorothy Leeman.

ACTION AGAIN DELAYED ON TWO STREET JOBS

Action on two street improvements which have been hanging fire for a long time again was put off by the City Council yesterday. Hearing of protests against the confirmation of assessments for the improvement of Park avenue between Glendale and Sunset boulevards was put off to the 13th inst., while an effort will be made to draw up some plan of procedure which will satisfy the views of conflicting property owners. Protests against the ordinance of intention covering nine miles of street work in the Webb-street and Bradford-avenue improvement district will be heard again by the Council on the 13th inst. Meanwhile the Council has instructed the City Engineer to submit records to show whether the entire improvement program as outlined in the ordinance was instituted by majority petitions.

HUSBAND DIVORCES SKATING RINK ADDICT

Paul W. Poulsen left money with his wife, Jean E. Poulsen, to buy groceries, and instead she spent the money at a skating rink, the husband testified yesterday before Superior Judge Stutsman, who granted him a divorce. Poulsen also complained that his wife was away from home frequently when he returned from work and he had to go out for his meals. They married at Tia Juana, Mex., October 11, 1927.

"Yeast purifies and stimulates the intestines"

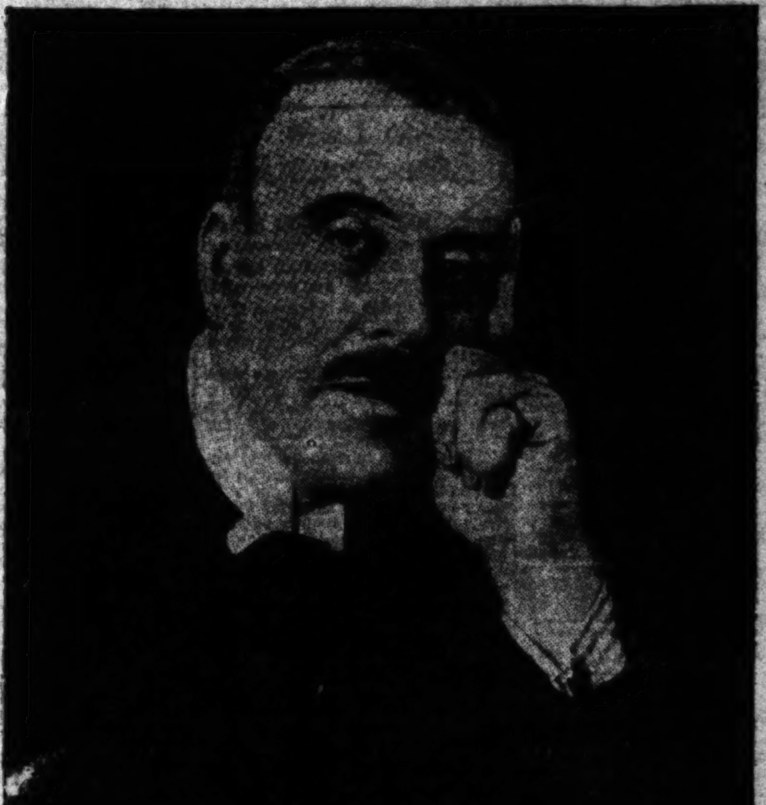
Dr. L. F. R. Knuthsen—eminent British skin specialist; Fellow of The Royal Society of Medicine; for twenty years physician to one of London's leading skin hospitals; holder of degrees from the Universities of Paris, Berlin and Vienna.



Dr. L. F. R. Knuthsen

"IN DERMATOLOGY, in which I specialize, I have been using yeast for years.

"Its simplicity, its purifying or anti-putrefactive power, its ability to stimulate the intestinal movements—these, together with its Vitamin B content, make it therapeutically of great value.

"In my opinion, it should be used to an even greater extent than it is at present."

L. F. R. Knuthsen

IN advocating yeast for health Dr. Knuthsen adds the weight of his specialized knowledge to the verdict of many famous doctors throughout the world.

This verdict is: If you keep the intestinal tract clean and active you have found the key to health and beauty. The best way to keep this tract clean is with fresh yeast.

All those who suffer from constipation and the bad skin, bad breath, colds, headaches, sore throat, and "nerves" which it causes, should follow Dr. Knuthsen's advice.

The safe, easy way to a healthy body and blooming, rosy skin is through the daily use of this simple food—fresh yeast—Fleischmann's Yeast.

Unlike dried or killed yeast, Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh, containing millions of living, active yeast plants. As they pass daily through your intestinal tract they combat harmful poisons, purify the system.

FROM THROAT TO COLON is one continuous tube. Here 90% of our ailments start, doctors say, and here yeast works to combat poisons in a clogged intestine. For blooming cheeks and real health, keep this entire tract clean, active and healthy with Fleischmann's Yeast.

Thousands of men, women and children have eaten Fleischmann's Yeast and been benefited. In a recent survey covering the whole of the United States, half the doctors who reported said they prescribed yeast for constipation and its attendant ailments.

Eat three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast daily, one before or between meals, plain or in water, cold or hot (not scalding). To get full benefit you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time. Sold by all grocers and many leading cafeterias, lunch counters and soda fountains. Buy 2 or 3 days' supply at a time as it will keep in a cool dry place. Start today.

ASK TO BE PART OF ALHAMBRA

Wilmar and Monterey Park Wish to Annex

Rumor Says San Gabriel is Next in Line

Council Defers Action for Investigation

ALHAMBRA, Feb. 5.—It was annexation day in the Council room of the City Hall today and visions of a greater Alhambra were in evidence. From both Wilmar and Monterey Park came formal requests asking for the City Commission's sanction to the circulation of petitions of annexation to Alhambra in these communities and there was also a well-defined rumor that at the next meeting of the Council a similar request would be submitted from San Gabriel.

Citizens of Wilmar a few days ago filed a letter with the City Clerk asking for annexation petition permission. The request from Monterey Park was not filed until today and came as a surprise. Signing the document were H. M. Brown, A. Blanchard, George A. Downing, Mel Lloynd, Harry Galbraith, John E. Ackley, Lawrence Mills and Arthur P. Hansen.

Before the city officials of Alhambra act on the requests from the two adjoining communities, a study will be made of the bonded indebtedness each area would assume in the event of annexation to this city. A decision will be reached at a special meeting Friday.

Residents of Wilmar will hold a public meeting on the 11th inst., when both sides of the annexation question will be discussed. Opponents of annexation in Wilmar are advocating incorporating the district, Wilmar now being county territory, with about 5000 population.

At a Wilmar Chamber of Commerce meeting last night it was decided that the directors make a careful investigation of the matter and report to the membership in the near future. "The board of directors should follow the policy instituted in the past of taking no action until the best interests of the greatest number of Wilmar citizens has been determined," declared W. C. Gorman, one of the directors.

City officials in Monterey Park expressed antagonism toward the annexation to Alhambra movement. Members of the City Council were outspoken in their opposition to the plan. Mayor H. U. Sherwood said that he did not think the people of Monterey Park would favor annexation to Alhambra at this time, particularly in view of the developments now under way in the southern part of the city.

Two Sentenced for Failure to Support Minors

VENTURA, Feb. 5.—For the first time in many years in the Superior Court of Ventura county two fathers have been given jail sentences for failure to provide for minor children. Judge Edward Henderson has sentenced August Larsen and Arthur Stafford to thirty days each in the County Jail on that charge, but he placed them each on probation for two years, during which time each must pay to the probation office $20 a month for the support of his children.

Stafford is a Ventura county man and a ranch hand. His father was English and his mother Mexican. His father deserted his family of eight children several years ago, leaving them in Hueneme and never contributing to their support.

Stafford has two minor children and the county has been supporting them for the past three months.

NEW MINISTER FOR GLENDALE

GLENDALE, Feb. 5.—Rev. H. V. Lucas, who has served as home missionary secretary of the Southern California conference of the Seventh Day Adventists for the past nine years, has been called to the pastorate of the Exposition Park Church of that denomination, at 1041 West Thirty-eighth street, Los Angeles.

He will be succeeded here by Dean A. Lower, who has been secretary of the books and Bible house of the conference for nine years. Lower's successor will be H. M. Burwell, a returned missionary from China. During his term as secretary of the conference Mr. Lucas has seen its membership grow from 2103 to 5730, making it the largest conference of the church anywhere in the world.

SANTA MONICA, Feb. 5.—The Santa Monica Evening School players will present four one-act plays on Friday evening, the 8th inst., in the school auditorium, Seventh and Pico, the proceeds to go to the Federated Council of the Bay District Parent-Teacher Association.

Mr. Robert Edeson, the distinguished stage and screen star, will play the leading role in "The Breaking of the Calm," a part he recently created for the Writers' Club of Hollywood.

Mr. J. Hamilton Fisher, well-known drama and music critic and an actor who is also well known on the stage, will interpret an interesting role.

Mrs. Ernest Rowlott, chairman of the drama section, Santa Monica Woman's Club, will play the leading part in Barrie's delightful war story, "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

The orchestra of the Santa Monica High School, one of the finest student organizations in the State, under the direction of Arthur C. Nord, has arranged a splendid program of special music for this benefit performance.

Mexico Lifts Live-Stock Ban

MEXICALI, Feb. 5.—On advices from Mexico City, an embargo on American live stock, which threatened to interfere seriously with farming operations in Lower California this season, was lifted today so far as Calexico port of entry is concerned.

A general ban on American stock which became effective the latter part of January, was said to have been due to the discovery of a few cases of epizootic in California.

Officials here advised Federal authorities that no reason existed for maintaining the embargo on work stock used to farm Imperial Valley lands south of the international line and urged that the ban be lifted.

As soon as the telegraphic order was received today 240 head of horses and mules were taken into Mexico to be used in the planting of the 1929 cotton crop.

BANK OFFICIAL WINS ACQUITTAL

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 5.—R. D. Spicer, former official of the now defunct brokerage house of Stephens & Co., today was freed under advised verdict in Superior Court from a charge of grand theft which had been brought against him by a client of the firm. The client, W. P. Reynolds, had charged that $3000 bonds owned by him had been used to secure a loan for the firm and later sold by the bank which accepted the bonds as collateral.

Tried before a jury in Judge Marsh's department of the Superior Court, the case ended on motion of the defense when Judge Marsh ruled no evidence had been entered to implicate the official.

ROBS POSTOFFICE SAFE

CALEXICO, Feb. 5.—With only the fingerprints of the burglar to supply a clew as to his identity Imperial Valley and Federal officers are today seeking an expert cracksman who entered the local postoffice during last night and took $1170 from the safe.

Postmaster Walter Cockley discovered the burglary when he opened the office this morning and found the safe door open, with checks and other papers scattered on the floor. Postal clerks confirmed his assertion that the safe was closed and the combination set when he left the office at 6 o'clock last night.

According to the theory of local officers the burglar entered the building before 11 o'clock last night and scaled the partition which separates the corridor from the office. The safe had been picked and the money stolen before 5 o'clock this morning when first of the postal clerks arrived.

Postmaster Cockley stated that he had deposited $3000 yesterday leaving a smaller sum than usual in the safe.

Paid No Heed to Court Order

MONTEREY PARK, Feb. 5.—A court order affixed to the door warning the public to keep out didn't frighten the burglar who broke into the Felix drug store last night. In defiance of the edict that no goods were to be removed, the intruder helped himself to some of the stock, although the extent of the loot could not be determined. The store has been closed for some time.

The affront to the dignity of the law was reported to the Superior Court.

Expert Talks to City Council on Water Problems

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 5.—San Diego's participation in Colorado water distribution is to be more fully explained to the common council at a special conference set for 11 o'clock tomorrow morning with Engineer H. N. Savage in charge of water development, it was stated by Mayor Harry C. Clark today.

When Engineer Savage filed a lengthy written report of meetings in Los Angeles and elsewhere which he attended, the Councilmen stated they could find out more by having the engineer present to explain the details.

Mayor Clark arranged the conference so the Councilmen could be informed of the procedure necessary to keep San Diego in touch with developments in connection with Boulder dam and the Colorado River development, he said. The Mayor said he had instructed Engineer Savage to attend all Los Angeles meetings in connection with building of the proposed aqueduct and that when the engineer was unable to attend that he as Mayor would attend in his place.

The Council also has arranged a special conference for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to discuss various matters that could not be reached in regular session. Health Officer Dr. A. M. Lesem asked for permission to discuss health conditions.

Final Act in City Farm Sale

ALHAMBRA, Feb. 5.—The final chapter was written today in the long story of the sale of Alhambra's one-sixth interest in the tri-city farm when Chris Campbell, president of the City Commission, and R. Bruce Wallace, City Clerk, signed the deed to the city's share in the 600-acre tract in the southern part of Monterey Park.

Upon the signing of the deed the first payment of $17,500 was made by Gore Brothers, Inc., Los Angeles investors, who bought the property for $175,000.

The farm sale was a matter of spirited controversy for many months, culminating in an election last month when the action of the City Commission in selling the land was approved by the voters by a vote of 1804 to 573.

MASONIC LODGE TO LAY CORNER-STONE

BURBANK, Feb. 5.—Announcement was made today that the corner-stone of the Magnolia Park Community Church, now under construction at the corner of Catalina street and Magnolia Boulevard, will be laid with the Burbank Masonic lodge in charge of the ceremony, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The program, which will precede the ceremony, will be held on the auditorium floor of the new building. Rev. Alfred J. Hughes, district superintendent, will make the principal address of the day.

The framework of the first unit of the building is completed and the structure is rapidly being advanced toward completion. It is expected that the Magnolia Park community will soon be in a position to invite neighboring churches and friends to the first service within the new edifice.

BOIL WATER USED FOR DRINKING

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 5.—The health department still insists that water used at Old Town be first boiled, it was stated today at the health office. To remove the cause of the contaminated water, the city water department is flushing all the mains in that section today and the pipes will be given a thorough cleaning. City Manager Fred Lockwood said he could not understand why such a condition in the water could be found at Old Town and nowhere else in the city. He said little water from Lake Hodges is served to Old Town and the water that comes to other parts of the city from the mountain reservoirs is served Old Town.

Naval Officer Sent to East Coast for Duty

SAN DIEGO, Feb. 5.—Commander Harlow T. Kays, following five years of residence in San Diego, today was detached from the Eleventh Naval District as aide to Rear-Admiral Ashley H. Robertson, district commandant, and is to proceed next month to the Asiatic station, where he is to assume command of the destroyed tender Black Hawk. Commander Kays has been aide here since July, 1926 and prior to that time was in command of the San Diego-based destroyer Moody for two and a half years.

Commander Kays is to remain in San Diego until March 25, on which date he is scheduled to sail for the Orient aboard the Dollar liner, President Pierce, arriving at his station about a month later. He is to be accompanied by his wife and daughter Dorothea, who this week is returning to San Diego from the University of Arizona, where she has been studying music. His wife and daughter will establish their residence in Shanghai this spring and summer and his daughter may return here in the fall to continue her work at the university, Commander Kays said today.

Commander Kays, as a representative of the Navy Department, has co-operated to the fullest extent this past two or three years with the local Chamber of Commerce, according to a statement made today by Howard F. Worth, former president of the organization.

City Politics Become Heated

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 5.—Forecasting a spirited municipal campaign, John C. Ralphs, San Bernardino business man, today announced his candidacy for Mayor. Mr. Ralphs is the third candidate to enter the campaign.

He will oppose Mayor I. N. Gilbert, asking re-election, and Councilman S. L. Combs, both of whom have previously announced their candidacies. Mr. Ralphs entered the race after a committee of business men had called at his house last night to formally urge him to head a "business men's ticket" on which there will be three candidates for seats on the City Council.

Mr. Ralphs is a former banker, retiring two years ago to direct his own business affairs. He was born in San Bernardino.

CONTRIBUTE TO CHARITY CHEST

WHITTIER, Feb. 5.—Annual investment week for the Whittier community Y.M.C.A. was inaugurated here today, and a dinner, which was largely attended, was given at the First Friends Church.

As the work of the local "Y," that of the Boy Scouts and Girls' work is all taken care of by this budget, it becomes in the nature of a community chest in its scope. In this way no duplications of man-power and money will result as would probably occur in three separate drives.

Secretary Frank Gates gave an interesting account of the work accomplished during the past year; the report was accepted by the board of directors, with appreciation. Mr. Gates has been with the organization a number of years and has rendered valuable services.

James Hamilton is president of the local "Y."

ACUTE ALCOHOLISM WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

ANAHEIM, Feb. 5.—Yrenio Parra, 20-year-old Placentia Mexican found dead in an automobile at Placentia Sunday, died from acute alcoholism, according to the findings of a Coroner's jury sitting here today. The jury found that Parra had participated in an excessive drinking bout Saturday night. Bruises found on the youth's face were caused by a fall from the car, it was decided.

Five companions of the youth, held in the County Jail since Sunday, were released today.

WOULD PAY CITY HALF MILLION

Money to Go to Build Civic Auditorium

Directors Consider Bid in Executive Session

PASADENA, Feb. 5.—The Western Air Express has made a cash offer of $2750 an acre for 155 acres of this city's Valley Boulevard airport site, it was stated unofficially today. Although city officials have set $3000 an acre as a minimum price for the 188-acre city farm property, they stated today that they are seriously considering the offer of the Western Air Express.

If the deal is consummated, the $426,250 realized from the sale will be used to finance a civic auditorium, which local business men believe would lend a great impetus to trade here through attracting larger conventions for which there is now lack of facilities.

Following conferences with William M. Garland and Harris M. Hanshue, who are representing the Western Air Express in the negotiations, the Board of City Directors held an executive meeting today to consider the proposal. Another conference with the aviation officials will be held within a few days, according to City Manager R. V. Orbison.

It is also reported that the city is anxious to dispose of the entire 188-acre property in one transaction and may make the air transportation concern a special price of $2500 for the thirty-three acres that would be left under the first proposal, which, if accepted, would give the city a total of $508,750 with which to finance the proposed auditorium.

If the City Directors decide to accept the offer, it is said that they will call for bids and that $2750 will be set as the minimum instead of $3000 as first announced.

When Pasadena sought to lease the south end of the farm for an airport recently, the two bids submitted were rejected as being too low.

Woman Juror in Murder Trial

SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 5.—After two days of strategy in which the defense excused more than a dozen women called for prospective jury duty, the jury to try Mrs. Altera Schlosser for the murder of her husband, Fred, three months ago, was selected today in Superior Judge Charles L. Allison's Court.

Despite the free exercise of peremptory challenges apparently made by the defense to get an all-man jury there is one woman, Mrs. Clara B. Hanna of San Bernardino, left in the box.

At the first trial of Mrs. Schlosser, the jury disagreed, the five women in the jury demanding conviction and the seven men voting for 72 hours to acquit Mrs. Schlosser. It was apparent during the questioning of veniremen that the defense was attempting to prevent a possible "deadlock by sexes" in the second case.

The State will go to trial without the testimony of George A. Simmonds, the only eyewitness to the Schlosser slaying. Simmonds, after testifying against the woman at the first trial, committed suicide a few hours after he was to have undergone cross examination.

The State will attempt to read his testimony recorded at the first trial into the evidence.

Mrs. Schlosser is accused of killing her husband in a fit of anger. She pleaded self-defense at the first trial, testifying that he had severely abused her for months.

Ranch Shows Large Profit

CALEXICO, Feb. 5.—One of the largest lease contracts made in Imperial Valley recently was announced today when C. W. Brockman, rancher in the Mt. Signal district, stated that the Western Hay and Grain Company of Los Angeles had rented 1000 acres of his alfalfa ranch for a period of two years.

The rental price was $27.50 an acre annually, involving a total of $35,000, according to Brockman's statement. The property is located west of Calexico and has been in alfalfa for three years. Figures given out by Brockman in connection with his operation of the alfalfa ranch are indicative of profits being made by valley hay growers.

"The crop was planted in 1926," he stated, "and due to the cost of preparing and seeding the land my operations that year showed a loss of $12,000. During 1927 and 1928 I made a profit of over $17,000 each year on the alfalfa. The present lease to the Los Angeles company will yield a net profit of $14,000 a year."

City Files on Water Rights

VENTURA, Feb. 5.—Ventura has filed application with the State Division of Water Rights for rights to the surplus flood waters of the Matilija Creek, the Sespe, the Santa Ana and the San Antonio creeks, the City Council was told last night.

Months ago the City Attorney was instructed to file these claims. Several weeks ago he told the Council he had been unable to do it because he had not been supplied with the necessary information by the superintendent of the water department.

At that time the Council ordered the City Engineer to prepare the necessary technical data for the filings. This has been done and the applications have been sent to Sacramento, City Engineer D. C. McMillan told the Council.

COUNTY IS ASKED TO CONTRIBUTE

Supervisors Requested to Aid Fire Protection Program

SANTA ANA, Feb. 5.—Orange county, through its Board of Supervisors, today was asked to contribute $5000 toward a tricounty fire-protection fund to be expended in the San Bernardino Mountain watershed of the Santa Ana River.

Francis Cuttle of Riverside, chairman of the Tricounty Reforestation Committee, appeared before the local board to urge the contribution in co-operation with Riverside and San Bernardino counties. The Federal government, Cuttle said, had indicated its willingness to match whatever sum the three counties would raise for the fire-protection work.

Riverside and San Bernardino fruit growers' associations expect to raise $15,000, Cuttle said, having already pledged $9000 by a tax of a cent upon each box of fruit shipped this year.

Orange county, having elected to make whatever contribution it decides upon through the Board of Supervisors, is not expected to contribute as large a share, Cuttle said, as the other counties who are nearer the scene of contemplated operations and more directly interested in it.

The board took Cuttle's proposal under advisement.

Phone Service Now Automatic

BEAUMONT, Feb. 5.—The new automatic system of the Southwestern Home Telephone Company in Beaumont and Banning is in operation now, and all complete, according to E. R. Fisher of Redlands, construction engineer. The hearing on rates is expected this month. The company serves Redlands, Beaumont, Banning, Palm Springs, San Jacinto, Hemet, Perris, Temecula.

The old plant has been removed here and the new system is complete. All of the automatic equipment is in at Banning and the old plant being removed. For the present there is no charge for calls between Banning and Beaumont, though they go through the Banning exchange.

One of the questions to be decided before the Railroad Commission will be whether the merchants of the pass towns want toll service for intercity calls or want adjustment in the rates on Los Angeles toll calls. If the adjustment is made on toll rates by long-distance to points west of Beaumont, it is expected it will mean a toll rate on calls between Beaumont and Banning.

Palm Springs is presenting a problem in expansion. At the beginning of the season the equipment was increased to take care of an estimated demand for all of next year as well as this season. Already, however, the rapid development of the desert resort has resulted in greater demands than can be conveniently met for the rest of this season on main-line phones.

Nurse Killed by Automobile

GLENDALE, Feb. 5. — Hurled twelve feet when she was struck by an automobile just after she descended from a Pacific Electric car at Brand Boulevard and Burchett street last night, Mrs. Fae Ryan, 25 years of age, a nurse employed at 1105 North Central avenue, received a fractured skull from which she died within two hours. Sherwood D. Ball, 1120 North Cordova street, the driver of the car, helped to carry the injured woman to the Glendale Medical Group and later to the Physicians' and Surgeons' Hospital, in a car driven by Miss Mary Baxter, 910 North Brand Boulevard, and surrendered to Sergeant Warwick and Detective Overman.

He is held without bail on a manslaughter charge pending outcome of the inquest.

Ball told the police that he did not see Mrs. Ryan until she was in front of his machine and that he was unable to stop in time to avoid striking her. The impact is said to have crushed the radiator shell in for a distance of eight inches. Owing to the fact that no marks of identification were found on Mrs. Ryan the police were not able to establish her identity until today. Ball is a representative of the Randolph Marketing Company, 735 South Lawrence street, Los Angeles, and was formerly in business with his father, E. D. Ball, in the produce business at the Wholesale terminal Building in Los Angeles.

Truce Seen in Gasoline War

REDLANDS, Feb. 5.—The gasoline war in Redlands is still confined to two service stations and the dealers are planning to meet Friday night and make some decision as to what they will do. Only two stations have cut prices but other dealers say that if prices are cut in other cities Redlands will have to come to it.

Dealers are angry over the war, which they say the big oil companies started in order to reduce the 6 cents per gallon margin under which the dealers have been operating. They say that the statement has been made this margin will be cut to 3 cents at least and perhaps 2 cents.

"If that happens watch the little stations disappear," said one of the dealers, "and that is what the oil companies want. Then in a short time the price will be boosted by the oil companies. The consumer will not benefit long but the dealer will just have his profit cut in half and the oil company will get it."

RENDERED GREATEST SERVICE TO CITY

Miss Bertha Schwarzwaelder

ONTARIO, Feb. 5.—For her unselfish work as Ontario city nurse, Miss Bertha Schwarzwaelder has been voted the individual who rendered the greatest service to her community during 1928, and at the annual "dinner of States," sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, was awarded a beautiful silver pitcher by the Ontario-Upland Realty Board.

The public was asked to nominate persons considered eligible for the honor. The list of nominations included the leading citizens of the community.

A committee was named, composed of a representative from each Ontario organization to pass on the nominations.

Miss Schwarzwaelder was unanimous choice.

Stephen Barnson, State realty commissioners, presented the award of merit to Miss Schwarzwaelder. The recipient declared the trophy was not a personal tribute but should have been given to the community for its loyal support in her work. Her duties include watchful care over needy mothers, little babies and undernourished children. She goes into the homes of Mexicans and other foreigners, giving them the same attention as in the better-class homes.

Miss Schwarzwaelder is a native of Switzerland, having come to this country but five years ago. For three years she has been giving public service to Ontario.

To Investigate Traffic Smash

PASADENA, Feb. 5.—Circumstances of the traffic accident which resulted in the death last night of Harry A. Huff, pioneer local printer and secretary of the Pasadena Board of Labor, will be probed at a Coroner's inquest tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. in the Turner and Stevens Mortuary, it was announced today.

Mr. Huff died at the Pasadena Hospital two hours after he was run over by an automobile driven by Mrs. Kennedy Hammill of 535 Prospect Terrace.

Mrs. Hammill was released by the police after she explained that she was driving slowly north on Raymond avenue when the labor leader darted into her path at the Holly-street intersection. The woman motorist declared that she swerved to the right, but was unable to avoid striking Huff, who, she said, appeared to become confused at the approach of her car.

A front wheel of the car fractured Huff's skull and one of his legs and arms.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Turner and Stevens Company chapel.

SCOUTS PROMOTED

EL SEGUNDO, Feb. 5.—George Eason attained the rank of Eagle Scout and two Star Scout awards were made at the court of honor held here last night. The Star Scout medals were presented to Ralph Berkline and George Merritt and twenty-two merit badges were distributed.

VAN NUYS, Feb. 5.—About 200 realty men, from San Fernando Valley, Los Angeles and Hollywood will be the guests of members of the Van Nuys Realty Board Thursday night at the Van Nuys Woman's Club at the banquet to be given in honor of J. Bradley Clayton, new president of the California Real Estate Association, who on that night will make his first official visit into the valley.

Rockwell Smith, president of the local board, will be master of ceremonies. A turkey dinner of several courses will be served to the guests, after which will follow Mr. Clayton's address, talks by other realty men, and a music program. Dancing will close the evening.

If You Forget to Remember, It's Pity's Sake Class for You

Trojan co-eds and men students are watching their P's and Q's on the university blackboards under the new visual methods instituted to redeem them from the Pity's Sake poor spellers' class. Left to right—Jean Smith writes one of the words the co-eds stumble over, Woodie Lou Hunsaker ponders over how it looks, and Babe Sweet, blindfolded, spells it correctly—the result of a mental image, the professors say. On the right—The words they all stumble over.

"WRITE it on the blackboard in large letters, look at it long and hard, close your eyes and remember what you saw—then spell it."

That, in the words of Miss Julia McCorkle, professor of English at the University of Southern California, is the key to the secret for 60 per cent of the freshmen who enroll at the University of Southern California and find themselves placed in a special spelling class.

And there they stay until they have mastered 600 words which have proved to be stumbling blocks for the co-eds and men students. No credit is allowed for the spelling class and to make it worse it meets during the university lunch hour once a week.

Every seven weeks the co-eds who want to leave out the second "l" and make the "c" sound hard in "financial" get another chance to get out of the Pity's Sake class—as it has been dubbed in campus parlance.

HOW TO GET OUT

They get out, that is, some of them, if they have written the words enough times, looked at them long and hard enough, and remembered what they saw until they can spell correctly ninety-five words out of 100.

It's hard to get out of the class, the co-eds say, but to get in is nothing at all. All they have to do is miss six words out of 100 in a test given shortly after enrollment. That's not hard to do, they declare, and although they are given a second test before their fate is sealed definitely, they learn that a few letters can make a great difference in the scheme of things.

But whatever the co-eds think about it, Miss McCorkle says that spelling "is nothing but an attempt to represent sound by letters.

"To teach our poor spellers how to do this," Miss McCorkle explained, "we draw on psychology. We know that the more related images we get into the mind the easier they are to remember. By seeing a word we take a mental picture of it.

WORDS CHOPPED UP

"Our minds are cameras in a sense and if we chop a word up into syllables it is like a photographer taking a picture with plenty of light—we get it faster.

"Trying to learn a long word without taking it in parts and visualizing it is like starting your car in high on a cold morning.

"Besides the visual part of memory we also bring into play hearing and speaking. These, combined with writing, are sure methods to make a word stick.

"Anyone can learn to spell. So-called poor spellers never have put themselves to the task of learning scientifically, and although we have a majority of men students in our spelling class it is due, I believe, to them not taking the required time to learn."

The spelling requirement for a diploma is found in many leading universities, Miss McCorkle said. At Southern California Miss McCorkle has had charge of the spelling class and examinations for several years. She believes that the ability of university graduates to spell has been improved greatly by the new instruction methods.

"Fascinating Glimpses of the Great National and Religious Songs of America and Other Lands" will be presented by Mrs. Guy Bush, assisted by Miss Helen Haworth, mezzo-soprano, and original piano-logues and poems at the meeting of the Poetry and Music Club of Los Angeles today at 1:30 o'clock in the recital hall on the eighth floor of the Majestic Theater Building.

The public is welcome to the program.

Mrs. Ida Tipton, chairman of parliamentary law of the Echo Park Mothers' Club, will present Mrs. V. R. Day of Culver City, who will speak on "Correct Business Procedure" today at the regular meeting of the club.

Woman Tries Suicide Twice

Miss Alice Cline, 40 years of age, was sent to the psychopathic ward of the General Hospital from the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital yesterday after she had attempted suicide by taking poison twice in twenty-four hours.

She first was taken to the Receiving Hospital on Monday evening by a friend, Walter Dennis, of the same address. She was treated and sent home later. Yesterday morning, again accompanied by Dennis, she was treated at the hospital for taking poison a second time and when she told physicians that she would end her life if released she was sent to the psychopathic ward for observation.

NEWS OF THE CAFES

One of the most colorful celebrations in Hollywood this season will take place at the Montmartre this evening when Jane Winton, popular screen player, will be the honor guest. The cafe is noted as the rendezvous of moving picture and stage players, and the festival will include many impromptu numbers in which the stars themselves will voluntarily take part. Another of a series of spectacular fashion promenades will be staged by the May Company.

NOVELTY COSTUME

Narcissus gold paint, latest novelty imported from the Folies Bergere, (Paris,) will be worn for the first time tonight at the Pom Pom, Hollywood, by La Myrova, Oriental dancer, in her sensational number, "Persian Harem Fantasy."

FORTUNES TOLD

Patrons of Polly's Cherrio Tea Room, located between Sixth and Seventh streets on Hill, are entertained daily during the luncheon hour by having their fortune told by "Dasha," who recently arrived here from New York, where, it is said, she entertained guests of many famous night clubs. The management also has made arrangements whereby the palmist will be at the tea room Wednesday, Friday and Saturday evenings during the dinner hour. Polly's Cherrio Tea Room features a special luncheon and dinner, catering especially to shoppers and theater parties.

"TEAS OF THE AGES"

A popular innovation in Los Angeles is the "Teas of the Ages" which Mme. Helene has introduced at her tea room at J. J. Haggerty's, located at Seventh and Grand. These teas include a "Confuchus" or Chinese tea; "Mme Du Barry" or French tea; "Lucrezia Borgia" or Italian tea; and others representing historical personages of different ages and nationalities. Since its recent opening, the tea room has become a favorite place not only with social leaders, but film stars.

FORTNIGHTLY MUSICALS

First announcement is made of the launching of a series of fortnightly musicals in costumes for the Sunday evening diners at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel. The first such affair will take place this coming Sunday, under the supervision of Ignacio del Castillo.

Well-known vocalists and instrumentalist will feature Spanish numbers next Sunday evening, the musical to be known as "Noche Musical Espagnola."

DINNERS POPULAR

A turkey dinner which has been a feature for some time at the Carthay Tea Room, situated in Carrillo Drive, Carthay Center, is proving to be an even greater success than anticipated by the management. "Many of our customers drive here from Pasadena, Long Beach and San Bernardino Sundays to dine," the management states. Home-cooked pastries are said to be another reason for the popularity of that tea room.

NOTABLE CHEF ENGAGED

With the announcement that the management of the Nikabob, at Western avenue and Ninth street, has obtained the services of Florian Gynes, well-known chef, formerly associated with Sherry's and Delmonico's in New York, patrons of that popular cafe have been assured of perfectly prepared cuisine. Gynes, who is a Parisian, served as an apprentice while a boy, and graduated finally into a "chef de cuisine" after noteworthy service in several of the most famous Parisian cafes.

RIFLE GUARDS MOUNTAIN DEW

Officers Find Moonshiner High in Hills East of Bishop and Face Gun in His Hands, But He Later Flees to Underbrush Amid Volley

Federal dry agents and Nevada officers seeking the source of considerable mountain-dew liquor that has been sold in the Sierra Nevada Mountains near Bishop, yesterday morning had an encounter with a lone moonshiner who had intrenched himself on the high hills of Gustin Canyon, three miles east of Queen, Nev., and forty-five miles east of Bishop. The brush resulted in gun play but no shots were fired when the agents showed their badges. The moonshiner, with Kentucky cunning, finally escaped in the hills and then was fired on.

Federal dry agents, acting under Maj. McReynolds, dry administrator, were met at the door of the moonshiner's cabin by a stern-faced man with a rifle pointing at them. With drawn revolvers they showed their badges and the man surrendered. He was placed in the custody of a Nevada constable, who locked him in a near-by shed.

The dry agents then searched and reported the finding of a 150-gallon still, 2000 gallons of mash and 100 gallons of moonshine. As the search was about completed the officers discovered that the owner of the place had escaped and was running down a steep hill. They fired several shots, but lost trace of the man in the heavy underbrush. The dry agents obtained a warrant against the moonshiner, but declined to give out his name.

TUNNEL SEARCH LEADS TO RUM STILL

Cunningly concealed behind a hillside garage adjacent to a house said to be at 2816 Lanfranco street, an underground seventy-five-gallon still was located by Federal dry agents and members of the police vice squad yesterday, according to a report to Maj. McReynolds, Federal dry administrator. The raiding officers reported the finding of the still, 300 gallons of mash and twenty-five gallons of liquor. They arrested Ridino B. Rodriguez, who was placed in the County Jail. The officers said the still had to be approached through the garage and a short tunnel.

TAILORS MAKE MAN A LA MODE

Interest in Latest Styles Not Confined to Women's Wiles; He-Men of This Glowing West Gaze With Awe on Spring's New Vest

Never again let it be said that interest in clothes is confined to members of the so-called frivolous sex—not after the opening session of the tenth annual convention of the Pacific Coast Merchant Tailors' Association at the Biltmore yesterday when, in addition to the 250 members of the association, some 500 more or less tired business men found time to spare from the serious concerns of life to drop in during the day for a peek at the latest wrinkles in spring clothes.

Twenty-five models were kept busy throughout the day displaying everything from polo togs to the very latest thing in full dress, and the layman was fully as interested as the tailor in twirling the young men this way and that in order to examine the thickness of the shoulders, feel the material or note the width of the trousers.

George A. Marek, Los Angeles tailor, said yesterday that men are wearing more comfortable clothes today than at any other period in history—excepting, possibly, the no-clothes era. He attributed this to the age of automobile driving and outdoor sports which demands greater freedom of movement and downright ease.

Trousers are fuller, he said, so that suspenders are almost a necessity and the constricting pressure amidships is done away with. Coats have departed from the clinging lines of yore and now have a comfortable 'hang,' at the same time having a good-looking appearance for all-'round wear.

The sports influence is responsible for many new features, among them being the raglan sleeve, particularly adapted to overcoats and topcoats, and the hinged sleeves of coats which give greater freedom and comfort. One particularly new development is a combination business and golf suit for the man who goes directly from his office to the golf course.

The sessions will continue through today and tomorrow.

Arrest Closes Long Search in Two Continents

Accused on three counts of grand theft and two of embezzlement, Kirk C. Dennison, 31 years of age, was arrested in Seattle yesterday following a two-years' search by deputy sheriffs. With Dennison was a girl answering the description of Virginia Leffingwell, 17, who is believed to have run away with Dennison two years ago.

According to the officers, Dennison is charged with obtaining approximately $7000 from Mrs. Emma A. Setian through assertedly fraudulent real estate deals.

The search for Dennison, conducted by Capt. Fox, head of Sheriff Traeger's fugitive detail, extended throughout the United States and even to Rio de Janeiro, in South America, the officers assert.

Trio Seized in Gun Fight Face Robbery Counts

Coming as an aftermath of the gun battle in the St. James Cafe, 2109 West Eleventh street, Sunday night in which Deputy Sheriff J. W. English wounded one man and captured another, a complaint was issued yesterday charging Jack W. Coffelt, Clifford Coffelt and Arthur Primeau with three counts of robbery.

Jack Coffelt was wounded in the neck during the robbery by a bullet from English's gun. English then captured Primeau and the following day police officers arrested Clifford Coffelt.

The men also admit numerous other robberies, according to police.

MORE NATIONS TRAIN ORATORS

Twenty-one Countries Will Participate in Contest

Group Winners for Certain Regions Planned

Course of World Peace Said to Be Aided Greatly

Twenty-one nations will participate in the Sixth National and Fourth International Oratorical Contest, according to announcement made by Randolph Leigh, director-general of the contest, on his return to Washington, D. C., from Europe. While in Europe Mr. Leigh participated in a number of conferences at which the details of the arrangements to take care of the new national entrants were considered.

The winner of the international phase of the contest will be proclaimed the champion high-school orator of the world. This championship was won in 1926 by an American, in 1927 by a Mexican and in 1928 by a Frenchman.

PLANS REVEALED

Under the plan for this year certain large nations, such as England, France, Germany and the United States, will clear straight through to the international finals to be held at Washington October 26. Canada also will send a representative because it has been in the contest from its beginning. Other participating nations will be grouped along racial and linguistic lines. For these different groups there will be final meetings to determine the spokesman for each particular group and the group winners will have a place in the international finals.

Most of the national finals will be held in May. The group finals will be held in June and the grand international climax in October.

NATIONS LISTED

The nations in which students of secondary schools will participate in the contest for 1929 are as follows:

United States, England, France, Germany, Holland, Belgium, Norway, Denmark, Sweden, Poland, Austria, Jugo-Slavia, Switzerland, Rumania, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Argentina, Chile, Brazil and Uruguay.

A number of other nations may be added to this list, according to Mr. Leigh, as negotiations now are in progress. In case of such additions the new nations will be allotted to different groups.

In 1926 the Oratorical Contest became international with five nations participating. In 1928 eight nations, England, France, Canada, Mexico, Argentina, Germany, Cuba and the United States were represented.

BETTER UNDERSTANDING

Contestants are directed to prepare orations bearing on the respective form of government of the nation they represent.

It already has been clearly indicated that this intensive study and the presentation of the winning orations at the international grand finals are leading to better understanding among nations and it is believed that over a long period of years the movement may lead to the unification of major principles of government and have a direct bearing on the progress of civilization, making for world peace.

NEW ROADS OPEN TO AUTOS

County Official Lists Highways Completed for Traffic Within Past Few Days

Many new highways have been opened recently, the county road department disclosed yesterday when O. F. Cooley, assistant road commissioner, gave out a list of highways completed in the past few days.

The new pavement on Wilshire Boulevard on the Soldiers' Home reservation between Los Angeles city (Westwood) and Santa Monica is seventy feet wide and quite thick, although heavy trucking is generally discouraged on Wilshire.

Culver Boulevard between Culver City and Playa del Rey is almost complete as far as the county is concerned. The entire road passes through several municipalities, however, and may not be completely surfaced for some time.

A new mountain road has been opened up in Corral Canyon, off the Roosevelt highway on the Rindge ranch. This route is only four miles long, but is scenically spectacular, and full of charming vistas, according to highway officials. The coast highway will be opened all the way up to Oxnard and Ventura by July 1, according to State Highway Department officials.

Telegraph Road has been opened from Indiana to Bandini Station, and is taking its share of travel from overcrowded Whittier Boulevard. Another new scenic drive has been paved from Otterbein on the Valley Boulevard, southward to the summit of the Brea Canyon road. And the Valley Boulevard itself has been completed, seventy feet wide, through Rosemead. Other stretches of this important artery are to be paved by the county, east of Alhambra and the city will widen and straighten it east of Rosemead, according to plans now being prepared.

STORY BOOK HERO FOUND LIVING HERE

Mason Mitchell, Soldier, Diplomat and Adventurer, Hollywood Resident

How Mason Mitchell has hidden his light under a bushel in the years he has lived in Hollywood is a mystery. It took his trip to Panama to visit his brother, and his return on the Panama-Mail liner Venezuela yesterday to bring out highlights in his adventurous career.

MASON MITCHELL

It ranges from dramatic exploits with Edwin Booth, Modjeska and Mary Anderson to chief scout for the Queen's Own regiment in Northwest Canada's rebellion in 1885; it took him to Samoa to become a friend of Robert Louis Stevenson; into Roosevelt's Roughriders; to Zanzibar, Africa and Tibet as Consul and big-game hunter.

It gave over to him British and French interests in German Samoa during the World War and sent him into Ireland during that rebellion. Twice he was shot—once in Cuba in war, and again in Malta, as American Consul, by a discharged servant.

OLD EXPOSE RE-ECHOES AT HEARING

State Medical Board Delves Into Diploma Mill Case Revealed in 1924

Echoes of the medical "diploma mill" expose of 1924 were heard yesterday as the State Medical Board began a series of eight hearings in the cases of physicians charged with offenses which, if proved will cause revocation of their licenses.

John E. Jolley, drugless practitioner, seeking reinstatement of his license which was revoked in 1923, was questioned closely by Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, secretary of the board, concerning his connection with the defunct Pacific Medical College. The college closed in 1915 but the expose of 1924 revealed that many of its diplomas were issued years later. Jolley at first testified that he attended the college two years but under examination by Pinkham later admitted his actual attendance covered only a few months. Jolley's license was revoked in 1923 on the ground that he violated its provisions by prescribing medicine. His case was taken under advisement by the board at the conclusion of his hearing.

After a hearing that disclosed that Dr. Frank L. Burleigh is serving a term in San Quentin prison for slaying his janitor, the board revoked the physician's license.

The hearings will continue today.

Dream of Farms Told at Trial of Frauds Case

Rosy dreams of fertile farms, with soil strengthened by potash, of land near Las Vegas, Nev., were painted for prospective investors by L. Von Perhacs, so-called "count," according to testimony at his trial in United States District Judge Norcross's court yesterday.

The defendant is accused of impersonating a government officer, and, through that prestige, obtaining large sums from several persons to locate them on the land. One woman testified that she paid $314.50 to have Von Perhacs attend to her legal papers and gave him a note for $700 to locate her on the so-called valuable land.

The case went on trial yesterday and is expected to last several days.

FACES MANN ACT CHARGE

A complaint was issued yesterday by United States Commissioner Head charging Herman Oram West, formerly of Dallas, Tex., with violation of the Mann Act. It is charged that West transported Gladys Ward from Texas to this city for improper purposes.

CHAMBER BRANCH PLANS FETE

The West Los Angeles branch of the Chamber of Commerce will hold its second annual banquet at the Brentwood Country Club next Friday evening, according to George P. Larsen, manager. The program will start at 7 p.m. and will include short talks by the president and past-presidents of the chamber, and the heads of several universities, as well as prominent persons in the West Los Angeles district.

Many men in Austria are returning to work after a long idleness.

LECTURE ON CHINA

Dr. W. B. Pettus of Peking will speak tomorrow at the Foreign Trade Club luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce. His subject, "China of Tomorrow" deals with the social and political metamorphosis of Dragon Land. Dr. Pettus for twenty-two years was president of the North China Language School.

GYMNASIUM CLASS OPEN

Registration for the gymnasium classes which opened their spring term at the Y.W.C.A. last Friday may be made at any time by business girls and other young women desiring to take the physical culture course, it was announced yesterday. Special reducing exercises are a feature of the Tuesday and Friday classes.

LECTURES FILL PROGRAM NEED

Miss MacCausland Among Headline Speakers

Talk Over KHJ to Deal With Japanese Women

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

Lectures still form an integral part of radio programs. True, most of them are sandwiched in between afternoon features or as fill-ins, because most experience has been that the fan audience does not bear up well under a straight, continuous speaking broadcast.

BOUND FOR JAPAN

She is an accomplished speaker and has been touring the country for the past ten months. Her radio talks have been many, including WMAQ. This will be her first radio talk on the Coast and she will sail for Japan the last of the month.

Miss MacCausland's topic will be "Modern Japanese Women in Social Service."

Previous to the KHJ talk, KFI schedules its weekly Sheriff's office talk at 12:15 p.m. This is usually given by Deputy Sheriffs Benesh or Killick.

CRIER FOR SHUT-INS

Undersheriff Biscailuz inaugurated these radio talks four or five years ago. They have now grown to be somewhat of a burden for one man, so the peace officers pass the honors around among the organization.

Still earlier in the day, 10 a.m., to be exact, Eddie Albright, as the town crier at KNX, will give his morning inspirational talk. This is a feature with more than the ordinary appeal to shut-ins, although it obviously might not "click" so well with the active, energetic fan.

KGER, Long Beach, announces a talk at 7 p.m. by police department officials on "Juvenile Problems," which in itself seems quite a good-sized topic for a brief radio lecture.

This is about all of the headline talks that I can pick out of the day's programs. Evening talks are the exception rather than the rule.

SUCCESS LEADS TO CONTRACT

Wallace to Make Spectacular Comedy as Next Lasky; Basil Rathbone Signs Long Contract With M.-G.-M.; "Wishing Well" Will Show at Biltmore

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

Having got the drop on the public and the other producers in finding out what a very excellent picture Richard Wallace has made in "The Innocents of Paris," starring the French actor, Maurice Chevalier, Paramount is taking no chances of losing that treasure among directors, but has just signed him on a new long-term contract. B. P. Schulberg made the announcement yesterday.

"Innocents of Paris" was considered a weighty and difficult undertaking, inasmuch as it introduced to the American public a highly paid French star, famous in his own country, to be sure, but unknown here, and unfamiliar with the American methods of picture making. However, it is said there can be no mistake in prophesying that the combination of Chevalier and "Innocents of Paris" will be a sensational success. In it the star talks and sings some of his French numbers in his quite inimitable way.

Wallace's first picture for Paramount was "The Shopworn Angel," featuring Gary Cooper and Nancy Carroll, which critics pronounced as one of the eleven best released in 1928. This followed a long line of successful pictures at other studios.

The director has had a remarkably varied career. He set out in life to become a surgeon, was forced to leave school because of finances, turned undertaker, then entered the show business via promotion of store shows in small towns.

His first picture under his new contract is to be a spectacular comedy, not yet ready to be titled.

BASIL RATHBONE TO APPEAR FOR M.-G.-M.

That noted Broadway favorite, Basil Rathbone, is not to be allowed to live out his life without knowing all about what it means to play in the talking pictures.

BASIL RATHBONE

Rathbone has just signed with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer on a long-term contract to be featured in the talkers. His first story has not yet been chosen.

The matinee idol is remembered here for his excellent work as the leading male player opposite Mary Nash in "The Command to Love," at the Belasco, and also opposite Elsie Ferguson in "The Grand Duchess and the Waiter," which drew huge crowds to the Biltmore.

He has been appearing briefly in New York in a new play called "Judas," of which he was co-author.

Rathbone will arrive today, accompanied by his wife, Ouida Bergere, the writer, who was formerly the wife of George Fitzmaurice.

Musical Show for Biltmore

What promises to be one of the most charming musical comedies our local theater mart has offered is a piece called "The Wishing Well," by one Gawthorne, an English composer, which is to go into the Biltmore some time within the next few months, being tried out in nearby towns before having its metropolitan showing.

Harriet Bennett, an Australian beauty and prima donna of note on her native heath and known also in London, will sing the principal feminine role. Miss Bennett has just finished a tour of the principal towns of Australia in "Rose Marie."

Some elaborate dances will be staged by Marion Morgan. One of these will assume the dignity of a ballet, being a dance staged behind gauze and interpreting the spirit of romance.

Margaret Livingston Vacations

So common is the coming and going of celebrities to and from Hollywood that even so well-known an actress as Margaret Livingston was able to slip out of town last Sunday night without a soul being the wiser.

MARGARET LIVINGSTON.

Miss Livingston, after piling up a breathless record for herself by acting in nineteen pictures in one year, sometimes two at a pop, has decided to take a vacation, and has left for New York, accompanied by her sister, Ivy Livingston, to spend a month. She will do the usual thing of teaing and being tead, and shopping and looking at shows.

Her last picture was in support of Maurice Chevalier, in his Paramount picture, "Innocents of Paris," and in which she is said to have fairly outshone herself.

Ruth Clifford With Columbia

It being between hunting and fishing seasons anyway, in which sports she engages frequently with her husband, James Cornelius, Ruth Clifford has decided to do a little film work for a change.

ANGELENO'S PORT DESIGN WINS PRIZE

Taggart Aston of Harbor Staff Places as Spanish Competition Entrant

Notification was received yesterday by Taggart Aston, Harbor Engineer of Los Angeles, that he had been awarded one of the twelve prizes in the contest conducted by the Spanish government for plans and specifications for the proposed free port of Barcelona.

TAGGART ASTON

Plans for the competition, which drew the efforts of fifty-seven of the foremost harbor engineers in seventeen countries, were submitted more than a year ago. Mr. Aston was the only American of nine engaged in the contest to receive an award.

Because none of the plans submitted had adhered strictly to specification they were held not deserving of the intended major prize of 100,000 pesetas. However, because of the evident merit of the plans submitted twelve awards were made, the highest, amounting to 40,000 pesetas. Mr. Aston will receive the equivalent of $1650.

Mr. Aston won the inner harbor competition for Richmond in 1918 and is the designer of La Libertad, free port of the Republic of Salvador. He also drew plans for the ports of Seattle, Everett and Bellingham, Wash.

Husband Asks Divorce From Religious Wife

Too much religion interfered with the marital happiness of Carey Rockwell and Fleta June Rockwell, according to the cross-complaint of Rockwell, filed by Attorney Jack Greenberg yesterday.

Rockwell said that his troubles began when Mrs. Rockwell joined the church of the Four Square Gospel. He said his wife would preach to him by the hour.

Big Pines Film Will Be Shown

Several reels of motion-picture film, photographed at the Los Angeles county Big Pines recreation park, revealing the winter sports as prepared for the third annual winter sports carnival there the 22nd, 23rd and 24th inst., will be shown at the semimonthly luncheon of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce at the Biltmore tomorrow.

The annual winter event, conceived by the Junior Chamber of Commerce three years ago, is the vehicle through which this body of young business men each year reminds the East that Southern California not only boasts sunshine and flowers, but snow and ice as well.

TERRORIZING QUIZ ASKED BY ACTRESS

Dolores Salazar Asserts Prowlers Have Made Life Unbearable for Her

Dolores Salazar, a moving-picture actress who recently filed a $150,000 breach of promise suit against Ferdinand Pinney Earle, artist and former picture producer, will appear at the District Attorney's office today or tomorrow to assist an investigation into asserted attempts to terrorize her, Roger Marchetti, her attorney, announced last night.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaacs started the investigation for the actress when Marchetti informed him yesterday that for two weeks Miss Salazar has been disturbed by strange telephone calls, attempts by unidentified persons to enter her home and prowlers around her residence.

The attorney for the actress also says he has received anonymous telephone calls declaring that unnamed persons are scheming to get Miss Salazar away from home and possibly harm her. So the whole affair has been placed under official investigation.

On January 21, inst., Miss Salazar filed her balm suit against Earle asserting that he promised to marry her, and after a trip to Paris deserted her. He married Denise Lencin in the French capital on January 14, the actress charges.

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN FROM "BROTHER" TOM

"Brother" Tom Liddicoat, keeper of the Midnight Mission, yesterday was the victim of an auto thief. His automobile, he stated, was stolen from the rear of the mission rooms at 396 South Los Angeles street.

'DYBBUK' EVENT AT PASADENA

Hebraic Legendary Lore Evokes Rare Spell

Staging Fantastic in Play at Community

Irving Pichel Impresses; Others Worthy

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

You pronounce it "Dyb-ook," with the accent (long) on the last syllable. And when spoken this way the word has a spectral inflection. And—if you go to see "The Dybbuk" at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, you will find that it also has a strange and spectral meaning.

"The Dybbuk" opened there last evening. It is the most pretentious offering of the community theater this season. And the production reflects again credit to this capable and pioneering organization.

Weird and fantastic settings . . . an age-old conflict of love and greed . . . mysterious incantations and rituals . . . curious symbolism . . . atmosphere all-pervading . . . that is "The Dybbuk." A play far out of the ordinary channels of the drama, it mingles pageantry and dance and song, with the spoken word, in poetic and phantasmagoric ensemble. So fascinating and varied is it both in sound and stage picture that it casts a spell almost magical over the imagination.

The production given by the playhouse is competent. It reflects both devotion to a purpose, and a fine sense of beauty. It rises to rare pictorial heights, and there are striking moments in the drama and action. It is not as finished as "Lazarus Laughed" given a year ago, but it has pleasing verities and a colorfulness that are endlessly fascinating. A sense of deep awe is particularly attained in the final scene, with its mystical and dreamlike quality.

The meaning of the word "dybbuk" as the play itself brings this out, has to do with Hebrew legendary lore. A dybbuk is described as a disembodied soul who takes up residence in a living being, having no other haven of rest after death. Generally this ghostly return is owing to some deep fault or unfulfilled destiny of the one departed.

In the play the ghostly invader is the lover of the girl, Leah, betrothed to her before birth, and loving her on coming of age. The father of the girl self-seekingly arranges a rich marriage for his daughter. The lover, a student in the synagogue, who has immersed himself not only in accredited teachings, but also in the Kabala, strives by sinister means to prevent the wedding. His efforts to invade a domain of mysticism in so doing react on himself and he dies, but his spirit returns to the girl at the wedding in a form terrifying and evil. In the last scene the sin of the father in not living up to his contract with the girl's father, and interfering with the love between his daughter and the other's son, is divulged at a Rabinnical trial of the supernatural order, and the lover and girl are reunited by the latter's death.

This is very briefly the story. It is richly embellished with symbolical meanings, and is in a sense more like a strange religious ceremony than like a play. The quality of the whole is spell-like and extraordinary for the casual onlooker—more abstract than plays have a right to be for popular entertainment, but remarkably interesting.

It may be hazarded that the play will elicit widespread comment, because of its eye-filling allure, and its mysteriousness. One gazes at something that in essence seems to emanate from another world during its unfoldment.

Details of the performance might be improved. The pitch of certain of the voices was especially deficient in obtaining the proper mood at times, but the last scene, with Irving Pichel as the aged rabbi and inquisitor in an amazing portrayal, rose to peaks of sublimity in its feeling. The love motif introduced with music lent to the witchery of the impression. Altogether this last act was notable.

A full appraisal of the various performances cannot be here given, but it may be mentioned that Miriam Goldina as the girl Leah, Charles Levison as the student, were exceedingly worthy of commendation, Levison evidencing especially fine attainments. Splendid work was done by Jerome Andrews, Mears Pitcher, Lee Freeson, the portrayer of Rabbi Shamshon and various others. Staging reflects manifestly the taste of Nahum Zemach and Janis Muncis.

Composers Find New Outlet for Their Abilities

Lovers of popular music are planning to turn out in force Saturday night to pay tribute to Arthur Freed and Nacio Herb Brown at the first midnight matinee of "The Broadway Melody," at Grauman's Chinese Theater.

The lyrics were written by Freed, and the music by Brown, for the song and dance numbers of this first talking, singing and dancing picture from M.-G.-M. Five numbers are featured in "The Broadway Melody," conspicuous among them the title song and "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," the latter sung from a revue background done entirely in technicolor. This number is reported by the management to be an innovation in modern melodies, presenting strains reminiscent of the Gilbert and Sullivan airs of yesteryear.

The star of the picture, Charles King, is to be the master of ceremonies. Such celebrities as Sophie Tucker, Gus Edwards, the Rooney family, and others, have been invited by Sid Grauman to be among the honored guests.

"WILDCAT" AT RITZ

Canary Murder Case Tried Here

James Hall and Jean Arthur
Are among those whom juries of fans will vote innocent or guilty tomorrow at the Paramount Theater. The audible picturization of S. S. Van Dine's mystery novel will commence a week's run there, with Philo Vance (William Powell) doing the necessary sleuthing.

INGRAM PICTURE IMPORTED

Marking an interesting departure in production for Rex Ingram, director of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" and other outstanding films, "The Three Passions" opens for an indefinite run at the United Artists' Theater today. It is Ingram's first release for United Artists.

"The Three Passions" is a story of present-day English life, given an ultra-modern interpretation both in treatment and backgrounds. A cast headed by Alice Terry is to be seen. Clare Eames, New York and London stage actress, noted for her work in the eastern production of "The Silver Cord," is introduced to the screen in a character role.

Scenes at Oxford University, in a gigantic shipyard, in Limehouse shanties, and in the halls of the British nobility lend ample contrast to the story. Especially striking is the mob scene during the strike in the shipyards.

Besides the Ingram special, the United Artists presents varied attractions. Octavus Roy Cohen's first all-talking negro picture, "The Melancholy Dame," is a two-reel feature. The characters of Cohen's famous stories are brought to life in voice and figure in "The Melancholy Dame." The colored cast is headed by Evelyn Preer.

C. Sharpe-Minor, premiere organist, presents a "singing organ production." Movietone news is also on the bill.

"Swan" Boasts Unusual Cast

In regard to the length of his casts, at least, Edward Everett Horton, who produces plays at the Vine-street Theater, seems to believe in going from one extreme to the other. In the two plays preceding "The Swan," Molnar's comedy now occupying the footboards at the Vine-street, the casts were very small—a sort of quality-instead-of-quantity-idea, as it were.

In "The Swan" Horton goes to the other extreme and offers the largest cast ever engaged in a Vine-street production. In this romantic comedy of royal loves, the producer-comedian aimed at not only quality but quantity as well, a combination that rarely fails to score. There are twenty-one well-known persons in the present opus.

Frances White Early Arrival

Playing hooky from New York's "Great White Way," Miss Frances White, inimitable kewpie of song and dance productions, plunges onto the local theatrical rialto Sunday, headlining the new Radio-Keith-Orpheum bill at the Orpheum.

Assisting her will be Billy Joyce and John Meehan, Jr., recruited from musical comedy.

Miss White, famous for her saucy capers in "Ziegfeld Follies," "The Hotel Mouse," "Bye, Bye, Bonnie," "Greenwich Village Follies" and others, will present a repertoire comprising new material and such old favorites as "Ohio" and "I'd Like to Be a Monkey in the Zoo," for which she is often imitated.

Her excerpts of sophisticated childhood, embellished with rompers et al., will vie with her other popular numbers, her choice evening gowns, satin-like hair and what-not.

Miss White's first appearance in vaudeville was with the late William Rock, with whom she subsequently entered musical comedy.

Producer Visits 'Arizona' House

William Fox, head of the vast chain of Fox theaters and the studio organization bearing his name, visited the Criterion Theater last night to see the local presentation of "In Old Arizona," the management writes in to say.

Fox, coming direct to Los Angeles from New York, where he viewed the Roxy Theater premiere of "In Old Arizona," told the management that "In Old Arizona" had smashed all New York theatrical records, doing $155,000 the first week and $141,000 the second week.

The producer paid the Criterion Theater sound-projection staff a compliment. Nowhere, he said, on all the Fox theater circuit was there better sound-projection than at the Criterion. He declared the acoustics of the theater to be perfect.

'Guardsman' to Travel North

"The Guardsman," Molnar's dextrous comedy, now in its closing week at the Figueroa Playhouse, is to be sent to San Francisco on Sunday for an extended engagement. It makes room for the third offering of the Los Angeles Repertory Theater, "Escape," by John Galsworthy, in which the British playwright portrays the intricate weavings of a man's conscience with true Galsworthian skill.

"Escape" was first produced in New York by Winthorp Ames and ran for more than a year. It will open at the Figueroa Playhouse on Monday evening.

Directors of the Los Angeles Repertory Theater have cast the play with an eye to consistency by engaging an all-English cast, headed by Vernon Steele, thus providing an atmospheric touch that should give added interest to the presentation, which is in an epilogue and nine scenes.

Equipage Will Be Elaborate

An opera season that gives promise of being as interesting in its own way as the visit to Los Angeles of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, opens at the Mason Theater on the 18th inst.

The D'Oyly Carte Opera Company, which is on its first American tour, has with it the strongest aggregation of Savoyards ever to leave London, together with three carloads of scenery and costumes for the presentation of its season of Gilbert and Sullivan operas here.

"The Mikado" will be the first bill to be presented.

BIGGS AT THE ORGAN

Music lovers will be interested in the announcement of a free dedicatory recital by Richard Keys Biggs, organist, recently brought to Los Angeles from Canada. This recital is to feature the opening of the four-manual Casavant Canadian organ, and will be held at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament in Hollywood, Thursday at 8:15 p.m. The recital also marks the beginning of a series of complimentary ones to be given to the public, and has nothing to do with the church services.

"LID LIFTERS" AT FOLLIES

Los Angeles burlesque devotees are scheduled to enjoy a series of good shows for the 1929 season if "Lid Lifters," the burlesque revue now playing at the Follies Theater can be taken as an example of the type. Replete with snappy music and interspersed with comedy spots, this production wins the general favor of the audiences. "Lid Lifters" is more nearly a revue than a typical burlesque—it lacks some of the usual burlesque features, but retains the two usually considered essential, namely, a chorus and a Hebrew comedian. Max Coleman heads the cast with his Jewish impersonation.

PAULINE FREDERICK'S FIRST

Pauline Frederick has her first talking film role in "On Trial," Warner 100 per cent dialogue picture, which is current at the Uptown Theater. Bert Lytell, Lois Wilson and Johnny Arthur are featured in the adaptation of the stage play, which is attracting capacity audiences to the Tenth and Western house.

AL JOLSON SCORES AGAIN

Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" is doing record-breaking business at the Figueroa Theater, where the Warner singing and talking hit is showing. The famous mammy singer shares honors with little David Lee in the Vitaphone drama, and the cast features Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn.

OPERA STAR GIVES ART GENEROUSLY

Matzenauer Sings Program of Master Works in Authentic Style

Mme. Margaret Matzenauer renewed her acquaintance with Los Angeles last night, appearing in the first song recital she has given here in several years. Authentic interpretations of the masterpieces of contralto repertoire were contained in her program and her audience was warmly appreciative. A young pianist of ability, Edward Hart, accompanied and acquitted himself well in soli by Debussy.

The Matzenauer voice is of amazing flexibility and range. Often one thinks she must have been intended for a soprano, and then the deep rich contralto tones ring forth to disprove it. Style, musicianship and the experienced knowledge of a great singer are all hers and she gives generously of this heritage when singing such a program as she sang at the Philharmonic Auditorium last night.

It began with Lully, Gluck and Handel. The classics are familiar ground for a Matzenauer and she sings them with all the understanding the younger singers lack.

Brahms, Schumann and Schubert came next, and what a lesson there was for aspiring lieder singers in these. The restrained drama of the "Sappische Ode" and the "Erlkonig" and the passion of "Von Ewiger Liebe" and "Zwei Brautlieder" were vividly expressed.

Modern offerings by Respighi, Cimara, Gretchaninoff and Rachmaninoff closed the list, to which the gracious diva added many encores. Would that she would come back to Los Angeles in opera!

Londoners Are Superlative 'Quartetists'

BY I. M. J.

The London String Quartet played on Sunday afternoon at the Pasadena Community Playhouse before a capacity audience of perfect listeners. The English string players command, nay inspire, just such listening. For exquisite nuance, impeccable taste in phrasing, tone color, and perfection of the ensemble mind, this quartet has few equals.

The program on Sunday afternoon consisted of the familiar "Andante Cantabile" quartet by Tschaikowsky, two delicate studies in quartet writing by the Englishman Davies, the Haydn excerpt which all quartets, that is popular ones, always play and closed with the Dvorak.

A fresh program will be played in the same place by the same superlative artists on the 17th inst.

Talkie Raises 'Sin' Question

Dolores Costello's current talking picture at Warner Brothers' Theater, "The Redeeming Sin," raises a question: "Is there such a thing as a 'redeeming sin?' Do the ends justify the means? Is a sinful act, committed for the purpose of bringing about a good result, to be condoned?"

These are problems brought out in a situation that confronts Dolores Costello in "The Redeeming Sin." Her part in this picture is the most colorful of her entire career, since she is cast as a tempestuous apache girl, dancer in a cafe in the underworld of Paris—a wild, insouciant, fighting vixen.

Conrad Nagel plays the leading male role—a doctor who establishes his office in the slum district of the French city—and it is to him that Dolores takes her young brother who has been shot.

Girl Flyer on Fox Movietone

Bobby Trout, girl aviator and holder of records, is seen and heard in Fox Movietone news at the Boulevard Theater this week, where "Alias Jimmy Valentine" is the screen feature.

The young flyer gives a brief talk on women in aviation, expressing the opinion that there is no reason why there should not be as many girl pilots as men.

"Alias Jimmy Valentine" is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first talking picture, and gives William Haines his first speaking screen role. Lionel Barrymore gives one of his finest characterizations as Doyle, the detective whose efforts to trail the famous burglar, Jimmy Valentine, result in the dramatic climax. Karl Dane plays Haines's pal and Leila Hyams appears as the girl for whose love the crook-hero goes straight.

DUO UP BEFORE JUDGE MORE THAN 500 TIMES

"Where were you married?"

"Peoria—it's a place."

"Were you living in Peoria?"

"I should say not. We were playing there. We were partners, doing a dancing act."

"Then why did you marry him?"

"That's hard to explain. You see, we were in Peoria—and we were partners—and—and—it rained all week."

This dialogue from the divorce court scene, "Lightnin'," which the Henry Duffy Players are presenting at El Capitan, has been spoken by Charles E. Evans as Judge Townsend and by Bessie Bacon as Margaret Davis more than 500 times.

For two seasons Evans and Miss Bacon were in "Lightnin'" on tour, the former as the flirtatious magistrate and the latter as the divorcee, the role written originally for her by her father, the late Frank Bacon. They are playing their familiar roles here in the presentation at El Capitan.

WANTED—HELP— Male

HELP! HELP!

THE BOOM IS ON!

A Qualified Lead a day—seven days a week. We Turn Them Down Daily for the lack of men and women to handle.

Never in the History of This Office have we been so swamped with honest-to-goodness qualified prospects.

We get our leads from Real Solicitors — the Radio, Downtown Stands, Billboards, Publicity and Newspapers, and we take them to the Knockout of Them All.

STUDIO CITY

The Talk of California—ten minutes from this office. Big Commissions and pay off daily. Haulage paid. Boys and Girls, we have a Marvelous Set-up and a logical, sane deal. Two years' work ahead. Come out and see the livest organization in town. You must have car.

See E. R. "PROSPERITY" EVANS, 6331 Hollywood Blvd., before 11:30 a.m. or at the tract, Ventura Blvd. and Pacoima Ave., afternoons. We are next door to Mack Sennett's $800,000 studio and have access to it daily.

MEN—

Permanent Position

A 60-year-old corporation with assets of more than $100,000,000 has decided to engage a few special representatives in Southern California. Applicants should be between 23 and 45, keen for hard work that pays from $300 to $750 monthly (some are earning much more), and possessed of special qualifications, capable of developing into superior salesmen. Special course of instructions should your application be approved after careful investigation. Apply in own handwriting, giving age and general experience. If married, residence last five years, present address and telephone number. References required should your letter be considered favorably. Address Robert P. Freeman, Box 950, Station C, Los Angeles, California.

Mortgage & Stock SALESMEN

to act as special representatives for AIR PASSENGER & AIR EXPRESS LINE just starting.

Can use two more experienced men who, if they qualify, will work on direct leads.

319 Pacific National Bank Bldg.

SALESMANAGER

We require the services of a sales manager who is qualified by experience to organize and train a select group of the better class of security salesmen. This company has been in operation for the past year and has been very successful. A substantial drawing account is offered together with a share of the profits. Man selected will be subject to the strictest investigation as to his past activities. Give complete information regarding yourself or no attention will be paid to your answer. Address B. box 434, Times Branch.

Back-Boned Salesman

I will give you the proposition, help you in every way possible to put it over; all I ask is that you have a fighting HEART and will go halfway; that man can write his earnings in three figures every week. See Barnhart, Suite 712, 448 S. Hill.

Salesmen, Solicitors —10-B

YOU

SUBSTANTIAL SALESMEN
TRY THIS ONE

We have opening today for 2 men who can and will learn our methods of selling. NO HIGH PRESSURE and only men who will stick to the truth considered. We have sold $2,000,000 worth of homes in recent months and are now starting a new home-building program in well selected community. WE HAVE ABUNDANT CAPITAL AND A DEFINITE PROGRAM, so there is plenty of opportunity. OUR LOTS AND HOMES ARE PRICED FAR BELOW ANYTHING ELSE IN THE ENTIRE DISTRICT, therefore, when our program becomes known, high grade, conscientious salesmen will seek us and it will not be easy to get on. Be sure you can measure up before you waste our time. Experience in real estate not essential, but will help. We are using ordinary merchandising policies learned in other lines of business and now applying them to the building of homes and sale of lots, and thereby completing a community. WE HAVE THE CASH TO DO IT WITH. That's why we can operate and sell cheaper. See me personally between 8:30 and 9 a.m. only, at 6360 HOLLYWOOD BLVD., ground floor. ROGER C. DAHLHJELM HOMEHOLDERS CO.

SECURITY SALESMEN

Live leads and office co-operation furnished. See Joe Grohman between 9 and 11 a.m. at

ROOM 1111
704 S. SPRING ST.

SCOUTS TO GET VALOR CITATION

Five Life-Savers Will be Honored Publicly

Siren on Airplane to Call Troops to Quarters

Simulated Disaster Planned as Efficiency Test

Five Los Angeles Boy Scouts will be cited publicly for life-saving and many others for especially meritorious deeds performed during the year at district assemblies Friday, on the nineteenth birthday of the Boy Scouts of America.

A week is devoted to recognition of the anniversary. Of most general interest is the mobilization of every scout in the city on Saturday in response to an "emergency" summons given from an airplane with shrieking siren.

Scout Wayne Martin, 1215 Third avenue, Troop 150; saved the life of a girl at Balboa Beach.

Scout Paul Rowley, 2214 Harwood street, and Scoutmaster "Tex" Austin, 2219 Elmgrove, both of Troop 63; saved a fellow-scout from drowning in a reservoir at San Jacinto.

Among many others commended will be Scout Robert Burrall, 617 Holden avenue, Troop 43, who averted heavy property loss by detecting a fire, and Scout Maxwell Fonda, Troop 104, for resuscitation of a man in a pool accident in Paso Robles.

A trimotored Fokker plane has been assigned for use in summoning scouts to a presumed major disaster. An Eagle Scout will man the siren as the craft soars over the city.

At the signal every scout must go to his home, get into uniform, and with equipment of tent, blankets, first aid kit, cooking utensils, canteen, ax, ropes and other paraphernalia, hurry to district headquarters.

Forty minutes after the call the commissioner of each district will telephone to the major disasters committee of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, assembled at Boy Scout general offices, reporting the number of scouts already rathered and an inventory of the equipment.

The committee will then announce that a specific disaster has occurred in the district with a certain number of injured. Scouts will be tolled off to represent the "injured," a relief camp will be established, and by the time the chamber committee arrives in automobiles the "injuries" of the wounded must have been dressed, the "victims" made comfortable, food and other supplies commandeered from near-by sources, fires started and the camp under guard and in routine activity.

On Saturday, the 16th inst., every scout is invited to be a guest of Troop 90 at a rally in the Hollywood Legion stadium. Dist.-Atty. Fitts will speak.

EX-CANADIAN OFFICIAL WEDS

Former Premier Takes Angeleno Wife

Sir Rodmond Palen Roblin and Bride

WITH COL. H. A. MULLINS, former member of the Canadian Parliament, as best man, and Mrs. Edith M. Murray, the bride's sister, as bridesmaid, Sir Rodmond Palen Roblin, formerly Prime Minister of Manitoba, Can., and Ethel May Leggett of Los Angeles were married at Wilshire Boulevard Congregational Church yesterday noon, the ceremony being performed by Dr. James L. Gordon, formerly pastor of the Congregational Church at Winnipeg, Can. The bride was given away by her brother, A. E. Leggett of Regina, Sask.

Following the wedding, which was attended by scores of prominent visitors from Canada, the guests went to the Ambassador, where an entertainment and feast had been prepared for them. Among the guests were Thomas Berry, formerly Mayor of St. Boniface, and Mrs. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Maw, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bawlf, and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wyatt of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Ledger of Toronto and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armitage of Santa Monica.

Sir Rodmond came to Los Angeles several weeks ago and has been a guest at the home of Mrs. Murray. Sir Rodmond and his bride will remain in Los Angeles for several weeks and will take a trip to Hawaii before going to their home at Winnipeg.

Hamlin Garland Honor Guest of University Club

Hamlin Garland, dean of American letters and president of the American Academy of Arts and Letters, was honor guest last night at a dinner given by the University Club and attended by more than 100 persons.

Descriptions of the transformation of Indians to the ways of civilization and the hardships encountered by pioneer Americans featured the talk given by Mr. Garland.

The honor guest was described to those gathered to pay their respects as "the best-loved figure in the writing profession since Mark Twain and a leader in all matters touching the literary profession." Among his best-known works are "Biography of Gen. Grant," "Middle Border," "The Captain of the Gray Horse Troop," "Wayside Courtship," "Prairie Songs" and "The Trail Makers."

A. G. Beaman, chairman of the club's program committee, acted as toastmaster. Seated at the speaker's table were Mrs. Garland, Miss Garland, Mr. and Mrs. Kimpton Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Beaman, and Dr. W. B. Pettus of Canton, China.

Man Who Dies in Street Has Will in Letter

When James M. Maclachlan of 3014 Riverside Drive dropped dead yesterday at Riverside Drive and Glendale Boulevard, a will in the form of a letter was found on his body. Heart disease was recorded as the cause of death when the body was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. In one of the man's pockets was found a letter addressed to Clarence B. Peck of 1445 Iron street, Bellingham, Wash. This letter communicated Mr. Maclachlan's wish to leave to Mr. Peck his property, consisting of eighty-five acres at Harper Lake Valley, near Hinkley, Cal.

The body was turned over to the Coroner's office, which notified Mr. Peck. Mr. Maclachlan was 62 years of age.

Slayer Suspect Arrested Here

Asserted to have been implicated in a double murder in Oklahoma City in 1926, Jack Hazelwood, alias Roy M. Womble, 33 years of age, was arrested by Detective Lieutenants Stevens and Sanderson at a rooming house, 1401 1-2 Wright street last night. According to the police Hazelwood has been sought for three years by the Oklahoma authorities.

He came to Los Angeles three months ago and was located here by police in Oklahoma City, when he sent post cards to a girl friend there.

Hazelwood denied he is Womble and asserts he knows nothing of the murder charge. The police are holding him for the arrival of Oklahoma City police.

Solicitor for Magazine Held

Fred J. Barham, 28 years of age, a solicitor for the "Four Square Crusader," a magazine published by Aimee Semple McPherson, according to police, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of forgery. The arrest was made at the Ritz Hotel, where Barham was living.

Barham, according to Detective-Lieutenants White and McGee of the police forgery detail, gave the management of the hotel two checks totaling $60 bearing the name of Mary Talbot, a supposedly fictitious name.

DE MILLE RE-ELECTED PRESIDENT OF FILM MAKERS' ASSOICATION

Re-election of Cecil B. De Mille, producer-director of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, for his second term as president and the adoption of resolutions to combat the flying of airplanes over "talkie" stages were high lights of the fifth annual meeting of the Association of Motion Picture Producers.

At the gathering held last night a letter was read from the California Aircraft Operators' Association, in which pilots asked the producers to work out a system of signals through lights, flags, balloons or flares so that airplanes may avoid studios while talking scenes were being made. The association appointed A. J. Ball to confer with the pilots for the working out of a feasible system. At the present time, it is said, thousands of dollars have been lost because of the roar of low-flying airplane motors.

Re-elected with De Mille were Winfield Sheehan of Fox studio as first vice-president; Jack L. Warner of Warner Brothers, second vice-president, and Fred W. Beetson as executive vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

It also was announced that the new call bureau of the association, for the benefit of part players in pictures, will be opened within the week.
